PART 907—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 907, as amended (7 CFR Part 907), regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such navel oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act by tending to establish and maintain such orderly marketing conditions for such oranges as will provide, in the interest of producers and consumers, an orderly flow of the supply thereof to market throughout the normal marketing season to avoid unreasonable fluctuations in supplies and prices, and is not for the purpose of maintaining prices to farmers above the level which it is declared to be the policy of Congress to establish under the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b)(1) (i) and (ii) of § 907.302 (Navel Orange Regulation 2, 27 F.R. 391) are hereby amended to read as follows:

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter II—Civil Aeronautics Board

SUBCHAPTER A—ECONOMIC REGULATIONS

[Reg. No. ER-347]

PART 288—EXEMPTION OF AIR CARRIERS FOR SHORT NOTICE MILITARY CONTRACTS

Reasonable Level of Compensation

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 19th day of January 1962.

In a notice of proposed rule making dated September 15, 1961 (EDR-35; 26 F.R. 8815), the Board proposed certain revisions to Part 288. Additional comments were sought in a supplemental notice dated October 19, 1961 (EDR-35A; 26 F.R. 9913). Part 288 exempts air carriers, subject to certain conditions, limitations and requirements, from sections 401 and 403 of the Federal Aviation Act to enable such carriers to perform charter services for the Military Air Transport Service on short notice. The revisions proposed by the Board in the notice relate to the minimum rate criteria embodied in Part 288 as one of the conditions upon the grant of the exemption authority contained therein. One of the proposed revisions, an amendment to § 288.7(d) relating to standard mileage, was adopted as a final rule on November 30, 1961, effective December 15, 1961 (ER-342, 26 F.R. 11483).

Various air carriers, one applicant for a supplemental certificate and the Department of Defense have submitted comments in response to the notice and to the supplemental notice. The Board has given careful consideration to these comments, and has determined to adopt the amendments, proposed in the notice, with certain modifications, as set forth below.

The comments covered all aspects of the proposed modifications to the minimum rate criteria, namely: (1) Reduction in the level of certain of the minimum rates; (2) addition of new provisions permitting the application of round-trip rates to open-jaw trips, subject to certain conditions; and (3) specification of minimum available cabin loads for additional aircraft types. In addition, two carriers have proposed that the Board conduct an evidentiary hearing on the minimum rate question. These matters are treated in turn below.

1. Level of minimum rates. The notice proposed reductions in the minimum charges applicable to MATS operations as follows:

	Existing charges (cents)	Proposed charges (cents)
Round-trip passenger charter	[1] 2.9	[1] 2.7
One-way passenger charter	[1] 4.2	[1] 4.2
Round-trip cargo charter	[2] 13.75	[2] 12
Convertible cargo round-trip	[2] 16.5	[2] 13.8
One-way cargo charter	[2] 22.5	[2] 21.5

[1] Per passenger-mile.
[2] Per ton-mile.

All but one of the carriers submitting comments in response to the Board's notice object to the proposed reductions. These objections may be grouped as follows:

a. Objections to the overall methodology of the proposal;

b. Alleged errors in computing the cost of service for various carriers;

c. Alleged inadequacy of the rate of return on investment; and

d. Alleged errors in determining the rate for one-way charters and convertible aircraft.

a. Methodology. As set forth in the notice, the revisions to the minimum rates were based upon the average cost of operations under the long-term MATS contracts for transatlantic and transpacific services. Carriers objecting to the general approach employed state that it gives undue weight to the cost of Pan American passenger contracts and to costs projected for the as yet unproven CL-44 aircraft type; that no weight is given to the need for back-up equipment, the cost of substitute service, or expansion capability commitments; that the minimum rate for passenger service is set too low for profitable operations by several of the participating carriers and particularly for operators of piston-powered aircraft; and that no weight is given to the higher costs of "call" operations, some carriers arguing that separate rates should be set for such services.

There is, of course, no single mathematical technique for the establishment of a rate applicable to a group of carriers performing similar but not identical operations. Obviously, it is impossible to establish a rate which will yield the predetermined rate of return for each carrier. A rate set on the basis of the lowest cost operator might be unfair to carriers with higher cost operations. Similarly, a rate based upon the highest cost operator might result in excessive returns to other carriers and unfair charges to the transportation user. In determining the fair and reasonable minimum rate in this situation, the point of departure necessarily is the overall weighted average cost of service. However, such cost must be tested against the cost of service of each individual carrier, both with and without the return element, as well as the average unit costs of groups of carriers, to determine whether any circumstances require the rate to be higher or lower than the weighted average cost of the service.

Round-trip passenger rate. Based upon the costs as revised herein and discussed below, the weighted average cost for round-trip passenger charters is 2.76 cents per passenger-mile, including return on investment. With one exception, which we regard as atypical,[1] the passenger unit costs of the individual carriers, including return element, fall within a range of 5 percent above and 4 percent below the weighted average. Thus, while the operations within this range would yield varying rates of return, in no case is there an extreme disparity, nor would the return be below the fully allocated operating cost of any of these carriers. Finally, while the return realized by piston operators may well be below that of the jet operators, this is a natural result of the introduction in quantity of the lower cost aircraft. To predicate the price for all carriers on piston costs would result in an excessive rate for the user. On balance, therefore, we conclude that a minimum rate for passenger services of 2.75 cents, based upon the weighted average costs, rounded off, of the major long-term contract operations, produces the most reasonable result. This represents an increase from the rate of 2.70 cents proposed in the notice.

Round-trip cargo rate. For round-trip cargo services the overall weighted average cost, as adjusted herein, is 12.12 cents per ton mile. This average cost is heavily weighted by the CL–44 data, which account for 90 percent of the fixed contract awards. The significance of this is underscored by the fact that the projected CL–44 costs are considerably lower than the costs of other cargo types as well as by the fact that in the absence of a substantial body of data based upon actual operations with the CL–44, the reliability of the forecast data available to the Board is not entirely insured.

The range of cost above and below the weighted average cost of 12.12 cents is wider than in the case of passenger operations. A rate based solely upon such cost would give undue weight to CL–44 data and would not cover the total operating costs of the L1049H aircraft which is the most efficient piston-cargo type. Under these circumstances the Board has concluded that the minimum rate for round-trip cargo services should be set at 12.5 cents per ton mile which is 3 percent above the weighted average and which will permit operations with the L1049H aircraft at a slight profit.

In fixing the rate for round-trip cargo services, the Board does not believe it has erred in failing to give weight to the CL–44 integration costs now being experienced. All of the available figures indicate that the CL–44 will in fact operate at lower unit costs than its predecessor piston-aircraft and no carrier appears to contest this fact. Moreover, while there have been substantial integration costs since the introduction of these aircraft in the past half year, we know of no theory which would support the establishment of a rate giving full and continuing impact to integration costs occurring only in a limited introductory period. By deferring the effectiveness of the proposed rate reductions until February 1, 1962, we believe that substantial justice will have been done. It is noteworthy that, notwithstanding the contentions made in this proceeding by CL–44 operators that the minimum rates are inadequate, the same carriers have made substantial reductions in their tariff rates applicable to military and commercial cargo, and have filed below-minimum rates with MATS on numerous occasions since last June.

We have considered the arguments that weight should be given to the need for back-up equipment and the cost of the expansion capability provisions of the MATS contracts. No carrier has provided any basis for reflecting these factors in the minimum rates. The carriers' cost estimates are based upon allocations of system costs and therefore include the cost of back-up aircraft, personnel and facilities. The expansion capability provisions impose no important restrictions on the use of the aircraft so committed. Until an emergency is declared by the Secretary of Defense, carriers are not obligated to fill expansion requests. To the extent that such aircraft are utilized by MATS, the services are paid for at the regular rates. If such aircraft are in fact productively engaged in other commercial operations there is no need to charge any part of their costs to the MATS service. If the aircraft are in fact idle, charging them to the other MATS services would produce an excessive rate for those services by burdening MATS with the cost of equipment which is not used and useful in the contract operations.

Several carriers contend that the proposed rates, being based solely on the costs of long-term fixed contracts, do not give weight to the alleged higher costs of so-called "call" service. In our opinion no specific upward adjustment for this factor is warranted. To begin with, the costs of call services vary widely. For example, while one award for one flight to an isolated area and requiring multiple crews might involve a very high cost to the carrier, other awards might dovetail with the carrier's operations and thus be capable of being performed at a cost comparable to those which would prevail under the long-term contracts. The same would be true of so-called call contracts which involve flights over an extended period of time and thus take on the cost characteristics of fixed-type contracts. While it is true that the minimum rate might be too low for particular call awards or for services as operated by a particular carrier, there is no obligation on the part of a carrier to bid the minimum rate or to bid at all if it believes that it cannot perform a particular contract profitably.

We have considered whether to establish a separate higher rate for call operations. The carriers engaged in call contract business are in competition with the long-term contract holders operating under the expansion capability provisions of their contracts. If a higher rate for call contracts were established, it appears obvious that MATS would offer additional business to the long-term contract holders under the expansion capability provisions, thus placing the call contract carriers at a competitive disadvantage. A majority of the carriers oppose a separate rate for call services on this ground. We conclude that the sound course is to establish the minima for fixed and call operations at the same level.

One carrier argues that the cargo rate (developed on the basis of transpacific operating costs) would be too low for transatlantic services because of the costs of landing at Gander and Shannon. The material submitted by the carrier suggested that these additional costs would be approximately one-half a cent per ton-mile on the CL–44. But the minimum round-trip cargo rate of 12.5 cents per ton-mile has deliberately been set somewhat above the average total cost of service with that airplane. It appears that the CL–44 operator should have no real difficulty in absorbing those additional costs even if they are in fact incurred. In any event, there has been no real showing that transatlantic operating costs are higher than transpacific or that different rates are warranted for either passenger or cargo operations as between the two areas.

Finally, although the carriers' comments stress consideration in favor of upward adjustments to the proposed minimum rates, there are other factors tending in the opposite direction. Thus, the minimum rates are based upon the carriers' own forecasts of expenses and investment. While we have made necessary adjustments to these forecasts we have not attempted to construct a hypothetical cost based on optimum operations. Moreover, it must be stressed that we are fixing rate minima only. No carrier is required to bid at these rates nor is any carrier compelled to engage in any particular MATS contract operation. And, although it is argued that the minimum rates tend to be maximum rates as well, this argument is not factually correct. In a substantial number of cases, particularly in cargo operations, the loads carried are in excess of the minimum load requirements established herein. On the basis of studies of data contained in exemption applications and reports filed in connection with Part 288, the plane-mile revenues for cargo flights average roughly 5 percent above the minimum revenues calculated on the basis of an application of the ton-mile minimum rate to the minimum cabin loads. In sum, on the basis of the facts before us, we are satisfied that the methodology which we have herein employed for fixing the minimum rates is sound.

b. Cost adjustments. Four carriers have objected to various adjustments made by the Board to the carriers' expense and investment forecasts which form the basis of the cost calculations contained in the notice. Certain of these objections appear to have merit and the Board has made appropriate revisions to its cost determinations as indicated below. As previously noted, the result of these revisions is to change the weighted average cost of the round-trip passenger service from 2.72 cents per passenger mile to 2.76 cents, and the cost of the round-trip cargo service from 12.00 cents per ton mile to 12.12 cents.

The cost adjustments set forth in the notice have been revised as follows:

(1) Provisions have been made for additional passenger service expense for Pan American to reflect the minimum seating capacity established for the Boeing 707–300 aircraft of 159 passengers.

(2) Pan American's investment has been revised to include an allowance for working capital and ground equipment and to reflect the book value of flight equipment as of December 31, 1961.

(3) Pan American's depreciation has been adjusted to reflect the reported costs for the nine months ended September 30, 1961 and to take into account authorization of aircraft pre-operating expenses of 4 cents per mile which was erroneously eliminated in the notice.

(4) As a partial offset to the above upward adjustments, we have reduced the level of Pan American's direct aircraft operating expenses (less depreciation) from 180.60 cents to 174.21 per mile. This adjustment is based upon a review of reported expense levels and trends for Pan American in the latest three quarters. Those reports show a declining trend in total operating expenses, and a level of direct aircraft operating expenses below that originally forecast by the carrier for MATS operations. Since there appears to be no reason why direct aircraft operating expenses for MATS operations should be any higher than for commercial operations, we have reduced the recognized expense level to the B–707 cost of 174.21 cents per mile reported by the Atlantic and Pacific Division for the year ended September 30, 1961.

(5) All adjustments to Seaboard's forecast of $3.26 per mile for CL–44 operations have been eliminated on the ground that Seaboard's total expense forecast per mile compares favorably with the adjusted forecasts of the other CL–44 operators.

(6) Seaboard's forecast has been corrected to reflect the cost of non-revenue miles related to the contract service.

(7) Where higher than minimum aircraft capacity was used in the calculation of cargo service costs, the data have been recalculated on the basis of minimum aircraft capacity.

(8) The upward adjustment to Flying Tiger's aircraft insurance expense has been eliminated on the basis of the carrier's explanation that its relatively low insurance costs are attributable to the large size of its CL–44 fleet as compared with other CL–44 operators.

(9) The downward adjustment to Riddle's DC–7F passenger liability insurance expense has been reversed, the Board finding that the carrier's forecast is reasonable when tested against the expense levels of other carriers.

The following cost determinations challenged by the carriers have been reviewed by the Board and found to be entirely proper.

(1) The adjustments to Pan American's passenger service and aircraft and traffic service expense levels and to Flying Tiger's passenger liability insurance expense are found required in order to bring the levels of these expense categories into line with those of other carriers, as set forth in Appendix 2.[2]

(2) The following contentions have been rejected as unsupported by substantial factual data: (a) Seaboard's argument that its submittal of CL–44 costs did not include all of its operating expenses; and (b) Flying Tiger's assertion that ONA's cost estimates are not reconcilable with the costs under ONA's CL–44 lease arrangement with Flying Tiger.

c. Rate of return. Certain carriers attack the 8 percent rate of return employed in costing the MATS charter services. The principal arguments are that the 8 percent rate ignores the risk of fluctuation of MATS business, is lower than that used by the Board for other rate-making purposes, offers no incentive to provide increased capacity for the national defense and ignores the low aircraft utilization and shorter debt amortization periods associated with the MATS operations of some carriers.

The fixing of an appropriate rate of return is essentially a matter of judgment requiring, among other factors, an evaluation of the effect on capital costs of the risks of MATS operations as compared with other types of air carrier operations. In the Board's opinion, the MATS contract service involves somewhat lesser risks than normal airline operations. Thus, although there are substantial fluctuations in the total volume of business for any given carrier, no carrier is under any obligation to offer to provide any service or to bid at the minimum rate if it believes such rate to be inadequate. Moreover, an operation once begun offers guaranteed revenues, which is not the case with scheduled operations, and the uncertainties are limited for the most part to operational problems and cost fluctuations. In view of these considerations, we are of the view that in fixing the minimum rate level for MATS contract services a return at the lower end of the zone of reasonableness is appropriate.

In our opinion, a rate of return of 8 percent after taxes will enable the carriers to pay their interest costs plus provide a moderate but reasonable return on equity capital. As shown in Appendix 3,[2] assuming an interest rate of 5.5 percent on debt capital, the returns on equity range from a low of 8 percent to a high of 59 percent depending on individual capital structures. Excluding carriers whose capital structures are atypical, the range of returns is in the area of 12 to 16 percent. We regard such returns as consistent with our findings on rate of return in the General Passenger Fare Investigation,[3] having due regard for the differences between military and commercial operations discussed above, and the fact that we are here concerned with rate minima only. An 8 percent return, combined with the protection and stability provided by the Board's minimum rate regulation should provide sufficient incentive to the carriers to devote adequate investment to the military requirements and to continue their re-equipment programs.

It is argued that the 8 percent rate of return ignores low aircraft utilization in MATS services. Since the minimum rates are based primarily on the carriers' operating cost estimates with minor adjustments, we must assume that the forecasts make appropriate allowance for this factor.

One carrier contends that an 8 percent return will result in a cash deficit to it after payment of interest and amortization on long-term debt incurred for the purchase of flight equipment. The return element is not intended to cover capital expenditures. Such expenditures are recouped through the depreciation account and to make an additional allowance in the profit element would result in duplicate reimbursement.

d. One-way and convertible rates. Some carriers object to the proposed one-way minimum rates of 4.2 cents per passenger-mile and 21.5 cents per cargo ton-mile on the ground that the cost savings related to the backhaul ferry trips are minimal and that the proposed rates produce less than the computed cost per plane-mile. The carriers' presentations in this regard generally overlook the fact that the one-way rate levels are predicated on the assumption that at least some backhaul flights will be sold to other charterers, thereby increasing the carrier's total revenues to a point which will more than cover total cost.

It is estimated that backhaul ferry legs can be performed at 15 percent less cost than a live passenger segment and 10 percent less than a live cargo segment. Thus, the total cost of a one-way trip plus the backhaul would be 92.5 percent of the cost of a passenger round-trip, and 95 percent of the cost of a cargo round-trip. The one-way minimums are set so that the cost to the user is 76 percent and 86 percent respectively of the round-trip passenger and cargo rates. As a matter of judgment we are of the opinion that there will be sufficient opportunity for the carriers collectively to fill the backhaul flights with non-military charters to justify establishing the minimum rates for one-way charters moderately below the levels indicated on a purely cost basis. Accordingly, we adhere to our determination of minimums of 4.2 cents per passenger mile and 21.5 cents per cargo ton-mile.

[1] This is a small passenger operation to Bangkok, requiring multiple crews and utilizing DC–6A aircraft which are relatively inefficient for this service.

The Department of the Air Force proposes a process of post-operations price adjustment which will take account of those flights on which the carrier was able to sell the backhaul. Under the Department's proposal, the round-trip rate would be applicable to any trip on which MATS traffic was carried one-way and non-MATS revenue traffic was carried in the other direction. Although this proposal is not without merit we are not persuaded that such a solution to the problem would be desirable. At the outset it may be noted that if the Defense Department is to take the benefit of backhaul revenues it would be necessary to increase the level of the one-way charges since, as described above, those charges have been computed on the basis that some backhaul traffic will be generated on the average. Secondly, under the Department's proposal, the round-trip rate would be applicable whenever traffic is carried on the return leg, regardless of the amount of such traffic, the revenues received therefrom and any special expense that may have been incurred in connection with such traffic. The effect of this would clearly be to discourage carriers from seeking backhaul traffic except in those cases where the backhaul revenues would more than offset the reduction in the yield under the MATS contract. In the long run, this would increase the cost of service to MATS. Finally, the suggestion would place carriers on an unequal footing in bidding for MATS business, depending upon their ability to generate backhaul business. Indeed, the proposal could lead to undesirable competitive practices as carriers vie with each other for military business by representations as to their ability to generate backhaul revenues. Accordingly, we believe that it is preferable that all carriers be kept on an equal competitive basis insofar as one-way MATS charters are concerned, and that MATS be given fair treatment in the average price of one-way transportation by reflecting therein a reasonable estimate of the average revenues carried on backhauls. The appropriate level of backhaul revenues to be taken into account will be reviewed from time to time as part of our periodic review of MATS rates.

Several carriers have objected to the 13.8 cents proposed minimum rate for convertible cargo flights. In convertible service, the carrier must ordinarily transport the seats and passenger equipment on both legs of the flight. This necessitates a reduction in the capacity available on the cargo leg, approximating 17 percent on the CL–44, L–1049 and DC–7F. We have increased the convertible cargo minimum to 15 cents per ton-mile in order to reflect this loss. On the other hand, we have made no allowance for alleged higher costs relating to a claimed lower utilization of convertible aircraft, to the carrying of the passenger service crew on both legs, and to aircraft servicing. These are believed to represent very minor expenses and the minimum rates have not been determined with the kind of precision which would justify the proposed refinements.

One carrier points out that the reduction in the convertible cargo rate will bring that rate below the 15.9 cent rate for individually waybilled Category A traffic performed on scheduled flights by route carriers. In our opinion, the full plane load charter rate should be below, not above, the rate for individually waybilled traffic, in view of the cost savings associated with the full use of aircraft capacity. Therefore, the new rate of 15 cents appears to be in better relationship to the Category A rate than was the old minimum of 16.5 cents.

2. Round-trip definition. In the notice, it was proposed to modify the definition of round-trip services so as (a) to permit the round-trip minimum rates to apply to trips which originate and terminate at different points provided that they are within 250 miles of each other, (b) to permit 50 ferry miles en route at no charge and (c) to permit 500 ferry miles en route at half rate.

Several carriers object to these proposals on the ground that they will result in a dilution of revenues. On the other hand, the Air Force would extend the application of the half-rate to ferry flights up to 1,500 miles.

Insofar as concerns the 50-mile free ferrying provision, the costs are minimal. The proposal with respect to flight origin and destination is not necessarily costly to the carriers. Since most MATS charters originate and terminate at military bases, there are pre-positioning and post-positioning ferries required in order to move the aircraft from the carrier's base and back. It should make little difference in the aggregate whether the pre- and post-positioning ferry flights are between the same points. We conclude that these two revisions will give MATS moderate flexibility in planning its operations at a minimum cost to the carriers and are reasonable.

The objections to the proposed half-rate for 500 mile ferry flights are more serious. On the one hand the carriers argue that the discount of 50 percent of the live mileage rate is excessive. On the other hand, the Air Force contends that the 500-mile limit on the application of the reduced rate deprives MATS of needed flexibility. We find that a rate of 75 percent of the live mile rate, applied to ferry flights not in excess of 1,500 miles, will reasonably accommodate the interests of carrier and user. While the carriers argue that the cost savings involved in ferrying empty aircraft are on the order of 10 percent of the live mile operating costs, we believe that a rate which reflects a discount of 25 percent will be more comparable to the added cost of the relatively short flights that typically will be required. Accordingly, the ferry rate will be fixed at 75 percent of the live mile rate for round-trip passenger services.

3. Minimum cabin loads. Upon consideration of carrier comments, the minimum passenger load for the B–707 has been reduced from 160 to 159 seats. We are also omitting reference to the DC–8 in view of questions raised regarding the capacity of that aircraft and the fact that it is not being used at the present time in MATS charter services. For the same reasons, we will not at this time attempt to fix a minimum load standard for the CV–880, as requested by one carrier.

One carrier objects to the 95-seat minimum passenger load proposed for the L–1049A aircraft, suggesting 83 for the Atlantic and 78 for the Pacific operations. In our opinion, the proposed load standards would not be properly related to the operating costs of the L–1049A aircraft and to the seating standards for other aircraft types. While in terms of operating costs, the L–1049A is more comparable to the DC–7 aircraft than to the DC–6, the carrier-proposed minimums would be at or below the DC–6 level. The fact that the carrier cannot carry more than 83 and 78 passengers on Atlantic and Pacific services, respectively, merely demonstrates that the aircraft cannot operate economically on the very long hops. To set a lower minimum for this type of aircraft would, moreover, give the carrier an unwarranted competitive advantage over the DC–7 on groups of 87 and fewer passengers. Accordingly, we find that minimum cabin loads for the L–1049A aircraft type should be reduced to those specified for the DC–7, namely 88 seats for passenger operations, 12 tons for convertible cargo operations and 15 tons for all-cargo operations.

4. Procedural matters. Two carriers have requested the Board to make no changes in the MATS minimum rates without a full evidentiary hearing. The Board finds that such a hearing is neither necessary nor appropriate under the circumstances. This is a rule-making proceeding which may be conducted by the use of the informal procedures set forth in the Administrative Procedure Act. Accordingly, an evidentiary hearing is not legally required.

It is to be borne in mind that we are dealing here with the relaxation of restrictions attached to operating authority. Both the restrictions and the basic operating authority were originally made effective without an evidentiary hearing. We recognize, of course, that our action will have an effect on the level of the rates charged and the revenues of the carriers. Nevertheless, we are satisfied that we have provided an adequate opportunity to all parties to express their views and to submit data, all of which have been carefully considered in reaching our final determination, and that the requests for a hearing have not pointed out pertinent factual issues which could be adequately resolved only after an evidentiary hearing.

The Board has examined the remaining comments of the carriers and finds that they do not alter our determinations herein.

Since delay in effectuating this amendment may result in unnecessary expense to the United States and since the amendment can be immediately implemented by the air carriers as to whom it is permissive in nature, the Board finds that there is good cause for making this amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 288 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 288) effective February 1, 1962, by deleting § 288.7, paragraphs (a), (b), and (c), and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

§ 288.7 Reasonable level of compensation.

It shall be a condition on the exemptions granted by this part that the level of compensation for transportation provided for short notice MATS charter service shall not be uneconomically low. In the absence of specific Board approval, the compensation for such service shall not be less than the following:

(a) Minimum charges.

(1) For round-trip passenger services—2.75 cents per passenger-mile.

(2) For round-trip cargo services—12.5 cents per cargo ton-mile.

(3) For one-way passenger services—4.2 cents per passenger-mile.

(4) For one-way cargo services—21.5 cents per cargo ton-mile.

Provided, That a minimum of 15.0 cents per cargo ton-mile shall apply to segments of round-trips on which cargo is carried, in cases where passengers are carried on one or more other segments of the round-trip.

(c) Round-trip services defined. For the purposes of this section, round-trip services are those services performed pursuant to contracts with MATS where (1) passengers or cargo are transported on 2 or more successive revenue flights where the last revenue flight terminates within 250 statute miles of the point of origin of the first revenue flight, (2) the air carrier operates en route not more than one ferry flight not exceeding 50 statute miles without charge and not more than one ferry flight not exceeding 1,500 statute miles at not less than 75 percent of the minimum live-mile compensation which would otherwise be applicable in accordance with paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section: Provided, That the minimum ferry charge in the case of charters governed by the proviso in paragraph (a) of this section shall be 75 percent of the applicable minimum live-mile charge for round-trip passenger services, and (3) the scheduling permits departures within 4 hours after arrival from each point on route except at one point where the aircraft may be scheduled for departure within 72 hours after arrival. If the trip otherwise meets the requirements of this definition, it shall be deemed a round-trip although passengers are carried on one or more segments thereof, and cargo on one or more other segments.

SUBCHAPTER F—POLICY STATEMENTS

[Reg. Policy Statement No. 12]

PART 399—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY

Military Air Transport Service Charter Exemptions

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 19th day of January 1962.

The Board, by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, 26 F.R. 8815, and circulation of PSDR–1, issued a proposed Policy Statement setting forth criteria which the Board proposed to use in granting individual exemptions to air carriers for the purpose of performing charter services for the Military Air Transport Service (MATS). No comments were received opposing the proposed Policy Statement.

Accordingly, the Board hereby amends Part 399—Statements of General Policy (14 CFR Part 399) by adding a new § 399.36, effective February 1, 1962, to read as follows:

§ 399.36 Military Air Transport Service charter exemptions.

In passing upon applications for exemptions from Sections 401 and 403 of the Act to enable air carriers to perform charters for the Military Air Transport Service (MATS), the Board will give great weight to the following criteria:

(a) Whether the carrier has executed a Civil Reserve Air Fleet standby contract;

(b) Whether the proposed service is in furtherance of the mission of the Department of Defense; and

(c) Whether the level of compensation provided in the charter contract is fair and reasonable.

The minimum charges set forth in Part 288 of this chapter (Board's Economic regulations) will be considered as the minimum fair and reasonable charges for foreign and overseas services and for services between the 48 contiguous states on the one hand and Hawaii or Alaska on the other hand.

(Sec. 204(a), 72 Stat. 743; 49 U.S.C. 1324. Administrative Procedure Act, sec. 3, 60 Stat. 238, 5 U.S.C. 1002)

SUBCHAPTER C—AIRCRAFT REGULATIONS

[Reg. Docket No. 1041; Amdt. 392]

PART 507—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Douglas DC–8 Series Aircraft

As a result of several incidents of failure of the tab lockout bracket in the aileron control reversion mechanism of Douglas DC–8 Series aircraft, and airworthiness directive is considered necessary, requiring inspection of all aileron tab lockout bracket assemblies and replacement of cracked parts.

As a situation exists which demands immediate action in the interest of safety, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 6489), § 507.10(a) of Part 507 (14 CFR Part 507), is hereby amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

DOUGLAS. Applies to DC–8 aircraft Serial Nos. 45252–45289, 45291–45306, 45376–45393, 45408–45413, 45416–45419, 45421–45431, 45433–45437, 45442–45445, 45526, 45565–45570, 45588–45614, 45616–45628, and 45636–45638.

Compliance required as indicated.

To prevent aileron tab lockout mechanism bracket assembly failure, resulting in partial or complete loss of control force to one aileron, the following shall be accomplished:

(b) The initial and repetitive inspections of assemblies, P/N 4643350, shall be conducted at the following times:

(1) On assemblies which have accumulated a total time in service of less than 3,000 hours as of the effective date of this AD: Initial inspection within next 350 hours' time in service, but in no event to exceed 3,100 hours' assembly total time in service; repetitive inspections thereafter at intervals not to exceed 350 hours' time in service except that after the assembly total time in service reaches 3,000 hours the repetitive intervals shall not exceed 100 hours' time in service.

(2) On assemblies which have accumulated a total time in service of 3,000 hours or more as of the effective date of this AD: Initial inspection within next 100 hours' time in service; repetitive inspections thereafter at intervals not to exceed 100 hours' time in service.

(c) When assembly P/N 3773970-1 is installed in place of P/N 4643350, the repetitive inspections may be discontinued.

(d) When assembly P/N 4643350 is replaced with an assembly of the same part number which has been inspected in accordance with (a) and found to be free of cracks, the replacement part shall be reinspected in accordance with the provisions of (b).

(e) Upon request of the operator, an FAA maintenance inspector, subject to prior approval of the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA Western Region, may adjust the repetitive inspection intervals specified in this Airworthiness Directive to permit compliance at an established inspection period of the operator if the request contains substantiating data to justify the increase for such operator.

(Douglas Service Bulletin 27-115, Revision No. 1, dated October 25, 1961, pertains to this same subject.)

This directive shall become effective January 24, 1962.

(Sec. 313(a), 601, 603; 72 Stat. 752, 775, 776; 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 18, 1962.

SUBCHAPTER E—AIR NAVIGATION REGULATIONS

[Airspace Docket No. 59-WA-104]

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Alteration

On March 22, 1960, there were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (25 F.R. 2387), amendments to the regulations of the Administrator which designated VOR Federal airway No. 451 and its associated control areas from VOR Federal airway No. 146, in the vicinity of New Bedford, Mass., to Boston, Mass. These amendments were to become effective January 12, 1961. This effective date was postponed until February 8, 1962 (26 F.R. 6709, dated July 27, 1961).

On May 27, 1961, Airspace Docket No. 60-WA-127 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 4634), amending in part the regulations of the Administrator by realigning Victor 146 and its associated control areas approximately 3 miles further to the south in the vicinity of New Bedford and raising the floor of its associated control areas in this area to 1,200 feet above the surface. These actions were effective June 29, 1961. Accordingly, action is taken herein to extend Victor 451 and its associated control areas southward to the centerline of Victor 146 and to exclude the portion of Victor 451 below 1,200 feet above the surface within the confines of Victor 146. This will result in no additional assignment of controlled airspace because of existing designated Federal airways and controlled airspace in the immediate vicinity.

Since this alteration is minor in nature, and imposes no additional burden on any person, compliance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary and the effective date of the final rule as amended may be retained.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582), effective immediately, Airspace Docket No. 59-WA-104 (25 F.R. 2387, 12235, 26 F.R. 6709) is hereby amended as follows:

The text of Item 1 (§ 600.6451) is amended to read:

§ 600.6451 VOR Federal airway No. 451 (New Bedford, Mass., to Boston, Mass.).

From the INT of the Whitman, Mass., VOR 177° and the Providence, R.I., VOR 118° radials via the Whitman VOR; to the Boston, Mass., VOR, excluding the portion below 1,200 feet above the surface which lies within VOR Federal airway No. 146.

(Sec. 307(a), 72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 17, 1962.

Director, Air Traffic Service.

SUBCHAPTER T—OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE

PART 221—OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES

Crow Indian Irrigation Project, Montana

On page 11734 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 7, 1961, Vol. 26, No. 235, there was published a notice of intention to amend § 221.12 of Title 25, Code of Federal Regulations, dealing with the irrigable lands of the Crow Indian Irrigation Project, Montana, that are not subject to the jurisdiction of the several irrigation districts. Purpose of this amendment is to establish the assessment charges for the season of 1962 and thereafter until further notice, and which charges are applicable to all irrigable lands in the Crow Indian Irrigation Project that are not included in the irrigation districts organizations.

Interested persons were given 30 days within which to submit written comments, suggestions or objections with respect to the proposed amendment. No written communications were received. The amended regulations are adopted as set forth below.

Section 221.12 is amended to read as follows:

§ 221.12 Charges.

Title 29—LABOR

Chapter V—Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor

PART 779—THE FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT AS APPLIED TO RETAILERS OF GOODS AND SERVICES

Appendix; Enforcement Policy With Respect to Certain Retail and Service Establishments

Pursuant to authority in the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (29 U.S.C. 201 et seq.), Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (3 CFR 1949-1953 Comp., p. 1004), and General Order No. 45-A of the Secretary of Labor (15 F.R. 3290), the following enforcement policy has been adopted under the Fair Labor Standards Act, effective September 3, 1961, with respect to compensation for certain employees employed by retail or service establishments having branch stores in the same local community.

1. As an enforcement policy in the administration of the Act, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor will, unless otherwise directed by the courts, consider that the minimum wage and overtime pay requirements of the Act are complied with, in the case of an employee whose employment in the particular workweek meets all the conditions set forth in paragraph 2, if for such workweek that employee is paid not less than the minimum wages specified in section 6(b) of the Act and compensation for any overtime worked in accordance with the provisions of section 7(a)(2) of the Act.

2. The applicability to an employee of the enforcement policy stated in paragraph 1 of this notice is subject to the conditions stated in this paragraph 2. The enforcement policy is intended to apply to any employee whose employment during his workweek is in all respects the same as that which was authorized to be treated as exempt from the minimum wage and overtime pay requirements of the Act under an enforcement policy which was in effect prior to September 3, 1961 as stated in paragraph 3 of this notice. This former enforcement policy, which was set forth in the former § 779.4(b)(3) of Title 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations, was applicable to certain employees of a retail organization having a main establishment and branch establishments in the same local community and had the effect of excepting such employees, under specified conditions, from the application of the general rule that employees performing central functions for two or more retail or service establishments are subject to the minimum wage and overtime pay requirements of the Act. The enforcement policy stated in paragraph 1 of this notice does not apply to any employee whose employment would not, prior to September 3, 1961, have satisfied all the conditions required by the former enforcement policy as prerequisites to his exempt treatment thereunder. Accordingly, the enforcement policy stated in paragraph 1, like the former enforcement policy, will not apply to an employee unless—

(a) He works in a retail or service establishment (as defined in the Act), more than 50 percentum of whose annual dollar volume of sales of goods or services is made within the State in which the establishment is located; and

(b) He is employed for the purpose of performing activities which are part of the ordinary business operations of such establishment, and his work relating to branch establishments is confined to similar functions; and

(c) The main establishment in which he works, and all the branch establishments to which his work also relates, are establishments which would qualify for exemption under section 13(a)(2) or 13(a)(4) of the Fair Labor Standards Act if the 1961 amendments to such Act had not been enacted; and

(d) The main establishment and its branches are, organizationally, operated in the same local community as integral parts of a single store; and

(e) The employer does not operate more than four such branches of his main establishment; and

(f) The annual dollar volume of sales of goods and services made by the main establishment is greater than the aggregate annual dollar volume of sales of goods and services made by all the branch establishments.

3. The enforcement policy stated in paragraph 1 of this notice will permit the application to the employees who come within its terms of the same minimum wage and overtime pay standards as are provided by the amended Act for employees who were brought under its provisions for the first time on September 3, 1961 as a result of the 1961 amendments. This is believed to be justified because until that date employers were entitled under section 10 of the Portal-to-Portal Act of 1947 (61 Stat. 84) to be relieved of liability or punishment for any failure to pay minimum wages or overtime compensation to the employees described in paragraph 2 of this notice. This could be done upon a showing of good-faith reliance (see 29 CFR 790.13-790.16, 790.18), on the former enforcement policy described in that paragraph, which was in effect during the period beginning October 28, 1950 (15 F.R. 7245, 29 CFR § 779.4(b)(3)) and ending September 2, 1961 (26 F.R. 8333, 29 CFR § 779.10). As published, this former enforcement policy was expressly limited by a statement that it would be followed "pending judicial clarification of the status of such employees". As a result of further clarification by the United States Supreme Court and other Federal appellate courts, which indicated that the statute would not support such a policy, no restatement of the former policy was included in the revised interpretative bulletin on the Fair Labor Standards Act as applied to retailers of goods or services, which was published on September 2, 1961, in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 8333, 29 CFR Part 779), following the enactment of the Fair Labor Standards Amendments of 1961 (75 Stat. 65).

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 18th day of January 1961.

CLARENCE T. LUNDQUIST, Administrator.

FEDERAL AVIATION AGENCY

[14 CFR Part 42]

[Reg. Docket No. 1039; Draft Release No. 62–1]

IRREGULAR AIR CARRIER AND OFF-ROUTE RULES

Proposed Flight Time Limitations for Flight Engineers

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 405.27), notice is hereby given that there is under consideration a proposal to amend Part 42 of the Civil Air Regulations as hereinafter set forth.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rules by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in duplicate to the Docket Section of the Federal Aviation Agency, Room C–226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. All communications received on or before February 23, 1962, will be considered by the Administrator before taking action on the proposed rules. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments submitted will be available in the Docket Section for examination by interested persons when the prescribed date for return of comments has expired.

Part 42 of the Civil Air Regulations, unlike Parts 40 and 41, does not contain flight time limitations applicable to flight crewmembers other than pilots. At the time Part 42 was originally developed, operations conducted pursuant to the provisions of that part generally consisted of domestic flights utilizing airplane types which did not require the services of a flight engineer. At a later date, as a result of the development of international irregular air carrier operations, the operations specifications issued to operators conducting operations pursuant to Part 42 were amended to include flight time limitations applicable to all flight crewmembers engaged in overseas and international operations.

The irregular air carriers and commercial operators engaged in domestic operations now operate many large airplanes which require the inclusion of a flight engineer in the flight crew. The Federal Aviation Agency, therefore, considers it essential that the flight time, flight deck duty, duty aloft, and duty time limitations, and the rest requirements, presently applicable to pilots engaged in domestic operations conducted pursuant to Part 42 of the Civil Air Regulations, be made applicable to flight engineers engaged in such operations. The Agency believes that the limitations presently applicable to a flight crew consisting of two pilots should be made applicable to a flight engineer serving in a flight crew containing one flight engineer, and that, when the flight crew contains two or more flight engineers, the limitations presently applicable to a flight crew consisting of four pilots are appropriate.

It is recognized that in some instances an air carrier may wish to include in the flight crew one or more airmen who are appropriately qualified to serve both as a pilot and as a flight engineer. The rules proposed herein would not preclude such utilization of an airman provided that the total of his scheduled flight deck duty as a flight engineer and his scheduled flight deck duty as a pilot does not exceed 8 hours during any 24-hour period.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend Part 42 of the Civil Air Regulations as follows:

1. By redesignating § 42.49 as § 42.50.
2. By adding a new § 42.49 to read:

§ 42.49 Flight time limitations for flight engineers on large airplanes.

The flight time limitations prescribed in § 42.48 (a) and (b) shall apply to an airman serving as a flight engineer except that where two or more airmen serve as flight engineers in a flight crew containing three or more pilots, the flight time limitations prescribed in § 42.48(d) shall apply in lieu of those in § 42.48(b).

These amendments are proposed under the authority of sections 313(a), 601, and 604 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 752(a), 775, 778, 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1424).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 17, 1962.

FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to § 600.1681 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1681 extends in part from Washington, D.C., to Baltimore, Md. The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of a segment of Victor 1681 from the intersection of the Flat Rock, Va., VOR 025° and the Gordonsville, Va., VOR 058° True radials as a 16-mile wide airway via the Flat Rock VOR and the intersection of the Flat Rock VOR 213° and the Raleigh-Durham, N.C., VOR 016° True radials to the Raleigh-Durham VOR. This proposed segment of Victor 1681 would provide a route south of Washington, D.C., overlying low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 3 for the accommodation of intermediate altitude traffic departing the Washington terminal area southbound which must transition into the intermediate altitude airway structure.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Eastern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 18, 1962.

FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Proposed Designation

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to Part 600 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1776 from the Las Vegas, Nev., VOR as a 16 mile wide airway via the intersection of the Las Vegas VOR 106° and the Peach Springs, Ariz., VOR 293° True radials; Peach Springs VOR to the Winslow, Ariz., VOR. This proposed airway would join intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1532 at Winslow and would provide a more direct route for intermediate altitude air traffic operating between Las Vegas and Albuquerque, N. Mex.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Western Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 5651 West Manchester Avenue, P.O. Box 90007, Airport Station, Los Angeles 45, Calif. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

FEDERAL AIRWAYS AND ASSOCIATED CONTROL AREAS

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to §§ 600.6226, 600.1723 and 601.6226 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 226 extends in part from Williamsport, Pa., to Thornhurst, Pa. The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of a segment of Victor 226 and its associated control areas from the Ellwood City, Pa., VORTAC to the Keating, Pa., VOR.

Concurrently, the Federal Aviation Agency is considering the designation of a segment of Intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1723 which extends in part from Parkersburg, W. Va., to Pittsburgh, Pa. It is proposed to designate the proposed segment of Victor 1723 from the intersection of the Keating VOR 256° and the Pittsburgh VOR 354° True radials as a 16-mile wide airway via the Keating VOR to the Williamsport VOR.

The designation of these proposed airway segments would provide basic and intermediate airway routes to serve arrival traffic destined for the Pittsburgh terminal area from the New York Metropolitan area, and would provide the control facilities with improved handling capabilities for this traffic.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Eastern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

CONTROL AREA EXTENSIONS, TRANSITION AREA AND DESIGNATION OF TRANSITION AREAS

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) is considering amendments to Part 601 and §§ 601.1246, 601.1385 and 601.10945 of the regulations of the Administrator, the susbtance of which is stated below.

Effective January 11, 1962, new aircraft holding pattern procedures were implemented by the FAA within the continental limits of the United States and in areas beyond such limits where adequate controlled airspace was currently established. These procedures were developed to accommodate the increasing variety of aircraft speeds and operating altitudes in the IFR environment and provide for the containment of aircraft holding maneuvers within the holding pattern areas designed for such operation. Prior to the implementation of these procedures, the FAA processed a number of airspace dockets containing amendments to the regulations of the Administrator, effective on January 11, 1962, in which additional controlled airspace was designated to encompass the increased dimensions of the newly designed holding pattern areas. Subsequent to the publication of these amendments, a review of this newly allocated airspace revealed certain instances calling for adjustments in the amount of controlled airspace designated. In order to effect such changes necessary in the Boston and Indianapolis Air Route Traffic Control Center areas, the FAA is considering the following airspace actions:

1. The Greene, N.Y., transition area would be designated to extend upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within 12 miles east and 8 miles west of the Georgetown, N.Y., VOR 169° True radial extending from 12 miles south to 44 miles south of the VOR. This would provide protection for aircraft in holding patterns at the Greene, N.Y., Intersection (intersection of the Georgetown VOR 169° and the Binghamton, N.Y., VORTAC 064° True radials).

2. In Airspace Docket No. 61-NY-92 (26 F.R. 12516), effective January 11, 1962, the De Lancey, N.Y., transition area (§ 601.10945) was designated to extend upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within 7 miles north and 10 miles south of the De Lancey VOR 265° and 085° True radials extending from 9 miles west to 20 miles east of the VOR. This transition area was designated to provide protection for aircraft in holding patterns at the De Lancey VOR. A review of this transition area indicates that the north-south alignment should be within 10 miles north and 7 miles south of the same radials. Therefore, it is proposed to redesignate the De Lancey transition area as extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within 10 miles north and 7 miles south of the De Lancey VOR 265° and 085° True radials extending from 9 miles west to 20 miles east of the VOR.

3. The Albany, N.Y., transition area would be designated as that airspace southeast of Albany extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface bounded on the northeast by VOR Federal airway No. 130, on the southeast by VOR Federal airway No. 487 and on the west by VOR Federal airway No. 91; and the airspace southwest of Albany bounded on the north by a line 10 miles south of and parallel to the Albany VORTAC 270° True radial, on the east by VOR Federal airway No. 91, on the south by VOR Federal airway No. 270 and on the west by longitude 74°16'00" W. This would provide protection for aircraft in holding patterns at the Athens Intersection (intersection of the Albany VOR 181° and the Chester, Mass., VOR 266° True radials), Brainard Intersection (intersection of the Albany VOR 140° and the Cambridge, N.Y., VOR 189° True radials) and the Greenbush Intersection (intersection of the Albany VOR 181° and the Chester VOR 293° True radials).

4. A review of Airspace Docket No. 61-NY-92 (see Item No. 2 above) indicates that a small amount of additional airspace is necessary for the protection of aircraft in holding patterns at the Summit Intersection (intersection of the Rockdale, N.Y., VOR 075° and the Utica, N.Y., VOR 137° True radials). Therefore, it is proposed to alter the southeast portion of the Rome, N.Y., control area extension (§ 601.1385), as revised in Airspace Docket No. 61-NY-92, by substituting longitude 74°24'00" W. for longitude 74°30'00" W. as the eastern boundary.

5. A review of Airspace Docket No. 60-NY-43 (26 F.R. 11894, effective January 11, 1962), indicates that a small amount of additional airspace is necessary for the protection of aircraft in holding patterns at the Princeton, Maine, VOR. Therefore, it is proposed to alter the Bangor, Maine, control area extension (§ 601.1047) by adding a small amount of airspace northeast and southeast of Princeton bounded on the north by the United States/Canadian border, on the east by the United States/Canadian border and longitude 67°30'00" W., and on the west by a line extending from latitude 45°37'30" N., longitude 67°39'00" W.; to latitude 44°45'00" N., longitude 67°30'00" W.

6. A review of Airspace Docket No. 61-WA-194 (26 F.R. 12288, effective January 11, 1962), indicates that a small amount of additional airspace is necessary for the protection of aircraft in holding patterns at the Weston Intersection (intersection of the Evansville, Ind., VORTAC 227° and the Samsville, Ill., VOR 177° True radials). Therefore, it is proposed to alter the Evansville, Ind., control area extension (§ 601.1246), as revised in Airspace Docket No. 61-WA-194, by adding the airspace southwest of Evansville within 12 miles southeast and 8 miles northwest of the Evansville VORTAC 227° True radial extending from 30 miles southwest of the VORTAC to 44 miles southwest of the VORTAC.

Implementation of the provisions of Amendment 60-21 to the Civil Air Regulations, Part 60, Air Traffic Rules is being deferred in those instances where the alteration of control area extensions is being proposed. Upon completion of the review of the controlled airspace requirements presently being conducted attendant to these provisions, separate airspace action will be initiated to convert the control area extensions to transition areas with appropriate controlled airspace floor assignments.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Eastern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within thirty days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 18, 1962.

JET ROUTES

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to § 602.100 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Jet Route No. 60 extends in part from the Las Vegas, Nev., VORTAC via the intersection of the Las Vegas VORTAC 044° and the Bryce Canyon, Utah, VOR 247° True radials; the Bryce Canyon VOR; the Hanksville, Utah, VORTAC; to the Grand Junction, Colo., VORTAC. The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the alteration of this segment of J-60 by designating it from the Las Vegas VORTAC direct to the Bryce Canyon, VOR, thence direct to the Grand Junction VORTAC. Such action would provide a more direct route between Las Vegas and Grand Junction, would reduce the route mileage, and would reduce the number of reporting points by deleting the Hanksville VOR from the high altitude structure. The jet advisory area associated with J-60 is so designated that it would automatically conform to the altered jet route.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division. PROPOSED CONSTRUCTION PERMIT

1. By application dated October 31, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as "the application"), The University of Texas requested a Class 104 license, authorizing construction and operation on The University of Texas campus at Austin, Texas, of a 10 kilowatt (thermal) TRIGA Mark I pool-type nuclear reactor (hereinafter referred to as "the reactor").

2. The Atomic Energy Commission (hereinafter referred to as "the Commission") finds that:

A. The reactor will be a utilization facility as defined in the Commission's regulations contained in Title 10, Chapter I, CFR, Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities".

B. The reactor will be used in the conduct of research and development activities of the types specified in section 31 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (hereinafter referred to as "the Act").

C. The University of Texas is financially qualified to construct and operate the reactor in accordance with the regulations contained in Title 10, Chapter I, CFR, Part 50, to assume financial responsibility for the payment of Commission charges for special nuclear material and to undertake and carry out the proposed use of such material for a reasonable period of time.

D. The University of Texas and its contractor, General Atomics Division of General Dynamics Corporation, are technically qualified to design, construct and operate the reactor.

E. The University of Texas has submitted sufficient information to provide reasonable assurance that a reactor of the general type can be constructed and operated at the proposed location without undue risk to the health and safety of the public.

F. The issuance of a construction permit to The University of Texas will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public.

3. Pursuant to the Act and Title 10, Chapter I, CFR, Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities", the Commission hereby issues a construction permit to The University of Texas to construct the reactor in accordance with the application. This permit shall be deemed to contain and be subject to the conditions specified in §§ 50.54 and 50.55 of said regulations; is subject to all applicable provisions of the Act and rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission now or hereafter in effect; and is subject to the additional conditions specified below:

A. The earliest completion date of the reactor is July 1, 1962. The latest date for completion of the reactor is December 31, 1962. The term "completion date" as used herein, means the date on which construction of the reactor is completed except for the introduction of the fuel material.

B. The reactor shall be constructed and located at the location on the campus of The University of Texas at Austin, Texas, specified in the application.

4. This permit is provisional to the extent that a license authorizing operation of the facility will not be issued by the Commission unless The University of Texas has submitted to the Commission (by amendment of the application) additional data required to complete the hazards analysis for operating the proposed facility and the Commission has found the final design provides reasonable assurance that the health and safety of the public will not be endangered by operation of the reactor in accordance with specified procedures.

5. Upon completion (as defined in paragraph "3.A." above) of the construction of the reactor in accordance with the terms and conditions of this permit, upon filing of the additional information needed to bring the original application up-to-date, and upon finding that the reactor has been constructed and will operate in conformity with the application as amended and in conformity with the provisions of the Act and of the rules and regulations of the Commission, and in the absence of any good cause being shown to the Commission why the granting of a license would not be in accordance with the provisions of the Act, the Commission will issue a Class 104 license to The University of Texas pursuant to section 104c of the Act, which license shall expire ten (10) years after the date of this construction permit.

Date of issuance:

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

COMMUNITY SERVICE BROADCASTERS, INC., ET AL.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Amending Issues

In re applications of Community Service Broadcasters, Inc., Ypsilanti, Mich., Docket No. 14085; File No. BP-13846; John M. Bryan and Reid W. Dennis, Joint Venturers, d/b/a Mainliner Broadcasters, Louisville, Ky., et al., Docket No. 14291, File No. BP-14043 et al.; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (1) a petition to enlarge issues, and supplement thereto, filed by Radio One Five Hundred, Inc., on November 8, 1961, and November 13, 1961, respectively; (2) Comments filed by the Broadcast Bureau on November 21, 1961; (3) a statement filed December 15, 1961, by Mainliner Broadcasters.

2. Petitioner alleges that the programming proposals made by Mainliner Broadcasters are nearly identical with those made by one of the partners in Mainliner Broadcasters in applications for two other communities. It therefore requests that the issues be enlarged by adding an issue to determine whether Mainliner Broadcasters made any effort to determine the programming needs of the community and area it proposes to serve. The Broadcast Bureau supports petitioner's request. Mainliner Broadcasters in its response to the petition states that the efforts it made in determining the programming needs of the area it would serve can be demonstrated better at an adjudicatory hearing than by affidavit, and it therefore does not oppose enlargement of the issues.

3. As pointed out by the Broadcast Bureau, the nearly identical programming proposals give rise to the question of whether Mainliner Broadcasters made a bona fide effort to ascertain the needs of the community it proposes to serve, and Mainliner Broadcasters in its responsive pleading does not make any showing that it made such effort. The issues will, therefore, be enlarged.

Accordingly, it is ordered, This 17th day of January 1962, that the request made by Radio One Five Hundred, Inc., in its petition filed November 8, 1961, that the issues be enlarged, is granted;

It is further ordered, That the Commission's Order (FCC 61-1204), released October 17, 1961, is amended by renumbering Issues 21 to 31 as Issues 22 to 32, respectively;

It is further ordered, That the issues are enlarged by the addition of the following issues:

21. To determine what efforts have been made by Mainliner Broadcasters to ascertain the program needs and interests of the area it proposes to serve, and the manner in which it proposes to meet such needs and interests.

Released: January 19, 1962.

KENT-RAVENNA BROADCASTING CO. ET AL.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Amending Issues

In re applications of Kent-Ravenna Broadcasting Co., Kent, Ohio., Docket No. 14076, File No. BP-13749; Portage County Broadcasting Corporation, Kent-Ravena, Ohio, et al., Docket No. 14084, File No. BP-13845, et al.; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (1) the petition to enlarge issues, filed October 24, 1961, by Portage County Broadcasting Corporation; (2) Broadcast Bureau's opposition, filed November 21, 1961; and (3) reply, filed December 8, 1961, by Kent-Ravenna Broadcasting Co.

2. Alleging that grant of the Kent-Ravenna Broadcasting Co. application would contravene § 3.35 of our rules, Portage County requests enlargement of the issues to include an issue as to Kent-Ravenna Broadcasting Co.'s compliance with § 3.35 of the Commission's rules. Noting that the issues in this proceeding were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 28, 1961 (26 F.R. 3658), petitioner relies for its showing of good cause for late filing upon its allegations that the maze of interlocking Dix corporations is so complex that much time was required at research before a clear picture could be obtained of the extent of the Dix family holdings in media of mass communication. Petitioner submits that these interlocking holdings present a problem under § 3.35 of the rules. According to the petition and accompanying engineering statement, Kent-Ravenna's proposed operation in Kent and Station WWST in Wooster, Ohio, are commonly owned, and 70.5 percent of the total land area within the proposed Kent 0.5 mv/m contour lies within the existing WWST 0.5 mv/m contour, and 24 square miles within the existing WWST 2.0 mv/m contour lie within the proposed Kent 2.0 mv/m contour.

3. Kent-Ravenna and the Commission's Broadcast Bureau oppose the petition on grounds of untimely filing. At the same time the Broadcast Bureau agrees with petitioner that the facts alleged present a serious overlap problem under § 3.35 of the rules.

4. Portage County's petition will be denied on grounds of untimely filing. In view of the extensive overlap proposed, and in view of the alleged ownership and control by Kent-Ravenna of other media of mass communication (newspapers, FM and AM broadcast stations in Ohio and elsewhere), the Commission will on its own motion add an issue to determine whether a grant of the Kent-Ravenna application would be in contravention of either subsection (a) or (b) of § 3.35 of the rules. Clarksburg Publishing Co. v. FCC, 12 RR 2024, 225 F. 2d 511 (1955).

Accordingly, it is ordered, This 17th day of January 1962, that the petition to enlarge issues in the above-captioned proceeding, filed October 24, 1961, by Portage County Broadcasting Corporation is denied for reasons of untimely filing; and

It is further ordered, On the Commission's own motion, that the designation order released April 25, 1961 (FCC 61-533), is amended by adding the following issue: To determine whether a grant of the application of Kent-Ravenna Broadcasting Co., for a new standard broadcast station at Kent, Ohio, would be in contravention of § 3.35 of the Commission's rules.

Released: January 19, 1962.

MELODY MUSIC, INC. (WGMA)

Memorandum Opinion and Order Amending Issues

In re application of Melody Music, Inc. (WGMA), Hollywood, Florida, Docket No. 14043, File No. BR-2855; for renewal of license of Station WGMA, Hollywood, Florida.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (1) Melody Music, Inc.'s petition for extension of time filed May 5, 1961, which was referred to the Commission on December 8, 1961, by the Acting Motion's Commissioner; (2) Melody's petition for reconsideration, filed September 19, 1961; (3) Melody's petition for clarification or enlargement of issues, filed October 2, 1961; and (4) pleadings properly filed in response thereto.

2. By Order released April 17, 1961 (FCC 61-495) the application of Melody Music, Inc., for renewal of its license to Station WGMA, Hollywood, Florida, was designated for hearing because the alleged "fixed" television quiz show activities of Daniel Enright raised a question regarding Melody's character qualifications. On May 5, 1961, Melody filed a petition challenging the validity of the designation Order contending that the renewal application should have been consolidated with its then pending assignment application, and the procedural provisions of then 47 U.S.C. 309(b), and 5 U.S.C. 1008(b) had not been complied with. On the same day, but in a separate pleading, Melody requested an extension of time so that it would not have to file, and the Commission would not be required to consider, a petition to enlarge, clarify, or delete issues until after the Commission had ruled on its challenge of the designation Order. By Order released September 18, 1961 (FCC 61-1101) the Commission rejected as moot the challenge to the designation Order, because Melody in the interim had withdrawn the pending assignment application. On December 8, 1961, the Acting Motion's Commissioner referred Melody's petition for extension of time to the full Commission.

3. Melody's petition for extension of time will be granted. Although petitions of this nature must be disposed on their particular facts, Melody's request was reasonable and proper in light of its vigorous attack on the designation Order which, if successful, would have mooted any request for modification of the issues. This situation is totally unlike that which prevailed in Sands Broadcasting Corp., FCC 61-690, May 29, 1961, where the petitioner sought an extension of time in order that it might conclude an investigation in order to determine whether any grounds existed for seeking enlargement of the issues, and the fact of whether a petition to enlarge issues would ever be filed was entirely speculative.

4. Melody has also requested reconsideration of our order released September 18, 1961 (FCC 61-1101), dismissing the challenge of the designation Order. This request will be denied because it violates our policy against entertaining petitions for reconsideration of interlocutory matters, except in circumstances that do not here prevail. KWK Radio, Inc., 21 RR 304 (1961). In addition, the contention that the Commission has failed to comply with former 47 U.S.C. 309(b) and 5 U.S.C. 1008 (b) in designating this proceeding for hearing, is totally without merit. The designation Order in this hearing was released April 17, 1961. Former section 309(b) is not applicable to this hearing Order which was released after December 12, 1960, the effective date of the amendment of former section 309(b), and the implementation of the amendment by 47 CFR 1.359. It is also clear that the notice requirement of section 9(b) of the APA does not apply to renewal hearings. Davis, Administrative Law (1951) 283.

5. The issues designated for hearing in the instant proceeding are:

(1) To determine the extent to which Daniel Enright was involved in the preparation or production of "fixed" television quiz shows.

(2) To determine, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issue, whether the applicant, Melody Music, Inc., possesses the requisite qualifications to be a licensee of the Commission.

(3) To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, whether a grant of said application would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

Melody has requested clarification or enlargement of these issues so that it can introduce evidence regarding: the past or proposed operations of WGMA; the community's needs for WGMA's service; Enright's general character reputation; and deceptive practices in the communications industry.

6. Melody's request for an issue to ascertain the nature of the operations of WGMA will be granted. Although the Commission is not required to consider evidence of this type, which would essentially be offered in mitigation of any adverse findings under the existing issues, we are of the view that the public interest will be better served in this proceeding if evidence is adduced as to the overall broadcasting record of the licensee.

7. The request for an issue regarding the community's needs for WGMA's service will be denied. Proper evidence as to community need is admissible in establishing the nature of the operation of the licensee, and since we have added an issue regarding WGMA's operation, a specific issue regarding the needs of WGMA's community would be superfluous. The issue regarding Enright's general character reputation will be denied. This type of evidence is relevant, and if it complies with the rules of evidence, can be introduced pursuant to Issue 2, which is to ascertain whether the applicant, in which Enright is a principal, possesses the requisite character qualifications. However, in order to resolve any doubt as to the intended scope of the issue, the restrictive phrase "in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issue" is hereby deleted from Issue 2. The final issue requested by Melody will also be denied because, to the extent that industry practices may be established to be relevant, proper evidence relating thereto can be introduced under the existing issues.

Accordingly, it is ordered, This 17th day of January 1962, that the petition of Melody Music, Inc., for reconsideration, filed September 19, 1961, is denied; and

It is further ordered, That the petition of Melody Music, Inc., for extension of time, filed May 5, 1961, is granted; and

It is further ordered, That the petition of Melody Music, Inc., for clarification or enlargement of issues, filed October 2, 1961, is granted to the extent indicated herein, and the designation Order released April 17, 1961 (FCC 61-495), is hereby amended by renumbering Issue 3 as Issue 4, and by the addition of the following issue:

3. To determine the manner in which Melody Music, Inc., operates and has operated Station WGMA, with particular regard to its reliability and candor as a licensee, and by amending Issue 2 to read as follows:

2. To determine whether the applicant, Melody Music, possesses the requisite qualifications to be a licensee of the Commission.

SMACKOVER RADIO, INC., AND MAGNOLIA BROADCASTING CO. (KVMA)

Memorandum Opinion and Order Amending Issues

In re applications of Smackover Radio, Inc., Smackover, Arkansas, Docket No. 14193; File No. BP-14663; Magnolia Broadcasting Company (KVMA), Magnolia, Arkansas, Docket No. 14194, File No. BP-14717; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a petition to enlarge issues filed August 3, 1961, by Ouachita Valley Radio Corporation, together with pleadings properly filed in reply thereto.

2. We are asked to enlarge the issues to ascertain whether the applications of Smackover Radio, Inc., and Magnolia Broadcasting Co., were designed to block petitioner's proposal for Camden, Arkansas.[1]

3. Ouachita has alleged that there is a close connection between Station KAMD, the sole existing station at Camden, Arkansas, Smackover and Magnolia. To support the allegation regarding Smackover, it notes that Donald Cathey, president, director and 50 percent stockholder of Smackover is presently KAMD's station manager. It submits an affidavit from Floyd F. Hudson, formerly a staff announcer for Station KAMD, who states that Cathey utilized KAMD's chief engineer in preparing Smackover's application, and that KAMD's general manager was consulted on some problems concerning the application. Hudson also states that Cathey told him that he would personally do anything he could to prevent the licensing of a second station at Camden. In addition, petitioner submits a letter from a document analyst who states that Smackover's application was prepared on the same typewriter used to prepare documents submitted to the Commission by Station KAMD. These allegations, supported by affidavits raise a question as to whether the application of Smackover Radio, Inc. was filed in good faith, or for the benefit of Station KAMD. Such questions can best be resolved following an evidentiary hearing, and therefore, a good faith issue will be added as to Smackover.

4. To support the allegation of close connection between KAMD and Magnolia, petitioner notes that some of Magnolia's stockholders have substantial ownership interests in Station KAMD. Ouachita submits the affidavit of John W. Harrell, one of its incorporators, who states that E. K. Cochran, an individual not shown to be related to Magnolia in any way, told him that Magnolia's manager, W. M. Bigley, had admitted that Magnolia had no real intention to increase power, but had filed the application only to prevent a second station from being licensed for Camden. Harrell also states in the affidavit that KAMD's chief engineer told him that he had assisted in the preliminary surveys in connection with Magnolia's application to increase power. Magnolia challenges these allegations. It submits the affidavit of Cochran who states that Bigley never made any such admission to him, and Bigley's affidavit which avers that he never made such a statement. In addition, Magnolia submits affidavits which aver that the Magnolia stockholders who have interests in KAMD own only 15 percent of the stock in Magnolia, seldom participate in Magnolia's corporate activities and did not participate in the decision to increase power.

5. Insofar as the petition relies on Cochran's statement to Harrell, it will be rejected for failure to comply with 47 CFR 1.141 which requires that allegations of fact shall be supported by affidavits of persons having personal knowledge thereof. Even absent the rule, that portion of the affidavit would be unacceptable for it is hearsay of the most obvious sort unaccompanied by even an attempt to establish it as inherently credible. However, the unexplained participation of KAMD's chief engineer in the preparation of the Magnolia application coupled with the fact that certain Magnolia stockholders also hold stock in KAMD and the obvious economic benefit to KAMD if the Ouachita application were denied, establishes sufficient connection[2] between Magnolia and KAMD to raise a question as to whether Magnolia's application was filed in good faith, or to aid KAMD. Therefore, a good faith issue will also be added regarding Magnolia.

6. The enlarged issue clearly involves the interests of the licensee of Station KAMD, Camden, Arkansas, which is not a party to this proceeding. Accordingly, KAMD will be made a party to this proceeding with respect to Issue 8 which is added by this order.

Accordingly, it is ordered, This 17th day of January 1962, that the petition for enlargement of issues, filed August 3, 1961, by Ouachita Valley Radio Corporation is dismissed; and

It is further ordered, That on the Commission's own motion, the designation order released July 14, 1961, FCC 61-885, is amended by issues 8 and 9 being renumbered as 9 and 10 and by the addition of the following issue, the burden of proof of which shall be on the affected applicants:

(8) To determine whether the applications of Smackover Radio, Inc., and Magnolia Broadcasting Company (KVMA) were filed in good faith or were filed solely or in part for the purpose of preventing the granting of a construction permit at Camden, Arkansas, to Ouachita Valley Radio Corporation.

It is further ordered, That Camden Radio, Inc., licensee of Station KAMD, Camden, Arkansas, is made a party to this proceeding with respect to Issue 8;

It is further ordered, That the statement of the Broadcast Bureau in support of enlargement of issues, although Ouachita Valley Radio Corporation has been removed from the instant hearings, filed November 24, 1961; the response by Magnolia Broadcasting Company, filed December 21, 1961; and the response of Smackover Radio, Inc., filed December 21, 1961, are hereby dismissed because they violate the requirements of 47 CFR 1.13.

HAYWARD F. SPINKS AND GREENVILLE BROADCASTING CO.

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Hayward F. Spinks, Hartford, Ky., requests: 1600 kc, 500 w, D, Class III, Docket No. 14493, File No. BP-14291; C. P. Stovall, Sr., and C. P. Stovall, Jr., d/b/a Greenville Broadcasting Co., Greenville, Ky., requests: 1600 kc, 500 w, D, Class III, Docket No. 14494, File No. BP-15005; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D.C., on the 17th day of January 1962;

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned and described applications;

It appearing that, except as indicated by the issues specified below, each of the instant applicants is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to construct and operate the instant proposals; and

It further appearing that the following matters are to be considered in connection with the aforementioned issues specified below:

1. The two applicants request cochannel, omnidirectional operations twenty-three miles apart and are, therefore, mutually prohibitive.

2. Since Hayward F. Spinks does not indicate that deferred credit is available, it must be assumed that all expenditures in connection with the construction and initial operation of his proposed station will be met with cash. Total funds required, including three months working capital, will be $27,475. An analysis of Mr. Spink's balance sheets, as of May 31, 1960, reveals cash in the amount of $7,351 and accounts receivable of $3,762, or total quick assets of $11,113. It will be necessary to establish the source of the additional necessary funds.

3. C. P. Stovall, Sr., and C. P. Stovall, Jr., d/b as Greenville Broadcasting Company have filed, in addition to the subject application, an application for a new FM facility at Greenville, (BPH-3559). It is not indicated in either application that construction costs or initial operating costs have been duplicated. Upon the assumption that there will be no duplication, the applicant will require a total of $32,925 to meet the costs of construction, down payment on equipment, and initial operating expenses. Only $17,000 is shown to be available—an amount sufficient to construct either the AM station or the FM station, but not both. No financial question has been raised with regard to the FM application.

4. It has not yet been determined whether the proposal of Greenville Broadcasting Company would constitute a menace to air navigation.

It further appearing that, in view of the foregoing, the Commission is unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the subject applications would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity, and is of the opinion that the applications must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding on the issues set forth below:

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the instant applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from each of the subject proposals and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether either applicant is financially qualified to construct and operate its proposed station.

3. To determine whether there is a reasonable possibility that the tower height and location proposed by Greenville Broadcasting Company would constitute a menace to air navigation.

4. To determine, in the light of section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the instant proposals would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

5. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues which, if either, of the instant applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the Federal Aviation Agency, is made a party to the proceeding.

It is further ordered, That to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants and party respondent herein, pursuant to § 1.140 of the Commission rules, in person or by attorney, shall, within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.362(b) of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.362(g) of the rules.

It is further ordered, That, the issues in the above-captioned proceeding, may be enlarged by the Examiner, on his own motion or on petition properly filed by a party to the proceeding, and upon sufficient allegations of Fact in support thereof, by the addition of the following issue: To determine whether the funds available to the applicant will give reasonable assurance that the proposals set forth in the applications will be effectuated.

The Hearing Examiner having under consideration a Motion for Continuance filed on January 10, 1962, by Superior Communications Co., Inc. (Superior), wherein it is requested that the hearing herein now set for January 29, 1962, be continued without date;

It appearing that at a consolidated preliminary conference herein held on November 27, 1961, it was stipulated among the parties that, if Superior filed an application for consent to transfer of control of Superior on or before January 15, 1962, the grant of which might obviate the necessity for an evidentiary hearing herein, the Examiner would entertain an appropriate Motion for continuance of the hearing now scheduled to commence on January 29, pending Commission action on the aforementioned application;

It further appearing that on January 10, 1962, Superior filed with the Commission an appropriate application for consent to such transfer of control; and

It further appearing that good cause has been shown for a grant of the Motion for Continuance;

It is ordered, This 17th day of January 1962, that the Motion for Continuance filed by Superior Communications Co., Inc., is granted and that the hearing now scheduled to commence on January 29, 1962, is postponed without date pending action by the Commission on the aforementioned application for consent to the transfer of control.

[Docket Nos. CP61-197, CP62-93]

TENNESSEE NATURAL GAS LINES, INC., AND TENNESSEE GAS TRANSMISSION CO.

Notice of Motion To Amend Order Issuing Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity and Notice of Application and Date of Hearing

JANUARY 17, 1962.

Take notice that on October 30, 1961, as amended on November 16, 1961, Tennessee Natural Gas Lines, Inc. (Tennessee Natural), 1003 Nashville Trust Building, Nashville, Tennessee, filed in Docket No. CP61-197 a motion to amend an order issuing a certificate of public convenience and necessity, and on October 12, 1961, as supplemented and amended on November 2, 1961, Tennessee Gas Transmission Company (Tennessee), P.O. Box 2511, Houston 1, Texas, filed in Docket No. CP62-93 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, both as hereinafter described, and as more fully set forth in the motion and application which are on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Tennessee Natural in Docket No. CP61-197 proposes in the subject motion to amend the order of the Commission issued April 10, 1961, in said docket which authorizes movant to sell up to 20,800 Mcf of interruptible gas per day to Ford Motor Company. (Ford), a direct industrial customer, for use in its glass plant in Nashville, Tennessee. Tennessee Natural now seeks authorization to sell Ford 15,500 Mcf of interruptible gas per day and 5,300 Mcf of firm gas per day instead of 20,800 Mcf of interruptible gas per day. The motion states that the change is necessary due to an expansion at the Ford plant. In Docket No. CP61-27 Tennessee Natural has a pending application to make the same conversion on a long-term basis, which application is dependent on Tennessee's expansion pending in Docket No. CP60-94. The motion proposes that the conversion be effective for the period ending November 30, 1962.

[1] At the time petitioner sought enlargement of the issues, it was a party applicant in this proceeding. It has subsequently amended its application and been returned to the processing line. However, since its allegations, if true, raise a question as to whether a grant of the Smackover and Magnolia applications would be in the public interest, Capitol Broadcasting Co., 29 FCC 677, 30 FCC 1, the requested issue is not rendered moot by Ouachita's removal from hearing.

[2] In Waco Radio Co., 19 RR 538 (1959) the issues were enlarged on a showing that the applicant had received assistance from an existing station which would benefit from applicant's proposal; and in Four States Broadcasting Co., 18 RR 616 (1959) a showing of business relationship was sufficient.

[3] Commissioner Cross dissenting in opinion.

Tennessee seeks authorization in Docket No. CP62–93 to render interim additional service until November 30, 1962, to three of its existing customers as follows (Mcf per day at 14.73 psia):

Customers	Presently authorized long-term maximum contract quantity	Proposed interim service	Total long-term and interim service
Inland Gas Corp.	40,800	5,100	45,900
United Gas Pipe Line Co.:
Oxford	5,945	1,055	7,000
Shaw, et al	8,318	1,166	9,484
Tennessee Natural Gas Lines, Inc.	111,364	5,300	116,664
Total	166,427	12,621	179,048

Tennessee states that these three customers are its only existing customers that will not have sufficient gas supply to meet their 1961–62 winter requirements. The proposed interim service would be rendered under Tennessee's FPC Gas Rate Schedules on file with the Commission. The application states that the proposed service can be rendered without any additional facilities.

Docket No. CP62–93 is a matter which should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on February 15, 1962, at 9:30 a.m., e.s.t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D.C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a noncontested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30(c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter I—Agricultural Marketing Service (Standards, Inspections, and Marketing Practices), Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER A—COMMODITY STANDARDS AND STANDARD CONTAINER REGULATIONS

PART 29—TOBACCO INSPECTION

Subpart C—Standards

A notice of proposed rule making to amend the Tentative Standard Grades for Puerto Rican Cigar-filler Tobacco, U.S. Type 46, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 28, 1961 (26 F.R. 12577). Interested persons were given 15 days following publication of the notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER in which to submit written data, views, or arguments with respect to the proposed amendment.

After consideration of the data, views, and arguments presented, the amended standards, as so published, are hereby adopted without change.

It is hereby found that good cause exists for making this amendment effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER for the reason that the Puerto Rican tobacco sales of the 1961 crop will begin about February 1, 1962, and it is necessary that this amendment be effective prior to the marketing season, for utilization in the official inspection of the tobacco. Therefore, the earliest possible effective date will be beneficial to the industry and to the inspection service in that greater time will be afforded for the study of the amended standards to assure uniform application.

The amendment is set forth below.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 19th day of January 1962, to become effective on the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

G. R. GRANGE,
Deputy Administrator, Marketing Services.

1. Designate §§ 29.9101–29.9999 as Subpart F—Tentative Standards.

2. Insert in Subpart F of Part 29 these tentative standards to be codified as follows:

KEY TO STANDARD GRADEMARKS

AUTHORITY: §§ 29.9301 to 29.9396 issued under sec. 14, 49 Stat. 734, 7 U.S.C. 511m.

DEFINITIONS

§ 29.9301 Definitions.

As used in these standards, the words and phrases hereinafter defined shall have the indicated meanings so assigned.

§ 29.9302 Air-cured.

Tobacco cured under natural atmospheric conditions. Artificial heat is sometimes used to control excess humidity during the curing period to prevent pole-sweat, pole-burn, and shed-burn in damp weather. Air-cured tobacco should not carry the odor of smoke or fumes resulting from the application of artificial heat.

§ 29.9303 Body.

The thickness and density of a leaf or the weight per unit of surface.

§ 29.9304 Class.

A major division of tobacco based on method of cure or principal usage.

§ 29.9305 Clean.

Tobacco is described as clean when it contains only a normal amount of sand or soil particles. Leaves grown on the lower portion of the stalk normally contain more dirt or sand than those from higher stalk positions. (See rule 4.)

§ 29.9306 Condition.

The state of tobacco which results from the method or preparation or from the degree of fermentation. Words used to describe the condition of tobacco are: Undried, air-dried, steam-dried, sweating, sweated, and aged.

§ 29.9307 Crude.

A subdegree of maturity. Any leaf which is crude to the extent of 20 percent of its surface may be described as crude. (See rule 14.)

§ 29.9308 Cured.

Tobacco dried of its sap by either natural or artificial processes.

§ 29.9309 Damage.

The effect of mold, must, rot, black rot, or other fungus or bacterial diseases which attack tobacco in its cured state. Tobacco having the odor of mold, must, or rot is considered damaged. (See Nondescript (N Group).)

§ 29.9310 Dirty.

The state of tobacco containing an abnormal amount of dirt or sand. (See rule 15.)

§ 29.9311 Foreign matter.

Any extraneous substance or material such as stalks, straw, or abnormal amounts of dirt or sand. (See rule 15.)

§ 29.9312 Form.

The stage of preparation of tobacco such as stemmed or unstemmed.

§ 29.9313 Grade.

A subdivision of a type according to group and quality and to other characteristics when they are of sufficient importance to be treated separately.

§ 29.9314 Grademark.

A grademark normally consists of three symbols. A letter is used to indicate group and a number to indicate quality. In Type 46 the third factor denotes: P, heavy body; F, thin to medium body; T, second crop; and S, stained. For example, C1P means Strippers, first quality, heavy body.

§ 29.9315 Group.

A type division consisting of one or more grades. Groups in Type 46 are: Strippers (C), Grinders (X), Nondescript (N), and Scrap (S).

§ 29.9316 Injury.

Hurt or impairment from any cause except the fungus or bacterial diseases which attack tobacco in its cured state. (See definition of Damage.) Injury to tobacco may be caused by field diseases, insects, or weather conditions; insecticides, fungicides, or cell growth inhibitors; nutritional deficiencies or excesses; or improper fertilizing, harvesting, curing, or handling. Injured tobacco includes dead, burnt, hail-cut, torn, broken, ragged, sunburned, sunscalded, scorched, fire-killed, bulk-burnt, pole-burnt, barn-burnt, house-burnt, bleached, bruised, blackened, discolored, or deformed leaves; or tobacco affected by wildfire, rust, frogeye, mosaic, root rot, wilt, black shank, or other diseases. (See rule 12.)

§ 29.9317 Leaf scrap.

A byproduct of unstemmed tobacco. Leaf scrap results from handling unstemmed tobacco and consists of loose and tangled whole or broken leaves.

§ 29.9318 Length.

The linear measurement of cured tobacco leaves from the butt of the midrib to the extreme tip.

§ 29.9319 Lot.

A pile, basket, bulk, or more than one bale, case, hogshead, tierce, package, or other definite package unit.

§ 29.9320 Maturity.

The degree of ripeness. Tobacco is mature when it reaches its prime state of development.

§ 29.9321 Nested.

Any tobacco which has been loaded, packed, or arranged to conceal foreign matter or tobacco of inferior grade, quality, or condition. Nested includes any lot of tobacco which contains foreign matter or damaged, injured, tangled, or other inferior tobacco, any of which cannot be readily detected upon inspection because of the way the lot is packed or arranged. (See rule 15.)

§ 29.9322 No Grade.

A designation applied to a lot of tobacco classified as nested, offtype, semicured, or wet, tobacco that is abnormally dirty or improperly baled, contains foreign matter, or has an odor foreign to the type. (See rules 3 and 15.)

§ 29.9323 Offtype.

Tobacco of distinctly different characteristics which cannot be classified in the grades of the type. (See rule 15.)

§ 29.9324 Order (case).

The state of tobacco with respect to its moisture content.

§ 29.9325 Package.

A bundle, bale, case, or other securely enclosed parcel.

§ 29.9326 Packing.

A lot of tobacco consisting of a number of packages submitted as one definite unit for sampling or inspecting. It is represented to contain the same kind of tobacco and has a common identification number or mark on each package.

§ 29.9327 Quality.

A division of a group or the second factor of a grade based upon the stated specifications.

§ 29.9328 Semicured.

Tobacco in the process of being cured or which is partially but not thoroughly cured. Semicured includes tobacco which contains fat stems, wet butts, or tobacco that has not been thoroughly dried in the curing process. (See definition of No Grade and rule 15.)

§ 29.9329 Side.

A certain phase of quality as contrasted with some other phase of quality, or any peculiar characteristic of tobacco.

§ 29.9330 Sound.

Free of damage.

§ 29.9331 Stained (S).

A term applied to tobacco that is blackened, bruised, or discolored by excessive moisture. Any leaf affected 10 percent or more by any of these conditions may be described as stained. (See rule 13.)

§ 29.9332 Stem.

The midrib or large central vein of a tobacco leaf.

§ 29.9333 Stemmed.

A form of tobacco, including strips and strip scrap, from which the stems or midribs have been removed.

§ 29.9334 Strips.

The sides of tobacco leaves from which the stems have been removed or a lot of tobacco composed of strips.

§ 29.9335 Sweated.

The condition of tobacco which has passed through one or more fermentations natural to tobacco packed with a normal percentage of moisture. This condition is sometimes described as fermented.

§ 29.9336 Sweating.

The condition of tobacco in the process of fermentation.

§ 29.9337 Tobacco.

Tobacco as it appears between the time it is cured and stripped from the stalk, or primed and cured, and the time it enters into the different manufacturing processes. The acts of stemming, sweating, and conditioning are not regarded as manufacturing processes. Tobacco, as used in these standards, does not include manufactured or semimanufactured products, stems, cuttings, clippings, trimmings, siftings, or dust.

§ 29.9338 Tobacco products.

Manufactured tobacco, including cigarettes, cigars, smoking tobacco, chewing tobacco, and snuff, which is subject to Internal Revenue tax.

§ 29.9339 Type.

A division of a class of tobacco having certain common characteristics and closely related grades. Tobacco which has the same characteristics and corresponding qualities, colors, and lengths is classified as one type, regardless of any factors of historical or geographical nature which cannot be determined by an examination of the tobacco.

§ 29.9340 Type 46.

That type of cigar-leaf tobacco, commonly known as Puerto Rican filler, produced principally in the inland and semicoastal areas of Puerto Rico.

§ 29.9341 Undried.

The condition of unfermented tobacco which has not been air-dried or steam-dried.

§ 29.9342 Uniformity.

A grade requirement designating the percentage of a lot which must meet the stated specifications. (See rule 11.)

§ 29.9343 Unstemmed.

A form of tobacco, including whole leaf and leaf scrap, from which the stems or midribs have not been removed.

§ 29.9344 Unsweated.

The condition of cured tobacco which has not been sweated.

§ 29.9345 Wet (high-case).

Any sound tobacco containing excessive moisture to the extent that it is in unsafe or doubtful-keeping order. Wet applies to any tobacco which is not damaged but which is likely to damage if treated in the customary manner. (See rule 15.)

RULES

§ 29.9356 Rules.

The application of these standard grades shall be in accordance with the following rules.

§ 29.9357 Rule 1.

Each grade shall be treated as a subdivision of a particular type. When the grade is stated in an inspection certificate, the type also shall be stated.

§ 29.9358 Rule 2.

The determination of a grade shall be based upon a thorough examination of a lot of tobacco or a representative sample of a lot.

§ 29.9359 Rule 3.

Tobacco leaves shall be placed straight in bundles or bales of normal weight, size, and shape with the butts out and tips overlapping sufficiently to make a level, solid, and uniform pack. The sides of the bundles or bales shall be completely covered with burlap or other suitable protective material. Improperly packed tobacco shall be designated as "No-G."

§ 29.9360 Rule 4.

All standard grades must be clean.

§ 29.9361 Rule 5.

The grade assigned to any lot of tobacco shall be a true representation of the tobacco at the time of inspection and certification. If, at any time, it is found that a lot of tobacco does not comply with the specifications of the grade previously assigned, it shall not thereafter be represented as such grade.

§ 29.9362 Rule 6.

Any lot of tobacco which meets the specifications of two grades shall be placed in the higher grade. Any lot of tobacco on the marginal line between two grades shall be placed in the lower grade.

§ 29.9363 Rule 7.

A lot of tobacco meets the specifications of a grade when it is not lower in any degree than the minimum specifications of such grade.

§ 29.9364 Rule 8.

In determining the grade of a lot of tobacco, the lot as a whole shall be considered. Irregularities which do not affect over one percent of the tobacco shall be overlooked.

§ 29.9365 Rule 9.

Interpretations, the use of specifications, and the meaning of terms shall be in accordance with determinations or clarifications made by the Chief of the Standards Branch and approved by the Director.

§ 29.9366 Rule 10.

The use of any grade may be restricted by the Director during any marketing season, when it is found that the grade is not needed or appears in insufficient volume to justify its use.

§ 29.9367 Rule 11.

Uniformity shall be expressed in terms of percentages. These percentages shall govern the portion of a lot which must meet each specification of the grade. The remaining portion must be closely related. These percentages shall not affect limitations established by other rules.

§ 29.9368 Rule 12.

Injury tolerance shall be expressed in terms of a percentage. The appraisal of injury shall be based upon the percentage of affected leaf surface or the degree of injury.

§ 29.9369 Rule 13.

First quality tobacco stained 30 percent or less shall be graded X1S. Any tobacco stained over 30 percent and under 75 percent shall be graded X2S. Tobacco stained over 75 percent shall be graded "N."

§ 29.9370 Rule 14.

Any lot containing 20 percent or more of crude tobacco shall be designated by the symbol "N."

§ 29.9371 Rule 15.

Tobacco shall be designated as No Grade, using the grademark "No–G," when it is abnormally dirty, improperly baled, nested, offtype, semicured, wet, contains foreign matter, or has an odor foreign to the type.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Grapefruit Reg. 2]

PART 906—ORANGES AND GRAPEFRUIT GROWN IN LOWER RIO GRANDE VALLEY IN TEXAS

Limitation of Shipments; Termination of Grapefruit Regulation 1

§ 906.305 Grapefruit Regulation 2.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 906 (7 CFR Part 906), regulating the handling of oranges and grapefruit grown in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in Texas, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendation of the Texas Valley Citrus Committee established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of grapefruit, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; and this regulation relieves restrictions on the handling of grapefruit grown in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in Texas.

(b) Order. (1) Terms used in the marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in said marketing agreement and order; and terms relating to grade and diameter when used herein shall have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in the United States Standards for Grapefruit (Texas and States other than Florida, California, and Arizona) (§§ 51.620–51.658 of this title).

(2) Grapefruit Regulation 1 (§ 906.302; 27 F.R. 86) is hereby terminated effective at 12:01 a.m., c.s.t., January 19, 1962.

(3) During the period beginning at 12:01 a.m., c.s.t., January 19, 1962, and ending at 12:01 a.m., c.s.t., July 1, 1962, no handler shall, except as otherwise provided, handle:

(i) Any grapefruit of any variety, grown in the production area, which are of a size smaller than 3 inches in diameter, except that not more than 10 percent, by count, of such grapefruit in any lot of containers, and not more than 15 percent, by count, of such grapefruit in any individual container in such lot, may be of a size smaller than 3 inches in diameter;

(ii) Any grapefruit of any variety, grown as aforesaid, in any box or carton having inside dimensions other than those specified in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph unless (a) the grapefruit are packed in accordance with the requirements of standard pack; or (b) are of a diameter within the diameter limits specified for the following pack size except that not more than 10 percent, by count, of the grapefruit in such container may be outside of such diameter limits:

Pack size	Diameter limits in inches
	Minimum	Maximum
46	$4\frac{5}{16}$	5

(iii) Any grapefruit of any variety, grown as aforesaid, in a container having inside dimensions of 19¾ x 13½ x 13½ inches unless such container is packed in accordance with one of the following pack sizes and contain the applicable number of grapefruit that are within the diameter limits specified for the particular pack sizes, except that not more than 10 percent, by count, of such grapefruit in such container may be outside such diameter limits:

Pack size:	Number of grapefruit
54 or 56	56
64	64
70 or 72	72
80	80
112 or 113	112
125 or 126	125

(iv) Any grapefruit of any variety, grown as aforesaid, for which inspection is required unless an appropriate inspection certificate has been issued with respect thereto not more than 48 hours prior to the time of shipment.

(v) The provisions of subdivisions (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph shall not apply to the grapefruit in any gift package of fruit.

All grapefruit of any variety, grown as aforesaid, handled during the period specified in this section are subject to all applicable container regulations which are in effect pursuant to the aforesaid marketing agreement and order during such period.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: January 19, 1962.

PAUL A. NICHOLSON,

[Orange Reg. 3]

PART 906—ORANGES AND GRAPEFRUIT GROWN IN THE LOWER RIO GRANDE VALLEY IN TEXAS

Limitation of Shipments; Termination of Orange Regulation 2

§ 906.304 Orange Regulation 3.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 906 (7 CFR Part 906), regulating the handling of oranges and grapefruit grown in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in Texas, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendation of the Texas Valley Citrus Committee established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; and this regulation relieves restrictions on the handling of oranges grown in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in Texas.

(b) Order. (1) Terms used in the marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in said marketing agreement and order; and terms relating to grade and diameter, when used herein, shall have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in the United States Standards for Oranges (Texas and States other than Florida, California, and Arizona) (§§ 51.680–51.712 of this title).

(2) Orange Regulation 2 (§ 906.303; 27 F.R. 457) is hereby terminated effective at 12:01 a.m., c.s.t., January 19, 1962.

(3) During the period beginning at 12:01 a.m., c.s.t., January 19, 1962, and ending at 12:01 a.m., c.s.t., July 1, 1962, no handler shall handle:

(i) Any oranges of any variety, grown as aforesaid, which are of a size smaller than 2⅜ inches in diameter, except that not more than ten (10) percent, by count, of such oranges in any lot of containers, and not more than fifteen (15) percent, by count, of such oranges in any individual container in such lot may be of a size smaller than 2⅜ inches in diameter;

(ii) Any oranges of any variety, grown as aforesaid, packed in any box or carton of inside dimensions other than those specified in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph, unless the oranges are of a size within the diameter limits specified for one of the following pack sizes and otherwise are packed in accordance with the requirements of standard pack, except that not to exceed a total of 10 percent, by count, of the oranges in any such container may be outside such diameter limits:

Pack sizes	Diameter limits in inches
	Minimum	Maximum
100	$3\frac{5}{16}$	$3\frac{13}{16}$
125	$3\frac{3}{16}$	$3\frac{9}{16}$
163	$2\frac{15}{16}$	$3\frac{5}{16}$
200	$2\frac{13}{16}$	$3\frac{1}{16}$
252	$2\frac{7}{16}$	$2\frac{12}{16}$
324	$2\frac{3}{16}$	$2\frac{8}{16}$

(iii) Any oranges of any variety, grown as aforesaid, packed in a box or carton having inside dimensions of 19¾ x 13½ x 13½ inches, unless such container is packed in accordance with one of the following pack sizes and contains the applicable number of oranges specified for the pack size: Provided, Such oranges are within the diameter limits specified in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph for the particular pack size, except that not to exceed a total of 10 percent, by count, of the oranges in any such container may be outside such diameter limits:

Pack sizes:	Number of oranges
100	100
125	125
163	163
200	198
324	319

(iv) Any oranges of any variety, grown as aforesaid, for which inspection is required unless an appropriate inspection certificate has been issued with respect thereto not more than 48 hours prior to the time of shipment.

(v) The provisions of subdivisions (ii) and (iii) of this subparagraph shall not apply to the oranges in any gift package of fruit.

All oranges of any variety, grown as aforesaid, handled during the period specified in this section are subject to all applicable container regulations which are in effect pursuant to the aforesaid marketing agreement and order during such period.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Chapter II—Civil Aeronautics Board

SUBCHAPTER A—ECONOMIC REGULATIONS

[Reg. No. ER-348]

PART 205—INAUGURATION AND TEMPORARY SUSPENSION OF SCHEDULED ROUTE SERVICE AUTHORIZED BY CERTIFICATES OF PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY

JANUARY 19, 1962.

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 19th day of January 1962.

On July 25, 1961, the Board issued a notice of proposed rule making, Docket 12854, EDR–30, 26 F.R. 6855, proposing a revision of Part 205 to clarify procedures for obtaining Board authorization for delays of inauguration of authorized service and temporary suspension of service authorized and required pursuant to a certificate of public convenience and necessity, and to provide for notice to the Board of involuntary interruptions of such service. Notice was also given that the Board had under consideration a concurrent amendment to § 231.6 of Part 231 to require immediate notice to the Board and the filing of new schedule pages when such service is interrupted by a strike, and upon the resumption of service following a strike.

In response to this notice many air carriers submitted comments and suggested various changes to the proposed Part 205. All of the comments opposed the proposed addition of § 231.6 to Part 231.

The Board, after consideration of the comments received has decided to adopt revised Part 205 as proposed except for a number of modifications and changes suggested largely in the comments. Further, the Board has decided not to adopt the proposed amendment to Part 231.

The more significant changes from the provisions of the notice made in finalizing Part 205 are as follows:

1. Deleting the requirement with respect to the filing of an affidavit with answers in opposition to or in support of an application made pursuant to § 205.3 of the part (§ 205.4).

2. Adding a requirement that a petition for reconsideration be served on any person who has filed an answer in opposition to the original application (§ 205.7).

3. Deleting the requirement that the holder of a certificate give notice to the chief executive of any city, in cases of delayed inauguration or an interruption of service caused by a strike (§ 205.8 (b), and (c)).

4. Adding a new § 205.12 which will require an air carrier to submit a report, summarizing all flights that were canceled, the date they were canceled, and the date service was restored. Such report will be submitted in lieu of the proposed § 205.8 (b) and (c), and § 231.6 of Part 231 which would have required air carriers to submit revised schedule pages showing a cessation of service, and restoration of service during a strike.

In addition, many changes of a clarifying and editorial nature have been made in Part 205.

In adopting the revised Part 205 we have rejected the suggestion that § 205.4 be changed to reduce the time for filing answers from 20 days to 10 days. It is the view of the Board that a 10-day period would not provide sufficient time for cities or other public bodies to prepare an adequate answer to an application. We have also rejected the suggestion that replies to answers be permitted. The Board is of the view that the addition of this procedural step would result in an undue delay in the processing of applications and is not required if applicants exercise diligence in the preparation of their initial applications.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the formulation of this revised part, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

Accordingly, the Board hereby adopts revised Part 205, effective February 24, 1962, to read as follows:

This part does not relieve any carriers from the obligation to file schedules pursuant to the requirements of Part 231 of this chapter.

§ 205.2 Board authorization required for delayed inauguration or temporary suspensions of service.

(a) Inauguration of service. Any service authorized by a certificate shall be inaugurated within 90 days after the effective date of the new or amended certificate unless the Board has fixed a longer period. If the recipient of a certificate award authorizing scheduled

(b) Temporary suspension of service. Service to or from any point, authorized in a certificate or included in an approved service plan, shall not be suspended by an air carrier except in accordance with the provisions of this part.

§ 205.3 Applications pursuant to § 205.2.

The application shall also contain a list of the persons upon whom copies thereof were served and a statement that any interested person may file an answer in opposition to or in support of the application within twenty (20) days after the filing of the application. An executed original and 19 copies of such application shall be filed with the Docket Section of the Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D.C. An executed original and 19 copies of such answer shall be filed with the Docket Section. Unless ordered by the Board upon application or upon its own motion, further pleadings will not be entertained.

§ 205.5 Service.

(a) A copy of each application made and each answer addressed thereto pursuant to §§ 205.3 and 205.4 shall be served personally or by registered or certified mail upon such persons as the Board may designate in a particular case, and shall be served upon the following persons in all cases:

(1) Each certificated route air carrier which serves any point for which postponement of inauguration or suspension of service is sought, or its designated agent.

(2) The chief executive of the city, town or other unit or local government at any such point located in the United States or any possession thereof;

(3) The State commission or agency having jurisdiction of transportation by air in the State wherein any such point is located, or if there is no such commission or agency, the chief executive of such State;

(4) The Secretary of State (marked for the attention of Chief, Aviation Division) if such point is not located in the United States or any possession thereof;

(5) The Postmaster General (marked for the attention of the Assistant Postmaster General—Bureau of Transportation) if the applicant's certificate authorizes the transportation of United States mail to or from such point;

(6) In cases involving an application for suspension of service at a point located in the United States or any possession thereof, the manager or other individual having direct supervision over and responsibility for the management of the airport being used to serve such point at the time the application is filed.

A petition for reconsideration of the Board's determination under § 205.6 may be filed by any interested person within twenty (20) days after the date of service thereof. Except for the time of filing, such petitions shall conform to the provisions of section 37 of Part 302 of the Procedural Regulations. Any interested person may file an answer in opposition to, or in support of, the petition within ten (10) days after it is filed. An executed original and 19 copies of such petition for reconsideration or answer shall be filed with the Docket Section, and copies thereof shall be served upon the persons described in § 205.5, the applicant and any person who filed an answer in opposition to the original application.

§ 205.8 Automatic suspension authority for involuntary postponement of inauguration or involuntary interruption of service.

(a) The holder of a certificate shall not be required to file an application under § 205.2 if the postponement of inauguration of new service or interruption of service to or from a point named in a certificate, or included in the holder's approved service plan is caused by conditions or events which the holder cannot reasonably be expected to foresee or control, such as rules, standards or other action or inaction of the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency or of a foreign government, emergency measures, strikes, weather conditions, construction work on airports, or disasters: Provided, That the provisions of this paragraph shall apply to interruptions due to airport inadequacies only if the holder is unable to serve the certificated point through any airport convenient thereto with the type of equipment last regularly used to serve such point.

(b) In the case of delayed inauguration or an interruption of service caused by a strike, the holder shall give immediate notice of such interruption to the Board (marked for the attention of the Chief, Routes and Agreements Division, Bureau of Economic Regulation).

(c) If service at a point is interrupted or inauguration delayed for more than three (3) consecutive days for reasons beyond the certificate holder's control other than a strike, the holder shall give notice to the Board (marked for the attention of Chief, Routes and Agreements Division, Bureau of Economic Regulation) within three (3) days following the date of required inauguration of service or suspension, setting forth the date of suspension, the actual or estimated duration of delay of service or suspension, and a full and complete statement of the reasons therefor.

NOTE: See also the reporting requirements of § 241.24 of this chapter, Schedule P-2(d) of Part 241 of the Board's regulations.

§ 205.9 Re-examination of suspension authority.

Authority to postpone inauguration or to suspend service, granted pursuant to § 205.6 or § 205.8, may be modified, conditioned or terminated by the Board at any time upon notice but without hearing where the public interest so requires.

§ 205.10 Effect of failure to provide service.

In the absence of circumstances excusing involuntary postponement or suspension of service (§ 205.8), if for a period of ninety (90) days (or such longer specific period as may have been designated by the Board) any service authorized by a certificate has not been inaugurated, or if for a period of 90 days such a service has not been operated, the Board may direct the carrier to inaugurate or resume service or may, as authorized by section 401(f) of the Act, by order entered after notice and hearing, direct that the holder's certificate shall cease to be effective to the extent of such service.

§ 205.11 Institution of service after suspension or postponement of inauguration: notice to the Board.

When service is inaugurated following postponement of inauguration, or resumed following suspension under either express or automatic authority, immediate notice thereof shall be given to the Board (marked for attention of the Chief, Routes and Agreements Division, Bureau of Economic Regulation), stating the time when service was inaugurated or resumed.

§ 205.12 Strikes; report to be filed

NOTE: The reporting requirements contained herein have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Chapter III—Federal Aviation Agency

SUBCHAPTER E—AIR NAVIGATION REGULATIONS

[Airspace Docket No. 61-FW-86]

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Alteration

On October 13, 1961, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 9681), stating that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to alter low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 154 by redesignating the south alternate from Montgomery, Ala., to Columbus, Ga., via the intersection of the Montgomery VORTAC 090° and the Columbus VOR 219° radials.

No adverse comments were received to the proposed amendment.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the rules herein adopted, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

The substance of the proposed amendment having been published, therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) and for the reasons stated in the notice, the following action is taken:

In the text of § 600.6154 (14 CFR 600.6154) "including a south alternate from the Montgomery VORTAC to the Columbus VOR via the INT of the Montgomery VORTAC 088° True radial and the Columbus VOR direct radial to the Eufaula, Ala., VOR;" is deleted and "including a S alternate from the Montgomery VORTAC to the Columbus VOR via the INT of the Montgomery VORTAC 090° and the Columbus VOR 219° radials;" is substituted therefor.

These amendments shall become effective 0001 e.s.t., April 5, 1962.

(Sec. 307(a), 72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 19, 1962.

D. D. THOMAS,
Director, Air Traffic Service.

[Airspace Docket No. 61-NY-107]

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Alteration

The purpose of these amendments to §§ 600.6839 and 600.6881 of the regulations of the Administrator is to redesignate portions of low altitude VOR Federal airways Nos. 839 and 881 in the Cleveland, Ohio, terminal area.

Victor 839 will be realigned, in part, from the Navarre, Ohio, VORTAC direct to the Cleveland VORTAC. Victor 881 will be realigned in part from the Cleveland VORTAC direct to the Tiverton, Ohio, VOR.

The realignment of Victor 839 and 881 is part of a plan to facilitate the flow of air traffic in the Cleveland terminal area.

Since these amendments impose no additional burden on any person, and do not involve the designation of additional controlled airspace, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary. However, since it is necessary that sufficient time be allowed to permit appropriate changes to be made on aeronautical charts, these amendments will become effective more than 30 days after publication.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) the following actions are taken:

1. In the text of § 600.6839 (26 F.R. 8168) "INT of the Navarre VORTAC 352° and the Akron, Ohio, VOR 298° radials; INT of the Akron VOR 298° and the Cleveland, Ohio, VORTAC 091° radials;" is deleted.

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Alteration

The purpose of these amendments to §§ 600.6054 and 600.6176 of the regulations of the Administrator is to alter the segments of low altitude VOR Federal airways No. 54 south alternate and No. 176 south alternate between Holly Springs, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn.

Victor 54 south alternate and Victor 176 south alternate extend in part from the Holly Springs VOR to the Memphis VORTAC via the intersection of the Holly Springs VOR 294° and the Memphis VORTAC 168° True radials. Action is taken herein to realign these airway segments from the Holly Springs VOR to the Memphis VORTAC via the intersection of the Holly Springs VOR 281° and the Memphis VORTAC 168° True radials (Miller Intersection). This intersection is a clearance limit for aircraft arriving Memphis from over Holly Springs. Since these segments are not used for the routing of overflying aircraft, their realignment via the Miller Intersection will improve air traffic service by providing an airway routing for air traffic inbound to Memphis from Holly Springs. The control areas associated with these segments of Victor 54/176 south alternates are so designated that they will automatically conform to the realigned airways. Furthermore, no additional controlled airspace is necessary as the realignment will be contained within existing control area. Accordingly, no amendments relating to such control areas are necessary. The vertical extent of these control areas will remain as designated pending review of the adjacent airspace. Separate action will be initiated to implement on an area basis Amendment 60-21 to Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations.

Since these amendments will not involve the designation of additional airspace and will impose no additional burden on the public, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary. However, since it is necessary that sufficient time be allowed to permit appropriate changes to be made on aeronautical charts, these amendments will become effective more than 30 days after publication.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582), the following actions are taken:

1. The text of § 600.6054 (14 CFR 600.6054) is amended to read:

§ 600.6054 VOR Federal airway No. 54 (Quitman, Tex., to Pinehurst, N.C.).

From the Quitman, Texas, VOR via the Texarkana, Ark., VORTAC; INT of the Texarkana VORTAC 052° and the Little Rock, Ark., VORTAC 235° radials; Little Rock VORTAC, including a N alternate via the INT of the Texarkana VORTAC 033° and the Little Rock VORTAC 255° radials; INT of the Little Rock VORTAC 077° and the Memphis, Tenn., VORTAC 261° radials; Memphis VORTAC, including a N alternate via the INT of the Little Rock VORTAC 062° and the Memphis VORTAC 276° radials; Muscle Shoals, Ala., VOR; including a N alternate via the INT of the Memphis VORTAC 081° and the Muscle Shoals VOR 297° radials, and also a S alternate from the Memphis VORTAC to the Muscle Shoals VOR via the INT of the Memphis VORTAC 168° and the Holly Springs, Miss., VOR 281° radials; Holly Springs VOR; INT of the Holly Springs VOR 099° and the Muscle Shoals VOR 255° radials; Huntsville, Ala., VOR; Chattanooga, Tenn., VORTAC, including a N alternate via the INT of the Muscle Shoals VOR 067° and the Chattanooga VORTAC 282° radials; Spartanburg, S.C. VORTAC; Fort Mill, S.C., VOR; INT of the Fort Mill VOR 069° and the Pinehurst, N.C., VOR 281° radials; to the Pinehurst VOR.

2. The text of § 600.6176 (14 CFR 600.6176) is amended to read:

States or any possession thereof;

§ 600.6176 VOR Federal airway No. 176 (Memphis, Tenn., to Birmingham, Ala.).

From the Memphis, Tenn., VORTAC via the Holly Springs, Miss., VOR including a S alternate via the INT of the Memphis VORTAC 168° and the Holly Springs VOR 281° radials; to the Birmingham, Ala., VORTAC, including a N alternate via the INT of the Holly Springs VOR 099° and the Birmingham VORTAC 313° radials.

These amendments shall become effective 0001 e.s.t., April 5, 1962.

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Alteration

The purpose of this amendment to § 600.621 of the regulations of the Administrator is to alter low altitude Blue Federal airway No. 21.

Blue 21 is designated from the intersection of the southeast course of the Andrews, Md., radio range and the south course of the Baltimore, Md., radio range to the Baltimore radio range station and it is reduced in part to a width of two miles on the east side of the centerline to avoid the Chesapeake Bay, Md., Restricted Area R-4004. In Airspace Docket No. 60-WA-233 published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 6, 1961 (26 F.R. 8377), Restricted Area R-4004 was revoked effective on the date of publication. Accordingly, action is taken herein to alter Blue 21 by increasing the reduced portion to a standard 10-mile wide airway. Action is also taken herein to exclude the portion of Blue 21 which lies within R-4007 since the airway overlaps this restricted area to a slight degree.

The control areas associated with Blue 21 are so designated that they will automatically conform to the altered airway. The vertical extent of these control areas will remain as designated pending review of the adjacent airspace. Separate actions will be initiated to implement on an area basis Amendment 60-21 to Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations.

Since this amendment is minor in nature and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary. However, since it is necessary that sufficient time be allowed to permit appropriate changes to be made on aeronautical charts, this amendment will become effective more than 30 days after publication.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582), the following action is taken:

The text of § 600.621 (14 CFR 600.621, 26 F.R. 8375) is amended to read:

§ 600.621 Blue Federal airway No. 21 (Coles Point, Va., to Baltimore, Md.).

From the INT of the SE course of the Andrews, Md., RR and the S course of the Baltimore, Md., RR to the Baltimore RR, excluding the airspace that lies within R-4007. The portion which lies within R-4003 shall be used only after obtaining prior approval from the appropriate authority.

This amendment shall become effective 0001 e.s.t., April 5, 1962.

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

PART 601—DESIGNATION OF CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, REPORTING POINTS, POSITIVE CONTROL ROUTE SEGMENTS, AND POSITIVE CONTROL AREAS

Alteration of Federal Airway and Associated Control Areas

On June 14, 1961, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 5327), stating that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to designate low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 511 and its associated control areas from the Akron, Ohio, VOR to the Windsor, Ontario, Canada, VOR. Subsequent to publication of the notice, it was determined that it would be more practical to extend low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 103 from Akron to Windsor rather than designate a new airway Victor 511. Accordingly, on October 13, 1961, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 9681), a supplemental notice of proposed rule making which altered the original notice by proposing that the segment of Victor 103 from Cleveland, Ohio, to Navarre, Ohio, be revoked and that a new segment of Victor 103 be designated from Akron to Windsor, excluding the portion outside the United States.

No adverse comments were received regarding the proposed amendments.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the rules herein adopted and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

The substance of the proposed amendments having been published, therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) and for the reasons stated in the notice and the supplemental notice, the following actions are taken:

1. Section 600.6103 (14 CFR 600.6103, 26 F.R. 3771) is amended to read:

§ 600.6103 VOR Federal airway No. 103 (Greensboro, N.C., to Navarre, Ohio, and Akron, Ohio, to United States/Canadian Border.).

From the Greensboro, N.C., VOR via the Roanoke, Va., VORTAC; Elkins, W. Va., VORTAC; Clarksburg, W. Va., VORTAC; Wheeling, W. Va., VOR; to the Navarre, Ohio, VORTAC. From the Akron, Ohio, VOR via the INT of the Akron VOR 319° and the Windsor, Ontario, Canada, VOR 121° radials; to the Windsor VOR, excluding the portion outside of the United States.

2. The caption of § 601.6103, (14 CFR 601.6103, 26 F.R. 3771) is amended to read:

§ 601.6103 VOR Federal airway No. 103 control areas (Greensboro, N.C., to Navarre, Ohio, and Akron, Ohio, to United States/Canadian Border.).

These amendments shall become effective 0001 e.s.t., March 8, 1962.

(Sec. 307(a), 72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Correction

On November 10, 1961, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 10589) amendments to §§ 601.7001 and 601.7003 revoking, designating and modifying designated reporting points. One of these amendments (§ 601.7003), referred to the Elmira, N.Y., intersection as the intersection of the Wellsville, N.Y., VOR 089° and the Syracuse, N.Y., VOR 211° radials. The correct reference should be to the intersection of the Wellsville, N.Y., VOR 090° and the Syracuse VOR 210° radials. Therefore, action is taken herein to effect these changes.

Since this correction is editorial in nature and imposes no additional burden on any person, this change is in compliance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582), the following action is taken:

In § 601.7003 (26 F.R. 10589) the Elmira, N.Y., intersection is amended to read:

Elmira, N.Y., INT: INT of the Wellsville, N.Y., VOR 090° and the Syracuse, N.Y., VOR 210° radials.

PART 602—DESIGNATION OF JET ROUTES; JET ADVISORY AREAS AND HIGH ALTITUDE NAVIGATIONAL AIDS

Designation of Jet Advisory Area

On October 17, 1961, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 9753), stating that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to designate a nonradar jet advisory area from 75 nautical miles west of the Whitehall, Mont., VOR to 97 nautical miles east of Whitehall.

No adverse comments were received regarding the proposed amendment.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the rule herein adopted, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

The substance of the proposed amendment having been published, therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) and for the reasons stated in the notice, the following action is taken:

PART 602—DESIGNATION OF JET ROUTES, JET ADVISORY AREAS AND HIGH ALTITUDE NAVIGATIONAL AIDS

Designation of Jet Advisory Areas

On October 7, 1961, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 9517), stating that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to designate a terminal radar jet advisory area for an instrument departure route from the Salt Lake City, Utah, terminal area.

The Department of the Air Force interposed no objection, but recommended that the area be redefined to exclude Restricted Areas R–6402, R–6405, and R–6406. By definition radar jet advisory areas include only areas within the continental control area. The restricted areas of concern to the Air Force are not a part of the continental control area and are therefore excluded by the action taken herein. No other comments were received regarding the proposed amendment.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the rule herein adopted, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

The substance of the proposed amendment having been published, therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) and for reasons stated in the notice, the following action is taken:

In § 602.300 Terminal jet advisory areas (26 F.R. 7079) under Salt Lake City, Utah, jet advisory area—Radar the following is added:

In the Matter of Tile and Appliance Mart,, Inc., and Tile Mart, Inc., of Youngstown, Corporations, and Irving M. Molever, Individually and as an Officer of Said Corporations Consent order requiring two associated concerns—in Wheeling, W. Va., and Youngstown, Ohio, respectively—and their common officer, to cease deceptive pricing of their products through representing falsely in newspaper advertising—by such statements as "Armstrong Woodgrain Floor Tile Reg. 15¢ 10¢", "100 Blocks Asphalt Tile Reg. Value $7.00 $4.88"—that the higher prices following "Reg." or "Regularly" or "Reg. Value" were the usual retail prices and purchasers would save the difference between these and the lower "sale" prices; by statements "Save 62% and more", "Everything . . . sold at approximately 80% off", that prices had been reduced by the given percentage; and through use of the terms "Clearance Sale" and "Warehouse clearance Tile sale" that customary retail prices were reduced.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Tile and Appliance Mart, Inc., and Tile Mart, Inc., of Youngstown, corporations, and their officers, and Irving Molever, as an officer of said corporations, and the respondents' representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of tile and other merchandise, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Representing, directly or by implication, that any amount is respondents' usual and customary retail price of merchandise when it is in excess of the price at which such merchandise is usually and customarily sold by respondents at retail in the recent regular course of business.

2. Using the word "Reg." or "Regularly" to describe or refer to the retail price of merchandise when such amount is not the price at which the merchandise has been usually and customarily sold by respondents at retail in the recent, regular course of business.

3. Representing, directly or by implication, that any amount is the price at which merchandise is usually and customarily sold at retail in the trade area, or areas, where the representation is made, when it is in excess of such price.

4. Using the words "Reg. value", "Value" or "Elsewhere" to describe or refer to the retail price of merchandise when such amount is not the price at which the merchandise has been usually and customarily sold at retail in the trade area, or areas, where the representation is made.

5. Representing, directly or by implication, that any savings are afforded from respondents' usual and customary retail prices in the purchase of merchandise unless the price at which the merchandise is offered constitutes a reduction from the price at which it has been sold by respondents at retail in the recent, regular course of business.

6. Representing, directly or by implication, that any saving is afforded in the purchase of merchandise from the price at which said merchandise is usually and customarily sold at retail in the trade area, or areas, where the representation is made unless the price at which it is offered constitutes a reduction from such price.

7. Using percentage savings claims to represent that merchandise is offered at a reduction from respondents' usual and customary retail price unless the price of such merchandise has been reduced in direct proportion to the percentage stated from respondents' usual and customary price in the recent, regular course of business.

8. Using the word "Sale" to represent, directly or by implication, that merchandise is offered at a reduction from respondents' usual and customary retail price in the recent, regular course of business, unless such is the fact.

9. Misrepresenting in any manner the amount of savings available to purchasers of respondents' merchandise, or the amount by which the price of said merchandise is reduced from the price at which it is usually and customarily sold by respondents in the recent, regular course of their business, or from the price at which said merchandise is usually and customarily sold in the trade area, or areas, where the representation is made.

It is further ordered, That the complaint herein be, and the same hereby is, dismissed as to respondent Irving M. Molever in his individual capacity.

Title 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T.D. 55552]

PART 8—LIABILITY FOR DUTIES; ENTRY OF IMPORTED MERCHANDISE

Release of Merchandise Under Special Permits

Experience has demonstrated that where merchandise released under a special permit allowing immediate delivery is examined and notations as to value and classification are made on an invoice which is returned to the importer or broker who uses it as the regular entry invoice, a great reduction is made in the number of increases or refunds of duty upon liquidation of the entries. The values, etc., indicated by the examining officers are not binding on customs, but in the ordinary course of events final appraisement and subsequent liquidation will be in agreement with the notations made by the examiner.

However, the examination process and forwarding of documents is time consuming and can result in a failure of the importer to file an entry within the time limits presently prescribed in § 8.59(g), Customs Regulations.

Consequently, for use in conjunction with the above procedure only, the Bureau has decided to permit a four day extension to the basic two day period within which importers are ordinarily required to file an entry in support of a special permit for immediate delivery.

Therefore, § 8.59(g) of the Customs Regulations is amended by adding the following at the end thereof: "Where merchandise to be released on an immediate delivery permit is examined and notations as to value and classification are made on an invoice which is then filed by the importer as part of the entry, the collector may extend the period for filing entry and depositing duties for not to exceed 4 additional days, allowing 6 days in all, but the limitations set forth above on merchandise subject to quota will be observed. This privilege may be granted for individual entries or for special permits granted for a period not to exceed 1 year."

The citation of authority for § 8.59 is amended to read:

Title 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PART 37—FISH; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY; STANDARDS OF FILL OF CONTAINER

Fish Flour; Identity

In the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 15, 1961 (26 F.R. 8641), there was published a proposal for a standard of identity for fish protein concentrate, whole fish flour as submitted by Mr. Harold Putnam of Washington, D.C.

During the 60-day period thereafter, the Hearing Clerk of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare received over 1,800 comments on the published proposal. Of the several hundred received from individual consumers who were opposed to the proposal as published, many specifically stated that they would class the article as filthy because of the use of the entire fish. In addition to comments from consumers and groups representing consumer interests, views were received from many connected with various food industries. A great many communications came from firms and individuals identified as being associated with the fishery industry and, with few exceptions, these favored the adoption of the standard as proposed. The view was repeatedly expressed that the adoption of the standard would be economically helpful to the fishing industry. Many of the comments favoring the proposal did so on the basis of the view that the nutritive value of the article described was such that it should be made available to those individuals in other countries suffering from a deficiency of protein in their diet. Only a few letters suggested or implied that the diet of the American public, generally, is deficient in protein or needs supplementation with a whole fish flour.

Officials charged with the enforcement of 21 State food laws opposed the proposed standard on the grounds that such a product would be in conflict with the laws of the States because of the inclusion of filth; some also stated that, in their view, such a product should be classed as adulterated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Bakery groups, a number of individual bakers, and some other food manufacturers opposed the proposal as published on several grounds. They referred to the high standards of cleanliness in their industries, their use of clean, sound, wholesome ingredients and expressed the view that any official authorization of a whole fish flour, which they regarded as filthy, would have an adverse effect on public confidence in commercially prepared foods, and would significantly defeat effective law enforcement, local, State and Federal, in preventing the marketing of filthy foods and foods prepared under insanitary conditions.

Comments received came from more than half of the 50 States. In addition to firms in the United States indicating interest in manufacturing such a product, one comment was received from a producer of whole fish flour in Sweden stating that the firm has marketed most of its output principally for inclusion in a Swedish type of enriched bread. That firm contemplated that if the standard is adopted, it would be interested in marketing the product in the United States.

A few comments, including the one from the Swedish manufacturer, suggested some changes in the specifications of the proposed standard. These dealt with proposals to increase the moisture content, increase or decrease the protein content, increase or decrease the permitted ash content, and increase the bacteria limit. However, these comments furnished insufficient data to demonstrate that the changes advocated would promote the interests of consumers.

In view of section 402(a)(3) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, which states "A food shall be deemed to be adulterated if * * * it consists in whole or in part of any filthy, putrid, or decomposed substance, or if it is otherwise unfit for food," the Commissioner was particularly interested in learning the views of those who commented on the question of whether they would be willing to eat foods containing a whole fish flour so manufactured.

Seven hundred and thirty six of the comments clearly opposed establishment of the proposed standard. One hundred and sixty-six of these specifically referred to their objection to the inclusion of viscera, heads, intestinal contents, etc., on the basis that they would regard the finished product as filthy. Of the 1,036 comments in favor of the standard as proposed, including the many duplicates signed by different individuals, only 17 specifically stated or strongly implied that they would be willing to eat such a product.

Therefore, on the basis of the information before him, the Commissioner finds:

1. That consumers in the United States generally would regard the product described in the proposal as filthy. Thus, such a product would be in conflict with section 402(a)(3) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

2. That is would not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to establish a standard of identity for a whole fish flour containing those portions of the fish which would be regarded as filthy by American consumers generally.

3. That it is apparent from the information available that many persons who advocate the establishment of the proposed standard are concerned with the reported need for a source of good protein by people in underdeveloped countries of the world where local food supplies and raw materials are inadequate to supply that need. To the extent that such a need for a product as described in the proposal exists in countries other than the United States, section 801(d) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act provides for the manufacture of such a product in the United States for export to any other country of the world, the laws of which do not prohibit that article.

4. That even though there is no evidence that there is a deficiency of protein in the diet of the people of the United States, a factor which would have no bearing on whether or not certain parts of fish in a ground product constitute filth, there appears to be a reasonable basis for establishing a standard of identity for fish flour prepared from properly cleaned and eviscerated fish.

Accordingly, it is concluded that it will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interests of consumers to establish a definition and standard of identity for fish flour, as hereinafter set forth. Therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055, as amended 70 Stat. 919; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (25 F.R. 8625): It is ordered, That the following definition and standard of identity be established:

§ 37.5 Fish flour; identity.

(a) Fish flour is the finely ground, dried product made from edible species of fish. From the time of catching until the finished article is packaged the fish are handled expeditiously and with the sanitary precautions which are recognized as proper for fish which are used in other forms for human food. Before processing, the fish are properly prepared to remove and discard the heads, fins, tails, viscera, and intestinal contents. The cleaned fish are ground and treated to reduce the fat content of the finished fish flour to less than 1 percent. The product may be deodorized. The finished fish flour shall meet all of the requirements set out in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b)(1) Protein content. Protein content (N×6.25), measured by methods of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists, shall not be less than 70 percent by weight of the final product (Official Methods of Analysis, A.O.A.C., 9th Ed. secs. 22.011; ch. 22, p. 285). Biological values of the finished fish flour shall not be less than 105 percent as measured by the official A.O.A.C. method for the biological evaluation of protein quality (secs. 39.133–39.137, inclusive, ch. 39, p. 680).

(2) Moisture, ash and fat content. Moisture, ash and fat content shall not exceed 6 percent, 25 percent and 1 percent respectively, by weight of the final product, measured by A.O.A.C. methods (secs. 22.003, 22.010, ch. 22, p. 283, 284; sec. 18.011–18.012, inclusive, ch. 18, p. 235).

(3) Odor and taste. The final product shall have no more than a faint fish odor and taste.

(4) Storage stability. Fish flour, after 6 months' storage at temperatures prevailing in areas of intended use (but not exceeding 38° C.) and when packed in metal containers or in polyethylene bags, shall show no spoilage as judged by the development of off-flavors, mold growth, production of toxic amines (histamine, tyramine), or by deterioration in protein quality.

(5) Bacteria. The product shall be free of Escherichia coli, Salmonella, and pathogenic anaerobes, and the total bacterial plate count shall not exceed 2,000 per gram.

(6) Safety. The finished product shall contain no food additive unless specifically authorized by regulation issued pursuant to section 409 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D.C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing, and such objections must be supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall become effective 90 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except as to any provisions that may be stayed by the filing of proper objections. Notice of the filing of objections or lack thereof will be announced by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 121—FOOD ADDITIVES

Subpart F—Food Additives Resulting From Contact With Containers or Equipment and Food Additives Otherwise Affecting Food

EPOXIDIZED LINSEED OIL

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs, having evaluated the data submitted in a petition filed by Swift and Company, 4115 Packers Avenue, Chicago 9, Illinois, and other relevant material, has concluded that the following regulation should issue with respect to the food additive epoxidized linseed oil, used as a plasticizer in resinous and polymeric substances that contact food. Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 409(c)(1), 72 Stat. 1786; 21 U.S.C. 348(c)(1)), and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (25 F.R. 8625), the food additive regulations (21 CFR Part 121) are amended by adding to Subpart F the following new section:

§ 121.2527 Epoxidized linseed oil.

Epoxidized linseed oil may be safely used as a component of articles that contact food, in accordance with the following prescribed conditions:

(a) The food additive meets the following specifications:

(1) Iodine number, maximum 5.

(2) Oxirane oxygen, minimum 9.0 percent.

(b) It is employed as a plasticizer in resinous and polymeric substances used to produce articles that contact food.

(c) The quantity used shall not exceed the least amount reasonably required to accomplish the intended technical effect, and the quantity that may become a component of food as a result of use in a resinous or polymeric substance or article shall not be intended to nor, in fact, accomplish any physical or technical effect in the food itself.

(d) The use as a plasticizer in any resinous or polymeric substance or article subject to any regulation in Subpart F of this part must comply with any specifications and limitations prescribed by such regulation for the finished form of the substance or article.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D.C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 194—FLATHEAD IRRIGATION PROJECT, MONTANA

SUBCHAPTER T—OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE

PART 221—OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES

Miscellaneous Amendments

There was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 18, 1961 (26 F.R. 10808), a notice to amend Parts 194 and 221 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 25, Indians, by adding Sections 194.23 and 221.17(c) as set forth below. The purpose of the amendments is to provide for bringing lands that cannot be served by the gravity system, designated as pump lands, into the Flathead Indian Irrigation Project for service purposes and to establish assessment rates for assessing such pump lands.

Interested persons were given 30 days within which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendments. No comments, suggestions, or objections have been received, and the proposed amendments are hereby adopted without change.

A new section is added to Part 194 to read as follows:

§ 194.23 Pump lands.

When requested in writing to do so, by the holder of legal title to the land, the Secretary of the Interior, or his authorized representative, may designate such land lying above the gravity flow delivery point which may be susceptible of irrigation through pumping operations as a part of the project. Lands thus designated shall be subject to the payment of the pro rata per acre share of the construction, operation and maintenance costs the same as all other project lands in the same general area receiving gravity flow water. In the Mission Valley Division of the project such designated land shall be obligated to pay an additional per acre foot assessment for water delivered to the "pump land" equal to the pumping cost from Flathead Lake or Flathead River and the cost of delivering such water to the land. In the Camas Division of the project such designated land shall be obligated to pay a per acre foot assessment for water delivered to the designated "pump land," equal to the pumping costs from the Little Bitterroot Lake and the costs of delivering such water to the land. All other costs incidental to the pumping and distribution of the delivered water from the project farm unit delivery point to the "pump land" shall also be borne by the landowner. Such landowner is obligated to comply with the regulations now or hereafter adopted for the Flathead Indian Irrigation Project. At the time of filing his petition the landowner will be required in writing to request the inclusion of such "pump land" in an existing irrigation district or a district subsequently formed pursuant to the laws of the State of Montana. No land in Indian ownership shall be included in the irrigation district as long as the title to the land remains in Indian ownership.

Paragraph (c), reading as follows, is added to § 221.17:

§ 221.17 Charges, Mission Valley and Camas Divisions.

(c) The annual pumping charge for water pumped from Flathead Lake or Flathead River for use on land designated as "pump land" in the Mission Valley Division of the project under 25 CFR 194.23 shall be $2.00 per acre foot or fraction thereof until otherwise ordered. The annual charge for pumping water from the Little Bitterroot Lake for land designated as "pump land" in the Camas Division shall be $1.00 per acre foot or fraction thereof until otherwise ordered. After the pumped land has become a part of an irrigation district the charges assessed against such pump land during the calendar year shall be included in the notice furnished to the irrigation district for the following irrigation season.

An authorization for developmental operation in any of the services in this part will be issued only to those applicants who are eligible to operate stations in those services on a regular basis.

§ 9.1402 Showing required.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, each application for developmental operation shall be accompanied by a showing that:

(1) The applicant has an organized plan of development leading to a specific objective;

(2) A point has been reached in the program where actual transmission by radio is essential to the further progress thereof;

(3) The program has reasonable promise of substantial contribution to the expansion or extension of the radio art, or is along lines not already investigated;

(4) The program will be conducted by qualified personnel;

(5) The applicant is legally and financially qualified, and possesses adequate technical facilities for conduct of the program as proposed; and

(6) The public interest, convenience or necessity will be served by the proposed operation.

(b) The showing under paragraph (a) of this section may not be required when an application is made for developmental operation solely for the reason that the frequency requested is restricted to such developmental use.

§ 9.1403 Limitations on use.

(a) Stations used for developmental operation shall be constructed and used in such a manner as to conform with all of the technical and operating requirements of this part, unless deviation therefrom is specifically provided for in the station authorization.

(b) All developmental operation shall be subject to the condition that no harmful interference is caused to the operation of stations licensed on a regular basis under any part of this chapter.

§ 9.1404 Frequencies available.

The frequency or frequencies assigned will be from those available for the service in which operation is proposed, except that in individual cases the Commission may, without rulemaking proceedings, authorize on a temporary basis only, the use of frequencies not in accordance with the Table of Frequency Allocations for projects of short duration or emergencies where the Commission finds that important or exceptional circumstances require such utilization: Provided, That such authorizations are not intended to develop a service to be operated on frequencies other than those allocated such service.

§ 9.1405 Special provisions.

(a) The developmental program described in the application shall be substantially followed except as modified by the terms of an authorization which may be issued under this part.

(b) Where some phases of the developmental program are not covered by the provisions of this chapter, the authorization may specify supplemental or additional requirements or conditions in each case, as deemed necessary in the public interest, convenience, or necessity.

(c) From time to time, a station engaged in developmental work may be required, by modification of the instrument of authorization, to conduct special tests which are reasonable and desirable to the authorized developmental program.

§ 9.1406 Change or cancellation of authorization without hearing.

Every application for authority to engage in developmental operation shall be accompanied by a statement signed by the applicant in which it is agreed that any authorization issued pursuant thereto will be accepted with the expressed understanding of the applicant that it is subject to change in any of its terms or to cancellation in its entirety at any time, upon reasonable notice but without a hearing, if, in the opinion of the Commission, circumstances should so require.

§ 9.1407 Report of operation.

A report on the results of the developmental program shall be filed with and made a part of each application for renewal of authorization, or in cases where no renewal is requested, such report shall be filed within 60 days preceding the expiration of such authorization. In addition, interim reports may be required in certain instances. Matters which the applicant does not wish to disclose publicly may be so labeled; they will be used solely for the Commission's information, and will not be publicly disclosed without permission of the applicant. The report or reports shall include comprehensive and detailed information on at least the following:

(a) The final objective;
(b) Results of operation to date;
(c) Analysis of the results obtained;
(d) Copies of any published reports;
(e) Need for continuation of the program; and
(f) Such other information as may be specified in the instrument of authorization.

[Docket No. 13971 (RM-217); FCC 62-79]

PART 10—PUBLIC SAFETY RADIO SERVICES

Frequencies Available to the Local Government Radio Service

In the matter of amendment of Part 10 of the Commission's rules to make the frequency 39.06 Mc/s available to the Local Government Radio Service for control of traffic lights by mobile units installed in emergency vehicles, Docket No. 13971 (RM-217).

1. The Commission issued a notice of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter (26 F.R. 2002, March 8, 1961) in response to a petition filed by the City of Erie, Pennsylvania. Subsequently, the petitioner requested that action be deferred on this notice to enable it to conduct tests looking toward a possible modification of its original proposal. This was granted by the Commission in a Report and Order, adopted June 28, 1961. Shortly thereafter, a petition for modification of notice of proposed rule making was submitted by the City of Erie in which it contended that the results of its tests indicated that its mobile radio traffic signal control system could operate efficiently with a bandwidth of 20 kc/s rather than the 32 kc/s originally requested. Since this would result in the occupancy of less frequency space and thus met one of the major objections which the original petition had induced, the Commission granted the request for modification and adopted a further notice of proposed rule making in accordance therewith.

2. This latter notice was duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 6656, July 26, 1961) inviting comments on or before September 15, 1961, either in favor of or in opposition to the proposed rule amendments. All such timely filed comments have been considered by the Commission in reaching its determinations herein.

3. The original proposal sought these rule changes: (a) Amendment of § 10.104(b) to permit A9 emission and to allow a bandwidth of 32 kc/s on the frequency 39.06 Mc/s, (b) Amendment of § 10.555 to make the frequency 39.06 Mc/s available to the Local Government Radio Service as well as to the Police Radio Service and to permit an applicant in the former Service to obtain this frequency without regard to paragraph (d) which limits licensees in this Service to two frequencies. The comments in opposition attacked the proposal in part on the grounds that the excessive bandwidth requested would impair the usage of the frequencies adjacent to 39.06 Mc/s. However, since the present notice of proposed rule making "cured" this by proposing a bandwidth of 20 kc/s and since the comments in response thereto did not raise the question of bandwidth, it may be assumed that this is no longer an issue. As usage of this frequency is restricted to a power of 3 watts, the Commission is of the opinion that such operation utilizing A9 emission with a bandwidth of 39.06 Mc/s would present no serious problem.

4. The specific usage sought for this frequency is to enable mobile units to control traffic signals in times of emergency. While these mobile units will be installed primarily in police and fire vehicles, they may also be utilized by other emergency vehicles under the control of the licensed governmental entity. The Local Government Radio Service is the only public safety radio service which can provide this broad diversity of usage. There appears little doubt that this mode of controlling traffic lights in emergency situations is desirable. Even those who submitted comments opposing the proposal conceded that the idea had merit and that at some future time provision for its usage should be made in the Commission's rules. In fact, the Associated Public Communications Officers, Inc. (APCO), the principle objector, recommended alternative frequencies for this operation and suggested that rule making be initiated toward that end. It is, of course, the petitioner's contention that the need for its system is immediate and pressing, and that it should be permitted at once.

5. Those filing comments in opposition are of the opinion that the Police Radio Service "is still lacking in adequate frequency space." APCO also makes the following arguments:

a. * * * the frequency 39.06 Mc/s is ideally suited for certain types of police activity such as surveillance work involving low power equipment and there is now a limitation with respect to the power permissible on that frequency."

b. There are other frequencies available for the purposes desired by the petitioner. APCO suggests that the frequency 45.44 Mc/s, now available to the Local Government Radio Service, could be redesignated as a low-power frequency for the control of traffic signals by emergency vehicles. Alternatively, APCO suggests that rule making proceedings be instituted to make the frequency 46.56 Mc/s available to Local Government Radio users.

c. In a service (Police) so vital to public safety, the loss of frequency space should not be permitted upon the basis of one-channel-at-a-time scrutiny such as that proposed here.

The position of APCO is supported by the International Municipal Signal Association (IMSA) and International Association of Fire Chiefs (IAFC) which also suggests 45.44 Mc/s as an alternative for the City of Erie and other potential users.

6. The proposal received support from a considerable number of cities and towns throughout most areas of the country. They had evidently seen the system demonstrated, and their comments indicate that should the frequency 39.06 Mc/s be made available for the control of traffic signals from emergency mobile units they would be interested in installing such systems. Since the City of Erie is the only governmental entity holding a developmental authorization permitting this operation, its comments naturally contain the only real substantive evidence in support of the proposal. Its engineering data concerning its actual tests both under controlled conditions and while in use on a regular day-by-day basis in Erie lead to two conclusions. First, predicated on the low power which must be used on this frequency, the system does not receive interference from other units operating on this frequency, nor does it appear likely that it will cause such interference to other systems. Secondly, based on its observations of how its system has worked during emergencies in the City of Erie itself, this mode of traffic signal control by appropriate vehicles seems to be a valid aid in enabling these vehicles to reach the scene of the emergency more rapidly with less danger to themselves and to other traffic and pedestrians.

7. The City of Erie also refuted the contention of APCO that this proposal would result in the "piecemeal" loss of a police radio frequency; "* * * authorizing the 39.06 Mc/s emergency traffic light control device operation does not constitute a 'loss' of the frequency to the police. In fact, insofar as installation of the device in police cars would assist the police in arriving at the scene of crime or disaster, it would seem to constitute an augmentation of radio use for the police rather than a loss." The City defended its request to use the frequency 39.06 Mc/s on the grounds that it is being sparsely used by police licensees now and that it contains a 3 watt power limitation, thus making it ideal from an interference standpoint. Finally, Erie insists that the need for vehicular control of traffic signals is immediate and hence resists the APCO suggestion that alternative frequencies for this purpose be explored. It contends that this is unnecessary and will result in needless time-wasting.

8. Since, as was stated previously, there is unanimity that the proposal has merit, the sole question is whether provision for this type of operation should be made immediately by making the frequency 39.06 Mc/s available to the Local Government Radio Service, so that a device capable of controlling traffic signals can be installed in emergency vehicles. Alternatively, another frequency could be selected and appropriate rule making procedures initiated. The Commission is persuaded that the frequency 39.06 Mc/s should be made available for this purpose immediately. It should be emphasized that the Police Radio Service is not losing a frequency; licensees thereunder can continue their surveillance operations. It must also be recognized that heretofore police users have made extremely limited usage of this frequency, and, even conceding APCO's contention that this situation is due to change, all available evidence indicates that both functions can be accommodated on the same frequency compatibly. Further, even assuming arguendo that in a given locale the police needs on the frequency 39.06 Mc/s preclude sharing with emergency vehicles, the governmental entity licensee can simply elect not to so equip the emergency vehicles thus enabling its police department to use this frequency unilaterally.

9. It is, of course, possible to institute "substitute" rule making to make a different frequency available to the Local Government Radio Service for the purposes under consideration herein in lieu of the frequency 39.06 Mc/s. In view of the Commission's outstanding notice of proposed rule making in docket No. 14356 which would make the frequencies 46.54, 46.56, 46.58, and 46.60 Mc/s available to the Local Government Radio Service, this alternative may seem superficially attractive. However, there is a current shortage of available Local Government frequencies. To place a power restriction on one of these frequencies (which is necessary if the traffic control system proposed is to operate properly) and thus severely limit its use would not represent efficient frequency utilization. Similarly, amending the Rules to adopt one of the existing Local Government frequencies for vehicular traffic signal control would unnecessarily reduce the number of base-mobile frequencies available to this service and would undoubtedly require some present licensees to shift frequencies. Hence, selecting a substitute frequency for this purpose does not appear to be feasible.

10. In summary, the Commission concludes that there is a demonstrable immediate need for the control of traffic signals in emergencies by emergency vehicles using low power equipment. Further, in view of the fact that the frequency 39.06 Mc/s now contains a 3 watt power limitation and has been sparsely used by the Police Radio Service, it appears that shared usage by that service and the Local Government Radio Service—both consisting solely of governmental entities—is feasible and in terms of frequency utilization is desirable.

Therefore, it is ordered, This 17th day of January 1962, that effective February 26, 1962, Part 10 be amended as set forth below.

PART 11—INDUSTRIAL RADIO SERVICES

Available Frequencies

In the matter of amendment of Parts 2 and 11 of the Commission's rules and regulations to substitute frequencies in the 406–420 Mc/s band available for assignment to non-Government stations transmitting hydrological and meteorological data in cooperation with agencies of the Federal Government, Docket No. 14253.

The Commission having under consideration the amendment of Parts 2 and 11 in the above-captioned matter;

It appearing that notice of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter was adopted on September 13, 1961; and

It further appearing that notice of proposed rule making, which made provision for filing comments by October 27, 1961, and comments in reply by November 7, 1961, was duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 20, 1961 (26 F.R. 8854); and

It further appearing that no comments or reply comments were received in this proceeding; and

It further appearing that no reason appears why the amendments should not be adopted as proposed and that the public interest would be served thereby; and

It further appearing that subsequent to the adoption and release of our notice of proposed rule making in this proceeding, the rules format of one of the radio services affected, the Forest Products Radio Service, was substantially revised by Commission Order (26 F.R. 9033, September 26, 1961, and Erratum 26 F.R. 9816, October 19, 1961). Because of this change in the rules format, the material below will reflect an amendment to the Forest Products Radio Service rules which is different, both in numerical designation and in form, from that which appeared in our original notice. The substance, however, of the amendment proposed and the amendment ordered is the same.

It further appearing that the amendments to Footnote US25 proposed in the notice of September 13, 1961, were inadvertently included, with US25 renumbered as US13, with changes made by the Second Memorandum Opinion and Order in Docket No. 13928, released October 25, 1961 (FCC61-1235), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 15, 1961 (26 F.R. 10855), and that no further amendment of this Footnote is necessary at this time with respect to the 406 and 412 Mc frequencies; and

It further appearing that the authority for the issuance of this Order is contained in section 303 (c), (f), and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended;

It is ordered, That Part 11 of the Commission's rules be amended effective February 26, 1962, as set forth below.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U.S.C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082, as amended; 47 U.S.C. 303)

Adopted: January 17, 1962.

Released: January 22, 1962.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

National Park Service

[36 CFR Part 7]

DINOSAUR NATIONAL MONUMENT, UTAH-COLORADO

Proposed Stock Grazing

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority contained in section 3 of the Act of August 25, 1916 (39 Stat. 535; 16 U.S.C. 3), Department Order 2640 (16 F.R. 5846), National Park Service Order No. 14 (19 F.R. 8824), Regional Director, Region Two, Order No. 3 (21 F.R. 1494), as amended, it is proposed to amend Title 36 CFR 7 as set forth below. The purpose of this amendment is to establish suitable and reasonable stock grazing regulations in accordance with the Act of September 8, 1960 (74 Stat. 857, Public Law 86-729), to administer the grazing activities within the boundaries of Dinosaur National Monument.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendment to the Superintendent, Dinosaur National Monument, 91 West Main, Room 12, Cooper Building, Vernal, Utah, within thirty days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Paragraph (b) is added to the new § 7.63 of Part 7 to read as follows:

§ 7.63 Dinosaur National Monument.

• • • • • •

(b) Stock grazing. (1) Privileges for the grazing of domestic livestock based on authorized used of certain areas at the time of approval of the act of September 8, 1960 (74 Stat. 857, Public Law 86-729), shall continue in effect or shall be renewed from time to time, except for failure to comply with such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the Superintendent in these regulations and after reasonable notice of default and subject to the following provisions of tenure:

(i) Grazing privileges appurtenant to privately owned lands located within the Monument shall not be withdrawn until title to the lands to which such privileges are appurtenant shall have vested in the United States except for failure to comply with the regulations applicable thereto after reasonable notice of default.

(ii) Grazing privileges appurtenant to privately owned lands located outside the Monument shall not be withdrawn for a period of twenty-five years after September 8, 1960, and thereafter shall continue during the lifetime of the original permittee and his heirs if they were members of his immediate family as described herein except for failure to comply with the regulations applicable thereto after reasonable notice of default.

(iii) Members of the immediate family are those persons who are related to and directly dependent upon a person or persons, living on or conducting grazing operations from lands, as of September 8, 1960, which the National Park Service recognized as base lands appurtenant to grazing privileges in the monument. Such interpretation excludes mature children who, as of that date, were established in their own households and were not directly dependent upon the base lands and appurtenant grazing recognized by the National Park Service.

(iv) If title to base lands lying outside the monument is conveyed, or such base lands are leased to someone other than a member of the immediate family of the permittee as of September 8, 1960, the grazing preference shall be recognized only for a period of twenty-five years from September 8, 1960.

(v) If title to a portion or part of the base land either outside or inside the monument is conveyed or such base lands are leased, the new owner or lessee will take with the land so acquired or leased after September 8, 1960, such proportion of the entire grazing privileges as the grazing capacity in animal unit months of the tract conveyed or leased bears to the original area to which a grazing privilege was appurtenant and recognized. Conveyance or lease of all such base lands will automatically convey all grazing privileges appurtenant thereto.

(vi) Grazing privileges which are appurtenant to base lands located either inside or outside the monument as of September 8, 1960, shall not be conveyed separately therefrom.

(2) Where no reasonable ingress or egress is available to permittees or non-permittees who must cross monument lands to reach grazing allotments or non-Federal lands within the exterior boundary of the monument or adjacent thereto, the Superintendent will grant, upon request, a temporary nonfee annual permit to herd stock on a designated driveway which shall specify the time to be consumed in each single drive.

(3) After September 8, 1960, no increase in the number of animal unit months will be allowed on Federal lands in the monument.

(4)(i) A permittee whose privileges are appurtenant to base lands either inside or outside the monument may be granted total nonuse on a year to year basis not to exceed three consecutive years. Total nonuse beyond this time may be granted if necessitated for reasons clearly outside the control of the permittee. Total unauthorized nonuse beyond three consecutive years will result in the termination and loss of all grazing privileges.

(ii) Whenever partial or total non-use is desired an application must be made in writing to the Superintendent.

(5) Grazing fees shall be the same as those approved for the Bureau of Land Management and will be adjusted accordingly.

(6) Permittees or nonpermittees who have stock on Federal lands within the monument at any time or place, when or where herding or grazing is unauthorized may be assessed fifty cents per day per cow or horse and ten cents per day per sheep as damages.

(7) The Superintendent may accept a written relinquishment or waiver of any privileges; however, no such relinquishment or waiver will be effective without the written consent of the owner or owners of the base lands.

(8) Permits: Terms and conditions: The issuance and continued effectiveness of all permits will be subject, in addition to mandatory provisions required by Executive Order or law, to the following terms and conditions:

(i) The permittee and his employees shall use all possible care in preventing forest and range fires, and shall assist in the extinguishing of forest and range fires on, or within, the vicinity of the land described in the permit, as well as in the preservation of good order within the boundaries of the Monument.

(ii) The Superintendent may require the permittee before driving livestock to or from the grazing allotment to gather his livestock at a designated time and place for the purpose of counting the same.

(iii) Stock will be allowed to graze only on the allotment designated in the permit.

(iv) The permittee shall file with the Superintendent a copy of his stock brand or other mark.

(v) The permittee shall, upon notice from the Superintendent that the allotment designated in the permit is not ready to be grazed at the beginning of the designated grazing season, place no livestock on the allotment for such a period as may be determined by the Superintendent as necessary to avoid damage to the range. All, or a portion of the livestock shall be removed from the area before the expiration of the designated grazing season if the Superintendent determines further grazing would be detrimental to the range. The number of stock and the grazing period may be adjusted by the Superintendent at any time when such action is deemed necessary for the protection of the range.

(vi) No permit shall be issued or renewed until payment of all fees and other amounts due the National Park Service has been made. Fees for permits are due the National Park Service and must be paid at least 15 days in advance of the grazing period. No permit shall be effective to authorize grazing use thereunder until all fees and other amounts due the National Park Service have been paid. A pro rata adjustment of fees will be made in the event of reduction of grazing privileges granted in the permit, except that not more than 50 percent of the total annual grazing fee will be refunded in the event reduced grazing benefits are taken at the election of the permittee after his stock are on the range.

(vii) No building or other structure shall be erected nor shall physical improvements of any kind be established under the permit except upon plans and specifications approved by the National Park Service. Any such facilities, structures, or buildings may be removed or disposed of to a successor permittee within three months following the termination of the permit; otherwise they shall become the property of the United States without compensation therefor.

(viii) The permittee shall utilize the lands covered by the permit in a manner approved and directed by the Superintendent which will prevent soil erosion thereon and on lands adjoining same.

(ix) The right is reserved to adjust the fees specified in the permit at any time to conform with the fees approved for the Bureau of Land Management, and the permittee shall be furnished a notice of any change of fees.

(x) All livestock are considered as mature animals at 6 months of age and are so counted in determining animal unit months and numbers of animals.

(xi) The Superintendent may prescribe additional terms and conditions to meet individual cases.

(9) The breach of any of the terms or conditions of the permit shall be grounds for termination, suspension, or reduction of grazing privileges.

(10) Appeals from the decision of the Superintendent to the Regional Director, and from the Regional Director to the Director shall be made in accordance with National Park Service Order No. 14, as amended (19 F.R. 8824) and Regional Director, Region Two Order No. 3, as amended (21 F.R. 1494).

(11) Nothing in these regulations shall be construed as to prevent the enforcement of the provisions of the General Rules and Regulations and the Special Rules and Regulations of the National Park Service or of any other provisions of said rules and regulations applicable to stock grazing.

EARL M. SEMINGSEN,
Superintendent,
Dinosaur National Monument.

FEDERAL AVIATION AGENCY

[14 CFR Parts 1, 6, 7, 8, 43]

[Reg. Docket No. 1040; Draft Release No. 62-2]

APPROVAL AND OPERATION OF ROTORCRAFT WITH EXTERNAL LOADS

Proposed Special Civil Air Regulation

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 405.27), notice is hereby given that there is under consideration a proposed Special Civil Air Regulation concerning approval for rotorcraft to operate with external loads.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rules by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in duplicate to the Docket Section of the Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. All communications received on or before March 26, 1962, will be considered by the Administrator before taking action upon the proposed rules. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of the comments received. All comments submitted will be available in the Docket Section for examination by interested persons when the prescribed date for return of comments has expired.

In contrast to fixed-wing aircraft, rotorcraft have the unique ability to raise, lower, and transport external loads (for example, by means of a cable and hoist) and to tow objects on the surface. A considerable number of civil rotorcraft are now being used in such operations, and large "flying crane" helicopters are being designed.

While rotorcraft have been approved for use in the carriage of external cargo and the towing of objects on land or water surfaces in the restricted category under Part 8 of the Civil Air Regulations, this part does not permit the use of rotorcraft in operations for compensation or hire. Furthermore, approval under the standard certification requirements for rotorcraft in the configurations required for the carriage of all kinds of external cargo or for towing has not been accomplished primarily because of the difficulties encountered in showing full compliance with these requirements. Operations with external loads and the problems associated therewith were not considered at the time of the promulgation of either Part 6 or 7 of the Civil Air Regulations. Therefore, under the provision of Parts 6 and 7 compliance with the numerous flight characteristics requirements in those parts would have to be demonstrated for each anticipated external load configuration, resulting in a flight test program too burdensome and expensive to be considered by manufacturers of rotorcraft.

In view of the foregoing, the Agency considers it appropriate and in the public interest to permit a greater utilization of rotorcraft for the carriage of external cargo and towing under regulations which will insure that an adequate level of safety is maintained in such operations. Therefore, it is proposed to adopt a Special Civil Air Regulation containing provisions governing the approval of rotorcraft for use in the carriage of external cargo and in towing operations for compensation or hire and setting forth appropriate operating limitations applicable thereto.

The special regulation proposed herein establishes the specific requirements and operating limitations applicable to rotorcraft for which application has been made for the approval of such rotorcraft for use in operations involving the carriage of external cargo or the towing of objects on land or water surfaces. Such rotorcraft would be required to be certificated under Part 6 or 7 of the Civil Air Regulations. The rotorcraft would be limited to the certificated weights in operations conducted under the provisions of this regulation, except that a rotorcraft certificated under Category A of Part 7 could be approved for operation with a weight at which it could be shown to comply with the performance requirements of Category B of Part 7 and with the requirements of this regulation.

The applicant would define particular or representative external load weights and configurations for which he would be required to demonstrate compliance with specific strength and flight characteristics requirements. In addition, the proposed regulation would require demonstration that the rotorcraft is safely controllable while carrying the defined external loads. The results of these tests would be used to establish operating limitations for external loads, cargo configurations, weights, and airspeeds.

Since loads imposed during towing operations could exceed the loads imposed by the heaviest cargo that the rotorcraft is approved to carry, it is necessary to require that means be provided to avoid exceeding the load limitations of the rotorcraft. The direction at which a tow-line load is applied may be critical. If such is the case, this limitation would also be established and observed.

Where necessary to enable a safe emergency landing to be accomplished, a means for jettisoning external cargo or releasing tow lines would be required.

Certain phases of external loads operations may entail more risk for the occupants of the rotorcraft than is encountered during normal operations, therefore, the proposed regulation would limit occupancy during such operations to the flight crew and personnel necessary to perform the operation.

To protect the general public, the proposal would prohibit operation over congested areas with a rotorcraft carrying an external load which could be released in flight, or dropped as a result of any single structural failure. However, when justified by circumstances, special authorization for specific operations over congested areas might be granted by the Administrator.

An amendment to the Rotorcraft Flight Manual or an approved manual for external load operations would be required to inform the flight crew of the operating limitations and other information essential for safe operation of the rotorcraft.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to promulgate the following Special Civil Air Regulation:

1. Applicability. This regulation prescribes the requirements for the approval and use of a rotorcraft, type certificated under Part 6 or 7 of the Civil Air Regulations, in the carriage of external cargo, or the towing of objects on land or water surfaces for compensation or hire. As used in this regulation, external cargo means the cargo carried outside of the fuselage structure of a rotorcraft, the term "sling or hoist load" means an external cargo suspended by a rope or cable attached to a shackle, hoist, or similar device which is attached to the rotorcraft, and "external load" means external cargo and towing loads.

2. Application for approval. Any person may apply for approval under the provisions of this regulation. The applications for approval shall be submitted to the Chief, Flight Standards Division, Federal Aviation Agency, of the Region in which the applicant is located and shall contain the information required in this regulation.

3. Requirements for approval. Rotorcraft may be approved for use in operations involving the carriage of external cargo or the towing of objects on land or water surfaces if:

(a) The applicant has submitted data establishing and has demonstrated that the rotorcraft complies with the requirements of sections 4 through 6 of this regulation; and

(b) The Administrator finds, upon the completion of all tests and inspections, that there is no feature, characteristic, or condition of the rotorcraft which would render it unsafe when operated in accordance with the operating limitations established in section 7 of this regulation.

4. Flight characteristics requirements. Compliance with the flight characteristics requirements of paragraph (c) of this section shall be demonstrated for all the load configurations and weights established in accordance with paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) Rotorcraft maximum weight and center of gravity limitations. The applicant shall select the maximum weight and the center of gravity limitations for which approval for carriage of external cargo or towing operations is desired. The weight and center of gravity limitations selected shall not exceed those limitations established in the basic certification of the rotorcraft, except that, for rotorcraft certificated under Category A of Part 7 of the Civil Air Regulations, a weight may be selected at which the rotorcraft is shown to meet the performance requirements of Category B of Part 7.

(b) External load weights and configurations. The applicant shall select and define the external load configurations and weights for which approval is desired. If the applicant elects not to select a particular configuration of sling and hoist loads to be carried, he shall select one or more of the representative configurations set forth in subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph. The limitations and procedures established for operation with external loads shall be based upon the characteristics of the load configuration(s) selected.

(1) A load with three dimensions of similar magnitude (high and/or low density bulky load).

(2) A load with one dimension no more than one-fifth of the smaller of the other two dimensions (flat-type load).

(3) A load with the length at least twelve times the larger of the other two dimensions or twelve times the diameter if a cylindrical load is selected (pole-type load).

(c) Flight characteristics. (1) It shall be possible to maintain a flight condition and to make a smooth transition from one flight condition to another without requiring an exceptional degree of skill, alertness, or strength on the part of the pilot, and without danger of exceeding the limit load factor, under all conditions of operation probable for the type of operation, including those conditions normally encountered in the event of sudden powerplant failure.

(2) The rotorcraft shall be demonstrated to be capable of safe operation on or near the ground under normal operating conditions in a 20 m.p.h. wind blowing from any direction.

(3) For each external load configuration selected in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section the flight characteristics required in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be demonstrated for a speed range from hovering flight to a speed ten percent greater than the maximum allowable speed established for such external load configuration.

5. Design requirements. (a) The structure which supports the external load, including those portions of the airframe structure that are affected, and any mechanisms or devices which are used in the lifting and supporting of external loads shall comply with the applicable airworthiness requirements of Part 6 or 7 of the Civil Air Regulations.

(b) When external cargo that extends below the landing gear is carried by single-engine rotorcraft, or by multiengine rotorcraft that are not capable of continued hovering out of ground effect with one engine inoperative, or when an operation involving the raising or lowering by hoist or the dropping of cargo is being conducted with any rotorcraft, a means for jettisoning the cargo shall be provided. For towing operations, a means for releasing the tow line shall be provided. These means shall be demonstrated to function satisfactorily under the most critical loading condition, taking into account the direction of load application; and it shall be established that the cargo can be jettisoned in a manner such that it will not interfere with a one-engine-inoperative landing.

(c) When a means for jettisoning cargo or a tow-line release is required in compliance with paragraph (b) of this section, an emergency quick release control on the pilot's primary flight control or a manual mechanical emergency release readily accessible to the pilot shall be provided. This release control shall be clearly marked to indicate its purpose and method of operation.

(d) Means shall be provided to insure that during towing operations loading conditions on the rotorcraft which exceed the weight and center of gravity limits may be consistently avoided.

6. Manual requirements. (a) An approved amendment to the Rotorcraft Flight Manual or an approved manual for operation with external cargo or for towing, listing the types of such operations for which the rotorcraft is approved, shall be prepared by the applicant and shall include:

(1) The operating limitations, procedures, performance information, loading conditions, approved weights, center of gravity and cargo configurations, method of attaching and carrying all approved load configurations, towing load limitations, tow cable angle limitations, and information regarding possible critical configurations of load or manner of attaching the load; and

(2) A precautionary notice concerning hazards to personnel on the ground from static electricity.

(b) For the purpose of showing compliance with this regulation and during operations conducted in accordance with this regulation, the operating limitation established in compliance with § 7.741(f) of Part 7 of the Civil Air Regulations to outline the limiting heights and corresponding speeds for safe landing after power failure shall be classified as performance information.

7. Operating limitations. A rotorcraft approved under the provisions of this regulation for use in operations involving the carriage of external cargo or the towing of objects on land or water surfaces shall, when engaged in such operations, be operated in compliance with paragraphs (a) through (d) of this section.

(a) Occupancy of the rotorcraft shall be limited to the flight crew and such personnel as are necessary to carry out the operations and a placard stating this limitation shall be installed in the cockpit and/or the cabin.

(b) Operation over congested areas, towns, or settlements, or an open air assembly of persons of a rotorcraft carrying an external cargo which can be released in flight or which can drop as the result of any single likely structural failure is prohibited unless specific authority for such operation has been issued by the Administrator.

(c) Rotorcraft shall be operated in accordance with the specific airspeed limits established for operation with external cargo or for towing and the airspeed indicator markings shall include such airspeeds or a placard displaying such limitations shall be located adjacent to the airspeed indicator.

(d) Rotorcraft shall be operated only with the external load configurations and weights for which the capability of the rotorcraft has been demonstrated in accordance with this regulation and which are set forth in the required manual.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of sections 313(a) and 601 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 752, 775; 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 18, 1962.

Director,

FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to §§ 600.6025, 600.6027, and 600.6485 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 25 is designated in part from the Santa Barbara, Calif., VORTAC to the Los Angeles, Calif., VOR. Low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 27 is designated in part from the Gaviota, Calif., VOR to the Los Angeles, Calif., VOR. Low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 485 is designated in part from the Fellows, Calif., VOR to the Oxnard, Calif., VOR. Approval from the appropriate authority is required prior to use of the portions of these airways which lie within Restricted Areas R-2519 and R-2520. The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration a reduction in width to a six-mile wide airway for Victor 25 and Victor 27 from the intersection of the Oxnard VOR 155° and Fillmore, Calif., VORTAC 196° True radials to the intersection of the Oxnard VOR 331° and the Fillmore VORTAC 222° True radials, and for Victor 485 from the Oxnard VOR to the intersection of the Oxnard VOR 331° and the Fillmore VORTAC 222° True radials.

The proposed reduction in airway width would permit simultaneous use of these airway segments and operations within R-2519 and R-2520. The control areas associated with these segments of Victor 25, 27, and 485 are so designated that they would automatically conform to the altered airway segments. The vertical extent of these control areas would remain as designated pending review of the adjacent airspace. Separate actions will be initiated to implement on an area basis Amendment 60-21 to Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Western Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 5651 West Manchester Avenue, P.O. Box 90007, Airport Station, Los Angeles 45, Calif. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 19, 1962.

CHARLES W. CARMODY,
Chief, Airspace Utilization Division.

FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Proposed Designation and Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to Part 600, and §§ 600.1503 and 600.1548 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1501 from the Cape Charles, Va., VOR; 8-mile wide airway to the Snow Hill, Md., VOR; thence 10-mile wide airway via the Sea Isle, N.J., VOR; intersection of the Sea Isle VOR 049° and the Hampton, N.Y., VOR 223° True radials to the Hampton VOR, including the additional airspace between lines diverging from the Sea Island VOR to points of tangency to a circle with a 9-statute mile radius centered at the intersection of the Sea Isle VOR 049° and the Hampton VOR 223° True radials; within the circumference of the circle and between lines tangent to that circle converging to the Hampton VOR. The designation of the segment of Victor 1501 between the Sea Isle VOR and the Hampton VOR where the 5° angle from the airway centerline exceeds the 10-mile airway width would assure adequate lateral protection for aircraft operating at the maximum distance from widely separated navigational aids, where minute errors, either in ground or airborne equipment, could result in more than 5 statute miles deviation from the airway centerline. The designation of Victor 1501 would provide a bypass route east of the New York terminal area for intermediate air traffic operating between southern and New England terminals. Portions of the airway would be reduced in width to provide lateral separation from Victor 1503 as proposed herein, Chincoteague Inlet, Va., Restricted Area R-6604, and Bethany Beach, Del., Restricted Area R-2801. The designation of Victor 1501 would also correspond to the alterations to low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 139 as designated in Airspace Docket No. 61-NY-50 (26 F.R. 10475), so that the offshore portion of these airways would coincide.

Intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1503 extends in part from the Salisbury, Md., VOR as a 10-mile wide airway via the intersection of the Woodstown, N.J., VOR 154° and the Coyle, N.J., VOR 203° True radials; Coyle VOR; intersection of the Coyle VOR 058° and the Riverhead, N.Y., VOR 218° True radials; to the Riverhead VOR. It is proposed to alter this segment of Victor 1503 by realigning it from the Salisbury VOR as a 10-mile wide airway via the intersection of the Salisbury VOR 025° and the Coyle VOR 215° True radials; the Coyle VOR; intersections of the Coyle VOR 057° and the Riverhead, N.Y., VOR 218° True radials; to the Riverhead VOR. The proposed realignment of Victor 1503 would permit the designation of Victor 1501 proposed herein. The reduced airway width would provide lateral separation from the Dover, Del., Restricted Area/Military Climb Corridor R-2803, and from intermediate altitude airway No. 1501.

Intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1548 extends in part as a 10-mile wide airway from the Coyle, N.J., VOR via the intersection of the Coyle VOR 058° and the Riverhead, N.Y., VOR 218° True radials; to the Riverhead VOR. It is proposed to realign Victor 1548 from the Coyle VOR as a 10-mile wide airway via the intersection of the Coyle VOR 057° and the Riverhead, N.Y., VOR 218° True radials; to the Riverhead VOR. The minor alteration proposed to Victor 1503 and Victor 1548 north of Coyle VOR would maintain conformity with the alignment of low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 16.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Eastern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within thirty days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

These amendments are proposed under sections 307(a), and 1110, 72 Stat. 749 and 800; 49 U.S.C. 1348 and 1510, and Executive Order 10854, 24 F.R. 9565.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 19, 1962.

Chief, Airspace Utilization Division.

FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to §§ 600.1534, 600.1505, and 600.1540 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1534 is designated in part from the Martinsburg, W. Va., VOR as a 16-mile wide airway via the intersection of the Martinsburg VOR 081° and the Pottstown, Pa., VOR 237° True radials; to the Pottstown VOR; thence as a 10-mile wide airway to the Solberg, N.J., VOR. Intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1540 is designated in part from the Herndon, Va., VOR as a 10-mile wide airway to the intersection of the Herndon VOR 038° and the Martinsburg, W. Va., VOR 081° True radials. Intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1505 is designated in part from the Pottstown, Pa., VOR as a 10-mile wide airway to the Solberg, N.J., VOR.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the following alterations to these airway segments:

1. Redesignate the Martinsburg-Solberg segment of Victor 1534 from the Martinsburg VOR as a 12-mile wide airway to the intersection of the Martinsburg VOR 058° and the Harrisburg, Pa., VOR 165° True radials; thence as a 16-mile wide airway via the intersection of the Martinsburg VOR 058° and the Pottstown VOR 260° True radials; Pottstown VOR; intersection of the Pottstown VOR 058° and the Solberg VOR 242° True radials to the Solberg VOR.

2. Extend Victor 1540 from the Herndon VOR as a 10-mile wide airway to the intersection of the Herndon VOR 038° and the West Chester, Pa., VOR 253° True radials; thence as a 12-mile wide airway to the West Chester VOR; thence as a 10-mile wide airway to the Solberg VOR.

3. Redesignate the Pottstown-Solberg segment of Victor 1505 from the Pottstown VOR via the intersection of the Pottstown VOR 058° and the Solberg VOR 242° True radials to the Solberg VOR.

These proposed actions would provide a dual intermediate altitude airway structure between Solberg and Washington, D.C., for air traffic operating between New York, N.Y./Philadelphia, Pa., and Washington. Victor 1540 would generally overlie low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 3 and Victor 1534 overlying low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 251. This conformity would permit air traffic to transition between the two airway structures.

The proposed airway width reduction to Victor 1540 and Victor 1534 would provide lateral separation between them and between Victor 1540 and other adjacent intermediate airways. The proposed realignment of Victor 1534 and Victor 1505 between the Pottstown VOR and the Solberg VOR is necessary to provide angular separation with the proposed Victor 1540 at the Solberg VOR.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Eastern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 19, 1962.

FEDERAL AIRWAY, ASSOCIATED CONTROL AREAS AND REPORTING POINTS

Proposed Revocation

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to Parts 600 and 601 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Low altitude Red Federal airway No. 23 extends from Lakehead, Ontario, Canada, to Buffalo, N.Y. The Federal Aviation Agency is considering revoking the portion of this airway within the United States. It is the policy of this Agency to revoke L/MF airways wherever adequate VOR airways are available, and it appears that the route from Lakehead to Buffalo is adequately served by a combination of low altitude VOR Federal airways Nos. 470, 462, 300, and 36. Therefore, it appears that the retention of this airway is unjustified as an assignment of airspace. Accordingly, the Federal Aviation Agency proposes to revoke the United States portion of Red 23, its associated control areas and reporting points. Adoption of this proposal would not result in the discontinuance of the low frequency navigational aids associated with this airway. Any proposals to discontinue one or more of these aids would be circularized separately and interested persons would be afforded an opportunity to comment.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Central Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 4825 Troost Avenue, Kansas City 10, Mo. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 19, 1962.

FEDERAL AIRWAYS AND CONTROLLED AIRSPACE

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) is considering amendments to §§ 600.6212 and 601.6212 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 212 extends from Ukiah, Calif., to Williams, Calif. The FAA has under consideration the revocation of this airway and its associated control areas. Two recent traffic surveys indicate no instrument flight rule traffic on this airway during the area's most active periods. In addition, the area between Ukiah and Williams is apparently adequately served by VOR Federal airway No. 200. It would appear, therefore, that retention of this airway is unjustified as an assignment of controlled airspace.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Western Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 5651 West Manchester Avenue, P.O. Box 90007, Airport Station, Los Angeles 45, Calif. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

JET ADVISORY AREA

Proposed Designation

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to § 602.300 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of a terminal radar jet advisory area at Memphis, Tenn. The en route radar jet advisory areas which presently overlie the Memphis terminal area are not adequate for the transition of civil turbojet aircraft to and from the jet route system while arriving and departing the Memphis terminal area. Accordingly, it is proposed to designate the Memphis, Tenn., radar terminal jet advisory area as the airspace between FL 240 and FL 390 inclusive, which lies within and 16 miles beyond the limits of the area described below:

From the Farmington, Mo., VORTAC to the Dyersburg, Tenn., VORTAC; to the Holly Springs, Miss., VOR; to the Greenwood, Miss., VOR; via the intersection of the Greenwood VOR 357° and the Pine Bluff, Ark., VOR 082° True radials to the Pine Bluff VOR; to the Little Rock, Ark., VORTAC; via the intersection of the Little Rock VORTAC 062° and the Walnut Ridge, Ark., VOR 188° True radials to the Walnut Ridge VOR; to the Farmington VORTAC.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. JET ADVISORY AREA

Proposed Designation

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to § 602.200 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of an en route radar jet advisory area within 16 miles either side of Jet Route No. 20 from flight level 240 to 390 between Orlando, Fla., and Jackson, Miss. By definition (§ 602.2 (26 F.R. 7079)), the jet advisory area would not occupy that airspace within restricted areas along Jet Route No. 20 which have not been listed in § 601.7101 (26 F.R. 1399) as part of the continental control area.

The designation of this proposed en route radar jet advisory area would provide a defined area wherein jet advisory service would be provided to civil turbojet aircraft while operating on J-20 between Orlando and Jackson.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. JET ADVISORY AREA

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) is considering an amendment to § 602.200 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Radar jet advisory service is now provided from flight level 240 to flight level 390, inclusive, on the segment of Jet Route No. 41 from the Memphis, Tenn., VORTAC to the Springfield, Mo., VORTAC. This service is provided in part by FAA personnel assigned to the Walnut Ridge, Ark., AC&W site. It has been determined that adequate radar advisory service can be provided from the Memphis and Kansas City, Mo., ARTCCs from flight level 260 to flight level 390, inclusive, on this segment of J-41.

The FAA has under consideration placing a floor of flight level 260 on the segment of J-41 between Memphis and Springfield, which will permit the withdrawal of the FAA personnel from the Walnut Ridge AC&W site.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. All communications received with forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. JET ROUTE AND JET ADVISORY AREA

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to §§ 602.100 and 602.200 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Jet Route No. 70 presently extends from Seattle, Wash., to Idlewild, N.Y. The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration extension of this jet route and its associated en route radar jet advisory area from Seattle to the intersection of the Seattle VORTAC 247° and the Portland, Oreg., VORTAC 318° True radials where it would join control area 1418. Aircraft presently operating between Seattle and Honolulu use the segment of Jet Route No. 93 from Seattle to Newport, Oreg. (intersection of the Medford VOR 339° and the Portland, Oreg., 222° True radials), when arriving and departing the Seattle terminal area. Extending Jet Route No. 70 from Seattle to the intersection of the Seattle 247° and the Portland 318° True radials would provide an arrival and departure route 46 nautical miles shorter than the present route. This would facilitate air traffic services and improve terminal area procedures. Radar advisory service would be provided civil turbojet aircraft operating on this proposed jet route segment. This proposed jet route segment would not traverse any high altitude refueling areas.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. All communications received with forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division. JET ROUTE AND JET ADVISORY AREA

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) is considering amendments to §§ 602.100 and 602.200 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Jet Route No. 4 presently extends in part from Dallas, Texas, to Florence, S.C. The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the extension of J-4 from Florence to Wilmington, N.C., which will provide an alternate routing for jet aircraft operating between southern terminals and the New York Metropolitan area.

A radar jet advisory area presently exists on J-4 from Los Angeles, Calif., to Dallas. The FAA has under consideration the extension of this radar jet advisory area from flight level 240 to flight level 390 inclusive, within 16 miles either side of the segment of J-4 from Dallas to Wilmington.

The designation of this proposed en route radar jet advisory area would provide defined areas wherein jet advisory service would be provided to civil turbojet aircraft while operating on J-4 between Dallas and Wilmington.

Extension of Temporary Order Denying Certain Export Privileges

A Temporary Order was issued in this matter on December 7, 1961, extending for 45 days the provisions of a Temporary Order of June 15, 1961. These temporary orders have been issued in connection with an investigation instituted by the Investigations Staff, Bureau of International Programs, into the possible unauthorized use by respondent Hydrocarbon Research, Inc., 115 Broadway, New York, New York, and two affiliated companies, of unpublished technical data of United States origin in the design, construction and operation of an oil refining and petrochemical plant in a Soviet bloc country.

The Investigations Staff, Bureau of International Programs, has applied under § 382.11(b) of the Export Regulations for a further extension of the provisions of the Temporary Order of June 15, 1961, as extended, to be effective until the final disposition of any administrative compliance proceedings in the Bureau of International Programs involving these respondents.

This matter has been fully considered by the Compliance Commissioner, who, being fully advised thereof, has reported his recommendations to me that the present temporary order should be extended until the final disposition of any administrative compliance proceedings involving these respondents, since such will be in the public interest and necessary for effective enforcement of the law. I do so find. It is, therefore, ordered as follows:

(1) Hydrocarbon Research, Inc., its officers, directors, agents and employees, as well as Hydrocarbon Mineraloel, G.m.b.H., Duesseldorf, Germany, and Hydrocarbon Engineering, S.a.r.l., Paris, France, their officers, directors, agents and employees, as well as any other person, firm, corporation or business organization with which respondent may be now or hereafter related by ownership, affiliation or control, whether located in the United States or abroad, shall submit to the Bureau of International Programs full and complete documentation of the transaction and obtain the Bureau's specific written authorization therefor, prior to engaging in any manner, form or capacity in any transaction which may involve, directly or indirectly, the exportation from the United States, or the reexportation from another destination following exportation from the United States, to the Sino-Soviet bloc (including Poland) or Cuba of any commodity or of any published or unpublished technical data of U.S. origin or product thereof, as defined in the Export Regulations.

(2) No person, firm, corporation or other business organization, within the United States or elsewhere, without prior disclosure of the facts to, and specific written authorization from, the Bureau of International Programs, shall knowingly, directly or indirectly, in any manner, form or capacity, participate in any transaction within the scope of paragraph (1) of this Order in which the respondent, its related persons or firms are involved.

(3) This order shall take effect forthwith and shall remain in effect until the completion of any administrative compliance proceedings that may be initiated by the Investigations Staff, unless sooner vacated or extended.

(4) A certified copy of this Order shall be served upon the respondent and the named related firms.

CENTRAL NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

JANUARY 19, 1962.

Take notice that on September 20, 1961, as supplemented on December 8, 1961, Central Natural Gas Company (Applicant), 201 East Main Street, Vermillion, South Dakota, filed in Docket No. CP62-71 an application pursuant to section 7(a) of the Natural Gas Act for an order of the Commission directing Northern Natural Gas Company (Northern) to establish physical connection of its facilities with those which Applicant proposes to construct and operate, and to sell and deliver to Applicant natural gas for resale and distribution in the Villages of Afton, Lakeland, Lakeland Shores, Lake St. Croix Beach and St. Mary's Point, in Washington County, Minnesota, all as more fully set forth in the application, as supplemented, which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to construct regulator stations at Afton, Lakeland and Lake St. Croix Beach, and distribution systems in all five of the communities named above, which communities have granted franchises for the proposed service. The estimated total investment in the subject facilities at the end of the third year of operation is $99,940, which Applicant proposes to finance through a temporary bank loan and the subsequent issue of bonds and preferred stock.

The estimated natural gas requirements of the communities involved herein are:

[Docket Nos. CP62-106, G-18615]

HOUSTON TEXAS GAS AND OIL CORP.

Notice of Application and Date of Hearing and Notice of Application for Amendment

JANUARY 19, 1962.

Take notice that on October 23, 1961, Houston Texas Gas and Oil Corporation (Applicant), Post Office Box 10400, St. Petersburg 33, Florida, filed in Docket No. CP62-106 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain facilities to enable Applicant to provide interruptible natural gas service to two direct industrial customers, Swift and Company (Swift), near Agricola, Florida, and Armour and Company (Armour), near the City of Fort Meade, Florida, all as more fully set forth in the application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant has entered into contracts with Armour and Swift, dated September 15, 1961, and April 21, 1961, respectively, providing for the direct sale of maximum annual estimated natural gas volumes of 1,225,000 Mcf per year to Armour and 208,000 Mcf per year to Swift, both on an intermediate interruptible basis. Gas will be sold to both customers at a rate of 35 cents per Mcf.

Applicant also requests that the Commission amend its order issued August 9, 1961, in Docket No. G-18615, as amended, wherein Applicant was authorized, among other things, to construct and operate 12.0 miles of 2-inch lateral transmission pipeline extending from its existing 3-inch line at Agricola, Florida, to Ft. Meade and to sell and deliver natural gas for resale in and around Ft. Meade. Applicant requests authorization to construct and operate 8.78 miles of 2- and 6-inch pipeline between Ft. Meade and Agricola in lieu of the 12.0 miles of 2-inch line authorized in the order of August 9, 1961. The proposed amendment requires a relocation of the previously authorized lateral in order to enable Applicant to render the proposed service to the two industrial customers in Docket No. CP62-106.

Armour and Swift will use the natural gas in the production of fertilizer materials.

The total estimated cost of the proposed facilities in both dockets is $220,000 which is $37,200 greater than the estimated cost of the similar facilities authorized in Docket No. G-18615. The increased cost of construction will be financed from a contingency fund.

These related matters should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on February 26, 1962, at 9:30 a.m., e.s.t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D.C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by the application in Docket No. CP62-106: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30(c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests, requests for hearing or petitions to intervene in either Docket Nos. CP62-106 or G-18615 may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D.C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before February 12, 1962. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing in Docket No. CP62-106 shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

Secretary.

[Docket Nos. CP60-84, CP62-7]

KANSAS-NEBRASKA NATURAL GAS CO., INC.

Notice of Applications and Date of Hearing

JANUARY 19, 1962.

Take notice that on April 22, 1960, as supplemented on May 20, 1960, Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc. (Applicant), Hastings, Nebraska; filed in Docket No. CP60-84 an application pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of transmission facilities extending from Alliance, Nebraska, to the communities of Chadron, Crawford, Gordon, Hay Springs, Hemingford and Rushville, all in Nebraska, and authorizing the sale and delivery of natural gas to Western Gas Fuel Company (Western) for resale and distribution in said communities, all as more fully set forth in the application, as supplemented, on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant proposes to construct and operate the following facilities: approximately 17 miles of 8-inch pipeline south of Alliance replacing an equal amount of 6-inch pipeline which will be salvaged; about 126 miles of 2 to 6-inch lines from Alliance to the six towns;[1] and approximately 24 miles of 8-inch pipeline extending from an existing 10-inch line in the vicinity of Sidney, Nebraska, to Applicant's existing 11 miles of 10-inch line leased to North Central Gas Company (North Central) south of Northport, Nebraska.

The application shows that gas is presently brought to the Alliance area from the Sidney area through partially looped lines extending from Sidney to Northport. One of these parallel lines is owned and operated by North Central and the other is the aforementioned 10-inch line owned by Applicant and leased to North Central. North Central presently transports gas for Applicant through this leased line. Originally Applicant sought herein to abandon the transportation agreement and to assume operation of the leased line itself. However, by its amendment to its application in the subject proceeding, filed September 7, 1961, Applicant requests deletion of requested authorization to construct and operate the 24 miles of 8-inch line to have been constructed from the vicinity of Sidney to Applicant's line leased to North Central. The amendment shows that North Central will continue the transportation service for Applicant and that Applicant will install three 125 horsepower compressor units at Northport rather than the originally proposed 24 miles of 8-inch line to be constructed between Sidney and Northport.

The application shows the following estimated natural gas requirements of Western for the areas proposed to be served:

Annual	Volumes—Mcf @ 14.73 psia
	1st year	2d year	3d year
Total firm requirements	91,700	355,420	533,000
Total interruptible industrial requirements[1]	14,000	38,000	38,000
Total	105,700	393,420	571,000
Peak day
Total firm requirements	2,290	3,950	4,115

[1] The industrial gas would be used at Nebraska State College for boiler fuel

On July 14, 1961, as supplemented on August 2, 1961, Applicant filed in Docket No. CP62-7 an application pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing Applicant to remove three 125 horsepower compressor units from its Holdrege compressor station and to reinstall said units at a new station at Northport, all as more fully set forth in the application, as supplemented, on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

As set forth above, Applicant in Docket No. CP60-84 proposes, among other things, to construct and operate 24 miles of 8-inch pipeline between Sidney and Northport to help serve six new communities north of Alliance. Applicant states that the 1960-1961 peak demand of Alliance and the six new communities was met without the construction of the 8-inch line, and, therefore Applicant has decided to postpone installation of said line.[2]

Applicant states that it is currently completing contracts for purchase of new gas supplies in Wyoming which will probably require a change in its present operations between Sidney and Northport. Applicant further states that this contemplated change might enable it to provide service to the Alliance-Chadron area more economically than previously contemplated, and, therefore, rather than construct the subject Sidney-Northport 8-inch line, which may not be properly sized to handle the future Wyoming gas, Applicant proposes to relocate the three 125 horsepower units from Holdrege to Northport in order to meet the future increased requirements of the Alliance-Chadron area.

The total estimated cost of constructing the proposed facilities in Docket No. CP60-84 is $1,347,200, which estimate does not include the cost of constructing the postponed 8-inch Sidney-Northport line. The estimated net cost of relocating the facilities in Docket No. CP62-7 is $48,000. Applicant will finance the estimated costs in both dockets from current working capital.

These related matters should be heard on a consolidated record and disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on February 21, 1962, at 9:30 a.m., e.s.t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D.C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such applications: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30(c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D.C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before February 12, 1962. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

JOSEPH H. GUTRIDE,
Secretary.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-4007]

APPALACHIAN POWER CO.

Notice of Proposed Issuance of Notes to Banks

JANUARY 18, 1962.

Notice is hereby given that Appalachian Power Company ("Appalachian"), 40 Franklin Road, Roanoke, Virginia, an electric utility company and a subsidiary company of American Electric Power Company, Inc., a registered holding company, has filed an application with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating section 6 thereof as applicable to the proposed transaction.

All interested persons are referred to the application, on file at the office of the Commission, for a statement of the transaction therein proposed which is summarized below.

Appalachian proposes to issue to a group of ten banks, from time to time prior to December 31, 1962, up to an aggregate of $42,000,000 of promissory notes. The notes will be dated in each case as of the date of the borrowings and will mature not more than 270 days after the date of issuance. They will bear interest from the date thereof at the then current prime credit rate (presently 4½ percent per annum) and are prepayable at any time, in whole or in part, without penalty or premium.

The proposed notes aggregate approximately 10 percent of the company's other securities outstanding, and the amount in excess of 5 percent may be exempted only pursuant to an order under section 6(b) of the Act. The filing requests the Commission's approval for the issuance of such excess amount.

The aggregate line of credit established with each of the ten banking institutions is as follows:

Irving Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	$6,300,000
Mellon National Bank & Trust Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.	4,200,000
Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, N.Y.	4,200,000
First National City Bank of New York, New York, N.Y.	6,300,000
Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	5,040,000
Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, New York, N.Y.	4,620,000
Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.	5,040,000
Bankers Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	2,100,000
Chemical Bank New York Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	2,100,000
The Northern Trust Co., Chicago, Ill.	2,100,000
Total	42,000,000

The proceeds from the issuance of the notes will be used by Appalachian to pay part of the cost of its construction program which, it is presently estimated, will amount to approximately $55,000,000 in 1962. During 1961, $20,000,000 of short-term notes were issued for construction purposes, and an additional $22,000,000 is proposed to be issued during 1962. The balance, it is estimated, will be obtained from internal sources. All of the notes outstanding at the time of Appalachian's permanent financing, which is expected to be carried out before the end of 1962 and which will be subject to a further proceeding before this Commisison, will be paid from the proceeds of such financing.

The application states that expenses incident to the proposed transaction are estimated not to exceed $200. It is also stated that the proposed transaction will be expressly authorized by the Virginia State Corporation Commission, the State commission of the State in which Appalachian is organized and doing business, and that no other State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction thereover.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 5, 1962, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D.C. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon applicant, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) should be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, the application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

EMPIRE FUND, INC.

Notice of Application

JANUARY 18, 1962.

Notice is hereby given that Empire Fund, Inc. ("Applicant"), of Boston, Massachusetts (44 School St., Boston, Mass.), a Maryland corporation, and an open-end, diversified management investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), has filed an application pursuant to section 6(c) of the Act for an order of the Commission exempting Applicant from compliance with the provisions of section 14(a) of the Act.

Applicant has filed a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 for 1,250,000 shares of common stock, $1 par value, to be offered to investors in exchange for such investors' securities. Such registration statement has not yet become effective. The purpose of the Fund is to provide investors holding securities at relatively low tax bases with a means of exchanging such securities for shares of the Fund, thereby obtaining diversification without incurring any Federal capital gains tax liability at the time of such exchange. A. G. Becker & Co., Incorporated, the dealer manager, and a group of securities dealers which it will form and manage intend to solicit deposits of securities, to be held by a depository in safekeeping for the separate account of each investor for a period ending not later than three months from the effective date of the Applicant's registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933. At all times during the solicitation period, the depositing investor will retain all incidents of ownership to the securities deposited, with the right to withdraw such securities from the depository without charge.

The minimum deposit to be accepted from any investor is to be securities having a market value of $20,000, and the exchange will not be consummated unless the market value of the deposited securities as at the effective date of the planned exchange aggregates a minimum of $10,000,000. In the event that such value is not then realized, the deposited securities will be returned to investors without charge to them. If such value is obtained upon the termination of the solicitation period, a report describing the deposited securities, including their respective market values determined as at the end of the solicitation period and their bases for Federal income taxation, will be mailed to all depositing investors, who have the right to withdraw any or all of their deposited securities at any time prior to the mailing of the report to investors and during a period of twenty days thereafter. During this period Applicant may require any investor to withdraw any or all of his deposited securities, in which event such investor will have the right to withdraw any or all of his remaining securities from deposit. Also Applicant will have the right to reject securities on deposit for a period of up to ten days after the end of the period during which the investor may withdraw. The total fair market value of securities to be deposited will not exceed $100,000,000. All of Applicant's shares which are issued in exchange for securities will be issued simultaneously on the effective date of the exchange. Each depositing investor is to represent that he will acquire shares of Applicant issued to him in the planned exchange without any intention of distributing them to the public.

Section 14(a) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that no registered investment company shall make a public offering of its securities unless such company has a net worth of at least $100,000 or unless provision is made as a condition of the registration of its securities under the Securities Act which, in the opinion of the Commission, adequately insures (A) that, after the effective date of such registration statement, it will not issue any security or receive any proceeds of any subscription until no more than 25 responsible persons have made firm agreements to purchase securities in an aggregate net amount which will give the company a net worth of at least $100,000; (B) that said amount will be paid in to such company before subscriptions will be accepted from any persons in excess of 25; and (C) that arrangements will be made whereby any amounts so paid in, plus any sales load, will be refunded to any subscriber on demand in the event the net proceeds so received do not result in the company's having a net worth of at least $100,000 within ninety days after such registration statement becomes effective. Applicant presently has one outstanding share of capital stock, nominal assets, and no liabilities, and anticipates that it will have only one such outstanding share, nominal assets, and no liabilities prior to the planned exchange if the exemption sought in the instant application is obtained. The terms of the offering provide that unless the aggregate market value of all securities deposited by investors is $10,000,000 or more on the 31st day following the mailing of the report to investors the exchange will not be consummated. Accordingly the Applicant will be assured of commencing business as an investment company with assets substantially in excess of the $100,000 required by section 14(a) of the Act. Applicant submits that under the circumstances described the exemption sought would be consistent with the purposes intended to be served by section 14(a).

Section 6(c) of the Act provides, among other things, that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person from any provision or provisions of the Act or of any rule or regulation thereunder, if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 5, 1962, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D.C. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon applicant. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney-at-law by certificate) should be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule O–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the showing contained in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion.

By the Commission.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VII—Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (Agricultural Adjustment), Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER B—FARM MARKETING QUOTAS AND ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

[Amdt. 18]

PART 728—WHEAT

Subpart—Regulations Pertaining to Farm Acreage Allotments for 1960 and Subsequent Crops of Wheat

APPROVED DURUM WHEAT COUNTIES UNDER 1962 DURUM WHEAT PROGRAM

The amendment herein is issued pursuant to and in accordance with the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, including the amendments in section 125 of the Agricultural Act of 1961, and is for the purpose of designating the counties in California, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, and South Dakota which are capable of producing Durum Wheat (Class II) and which have produced such wheat for commercial food products during one or more of the five years 1957 through 1961.

The determination of eligibility of counties designated in § 728.1027(i) was based upon past historical records of the Department and of the Bureau of Census, wheat producers' records, and certification from State committees, which are determined to be the latest available statistics of the Federal Government.

Prior to the determination of the counties listed in § 728.1027(i), notice was given (26 F.R. 9912) that consideration would be given to written data, views, or recommendations with respect to such determination submitted not later than November 4, 1961. No data, views, or recommendations pursuant to such notice have been received with respect to determination of eligible counties.

In order that producers may proceed with plans for seeding Durum Wheat (Class II) and other classes of wheat of the 1962 crop as expeditiously as possible and particularly to enable producers to determine whether to participate in the 1962 wheat stabilization program, it is hereby determined that compliance with the 30-day effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest. Therefore, the amendment herein shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Section 728.1027(i) is amended by deleting the last sentence thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "The list of approved Durum Wheat (Class II) counties are as follows:

Chapter X—Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Milk Order No. 125]

PART 1125—MILK IN THE PUGET SOUND, WASHINGTON, MARKETING AREA

Order Amending Order

§ 1125.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of the said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Puget Sound, Washington, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to Section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than February 1, 1962. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing area.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Assistant Secretary, United States Department of Agriculture, was issued November 2, 1961, and the decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order was issued January 5, 1962. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective February 1, 1962, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendment for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (Sec. 4(c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 1001-1011.)

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(9) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as hereby amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Puget Sound, Washington, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

§ 1125.16 Producer-handler.

"Producer-handler" means a person who is both a dairy farmer and a handler, and who has been so designated by the market administrator upon his determination that all of the requirements of § 1125.102 have been met, and that none of the conditions therein for cancellation of such designation exists. All designations shall remain in effect until cancelled pursuant to § 1125.102(d). The Department of Institutions, State of Washington, shall be a producer-handler exempt from the provisions of §§ 1125.102 (other than paragraph (g) thereof), 1125.30 and 1125.32 with respect to milk of its own production and receipts from fluid milk plants and country plants processed or received for consumption in state institutions and with respect to movements of milk to or from a fluid milk plant or country plant.

Effective date: February 1, 1962.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on January 23, 1962.

JAMES T. RALPH,
Assistant Secretary.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Agency

[Reg. Docket No. 773; Amdt. 60-27; Supp. 33]

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

Radio Communications Failure

Draft Release No. 61-13 published as a notice of proposed rule making in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 16, 1961 (26 F.R. 5404), gave notice that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to amend § 60.49, Radio Failure, of Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations. The reasons for the amendment were outlined in detail in the draft release. All comments received in response to this draft release have been reviewed and given due consideration. The majority of comments received either endorsed the proposed revision or recommended certain changes. Only one comment was in opposition to the amendment.

The proposed rule contained the provision that when weather conditions permit, the pilot shall terminate his flight in VFR conditions and land as soon as practicable. One organization and one individual tempered their concurrence with the recommendation to delete this mandatory requirement. It was contended that the ATC system either cannot or does not want to cope with aircraft which experience radio communications failure in VFR conditions. It is emphasized that the question is not whether the system can or cannot cope with the situation but whether the resultant adverse impact upon other users of the system is reasonable compared to the possible inconvenience to one pilot. Air traffic control provides standard separation to all en route IFR aircraft regardless of weather conditions. When a radio communications failure occurs, a near emergency situation is sometimes created, in that it may become necessary for air traffic control to reroute or reclear a substantial number of IFR aircraft in order to maintain proper separation. In essence, air traffic control is often forced, for reasons of safety, to grant priority to the aircraft experiencing the failure. It is not considered logical to permit an aircraft which is in VFR conditions to continue an extended flight to the destination at the possible inconvenience of other aircraft using the system. As stated in the Draft Release, the simplest way to eliminate such a problem is to remove the source, i.e., to require the pilot of the aircraft experiencing the malfunction to land.

In the original proposal, the requirement to terminate the flight under VFR would not apply to operations conducted within positive control airspace. Upon consideration of the safety factors involved, it has been determined that the requirement to land VFR should also apply to this airspace. Therefore, this regulation provides that, regardless of the airspace involved, when VFR conditions prevail the flight must be terminated as soon as practicable. It should be emphasized the pilot of an aircraft in such circumstances is fully responsible for the separation of his aircraft from all others.

It is not intended that the requirement to "land as soon as practicable" be construed to mean "as soon as possible." The pilot, of course, retains his prerogative of exercising his best judgment and is not required to land at an unauthorized airport, at an airport unsuitable for the type of aircraft flown, or to land only minutes short of his intended destination. The primary objective of this provision of the rule is to preclude extended IFR operations in the air traffic control system in VFR weather conditions. The regulation does not prohibit the pilot experiencing radio communications failure, after landing and cancelling his IFR flight plan, from taking off again and proceeding to the destination in accordance with VFR if he so desires.

The Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) recommended that in the event of radio communications failure, a pilot would proceed according to the route and altitude filed in the flight plan, rather than via the route and altitude specified by air traffic control. Such a provision would require a pilot to proceed via the filed route which might be a considerable distance away from the route specified in the air traffic control clearance. In a similar manner, a pilot who has been assigned an altitude other than his filed altitude within a route structure would be required to climb or to descend, as might be appropriate, to the filed altitude. Obviously, pilot action which would disregard an ATC clearance and revert to a filed flight plan is not feasible since it is virtually impossible to develop procedures for transition to flight planned route and altitude which would be applicable in all situations.

ALPA also suggested that, when a climb to a higher route structure is necessary, the pilot should climb to the altitude or flight level specified in the flight plan rather than the cardinal altitude at or above the MEA of the filed route structure. Since pilots often may file multiple altitudes or multiple route structures in a single flight plan, such a regulation would only compound the problems and impair the ability of air traffic control to provide proper separation. It is concluded that one easily determined and easily recalled altitude for application during radio communication failure is imperative to meet the needs of the pilot and the air traffic control system.

The Air Traffic Control Association (ATCA) suggested that when a climb to a higher route structure is necessary, the pilot should be required to exercise his emergency authority and initiate climb at his discretion. Such a requirement would eliminate the provision to "initiate climb ten minutes after passing the first compulsory reporting point over which the failure prevented communications with air traffic control." ATCA contended that the controller would not, in all cases, be able to provide standard separation in the event of such a climb. This contention may be valid in some cases; however, the ten minute delay before initiating climb will provide a margin of safety which is considered indispensable. In addition, to require a pilot to use such emergency authority is not feasible since in most cases pilots do not consider radio communications failure to be an emergency situation.

British Overseas Airways Corporation suggested that transponder procedures be developed for use during radio communications failure. While such procedures would be very advantageous, the lack of decoding equipment in ATC facilities at present prohibits the adoption of this suggestion. The implementation of transponder procedures is contemplated when adequate decoding equipment becames available.

The one comment in opposition to the amendment contended that it would not be possible for military jet aircraft to complete certain flights if radio communication failure provisions require that the operation be conducted at Flight Level 240. It was recommended that the rule be amended to require a cruising altitude advisory prior to take-off in order that the pilot might proceed to his destination at the flight level advised by ATC. Procedures currently in effect provide that when a pilot is not issued a clearance within the filed route structure, the pilot must be issued an advisory as to when he may expect a clearance to an altitude in the requested structure. Since this procedure appears to satisfy the objective of this recommendation, it is not considered necessary to alter the provisions of the rule.

It is virtually impossible to promulgate a rule which provides definitive action for every conceivable eventuality associated with radio communications failure. Such a rule would be too voluminous for ready comprehension and application. Conversely, it is not intended to promulgate a rule so brief or general as to be ambiguous. It is not intended to attempt to regulate emergency or near emergency situations. For example, the rule omits reference to the problems arising from a missed approach. The circumstances would be so unpredictable in such a situation that it is considered that an emergency would exist and, as such, would not be subject to regulation.

Concurrently with the adoption of the rule contained herein, detailed procedures which shall be followed in the event of radio communications failure will be published in the Flight Information Manual. All necessary supplementary data will be consolidated in this publication. The Flight Information Manual will henceforth be the sole source of FAA supplementary material applicable to radio communications failure.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 60) and Civil Aeronautics Manual 60 are amended as follows:

1. By amending § 60.49 to read as follows:

§ 60.49 Radio communications failure.

In the event of two-way radio communications failure the pilot shall comply with the following procedures, unless otherwise authorized by air traffic control:

(a) VFR conditions. If the failure occurs in VFR conditions or if such conditions are subsequently encountered, continue flight under VFR and land as soon as practicable.

(b) IFR conditions. If the failure occurs in IFR conditions or if the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section cannot be followed, continue flight to the airport of destination.

(1) Route. Via the route specified in the last air traffic control clearance received or, if no route has been specified, via the planned route.

(2) Altitude. At whichever of the following altitudes or flight levels is the higher:

(i) At the altitude or flight level specified in the last air traffic control clearance received;

(ii) At the minimum safe altitude; or

(iii) At the lowest cardinal altitude or flight level (1,000-foot level), at or above the MEA of the highest planned route structure.

When climb to a higher route structure is necessary, climb shall be initiated, unless required earlier by the minimum safe altitude, 10 minutes after passing the first compulsory reporting point over which the failure prevented communications with air traffic control.

(3) Holding. When holding instructions have been received, depart the holding fix at the expected further clearance time received or, if an expected approach clearance time has been received, depart the holding fix so as to arrive over the radio facility to be used for the approach at the destination airport as nearly as possible to the expected approach clearance time.

(4) Descent. Descent from the en route altitude or flight level shall be initiated at the radio facility to be used for the approach at the destination airport at whichever of the following times is the later:

(i) The expected approach clearance time, if received;

(ii) The estimated time of arrival as determined from the flight plan, as amended with air traffic control; or

(iii) The actual time of arrival over the facility.

§§ 60.21-1, 60.49-1 [Rescinded]

2. By rescinding §§ 60.21-1 and 60.49-1 of Civil Aeronautics Manual 60.

This amendment shall become effective May 1, 1962.

SUBCHAPTER C—AIRCRAFT REGULATIONS

[Reg. Docket No. 1043; Amdt. 393]

PART 507—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Boeing 707 and 720 Series Aircraft

Investigation has shown that extensions of certain repetitive inspection intervals based on service experience may be granted to operators of Boeing 707 and 720 Series aircraft in complying with Amendment 326, 26 F.R. 7873. Accordingly, the inspection interval in paragraphs (b) and (e)(3) are being extended from 65 to 100 hours and 3,500 to 4,000 hours respectively. Also, reference is being made to a later issue of the manufacturer's service bulletin and paragraph (b)(2) is being revised to redefine the area to be inspected. The aircraft affected also are listed by serial number.

Since this amendment relaxes a requirement and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendment may be made effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 6489), § 507.10(a) of Part 507 (14 CFR Part 507), is hereby amended as follows:

Amendment 326, 26 F.R. 7873, Boeing 707 and 720 Series aircraft, is amended by:

1. Changing the applicability statement to read:

Applies to Boeing 707 Series aircraft Serial Nos. 17586-17652, 17658-17690, 17692-17712, 17718-17724, 17903-17906, 17918-17919, 17925-17930, 18012 and 18054 and Boeing 720 Series aircraft Serial Nos. 17907-17917, 18013-18020, 18023, and 18041 as indicated.

2. Changing the first paragraph to read:

Due to failure in a main landing gear trunnion support, the following inspections, contained in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c), are required on all specified 707 Series aircraft until paragraph (d) has been accomplished. Paragraph (e) is required on all specified 707 Series aircraft after paragraph (d) is accomplished and on all specified 720 Series aircraft.

3. Changing the inspection interval in paragraph (b) from "every 65 hours" to "every 100 hours".

4. Changing paragraph (b)(2) to read:

(2) A strip ½-inch wide around upper bearing support, from the upper barrel nut to lower 1.31 diameter inboard (tension) bolt hole, on aft side.

5. Deleting the following reference statement in paragraph (d)(3): "and S.B. No. 1044 (October 26, 1960, or later)."

6. Changing paragraph (e) to read:

(e) The following repetitive inspections are required on all specified 707 Series aircraft upon completion of the inspections and rework outlined in (d) and on all specified 720 Series aircraft.

7. Changing the inspection interval in paragraph (e)(3) from "every 3,500 hours" to "every 4,000 hours".

8. Changing reference to Boeing S.B. 859 from "(R–1 or later)" to "(R–2 or later)" in paragraphs (c), (e)(1), (d)(7), (e)(3)(iv), and the parenthetical reference statement.

This amendment shall become effective January 26, 1962.

PART 507—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Lycoming VO–540 Series Engines

A proposal to amend Part 507 of the regulations of the Administrator to include an airworthiness directive requiring replacement of hydraulic value tappet bodies and plunger asemblies which are subject to failure on Lycoming VO–540 Series engines, with newly designed improved parts, was published in 26 F.R. 11870.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the amendment. No objections were received.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 6489), § 507.10(a) of Part 507 (14 CFR Part 507), is hereby amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

LYCOMING. Applies to all VO–540 Series engines.
Compliance required as indicated.
To preclude failures of the hydraulic valve tappet body and plunger assembly, an improved hydraulic tappet body and plunger assembly has been provided.
Unless already incorporated, install a Lycoming P/N 72876 plunger assembly and a Lycoming P/N 73061 tappet body at the next engine overhaul after the effective date of this AD.
(Lycoming Service Instruction No. 1011 covers this same subject.)

This amendment shall become effective February 27, 1962.

SUBCHAPTER E—AIR NAVIGATION REGULATIONS

[Airspace Docket No. 61–SW–125]

PART 601—DESIGNATION OF CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, REPORTING POINTS, POSITIVE CONTROL ROUTE SEGMENTS, AND POSITIVE CONTROL AREAS

Alteration of Control Zone and Control Area Extension

The purpose of these amendments to §§ 601.2024 and 601.1238 of the regulations of the Administrator is to alter the Amarillo, Tex., control zone and control area extension.

The Amarillo control zone (§ 601.2024) and control area extension (§ 601.1238) are described, in part, with reference to the Amarillo radio range. The Federal Aviation Agency is converting the Amarillo radio range to a nondirectional radio beacon. Therefore, action is taken herein to revoke the control zone extension based on the north course of the radio range, delete the radio range from the description of the control zone, and substitute geographical coordinates in lieu of the radio range in the description of the control area extension.

Since these amendments impose no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary. However, since it is necessary that sufficient time be allowed to permit appropriate changes to be made on aeronautical charts, these amendments will become effective more than 30 days after publication.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582), the following actions are taken:

1. Section 601.2024 (14 CFR 601.2024) is amended to read:

§ 601.2024 Amarillo, Tex., control zone.

Within a 5-mile radius of the Amarillo, Tex., AFB/Municipal Airport (latitude 35°13′11″ N., longitude 101°42′42″ W.), within 2 miles either side of the 046° bearing from the Tradewind RBN extending from the 5-mile radius zone to the RBN, and within 2 miles either side of the Amarillo VORTAC 221° radial extending from the 5-mile radius zone to the VORTAC.

2. Section 601.1238 (14 CFR 601.1238) is amended to read:

§ 601.1238 Control area extension (Amarillo, Tex.).

That airspace within a 50-mile radius of latitude 35°13′42″ N., longitude 101°-44′24″ W.

These amendments shall become effective 0001 e.s.t. April 5, 1962.

PART 602—DESIGNATION OF JET ROUTES, JET ADVISORY AREAS AND HIGH ALTITUDE NAVIGATIONAL AIDS

Designation of Jet Advisory Area

On October 10, 1961, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 9556) stating that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to designate a terminal radar jet advisory area following a departure route from the San Francisco/Oakland, Calif., Metropolitan area toward the south.

The Department of the Air Force interposed no objection to the proposed amendment. No other comments were received.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the rule herein adopted, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

The substance of the proposed amendment having been published, therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) and for reasons stated in the notice, the following action is taken:

In § 602.300 Terminal jet advisory areas (26 F.R. 7084) under San Francisco/Oakland, Calif., jet advisory area—Radar, the following is added:

1. Oakland, Calif., via INT Oakland 221° and Point Reyes, Calif., 161° radials; the INT of Point Reyes 161° and Big Sur, Calif., 325° radials; Big Sur; thence via Big Sur 099° radial to Jet Route No. 1.

This amendment shall become effective 001 e.s.t., April 5, 1962.

PART 10—ARTICLES CONDITIONALLY FREE, SUBJECT TO A REDUCED RATE, ETC.

Identification and Examination of Theatrical Paraphernalia Taken Abroad

It has been established that in the case of shipments abroad of theatrical scenery, properties, and effects by rail in carload lots in cars sealed by customs officers for entry at a foreign port where sufficient United States customs officers are regularly stationed the United States customs revenue will be adequately protected if the application for identification (customs Form 4455) is filed with such an officer and he examines the articles prior to their release from customs custody by the foreign customs officers.

Accordingly, § 10.68(a) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "In the case of theatrical scenery, properties, and effects taken abroad by rail for temporary use in carload lots in cars sealed by customs officers for entry at Montreal or Toronto, application and examination prior to or at the time of exportation is waived if customs Form 4455 is filed with the United States customs officer in Montreal or Toronto, as the case may be, and that officer examines the articles prior to their release from customs custody by the foreign customs officers."

The following amendment is made to permit these agencies to file general blanket applications for indefinite periods of time or specific blanket applications for particular classes of shipments or limited periods of time.

Section 10.104(a), Customs Regulations, is amended to read as follows:

(a) Shipments consigned to a military department, the General Services Administration, the Atomic Energy Commission, or other party acting for the Atomic Energy Commission, or to an officer or official of any such agency in his official capacity, shall be regarded for purposes of this regulation as shipments the immediate delivery of which is necessary within the purview of section 448(b), Tariff Act of 1930. Such shipments may be released upon the filing of immediate delivery applications on customs Form 3461 as set forth in § 8.59 of this chapter. Such applications may be limited to particular shipments or may cover all shipments imported by the government agency making the application. They may be approved for specific periods of time or for indefinite periods of time provided in either case they are supported by blanket carrier's certificates and stipulations as provided in paragraph (b) of this section.

(a) Exchange offices. Articles believed liable to customs duty are submitted immediately to local customs officers or redispatched for customs treatment to designated distribution offices. In the latter case, exchange offices will attach label 81, a reusable pink slotted tag bearing the words "This sack contains mail 'SUPPOSED LIABLE TO CUSTOMS DUTY'," to the label holders or hasps of sacks or pouches containing matter to be submitted to customs officers.

(b) Distribution offices. Distribution offices will submit articles supposed liable to customs duty to customs officers as soon as possible after receipt. The reusable tags, label 81, removed from sacks containing this mail, will be returned periodically to the postmasters at New York, New Orleans, San Francisco, Seattle, or Miami, as may be appropriate from a geographical standpoint.

NOTE: The corresponding Postal Manual sections are 261.21 and 261.22.

§ 168.5 [Amendment]

V. In § 168.5 Individual country regulations, as published in 26 F.R. 8725–8805, the country "Mexico", under Parcel Post, is amended by inserting two new paragraphs immediately preceding the first paragraph of the item Observations to include requirements for import licenses. As so added, the paragraphs read as follows:

Observations. A large variety of items, when the value exceeds 200 Mexican pesos (about $16), require import licenses which the addressees must obtain before the goods arrive. The Mexican official valuation of articles may be higher than the purchase price. Also, customs duty is assessed at high rates. This applies to gifts and to Mexican goods being returned for replacement or repair, as well as commercial shipments. If the addressees have not obtained import licenses if required, before the parcels arrive, the Mexican customs authorities may assess fines in addition to the duty, or confiscate the parcels. Confiscated parcels are not released without authorization of the customs authorities, even if the addressees refuse them or the senders request their return.

Persons desiring to mail parcels to Mexico should be advised of the foregoing and advised to refrain from mailing unless they are assured that the addressee will be able to take delivery. Information concerning the Mexican import duties applicable to specific items and their status under Mexican import control may be obtained by sending a description of the items to the American Republics Division, Bureau of International Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D.C., or any field office of that Department.

AUTHORITY: §§ 14–1.000 to 14–1.107 issued under R.S. 161; 5 U.S.C. 22.

§ 14–1.000 Scope of part.

This part establishes a system of procurement procedures applicable to purchases of personal property and nonpersonal services (including construction) by all bureaus and offices of the Department of the Interior, based upon the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 and the Federal Procurement Regulations, and describes the method by which the Department of the Interior implements and supplements Federal Procurement Regulations, and sets forth policies and procedures which implement and supplement Part 1–1 of the Federal Procurement Regulations.

Subpart 14–1.1—Introduction

§ 14–1.100 Purpose.

Department of the Interior Procurement Regulations are hereby established as Chapter 14 of the Federal Procurement Regulations System in order to provide uniform policies and procedures for procurement of personal property and services by all bureaus and offices of the Department of the Interior in conformity with the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act and regulations thereunder. The material in this subpart explains the relationship of Department of the Interior Procurement Regulations to Federal Procurement Regulations and to other procurement instructions governing Department of the Interior operations.

§ 14–1.101 Authority.

Title III of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 provides a procurement system applicable to purchases of personal property and services by the General Services Administration and by other executive agencies to which the Administrator of General Services, pursuant to section 302(a)(2) of the Act, has delegated authority to apply the provisions of Title III. The Administrator on March 10, 1959, issued Delegation of Authority 363 (24 F.R. 1921, March 17, 1959) authorizing all executive agencies (except those governed by the Armed Services Procurement Act) to utilize the provisions of Title III, other than section 305, relating to advance payments. The Federal Procurement Regulations System was established by the Administrator in March 1959 (Procurement Circular 1, 24 F.R. 1933, March 17, 1959), to prescribe policies and methods of procurement by all executive agencies acting under the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949. Executive agencies are authorized by FPR 1–1.008 to prescribe agency regulations to implement, supplement, and deviate from Federal Procurement Regulations. For the Department of the Interior, the Secretary of the Interior is empowered by law to prescribe such regulations (5 U.S.C. 22).

§ 14–1.102 Adoption of the Federal Procurement Regulations System.

Pursuant to authority delegated by the Administrator of General Services, the provisions of Title III of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 and Federal Procurement Regulations shall, unless an exception is made by the Secretary for any purchase or class of purchases, govern the procurement of personal property and non-personal services (including construction) by all bureaus and offices of the Department of the Interior.

§ 14–1.103 Relationship.

(a) Chapter 14 implements and supplements the FPR. Material published in the FPR, which has Government-wide applicability, becomes effective throughout the Department of the Interior upon the effective date of the particular FPR issuance. Such material will not be repeated, paraphrased, or otherwise stated in Chapter 14 except to the extent necessary to implement, supplement or authorize deviations from the FPR.

(b) Procurement instructions necessary to implement or supplement the FPR and Chapter 14 will be issued by the Office of the Administrative Assistant Secretary, when necessary to accomplish Department-wide procurement objectives. Such issuances will be promulgated in the Departmental Manual.

(c) Instructions necessary to supplement the FPR, Chapter 14, and the Departmental Manual will be issued by the heads of the bureaus and contracting offices, and by their delegates in subordinate offices.

§ 14–1.104 Applicability.

(a) Chapter 14 applies to all purchases and contracts made by any bureau or office of the Department of the Interior for the procurement of personal property and nonpersonal services (including construction). Unless otherwise specified, it applies to purchases and contracts within and outside the United States.

(b) This chapter shall not be construed or applied in such a way as to impair the exercise of special statutory authority governing the production, sale or exchange of electric energy, the processing and sale of helium gas, or the production and sale of water or other products under the saline water program.

§ 14–1.105 Method of issuance.

All Chapter 14 material deemed necessary for business concerns and others interested to understand basic and significant Department of the Interior procurement policies and procedures will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Other related material will be promulgated in the Departmental Manual, and copies of such material will be made available to interested individuals or organizations upon request.

§ 14–1.106 Exclusions.

(a) Certain Department of the Interior policies and procedures which come within the scope of this chapter may be excluded therefrom when there is justification therefor. These exclusions will include the following categories:

(1) Subject matter which bears a security classification.

(2) Policies or procedures which are expected to be effective for a period of less than six months.

(3) Experimental policies or procedures, for a reasonable period.

Procurement policies, procedures and instructions issued in other than FPR System format under subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph will be codified into Chapter 14 at the earliest practicable date.

§ 14–1.107 Arrangement.

§ 14–1.107–1 Numbering.

(a) The numbering system used in Chapter 14 conforms to that of the FPR. Thus, a particular procurement policy or procedure will be identified by the same number in Chapter 14 as in FPR, except that the first digit of the number is 1 (FPR) or 14 (Department of the Interior).

(b) Similarly, procedure and instructions which may be issued by the bureaus and offices of the Department of the Interior will be identified by alphabetical designations immediately following the Departmental Code (14), as illustrated below:

14A Office of the Secretary.

bers and alternate members shall serve in such capacities for the portion of the term of office for which they are selected and have qualified and until their respective successors are selected and have qualified.

Sec. 22. Nomination.

(a) Initial members. Nominations for each of the initial members, together with nominations for the initial alternate members for each position, may be submitted to the Secretary by the committee responsible for promulgation of this part. Such nominations may be made by means of group meetings of the growers concerned in each district. Such nominations, if made, shall be filed with the Secretary no later than the effective date of this part. In the event nominations for initial members and alternate members of the committee are not filed pursuant to, and within the time specified in, this section, the Secretary may select such initial members and alternate members without regard to nominations, but selections shall be on the basis of the representation provided in section 20.

(b) Successor members. (1) The committee shall hold or cause to be held not later than February 15 of each year (excluding the initial term) a meeting or meetings of growers for the purpose of designating nominees for successor members and alternate members of the committee. These meetings shall be supervised by the committee which shall prescribe such procedures as shall be reasonable and fair to all persons concerned.

(2) Only growers, including duly authorized officers or employees of corporate growers, who are present at such nomination meetings may participate in the nomination and election of nominees for grower members and their alternates. Each grower shall be entitled to cast only one vote for each nominee to be elected in any district in which he produces apricots.

Sec. 23. Selection.

From the nominations made pursuant to section 22, or from other qualified persons, the Secretary shall select the seven members of the committee and an alternate for each such member.

Sec. 24. Failure to nominate.

If nominations are not made within the time and in the manner prescribed in section 22, the Secretary may, without regard to nominations, select the members and alternate members of the committee on the basis of the representation provided for in section 20.

Sec. 25. Acceptance.

Any person selected by the Secretary as a member or as an alternate member of the committee shall qualify by filing a written acceptance with the Secretary promptly after being notified of such selection.

Sec. 26. Vacancies.

To fill any vacancy occasioned by the failure of any person selected as a member or as an alternate member of the committee to qualify, or in the event of the death, removal, resignation, or disqualification of any member or alternate member of the committee, a successor for the unexpired term of such member or alternate member of the committee shall be nominated and selected in the manner specified in sections 22 and 23. If the names of nominees to fill any such vacancy are not made available to the Secretary within a reasonable time after such vacancy occurs, the Secretary may fill such vacancy without regard to nominations, which selection shall be made on the basis of representation provided for in section 20.

Sec. 27. Alternate members.

An alternate member of the committee, during the absence or at the request of the member for whom he is an alternate, shall act in the place and stead of such member and perform such other duties as assigned. In the event of the death, removal, resignation, or disqualification of a member, his alternate shall act for him until a successor for such member is selected and has qualified. In the event both a member of the committee and his alternate are unable to attend a committee meeting, the member or the committee may designate any other alternate member to serve in such member's place and stead.

Sec. 30. Powers.

The committee shall have the following powers:

(d) To keep minutes, books, and records which will reflect all of the acts and transactions of the committee and which shall be subject to examination by the Secretary;

(e) To prepare periodic statements of the financial operations of the committee and to make copies of each such statement available to growers and handlers for examination at the office of the committee;

(f) To cause its books to be audited by a competent accountant at least once each fiscal year and at such times as the Secretary may request;

(g) To act as intermediary between the Secretary and any grower or handler;

(h) To investigate and assemble data on the growing, handling, and marketing conditions with respect to apricots;

(i) To submit to the Secretary such available information as he may request;

(j) To notify producers and handlers of all meetings of the committee to consider recommendations for regulations;

(k) To give the Secretary the same notice of meetings of the committee as is given to its members;

(l) To investigate compliance with the provisions of this part;

(m) With the approval of the Secretary, to redefine the districts into which the production area is divided, and to reapportion the representation on the committee: Provided, That any such changes shall reflect, insofar as practicable, shifts in fresh apricot production for fresh market within the districts and the production area.

Sec. 32. Procedure.

(a) Five members of the committee, including alternates acting for members, shall constitute a quorum; and any action of the committee shall require the concurring vote of at least four members: Provided, That any action of the committee to recommend regulations pursuant to sections 50 to 55 shall require at least five concurring votes.

(b) The committee may vote by telegraph, telephone, or other means of communication, and any votes so cast shall be confirmed promptly in writing: Provided, That if an assembled meeting is held, all votes shall be cast in person.

Sec. 33. Expenses.

The members of the committee and alternates when acting as members, shall be reimbursed for expenses necessarily incurred by them in the performance of their duties under this part: Provided, That at its discretion the committee may request the attendance of one or more alternates at any or all meetings, notwithstanding the expected or actual presence of the respective members, and may pay expenses, as aforesaid.

Sec. 34. Annual report.

The committee shall, as soon as is practicable after the close of each marketing season, prepare and mail an annual report to the Secretary and make a copy available to each grower and handler who requests a copy of the report.

Sec. 37. Shippers' Advisory Committee.

(a) A Shippers' Advisory Committee, consisting of five members who shall be handlers, or employees of handlers, selected by the handlers in accordance with the provisions of this section, is hereby established. There shall be an alternate for each member of such committee. An alternate member shall, in the event of such member's absence from a meeting of the committee, act in the place and stead of such member, and, in the event of a vacancy in the office of such member, shall act in the place and stead of such member until a successor for the unexpired term of such member has been selected.

(b) The members and alternate members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee shall be elected by handlers at a general meeting of all handlers and shall serve in such capacities during the marketing season subsequent to such election. Such meeting shall be supervised by the Apricot Administrative Committee which may prescribe such rules and procedures as may be necessary to assure a membership representative of all shippers.

(c) The Shippers' Advisory Committee may attend each meeting of the Apricot Administrative Committee held to consider recommendations with respect to regulations of shipments pursuant to the provisions of this subpart. The Shippers' Advisory Committee may advise the committee on matters relating to such recommendations, but shall have no vote with such committee in any matter. Members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee may be reimbursed for expenses necessarily incurred in attendance of meetings of the Apricot Administrative Committee.

EXPENSES AND ASSESSMENTS

Sec. 40. Expenses.

The committee is authorized to incur such expenses as the Secretary finds are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the committee to enable it to exercise its powers and perform its duties in accordance with the provisions of this part during each fiscal period. The funds to cover such expenses shall be acquired by the levying of assessments as prescribed in section 41.

Sec. 41. Assessments.

(a) Each person who first handles apricots shall, with respect to the apricots so handled by him, pay to the committee upon demand such person's pro rata share of the expenses which the Secretary finds will be incurred by the committee during each fiscal period. The payment of assessments for the maintenance and functioning of the committee may be required under this part throughout the period it is in effect irrespective of whether particular provisions thereof are suspended or become inoperative.

(b) The Secretary shall fix the rate of assessment to be paid by each such person. At any time during or after the fiscal period, the Secretary may increase the rate of assessment in order to secure sufficient funds to cover any later finding by the Secretary relative to the expenses which may be incurred. Such increase shall be applied to all apricots handled during the applicable fiscal period. In order to provide funds for the administration of the provisions of this part during the first part of a fiscal period before sufficient operating income is available from assessments on the current year's shipments, the committee may accept the payment of assessments in advance, and may also borrow money for such purpose.

Sec. 42. Accounting.

(a) If, at the end of a fiscal period, the assessments collected are in excess of expenses incurred, such excess shall be accounted for in accordance with one of the following:

(1) If such excess is not retained in a reserve, as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, it shall be refunded proportionately to the persons from whom it was collected: Provided, That any sum paid by a person in excess of his pro rata share of the expenses during any fiscal period may be applied by the committee at the end of such fiscal period to any outstanding obligations due the committee from such person.

(2) The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may carryover such excess into subsequent fiscal periods as a reserve: Provided, That funds already in the reserve do not equal approximately one fiscal period's expenses. Such reserve funds may be used (i) to defray expenses, during any fiscal period, prior to time assessment income is sufficient to cover such expenses, (ii) to cover deficits incurred during any fiscal year when assessment income is less than expenses, (iii) to defray expenses incurred during any period when any or all provisions of this part are suspended or are inoperative, (iv) to cover necessary expenses of liquidation in the event of termination of this part. Upon such termination, any funds not required to defray the necessary expenses of liquidation shall be disposed of in such manner as the Secretary may determine to be appropriate: Provided, That to the extent practical, such funds shall be returned pro rata to the persons from whom such funds were collected.

(b) All funds received by the committee pursuant to the provisions of this part shall be used solely for the purposes specified in this part and shall be accounted for in the manner provided in this part. The Secretary may at any time require the committee and its members to account for all receipts and disbursements.

RESEARCH

Sec. 45. Marketing research and development.

The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may establish or provide for the establishment of marketing research and development projects designed to assist, improve, or promote the marketing, distribution, and consumption of apricots. The expense of such projects shall be paid from funds collected pursuant to section 41.

REGULATIONS

Sec. 50. Marketing policy.

(a) Each season prior to making any recommendations pursuant to section 51, the committee shall submit to the Secretary a report setting forth its marketing policy for the ensuing season. Such marketing policy report shall contain information relative to:

(1) The estimated total production of apricots within the production area;

(2) The expected general quality and size of apricots in the production area and in other areas;

(3) The expected demand conditions for apricots in different market outlets;

(4) The expected shipments of apricots produced in the production area and in areas outside the production area;

(5) Supplies of competing commodities;

(6) Trend and level of consumer income;

(7) Other factors having a bearing on the marketing of apricots; and

(8) The type of regulations expected to be recommended during the season.

(b) In the event it becomes advisable, because of changes in the supply and demand situation for apricots, to modify substantially such marketing policy, the committee shall submit to the Secretary a revised marketing policy report setting forth the information prescribed in this section. The committee shall publicly announce the contents of each marketing policy report, including each revised marketing policy report, and copies thereof shall be maintained in the office of the committee where they shall be available for examination by growers and handlers.

Sec. 51. Recommendations for regulation.

(a) Whenever the committee deems it advisable to regulate the handling of any variety or varieties of apricots in the manner provided in section 52, it shall so recommend to the Secretary.

(b) In arriving at its recommendations for regulation pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, the committee shall give consideration to current information with respect to the factors affecting the supply and demand for apricots during the period or periods when it is proposed that such regulation should be made effective. With each such recommendation for regulation, the committee shall submit to the Secretary the data and information on which such recommendation is predicated and such other available information as the Secretary may request.

Sec. 52. Issuance of regulations.

(a) The Secretary shall regulate, in the manner specified in this section, the handling of apricots whenever he finds, from the recommendations and information submitted by the committee, or from other available information, that such regulations will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Such regulations may:

(1) Limit, during any period or periods, the shipment of any particular grade, size, quality, maturity, or pack, or any combination thereof, of any variety or varieties of apricots grown in the production area;

(2) Limit the shipment of apricots by establishing, in terms of grades, sizes, or both, minimum standards of quality and maturity during any period when season average prices are expected to exceed the parity level;

(3) Fix, during any period or periods, the size, capacity, weight, dimensions, markings, or pack of the container, or containers, which may be used in the packaging or handling of apricots.

(b) The committee shall be informed immediately of any such regulation issued by the Secretary, and the committee shall promptly give notice thereof to growers and handlers.

Sec. 53. Modification, suspension, or termination of regulations.

(a) In the event the committee at any time finds that, by reason of changed conditions, any regulations issued pursuant to section 52 should be modified, suspended, or terminated, it shall so recommend to the Secretary.

(b) Whenever the Secretary finds, from the recommendations and information submitted by the committee or from other available information, that a regulation should be modified, suspended, or terminated with respect to any or all shipments of apricots in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall modify, suspend, or terminate such regulation. On the same basis and in like manner the Secretary may terminate any such modification or suspension. If the Secretary finds that a regulation obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall suspend or terminate such regulation. On the same basis and in like manner the Secretary may terminate any such suspension.

Sec. 54. Special purpose shipments.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, any person may, without regard to the provisions of sections 41, 52, 53, and 55, and the regulations issued thereunder, handle apricots (1) for consumption by charitable institutions; (2) for distribution by relief agencies; or (3) for commercial processing into products.

(b) Upon the basis of recommendations and information submitted by the committee, or from other available information, the Secretary may relieve from any or all requirements, under or established pursuant to sections 41, 52, 53, or 55, the handling of apricots for such specified purposes (including shipments to facilitate the conduct of marketing research and development projects established pursuant to section 45), or in such minimum quantities or types of shipments, as may be prescribed.

(c) The committee shall, with the approval of the Secretary, prescribe such rules, regulations, and safeguards as it may deem necessary to prevent apricots handled under the provisions of this section from entering the channels of trade for other than the specific purposes authorized by this section. Such rules, regulations, and safeguards may include the requirements that handlers shall file applications and receive approval from the committee for authorization to handle apricots pursuant to this section, and that such applications be accompanied by a certification by the intended purchaser or receiver that the apricots will not be used for any purpose not authorized by this section.

Sec. 55. Inspection and certification.

(a) Whenever the handling of any variety of apricots is regulated pursuant to section 52 or section 53, each handler who handles apricots shall, prior thereto, cause such apricots to be inspected by the Federal-State Inspection Service and certified by it as meeting the applicable requirements of such regulation: Provided, That inspection and certification shall be required for apricots which previously have been so inspected and certified only if such apricots have been regraded, resorted, repackaged, or in any other way further prepared for market. Promptly after inspection and certification, each such handler shall submit, or cause to be submitted, to the committee a copy of the certificate of inspection issued with respect to such apricots.

(b) The committee may, with the approval of the Secretary, prescribe rules and regulations waiving the inspection requirements of this section where it is determined that inspection is not available: Provided, That all shipments made under such waiver shall comply with all regulations in effect.

REPORTS

Sec. 60. Reports.

(a) Each handler shall furnish to the committee, at such times and for such periods as the committee may designate, certified reports covering, to the extent necessary for the committee to perform its functions, each shipment of apricots as follows:

(c) All such reports shall be held under appropriate protective classification and custody by the committee, or duly appointed employees thereof, so that the information contained therein which may adversely affect the competitive position of any handler in relation to other handlers will not be disclosed. Compilations of general reports from data submitted by handlers is authorized, subject to the prohibition to disclosure of individual handler's identities or operations.

(d) Each handler shall maintain for at least two succeeding years such records of the apricots received, and of apricots disposed of, by such handler as may be necessary to verify reports pursuant to this section.

(d) The Secretary shall conduct a referendum within the period beginning December 1, 1963, and ending February 1, 1964, to ascertain whether continuance of this part is favored by the growers. The Secretary shall conduct such a referendum within the same two-month period of every second fiscal period thereafter.

[10 CFR Part 9]

PUBLIC RECORDS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given that the Atomic Energy Commission has under consideration a proposed amendment to Part 9 of the Commission's regulations.

On October 5, 1961, the Commission published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 9386), a notice of proposed rule making which would amend Part 9 and Part 20 of this chapter to provide for inclusion in the public records of the Atomic Energy Commission of reports of incidents filed by licensees, and to extend the provisions of Part 9, "Public Records", to holders of authorizations under Part 115 of this chapter.

The amendment to Part 9 now proposed would provide for inclusion in the public records of notices of violation issued by the Atomic Energy Commission as well as reports by licensees, and correspondence between the Commission and licensees. The term "licensee" would include a holder of an authorization under Part 115.

If the proposed amendment is adopted a notice of alleged violation would not be made public until after receipt of a response, if any, from a licensee, and until after dispatch of the Commission's acknowledgment of the licensee's response, at which time all three documents would simultaneously be placed in the Public Document Room.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of the Administrative Procedure Act and the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended. All interested persons who desire to submit written comments and suggestions for consideration in connection with the proposed regulation should send them to the Secretary, United States Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C., within sixty (60) days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Comments received after that period will be considered if it is practicable to do so, but assurance of consideration cannot be given except as to comments filed within the period specified. Copies of these comments will be available for examination by interested persons in the Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

It is proposed to amend 10 CFR Part 9, "Public Records", as follows:

1. By adding the following new paragraph (h) to § 9.2 Definitions:

(h) "Licensee" includes any holder of an authorization subject to Part 115 of this chapter.

2. By adding the following new paragraph (f) to § 9.3 Inclusions:

(f) All reports required by AEC licenses, regulations or orders and filed by a licensee with the AEC and correspondence between the licensees and the AEC concerning these reports.

By notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 5, 1961, at page 9386, the Commission announced it proposed to amend § 9.3 by adding a proposed paragraph (f). The present notice modifies that notice by substituting the language quoted above for the language proposed in that notice.

3. By adding the following new paragraph (g) to § 9.3 Inclusions:

(g) Notices of alleged violations and correspondence between AEC and the licensee concerning alleged violations.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 10th day of January 1962.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Parts 320, 321]

[Safety Investigation Regs. Docket No. 13341]

NOTIFICATION AND REPORTING OF AIRCRAFT ACCIDENTS AND OVERDUE AIRCRAFT; INSPECTION OF RECORDS, FACILITIES AND EQUIPMENT

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

JANUARY 19, 1962.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board is proposing to issue a revised Part 320—Rules Pertaining to Aircraft Accidents, Inflight Hazards, Overdue Aircraft and Safety Investigations, of its safety investigation regulations and is proposing to incorporate into the revised part, present Part 321—Inspection of Records, Facilities and Equipment. The principal features of the proposed revised Part 320 are explained in the explanatory statement below, and the proposed revised part is set forth below.

The revised Part 320 is proposed under the authority of sections 202, 204(a), 407(e), 415, 701, 702, 703, 1004 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (72 Stat. 741, 743, 766, 770, 781, 782, 792; 49 U.S.C. 1322, 1324, 1377, 1385, 1441, 1442, 1443 and 1484); section 2 of Reorganization Plan No. 13, 64 Stat. 1266; 5 U.S.C. 133z–15).

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making through submission of three (3) copies of written data, views or arguments pertaining thereto addressed to the Docket Section, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D.C. All relevant matter in communications received on or before February 26, 1962 will be considered by the Board before taking final action on the proposed revised part. Upon receipt by the Board, copies of such communications will be available for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 711, Universal Building, 1825 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, D.C.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] HAROLD R. SANDERSON,
Secretary.

Explanatory statement. Part 320 (14 CFR Part 320) of the Board's Safety Investigation Regulations contains rules and regulations pertaining to the notification and reporting of aircraft accidents and overdue aircraft, and rules with respect to the preservation and release of aircraft wreckage and records.

The Board has reviewed this part in the light of experience gained during the past two years, and is of the view that a revision of the part is required in order to permit the more effective discharge of the Board's responsibilities under the Act to investigate aircraft accidents, determine their probable cause, initiate appropriate action to prevent the recurrence of similar accidents and develop an effective accident prevention program.

The Board proposes the following changes in Part 320 to accomplish the aforementioned objectives:

1. Amend the definition of "substantial damage" so as to exclude from the notification and reporting requirements of the Part any aircraft accident where it is reasonably estimated the cost to repair the damage resulting therefrom will be less than $300. Under the existing rules, an operator is required to report any aircraft accident in which it is reasonably estimated the cost of repair or replacement will be $100 or more. Since the adoption of this rule, repair costs for aircraft have substantially increased. Accordingly, the cost to repair even the most minor aircraft damage resulting from an accident, may well exceed the $100 criterion. In view of the foregoing, the Board is of the opinion that the $100 criterion is no longer realistic.

2. Require pilots or operators to notify the Board of certain specific inflight hazards that they may experience. Under the existing regulation, there is no requirement that such specific inflight hazards be reported except fire. The Board is of the view that such reported information will substantially increase the ability of the Board to discharge its responsibilities under Title VII, particularly in the development of an effective accident prevention program.

3. Incorporate into Part 320 the currently effective provisions of Part 321 (14 CFR Part 321) of the Board's safety investigation regulations. Part 321 contains the rules pertaining to the inspection of records, facilities and equipment by representatives of the Board in connection with their responsibilities and duties under Title VII of the Act.

Under this part such inspection of records, facilities and equipment may be in connection with a specific aircraft accident or occurrence; or in connection with a general investigation pertaining to safety in air navigation or the prevention of aircraft accidents. Since there is such a close relationship between the Board's rules pertaining to notifying, reporting, and investigating aircraft accidents, and its duties with respect to conducting special studies or investigations pertaining to safety in air navigation, the Board is of the view that such rules should be consolidated into one part. Moreover, such a consolidation of parts will allow all of the Board's safety investigation regulations to be contained in one document which should permit a better understanding of and added convenience to persons interested in such regulations.

4. Incorporate into Part 320 the authority of Director and Deputy Director of the Bureau of Safety and presiding and hearing officers of the Board in connection with aircraft accident investigations. Such authority was previously listed in PN–15, 26 F.R. 7231.

5. Finally, many changes of an editorial nature, and various clarifying changes have been made.

* The Board in PN-13, 23 F.R. 10492, effective December 31, 1958, requested the Administrator of the FAA to investigate aircraft accidents involving fixed-wing aircraft with a maximum take-off weight of 12,500 pounds or less except accidents involving aircraft operated by air carriers authorized by certificate of public convenience and necessity to engage in air transportation in the State of Alaska, and accidents in which fatal injuries have occurred to any occupants of such aircraft; and to submit a report to the Board concerning each such investigation.

FEDERAL AVIATION AGENCY

[14 CFR Part 601]

[Airspace Docket No. 61-KC-50]

CONTROLLED AIRSPACE

Proposed Alteration of Control Zone

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to § 601.2493 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The St. Charles, Ill., control zone is presently designated within a 3-mile radius of the DuPage County Airport from 0600 to 2200 hours local standard time daily. The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the alteration of the St. Charles control zone by enlarging the control zone to a 5-mile radius zone and designating an extension from the 5-mile radius zone to a VOR to be commissioned in April, 1962, near St. Charles (DuPage) at latitude 41°53'25" N., longitude 88°21'00" W. Designation of the control zone extension would provide protection for aircraft executing proposed prescribed instrument approach procedures based on the DuPage VOR. Expansion of the basic size of the control zone is required in preparation for the application of the provisions of Amendment 60-21 to the Civil Air Regulations, Part 60, Air Traffic Rules in the Chicago, Ill., terminal area, expected in the near future, which will result in the establishment of 1,200 foot floor transition area in a greater portion of this area. Thus, the increased radius zone will provide protection for departing aircraft climbing to the higher base of overlying controlled airspace.

If this action is taken, the St. Charles, Ill., control zone would be designated within a 5-mile radius of the DuPage County Airport (latitude 41°54'45" N., longitude 88°14'35" W.), and within 2 miles either side of the DuPage VOR 069° True radial extending from the 5-mile radius zone to the VOR, from 0600 to 2200 hours local standard time daily.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Central Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 4825 Troost Avenue, Kansas City 10, Mo. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 19, 1962.

CHARLES W. CARMODY,
Chief, Airspace Utilization Division.

[Docket No. RM-150-2]

STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Proposed Agreement for Assumption of Certain AEC Regulatory Authority

Notice is hereby given that the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission is publishing for public comment, prior to action thereon, a proposed agreement received from the Governor of the State of California for the assumption of certain of the Commission regulatory authority pursuant to section 274 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended.

A summary of the California program submitted to the Commission is set forth below as Appendix A to this notice. A copy of the complete text of the California program, including proposed California regulations, is available for public inspection in the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C., or may be obtained by writing to the Director, Office of Radiation Standards, United States Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C. ington 25, D.C., within 30 days after initial publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Exemptions from the Commission's regulatory authority which would implement this proposed agreement, as well as other agreements which may be entered into under section 274 of the Atomic Energy Act, as amended, were published as proposed Part 150 to the Commission's regulations in FEDERAL REGISTER issuances of Sept. 29, 1961; Oct. 6, 1961; Oct. 13, 1961; Oct. 20, 1961; 26 F.R. 9174, 9428, 9678, 9873. In reviewing this proposed agreement, interested persons should also consider the aforementioned proposed exemptions, which the Commission still has under consideration.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 9th day of January 1962.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

WOODFORD B. MCCOOL,
Secretary.

Agreement Proposed by the State of California Pursuant to Section 274 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, for the Assumption of Certain of the AEC's Regulatory Authority

Whereas, the United States Atomic Energy Commission (hereinafter referred to as the Commission) is authorized under section 274b. of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, to enter into an agreement with the Governor of any State providing for discontinuance of the regulatory authority of the Commission under Chapters 6, 7, and 8 and section 161 of that Act with respect to any or all of the following materials within the State; namely, byproduct materials, source materials, and special nuclear materials in quantities not sufficient to form a critical mass (hereinafter referred to as agreement materials); and

Whereas, the Governor of the State of California (hereinafter referred to as the State) is authorized under section 25830 of the California Health and Safety Code to enter into such an agreement, which agreement shall become effective when ratified by the State Legislature; and

Whereas, the Governor of the State has certified on December 15, 1961, that the State has a program for the control of radiation hazards adequate to protect the public health and safety with respect to agreement materials within the State, and that the State desires to assume the regulatory responsibility discontinued by the Commission for such materials; and

Whereas, the Commission has found on ---------- that the State program is compatible with the Commission's program for the regulation of agreement materials, and that the State program is adequate to protect the public health and safety with respect to such materials; and

Whereas, the Commission and the State recognize the desirability and importance of maintaining compatibility between their respective programs for the control of agreement materials with respect to public health and safety; and

Whereas, the Commission and the State agree that reciprocal recognition of licenses issued by the Commission and by all States which enter into agreements with the Commission similar to this agreement (hereinafter referred to as agreement States) is of great importance for the development of the uses of agreement materials and that such reciprocal recognition must be based upon continuing compatibility of the programs of the Commission and such States for the control of agreement materials;

Now, therefore, it is hereby agreed between the Commission and the Governor of the State, acting in behalf of the State, as follows:

Article I. For purposes of this agreement:

A. "Byproduct materials," "critical mass," and "ocean or sea" have the meanings given to such terms in Part 150 of the Commission's regulations in effect on the ratification date of this agreement.

B. "Source material," "special nuclear material," "production facility," and "utilization facility" have the meanings given to such terms in those parts of the Commission's regulations that are incorporated by reference in Part 150 and that are in effect on the ratification date.

C. "Ratification date" means the date on which the California Legislature transmits to the Governor for signature a bill ratifying this agreement.

Article II. Subject to the exceptions stated in Article III, the Commission shall discontinue, as of the effective date of this agreement, the regulatory authority of the Commission under Chapters 6, 7, and 8 and section 161 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, with respect to the following materials within the State:

A. Byproduct materials;

B. Source materials;

C. Special nuclear materials in quantities such that the amount authorized for possession at any one time under any one license is not sufficient to form a critical mass.

Article III. This agreement does not provide for discontinuance of any Commission responsibility and authority with respect to regulation of:

A. The construction and operation of any production or utilization facility;

B. The export from or import into the United States of byproduct, source, or special nuclear material, or of any production or utilization facility;

C. The disposal into the ocean or sea of byproduct, source, or special nuclear waste materials;

D. The disposal of such other byproduct, source, or special nuclear material as the Commission determines by regulation or order should, because of the hazards or potential hazards thereof, not be so disposed of without a license from the Commission.

Article IV. Notwithstanding this agreement, the Commission is authorized:

A. By rule, regulation, or order to require that the manufacturer, processor, or producer of any equipment, device, commodity, or other product containing source, byproduct, or special nuclear material shall not transfer possession or control of such product except pursuant to a license issued by the Commission; and

B. To issue rules, regulations, or orders under subsection 161 b. or i. of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, to protect the common defense and security, to protect restricted data, or to guard against the loss or diversion of special nuclear material.

Article V. Each party to this agreement will:

A. Use its best efforts to maintain compatibility between its program for the control of agreement materials and the programs of the other party and of other agreement States. To this end, each party will consult with the other and with all agreement States prior to any modification of its regulations for the control of agreement materials and will seek to arrive at a common solution of differences, to be incorporated insofar as practicable into the regulations of both parties and all agreement States concurrently.

B. Provide for reciprocal recognition of licenses for agreement materials issued by the other party or by any agreement State, subject to such conditions as to duration of such recognition of each license, reporting of information, and compliance with regulations as are deemed necessary to protect the health and safety of the public. Such recognition is conditioned upon the continuance of program compatibility in accordance with paragraph A of this article.

Article VI. This agreement, upon acceptance by the Commission and the Governor of the State and ratification by law of the State, shall become effective on July 1, 1962.

Article VII. The Commission, upon its own initiative, after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the State, or upon request of the Governor of the State, may terminate or suspend this agreement and reassert the licensing and regulatory authority vested in it under the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, if the Commission finds that such termination or suspension is required to protect the public health and safety.

APPENDIX A

Summary of California's Proposed Policies and Procedures for the Licensing and Regulation of Byproduct, Source, and Special Nuclear Materials

State policy and courses of action with respect to atomic energy development and radiation protection have been the subject of California legislative consideration for a number of years. Public hearings by the Assembly Interim Committee on Public Health in 1958 led to the enactment of the Atomic Energy Development and Radiation Protection Law in 1959, which:

1. Declared it to be State policy to "encourage the constructive development of industries producing or utilizing atomic energy and radiation and to eliminate unnecessary exposure of the public to ionizing radiation."

2. Established the position of Coordinator of Atomic Energy Development and Radiation Protection in the Governor's Office.

3. Directed the Department of Public Health to institute a program for the registration of sources of radiation.

The Congress, also in 1959, amended the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 to permit for the first time a transfer of certain regulatory authority from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission to qualified states in accordance with negotiated agreements.

In implementation of the State statute and with a view toward appraising the desirability or necessity for a broad system of radiation control, including assumption of authority from the AEC, the registration program was so designed as to obtain a maximum of information regarding radiation use in California. The Assembly Interim Committee on Public Health, following public hearings on these subjects in 1960, concluded that a comprehensive program of radiation control should be instituted promptly and that the state should prepare to enter into agreement with the Atomic Energy Commission, subject to approval of such an agreement by the Legislature. The Coordinator of Atomic Energy Development and Radiation Protection, after consultation with the Advisory Council and the Departmental Coordinating Committee of his Office, and with representatives of industry and the professional groups that use atomic energy and radiation, made a similar recommendation in his annual report to the Governor and the Legislature in January 1961.

As a result of these recommendations, Assembly Bill 1975 was introduced in the 1961 session of the Legislature, providing the framework for such a program, including enabling provisions to permit the Governor to enter into agreement with the Atomic Energy Commission. The bill was derived in large measure from suggested legislation of the Council of State Governments. It was widely circulated and critically reviewed by a number of interested and affected persons and groups, and was revised to take into account appropriate comments. After extensive consideration by Committees of the Legislature, including several public hearings at which all interested parties were afforded opportunity to be heard, the measure was enacted as the Radiation Control Law (Chapter 1711, Laws of 1961).

The statute directed the State Department of Public Health to adopt regulations for effectuating the purposes of this legislation. In drafting regulations, the Department was guided by the statutory provision for compatibility with the standards and regulatory programs of the Federal government, an integrated effective system of regulation within the State, and a system consonant insofar as possible with those of other states. The regulations were drawn largely from models developed jointly by the Atomic Energy Commission, the U.S. Public Health Service, and the Council of State Governments; and from recommendations of the National Committee on Radiation Protection and Measurement.

Assistance in drafting the regulations was obtained from a number of individuals, agencies, and groups, including the Atomic Energy Commission, the U.S. Public Health Service, the California Coordinator of Atomic Energy Development and Radiation Protection, several California state and local agencies, and a distinguished twelve-member Advisory Committee. This Advisory Committee included representation from industry, labor, medicine, dentistry, medical physics, and local health departments.

Two public meetings were held under the auspices of the Department of Public Health to permit interested persons to present their views on the proposed regulations. These meetings were publicized in advance through regular news media. In addition, notices of the meetings, together with copies of the proposed regulations, were sent to some 500 persons and groups known to be concerned. Such notices were mailed to all persons who had previously requested notifications of this sort; known leaders of affected groups; leading industries, distributors, manufacturers, and insurance carriers; leading universities and colleges; major hospitals; the California Manufacturers' Association; the California Medical Association; and others.

The first such meeting was held in Los Angeles on October 17, 1961, and 56 persons attended. The second meeting was held in Berkeley on October 20, with 64 persons in attendance. Each meeting lasted more than five hours and the proposed regulations were considered in detail. The notice announcing the meetings stated that written comments would also be welcomed. This was reiterated to those in attendance at the meetings. A number of written comments were received and given full consideration.

Following the public meetings, the Advisory Committee met to consider suggestions made at the meetings and in correspondence. This led to a final redrafting of the regulations. Copies were sent to all persons and groups that had received the initial draft.

In accordance with section 25734 of the Health and Safety Code, this final draft was submitted for review by the Coordinator of Atomic Energy Development and Radiation Protection and was approved for public notice of a hearing to be held before the State Board of Public Health. Such notice was published thirty days in advance of the hearing date in accordance with section 11423 of the Government Code, and notice of the hearing was also mailed to all persons and groups to whom copies of the proposed regulations had been sent. At the hearing on December 8, 1961, full opportunity was given to all interested persons to be heard before action was taken. The Board adopted the regulations and they constitute Title 17, Chapter 5, Subchapter 4, sections 30100 to 30397, inclusive, of the Administrative Code of California.

SECTION 1. The Radiation Control Program. The radiation control program of the State is designed to regulate all sources of radiation other than those for which regulatory responsibility is to be retained by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. As the term "radiation sources" is used hereinafter in this narrative, it is intended to mean those sources under the control of the State. The sources are divided into two major categories; radioactive materials and radiation machines. Radioactive materials are to be regulated under a licensing program similar to the existing program of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, requiring possession of a license prior to acquisition or use of such materials. Radiation machines and certain generally licensed radioactive materials will be subject to a registration program involving the reporting of information by the registrant and the right of inspection by the State for compliance with prescribed safety standards. Each of these two major segments of the program is to be supported by a schedule of fees which relates to that specific part of the program. The agency charged with the responsibility of promulgating regulations and issuing licenses is the State Department of Public Health. A portion of the inspection and enforcement activities will be delegated by specific agreement to the Division of Industrial Safety of the State Department of Industrial Relations and may be delegated to local health agencies of cities and counties as the latter develop and demonstrate competence.

The regulations adopted by the State Department of Public Health will be controlling in this program throughout the State. As agreements for the delegation of responsibility for inspection and enforcement by other agencies are developed, it is planned to insure that no duplication or overlapping or jurisdiction occurs.

SEC. 2. Licensing. Provision is made for the issuance of both specific and general licenses comparable to those issued by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. Such licenses are required for the possession of radioactive materials above exempt amounts or concentrations, regardless of the mode of formation of such materials.

The responsibility for licensing of radioactive materials has been assigned by statute to the State Department of Public Health. The statute requires that Department to enter into agreement with the Division of Industrial Safety of the Department of Industrial Relations for the performance of certain inspection and enforcement activities. When such an agreement is concluded, it will allocate to that Division, among other duties, the responsibility for technical evaluations of license applications relating to industrial uses in general, prior to issuance of such licenses by the Department of Public Health. The Department of Public Health will itself conduct such technical evaluations with respect to other uses. As authorized by the Statute, the Department of Public Health plans to enter into agreement with such local health agencies as demonstrate adequate competence, authorizing them to conduct technical evaluations of license applications.

It is planned to make pre-licensing inspection a part of the evaluation procedure in general. In connection with licensing procedures, provision is made to give opportunity for all interested persons to be heard. With respect to human use of radioactive materials, the Department of Public Health will appoint a committee of not less than three qualified physicians to review license applications and make recommendations thereon. The Department will also have on its staff one or more physicians with special competence in radiological health who will review the recommendations of this committee.

SEC. 3. Inspection. Inspection for compliance with regulations and with license conditions will be carried on by the Department of Public Health, the Division of Industrial Safety, and any local health agencies with which agreements have been made as described in section 2—Licensing. Each license will be assigned to a single agency for such purposes.

Based upon the existing number and kind of the specific licenses, a priority system will be established under which inspection of the most hazardous activities will be conducted at least once each six months, and the remainder on a less frequent basis, depending upon the relative hasard. Initial priorities will be established on the basis of the pre-licensing evaluation and may be modified in accordance with subsequent inspections. It is expected that all licensed activities will be inspected at least once in two years.

Most inspections will be scheduled visits; a significant number may be on an unannounced basis. Inspection visits will usually entail a comprehensive review by the inspector of the licensee's equipment, facilities, in the handling or storage of radioactive material, the procedures in effect, including actual operation, and interviewing the personnel directly involved. The inspector will review the licensee's survey methods and results, personnel monitoring practices and results, the posting and labeling used, the instructions to personnel, and the methods and apparent effectiveness of maintaining control of people in the restricted area. He will review the licensee's records of receipts, transfers, and inventory of licensed material. He may physically check the inventory. He will examine records concerning disposal to the sewerage system and burial in the soil, if pertinent. He may make measurements of radiation levels. Prior to leaving the licensee's premises, he will meet with management to discuss the results of his inspection. During this meeting, he will attempt to answer questions concerning the regulatory program.

The inspector will prepare a report in sufficient detail to inform his supervisor of the facts and circumstances observed during the inspection. These reports will provide the basis for any necessary enforcement action. Appropriate elements of this information will be filed in the various agencies as needed. The Department of Public Health will review the operation of this system to insure that timely and adequate inspections are performed and that appropriate actions are taken.

In addition, there will be investigations of incidents and complaints involving licensed materials and operations to determine the cause, the steps taken by the licensee to cope with the incident, whether or not there was noncompliance with a regulation, and the steps the licensee is taking to avoid recurrence of the incident.

Licensees will be informed of the results of all inspections, first orally at the time of the inspection, and by letter or notice from the inspecting agency.

SEC. 4. Enforcement. Reports of inspections of licensees' activities will be evaluated by the inspecting agency to determine the status of compliance of the licensees with license conditions and regulations. If no item of noncompliance is observed, the licensee is so informed. If only minor matters of noncompliance, such as improper signs, failure to label, etc., are involved, which, at the time of the inspection, the licensee agrees to correct, the licensee will be informed in writing of the items of noncompliance and that corrective action will be reviewed during the next inspection. If the inspection reveals a noncompliance of a more serious nature, the licensee will be required to inform the inspecting agency in writing, usually within 15 to 30 days, as to corrective action taken and the date completed. In these cases, the inspecting agency representative will either conduct a prompt follow-up inspection or the matter will be reviewed during a regular inspection to insure that corrective action has, in fact, been accomplished. If the reply does not satisfactorily explain the noncompliance and assure that further violations will be prevented, the inspecting agency will take such administrative actions as are available to them.

It is expected that most of the enforcement functions will be administratively consummated by the inspecting agency. In cases where this is not successful, the inspecting agency will refer the matter to the State Department of Public Health, which may issue an order to show cause why the license should not be modified or terminated. In that event, there is provision for formal hearing in accordance with the California Administrative Procedures Act, and for judicial review of the final order resulting from such hearing. There is also provision for emergency action without notice or hearing, but such emergency action is subject to a prompt hearing upon request of the licensee. Among the enforcement procedures available to the State Department of Public Health are modification, suspension, or revocation of licenses, injunctive relief, and criminal sanctions afforded in the courts.

SEC. 5. Participation by other agencies. The statute provides for participation in the radiation control program by the State Division of Industrial Safety and by local health agencies in accordance with agreements that may be made between such agencies and the State Department of Public Health, subject to review by the Coordinator of Atomic Energy Development and Radiation Protection. Such agreements will permit the technical evaluation of license applications, the conducting of inspections for compliance with licenses and regulations, and such enforcement activities as may be administratively consummated within the agency. When further enforcement proceedings are required, involving formal hearings upon the suspension or revocation of licenses, such hearings will be conducted by the State Department of Public Health. Participating agencies will be required to maintain equivalent standards to those maintained by the State Department of Public Health with respect to educational and experience requirements of technical personnel engaged in the program, numbers of personnel in proportion to numbers of assigned licenses, adequacy of kinds and amounts of equipment and facilities, and procedures followed in inspection and enforcement. Inspecting agencies will be required to insure compliance by licensees with the license conditions and with the rules and regulations promulgated under the Radiation Control Law.

The statute permits the existence of local ordinances and regulations that are consistent with State Law and regulations. It provides that only the State shall assess a fee and that the proceeds from such fees shall be equitably distributed between the participating agencies. These provisions will be incorporated in agreements for the participation of such agencies in the program.

SEC. 6. Organization and Personnel. The radiation control program will be established in the Bureau of Radiological Health, an existing organizational unit of the State Department of Public Health. Technical positions in the existing program of this bureau are listed below. Personnel will be utilized in the control program to the degree required.

Acting Chief.
Senior Health Physicist.
Senior Engineer.
4 Associate Health Physicists—One position unfilled.
Associate Statistician.
2 Consultant Physicians—One position unfilled.
Consultant Engineer.

Upon consummation of an agreement with the AEC, the following additional personnel will be employed, as available, to perform license evaluations and to provide supervision over the inspection program:

1 Supervising Health Physicist.
2 Senior Health Physicists.
1 Associate Health Physicist.

The Department expects to maintain as inspectors qualified personnel trained in health physics in the approximate ratio of one for each 175 licenses. During the initial phases, the equivalent number of man-years is planned to be devoted to these purposes by the existing staff. This ratio of inspectors to licenses will also apply to other agencies having inspectional responsibilities.

The educational and experience requirements for the position categories directly related to the licensing program are as follows:

Supervising Health Physicist: Bachelor's degree in physical or life sciences, including or supplemented by courses in health physics or radiation biology. Seven years of responsible professional experience in health physics or a closely related field, at least three years of which must have included principal responsibility for a major program of radiological health.

Senior Health Physicist: Graduation from college with major work in the applied or life sciences and including or supplemented by at least four courses in nuclear or health physics or radiation biology. Five years of responsible professional experience in health physics or a closely related field, at least two years of which must have included responsibility for a major program in radiological health. (Master's degree or equivalent academic work in health physics or closely related fields may be substitutes for two years of experience; one year of Atomic Energy Commission fellowship training may be substituted for one year of experience.) As an alternate to these requirements, two years of experience as an Associate Health Physicist in the California State service will be acceptable.

Associate Health Physicist: Equivalent of college graduation with major work in physical or life sciences, including or supplemented by at least two courses in nuclear or health physics or radiation biology. Three years of responsible professional experience (excluding routine radiation monitoring and surveys) in health physics or closely related fields. (One year of full time graduate work in health physics or closely related fields, or completion of one-year Atomic Energy Commission health physics fellowship may be substituted for one year of required experience.)

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 13351 etc.; Order E-17945]

AMERICAN AIRLINES, INC., ET AL.

Reduced Westbound Freight Rates; Order of Investigation and Suspension

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 23d day of January 1962.

In the matter of reduced westbound freight rates proposed by American Airlines, Inc., Trans World Airlines, Inc., United Air Lines, Inc.; Dockets 13351, 13330 and 13332.

By tariff revisions marked to become effective January 25, 1962, Trans World Airlines, Inc. (TWA), proposes significant reductions in its rates for group 567, containing numerous commodities, covering westbound movements from Boston, New York, and Philadelphia to Los Angeles and San Francisco, and from Chicago to San Francisco. Reductions are to be effected at weight breaks from 1,000 to 5,000 pounds, and a new rate at 10,000 pounds is to be introduced. American Airlines, Inc. (American), has filed identical rates to be effective on the same date for defensive purposes, and United Air Lines, Inc. (United), has filed such rates with effectiveness on January 27, 1962. TWA's proposals are identical in the foregoing markets to those filed for effectiveness November 17, 1961, and suspended by the Board in Order E-17736, of November 16, 1961;[1] the suspended rates were canceled pursuant to Special Tariff Permission, C.A.B. 15160, dated November 17, 1961. TWA asserts that its refiling of the suspended rates has the purpose of establishing the same volume spreads as those recently approved by the Board for eastbound application; that the proposed volume spreads are not as large as those in effect prior to October 1961; that the proposed spreads are the minimum required to retain large volume shipments for air transportation, because the current lower spreads threaten to cause diversion to surface carriage; that 35 to 40 percent of TWA's domestic freight business consists of shipments using such spreads and such shipments can be handled at substantial economies; that the proposals would be equal to current eastbound rates at higher rate breaks just as the current rates are equal in both directions at 100 pounds; and that there is no marked directional imbalance justifying higher rates westbound for large shipments.

[1] The rates proposed from Chicago to San Francisco were below those which had been suspended. However, by revisions to be effective Feb. 11, 1962, the proposed rates were increased to the level of the suspended matter.

American and The Flying Tiger Line Inc. (Tiger), have filed complaints requesting investigation and suspension. In summary, American requests the Board to suspend the proposed rates for the same reasons for which they were suspended previously, viz.: that the suspended proposals were on a low level, and had undercut competition without adequate justification. American also alleges that eastbound rates are normally significantly lower than westbound rates, and that TWA has not presented any facts justifying reduction of westbound rates for the commodities herein involved; that TWA does not claim that the reduced rates would be compensatory but makes only an unsupported statement that the present volume spreads threaten to cause diversion to surface carriage; that rates on such commodities at higher rate breaks have already been reduced by 25 percent since September 1961 in the transcontinental markets; and that large volumes of these commodities moved by air before such reductions are now continuing to move at current rates, and that there is no sound reason for believing that any significant diversion will occur at present rates. Tiger claims that the proposed rates are lower than those in effect for competitive carriers; that TWA does not present data justifying the proposed volume spreads on the basis of costs; and that they are not compensatory to TWA, based upon costs of operating the carrier's L-1049 aircraft.

Upon consideration of matters of record, the Board finds that the rates proposed by TWA may be unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, and should be investigated. TWA's proposals are on a low level for westbound movements, averaging 12.5 cents per ton-mile at the 1,000 pound weight break and 10.9 cents at 10,000 pounds. The rates filed would effect reductions and be lower than the rates in effect for competing carriers, by an average of approximately 2.9 percent for 1,000 pound shipments to 9.8 percent at 10,000 pounds.

Eastbound rates have traditionally been on a relatively low level because they have been based on the added costs of handling return hauls opposite to the direction of the predominant traffic flow. TWA has not presented data to show that an alleged lack of imbalance for large shipments has reduced the cost of handling such shipments westbound to the level of added costs of eastbound movements. With respect to volume spreads, it is the Board's opinion that rates that are prima facie low cannot be justified solely by applying spreads which may be supported by costs and/or which are currently in effect in the reverse direction or on other commodities or in other periods to current rates for 100 pound shipments. TWA has not submitted data showing that the large volumes of traffic allegedly threatened by diversion to surface transportation have permitted attainment of costs warranting the low rates proposed.

Because of the dilution of carrier revenues which might result from the application of the proposed rates, the Board has further concluded to suspend these portions of the tariff revisions and defer their use pending investigation.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 and particularly sections 204(a) and 1002 thereof: It is ordered, That:

1. An investigation is instituted to determine whether the rates and provisions described in Appendix A hereto[2] are or will be unjust or unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful, and, if found to be unlawful, to determine and prescribe lawful rates and provisions.

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the rates and provisions described in Appendix A hereto[2] are suspended and their use deferred to and including April 24, 1962, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission by the Board.

3. The complaints in Dockets 13330 and 13332 are consolidated herein.

4. The proceeding ordered herein be assigned for hearing before an examiner of the Board at a time and place hereafter to be designated.

5. Copies of this order shall be filed with the tariff and shall be served upon American Airlines, Inc., The Flying Tiger Line, Inc., Trans World Airlines, Inc., and United Air Lines, Inc., which are hereby made parties to this proceeding.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

FEDERAL AVIATION AGENCY

[OE Docket No. 61-CE-70]

PROPOSED TELEVISION ANTENNA STRUCTURES

Determination of No Hazard to Air Navigation

The Federal Aviation Agency has circularized the following proposal to interested persons for aeronautical comment and has conducted a study to determine its effect upon the safe and efficient utilization of airspace: Midwest Radio-Television, Inc. (WCCO-TV); Twin State Broadcasting, Inc. (WTCN-TV); United Television, Inc. (KMSP-TV); all of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and KSTP, Inc. (KSTP-TV), St. Paul, Minnesota, jointly propose to construct two television antenna structures near St. Paul, Minnesota. Site No. 1 is at latitude 45°03'46" north, longitude 93°08'23" west and the overall height of the proposed structure would be 2,649 feet above mean sea level (1,649 feet above ground). Site No. 2 is at latitude 45°03'34" north, longitude 93°07'20" west and the overall height of the proposed structure would be 2,649 feet above mean sea level (1,749 feet above ground). The two proposed structures would be approximately 0.8 mile apart.

This joint proposal was originally circularized specifying overall heights of 2,650 feet MSL (1,650 and 1,750 feet above ground at sites Nos. 1 and 2, respectively). However, at the FAA Kansas City Informal Airspace Meeting, the sponsors agreed to reduce the overall height of the proposed structures to 2,649 feet MSL as shown in the proposal.

Objections were received in response to the circularization from the following: Minneapolis-St. Paul Metropolitan Airports Commission; Chief Pilot, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company; National Business Aircraft Association; Minnesota Business Aircraft Association; Aviation Department Manager, Northwestern Refining Company; Pilot, Archer-Daniels-Midland Company, and a conditional objection from the Department of the Air Force which advised that its objection would be resolved if this Agency found that aeronautical operations would not be adversely affected. In summary, these objectors concluded that the proposed structures would:

1. Violate criteria.
2. Be in the hub of several secondary airports.
3. Be a serious hazard to Visual Flight Rule operations.
4. Slow up Instrument Flight Rules approaches.
5. Be difficult to see.
6. Interfere with the traffic pattern of Anoka County Airport.
7. Raise Minimum En Route Altitudes on several airways and cause the loss of cardinal altitudes.
8. Affect departure procedures from the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

As a result of the circularization of this proposal, comments of no objection and tacit approval were received from the Air Transport Association of America and the Department of the Navy on the basis that this proposal was the best compromise solution to the problem. The Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association commented that this proposal is based upon compromises which may warrant AOPA approval after thorough discussion of the matter.

At the FAA Kansas City Informal Airspace Meeting, objections were made by the Minneapolis-St. Paul Metropolitan Airports Commission and the Minnesota Department of Aeronautics based upon the conclusions of the objectors that towers above 1,000 feet would be a serious hazard to general aviation, should not be constructed unless an improved marking system is used and might possibly interfere with the proposed improvement of Anoka County Airport. No other objections were made.

It is significant to note that the single structure multiple antenna concept and the collocation of the proposed structures embodied in this proposal are consistent with this Agency's policy expressed in § 626.75(b) of Part 626, Regulations of the Administrator. Although this is not a proposal for the establishment of an antenna farm area, the number of broadcast antennas, the area selected and the location relationship of the proposed structures as represented in this proposal appear to coincide with elements which could be taken into consideration for the establishment of an antenna farm area in the future. The complexities of the existing aeronautical operations and procedures in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area tend to preclude the selection of any area where the proposed structures would have no adverse effect upon aeronautical operations and would also meet the broadcast requirements of the four sponsors. Therefore, some degree of adverse influence upon aeronautical operations by any such structures anywhere in this general vicinity would be unavoidable. This joint proposal reflects the exemplary cooperative efforts of the four commercial television broadcast interests in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area and the mutual cooperation and understanding of both the aeronautical and the broadcast interests for their own and their reciprocal requirements with apparent compromise on the part of both interests. In view of the foregoing, the Agency study evaluated the effects and possible adjustments of aeronautical operations, procedures and minimum flight altitudes to determine whether or not the proposed structures might be accommodated within the existing aeronautical environment for the satisfactory fulfillment of both aeronautical and broadcast requirements in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

The proposed structures would be located approximately 12.7 miles north northeast of the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport and would have the following effects upon aeronautical operations, procedures and minimum flight altitudes:

A. The proposed structures would require an increase in IFR minimum en route altitudes as follows:

1. From 2,500 feet MSL to 3,600 feet MSL on VOR Federal Airway No. 78 between the Minneapolis VORTAC and the White Bear VOR and LF intersections.

2. From 2,500 feet MSL to 3,600 feet MSL on Victor 2 North between the Minneapolis VORTAC and the Elma intersection. The Minimum Obstruction Clearance Altitude would also be increased accordingly.

3. From 2,600 feet MSL to 3,600 feet MSL on Victor 2 between the Minneapolis VORTAC and the St. Paul intersection.

4. From 2,500 feet MSL to 2,600 feet MSL on Victor 82 between the Minneapolis VORTAC and the Farmington VOR.

5. From 3,200 feet MSL to 3,600 feet MSL on the direct off-airway route between the Minneapolis VORTAC and the Wausau, Wisconsin, VOR.

6. From 3,200 feet MSL to 3,600 feet MSL on the direct off-airway route between the Minneapolis VORTAC and the Wausau radio beacon.

7. From 2,500 feet MSL to 3,000 feet MSL on Victor 13 between the Farmington VOR and the St. Paul intersection.

8. From 2,500 feet MSL to 3,100 feet MSL on Victor 13 between the St. Paul intersection and the Grantsburg, Minnesota, VOR. (Note: This increase from 2,500 to 3,100 vs. 3,000 was determined subsequent to the FAA Kansas City Informal Airspace Meeting. However, following determination, it was discussed with interested persons and no objection was made.)

All of the increases stated above are confined to a relatively small area in the vicinity of Minneapolis-St. Paul; all are relatively low altitudes; and in accordance with the air traffic control procedures in effect in this area, these altitudes are not generally used by IFR operations. The Agency study disclosed that if the proposed structures are erected, the increases stated above could and would be effected, in order to provide appropriate vertical obstruction clearance, without resulting in inefficient utilization of airspace; and further, the air traffic procedures in this area could and would be modified with no substantial adverse effect upon aeronautical operations and procedures.

B. The proposed structures would derogate the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport departure procedure 031d as currently depicted on the Minneapolis arrival/departure chart. However, the study further disclosed that if the proposed structures are erected, a minor modification to the procedure could and would be effected with no substantial adverse effect upon this procedure.

C. With reference to VFR aeronautical operations, no unshielded tall structure can be erected without some apparent adverse influence upon VFR operations. The Agency study disclosed that the proposed structures would not have a substantial adverse effect upon VFR operations.

No other aeronautical operations, procedures or minimum flight altitudes would be affected by the proposed structures.

Therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 626.33; 26 F.R. 5292), it is concluded that the proposed structures at the locations and mean sea level elevations specified herein, would, upon implementation of the above modifications, have no substantial adverse effect upon aeronautical operations, procedures or minimum flight altitudes; and it is hereby determined that neither of these structures would be a hazard to air navigation provided that each structure be obstruction marked and lighted in accordance with applicable Federal Communications Commission rules.

This determination is effective as of the date of issuance and will become final 30 days thereafter, provided that no appeal herefrom under § 626.34 (26 F.R. 5292) is granted. Unless otherwise revised or terminated a final determination hereunder will expire 18 months after its effective date or upon earlier abandonment of the construction proposal (§ 626.35; 26 F.R. 5292).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 17, 1962.

JOSEPH VIVARI,
Acting Chief,
Obstruction Evaluation Branch.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket Nos. G-20509, RP60-15]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Order Omitting Intermediate Decision Procedure and Fixing Date for Oral Argument

JANUARY 19, 1962.

On December 4, 1961, Southern Natural Gas Company (Southern) filed a motion for waiver and omission of intermediate decision procedure in these consolidated proceedings. Southern requests that the time limitations upon filing such motion imposed by § 1.30 (c)(3), under the circumstances of these proceedings, be waived. Southern also requests the opportunity to present oral argument before the Commission and reserved its right to apply to the Commission for rehearing and to petition for judicial review of the Commission's decision or order.

The proceedings in the above dockets relate to proposed increases in rates and charges tendered for filing by Southern which, after suspension by Commission order, became effective subject to refund on June 1, 1960 (G-20509), and on August 13, 1960 (TP60-15). Hearings were commenced in Docket No. G-20509 on January 26, 1960, and by order issued herein on July 8, 1960, we determined the allowable rate of return on Southern's pipeline properties, subject to final disposition of the related issues as to accumulated deferred taxes and tax benefits for statutory depletion and intangible well drilling expenses. Final determination of the rate of return to be allowed on Southern's production properties was reserved for further proceedings as were all remaining issues not therein decided.

Following consolidation of these two proceedings further hearings were held on all remaining issues and were concluded on July 20, 1961. Briefing of the remaining issues were completed on December 11, 1961, and the cases are ready for decision.

The aforementioned motion has been filed due to the untimely death of the Presiding Examiner who presided throughout the hearings in these proceedings. Southern also states that assignment of a new Examiner, unfamiliar with the evidence and issues here involved would entail substantial delay in final decision and would be detrimental to the public interest.

Answers in support of Southern's motion and requesting oral argument have been filed by Alabama Gas Corporation, Alabama Public Service Commission, Atlanta Gas Light Company, Mississippi Valley Gas Company, South Carolina Natural Gas Company and Georgia Kraft Company. No objections thereto have been filed.

The Commission finds:

(1) Due and timely execution of our functions requires that the intermediate decision procedure be omitted.

Notice of Recommended Decision and Opportunity To File Written Exceptions on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreements and Orders

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders [(7 CFR Part 900) (7 CFR Chapter X note)] notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision with respect to proposed amendments to the respective tentative marketing agreements and orders regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Boston, New York-New Jersey, Philadelphia, Southeastern New England, Springfield, Upper Chesapeake Bay, Washington, D.C., Worcester, Wilmington, and Connecticut marketing areas. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C., not later than close of business the 20th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The exceptions should be filed in six copies.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the proposed amendments, as hereinafter set forth, to the said tentative marketing agreements and to the orders were formulated, was conducted at New York City during the periods June 19–30 and July 10–August 2, 1961, pursuant to notice thereof issued June 2, 1961 (26 F.R. 5075).

The hearing, which lasted 28 days and consisted of over 5200 pages of testimony accompanied by 110 exhibits, was concerned primarily with the problem of establishing appropriate prices for reserve milk in the ten Federally-regulated fluid milk markets in the Northeastern section of the United States. From this general problem three central issues arose.

The first issue related to the propriety of the existing relationship between reserve milk prices in the Northeastern Federally-regulated markets and prices paid dairy farmers for milk of manufacturing grade at Midwestern plants. This was the dominant issue at the hearing, with a variety of price formula proposals presented for establishing appropriate price relationships.

The several proposals offered, and the testimony presented in support thereof, ranged from suggestions to lower the Class III milk price under Order No. 2[1] for the New York-New Jersey market, including the reinstatement of the butter-cheese differential at four cents per pound of butterfat during all months of the year, and to reduce Class II milk prices in the five New England Federal order markets, to proposed increases in the prices of such respective classes and in the comparable classes of the other Northeastern markets up to at least the level of the prices paid dairy farmers for manufacturing grade milk in the Midwest as reflected by the "Minnesota-Wisconsin Manufacturing Grade Milk-Price Series" (compiled by the Agricultural Estimates Division, U.S.D.A.). The focal point of the controversy involved in this issue was a proposal to use such Minnesota-Wisconsin price series as the basis for Class III milk prices under Order No. 2.

It was the general position of Midwestern representatives of processors, cooperatives and others, including representatives of the States of Minnesota and Wisconsin, testifying at the hearing, that prices resulting from the present Class III price formula in Order No. 2 are too low in relation to prices paid farmers for manufacturing grade milk at Minnesota and Wisconsin plants, producing competitive disadvantage to Midwestern processors in the sale of the "hard" products of milk, such as butter, nonfat dry milk and cheddar cheese, in Eastern seaboard markets.

Such representatives contended further that the profitability to New York-New Jersey market processors of manufacturing products in Class III milk tends to depress the manufactured products market generally by adding to the national surplus, to the detriment of all farmers producing for this market. An appeal was made that the Federal Government should revise price levels in the Northeastern markets, particularly in the New York-New Jersey market, to insure a pricing policy for milk over and above fluid requirements more consistent with the price aims of the national dairy price support program and to provide equitable pricing to Midwestern dairy farmers.

Although not adhering to any specific price formula to attain these ends, Midwestern representatives proposed rather that the Northeastern markets' minimum prices for surplus milk "be fixed at the highest level that a handler with reasonably efficient operations could afford to pay for such milk, who processes said milk into so-called hard products, so that such handler would not have a competitive advantage in the marketing of such hard products in the domestic market." They recommended, in this connection, careful consideration of the Minnesota-Wisconsin pay price series to obtain the desired result.

Three of the four major producer cooperative groups in the New York-New Jersey market and representatives of handlers of milk in that market strongly opposed the use of such series for pricing Class III milk in the New York-New Jersey market. In support of their general position they testified that the series is based on dairy farmer pay prices in an area approximately 1,000 miles from the New York-New Jersey milkshed where the seasonality of production, ratio of supply to demand, and other competitive factors differ substantially from conditions in the New York-New Jersey milkshed. They seriously questioned the use of a price series which, at the time of the hearing, had not yet been established statistically and under which no experience had been gained to test its effects on price levels under Order No. 2. They maintained that the pricing of over $200 million worth of surplus milk per year in Northeastern markets, where a one-cent change in the price can amount to $60,000 per month in milk value, is too important a matter for reliance upon an untested price series.

The second issue involved the relative levels of reserve milk (manufacturing class) prices in the ten Northeastern fluid milk markets, particularly in respect of problems of competition among processors in the sale of such products as cream, ice cream, ice cream mix, and condensed skim milk in these markets and adjacent areas. Although there were differences in the methods proposed for bringing about price alignment, all witnesses except one, who testified in regard to this issue, supported close alignment of the manufacturing class prices in the ten orders.

There also was testimony by several New York-New Jersey market handler representatives to the effect that extreme emergency conditions existed in the New York-New Jersey milkshed while the hearing was in progress and that immediate action should be taken to suspend the seasonal factors in the Class III formula of Order No. 2 for the fall months of 1961. A representative of several New England producer cooperative associations testified that the seasonal factors in the Class II price formula of the respective New England orders should be suspended, if necessary, to a level which would provide uniformity of surplus prices on a month-to-month basis as between New England and the New York-New Jersey markets during the remainder of 1961. The suspension proposals on which this testimony was offered were denied by determination issued August 11, 1961, and no further findings are necessary on this matter.

The third main issue was concerned with the proposition that at certain times more milk will be produced than handlers operating under the classified pricing system will be willing to accept at the specified minimum class prices in an order. Certain cooperative associations in the New York-New Jersey market, supporting this view, submitted a proposed plan to handle such "excess surplus" milk through a cooperative marketing agency and to price this milk under the orders on the basis of the return for the products of the milk as disposed of under the Federal dairy products price support program, less the expenses of handling and processing. The plan developed considerable opposition from New York-New Jersey handlers and New England-based cooperatives.

More briefly described, the material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

(1) The establishment of pricing provisions for Class III milk under the New York-New Jersey order and for Class II milk under, respectively, the Greater Boston, Massachusetts; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Southeastern New England; Springfield, Massachusetts; Upper Chesapeake Bay; Washington, D.C.; Worcester, Massachusetts; Wilmington, Delaware, and Connecticut orders which are appropriately related: (a) to the value of milk in the Midwest for manufacturing uses and (b) to each other (discussed below as Issues Nos. 1 and 2); This involves consideration of the type and kind of formula or formulas to be used under the respective orders, including the continued applicability of the butter-cheese adjustment presently contained in the New York-New Jersey order;

(2) Provision for the separate and flexible pricing of "excess" surplus milk marketed by or for the account of an incorporated cooperative marketing agency under the Federal government's price support program for dairy products (discussed below as Issue No. 3).

The hearing was called following the submission of amendment proposals applicable to the ten orders by the principal cooperative associations of producers in the several New England, the New York-New Jersey, and the Philadelphia and Wilmington markets, and by certain cooperatives operating in the states of Wisconsin and Minnesota. Certain handlers individually, and the principal handler associations, in the New York-New Jersey market and certain processors of milk produced in Wisconsin and Kansas also submitted amendment proposals affecting one or more of the subject orders.

The proposals submitted, and the testimony presented by proponents and others in support thereof, were directed to the following types of pricing formulas for the respective reserve classes of milk under such orders:

(1) A formula (of the general type in current use in the New York-New Jersey market) based on central market prices for Grade A (92-score) butter at New York City and nonfat dry milk at Chicago area manufacturing plants or at New York City, minus an allowance for handling, including several variations as follows:

(a) Provision for a "basic" manufacturing price formula containing separate fat and skim values [(92-Score butter, New York City +2 cents×3.5−29 cents)+(average price of spray process nonfat dry milk at Chicago area plants −6 cents×7.8)]. Seasonal adjustments to the class price would be made whenever the percentage of total producer receipts allocated to Class I exceed a specified amount.

(b) Revision of the relative production weights given to roller and spray process nonfat dry milk and an increase in the yield factor for nonfat dry milk.

(c) Elimination of seasonal adjustments in the pricing of reserve milk.

(d) Use of the average price of spray process nonfat dry milk minus one cent, with preference to prices reported in "The Producers Price-Current".

(e) Adoption of offsetting plus and minus seasonal differentials in the Class III price formula.

(f) Addition of one cent to the monthly average price of Grade A butter at New York.

(g) The following proposals relating to the differential pricing of milk for butter and cheese within the reserve class (at present only the New York-New Jersey order results in such differential pricing) were offered:

(i) Establish a differential of four cents per pound of butterfat to be applicable in all months, except August through November if a seasonal adjustment, as explained in (a) above, is added to the class price during those months.

(ii) Make the differential applicable during the months of August through November, when the percentage of Class III milk during the month exceeds 35 percent of total receipts.

(iii) Provide a differential of three cents per pound of butterfat during the months of July through February and four cents during the months of March through June.

(iv) Provide in the New York-New Jersey order only, a differential of four cents per pound of butterfat in all months of the year.

(2) The "Minnesota-Wisconsin Manufacturing Grade Milk-Price Series".

(3) The "U.S. Average Manufacturing Grade Milk-Price Series".

(4) A "reverse" supply-demand adjustment factor for the Philadelphia and Wilmington Class II price formulas to operate as follows: Increase or decrease the surplus class price as the proportion of the receipts allocated to such class increases, or decreases, respectively, from the necessary quantity of reserve milk over the immediately preceding 12 months (proponent suggested a like adjustment for the New York-New Jersey order also), with a maximum price deviation of plus or minus 25 cents per hundredweight from the New York-New Jersey Class III price.

(5) A revised method, made with reference to the Philadelphia and Wilmington orders only, of computing the average price of cream at Philadelphia as used in such orders, and addition of a "sub-Class II" price during the spring months for milk in certain products.

Much of the testimony adduced at the hearing centered around the question of the type of formula most appropriate for fixing the minimum level of price for Class III milk in the New York-New Jersey market. Because of the dominant position of the New York-New Jersey market in the controversies involved, major emphasis is given first to the establishment of an appropriate formula for determination of the Class III milk price in Order No. 2 (Issue No. 1). A discussion of testimony relating to the need for appropriate alignment of prices among all ten Northeastern markets is set forth below under the heading Issue No. 2.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof.

ISSUE No. 1

Testimony of proponents of the product price minus handling allowance type of formula. At the present time minimum prices to producers for Class III milk in the New York-New Jersey Federal milk order are based upon the market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk. Basically, the price each month is determined by first adding two cents to the monthly average price of U.S. Grade A (92-Score) butter in New York City. This value is then multiplied by 1.22 to determine the value of one pound of butterfat, which is then multiplied by 3.5 to arrive at the value of butterfat in 3.5 percent milk. To this value is added the product of multiplying the weighted average price of nonfat dry milk made by the roller (weighted 70) and spray (weighted 30) process, f.o.b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, by 7.8. From this total is deducted a "make (processing) allowance" of 80 cents. A seasonal adjustment is then added.

The above computation, except for an additional 3 cents added to the average butter price when Class III utilization is relatively low during August through February, is the formula used each month to determine the monthly price of Class III milk in Order No. 2. During December through July, however, butterfat in milk used in the manufacture of butter and certain types of cheese is priced at certain specified differentials below such Class III price.

New York-New Jersey market proponents of the "product price minus handling allowance" type of formula maintained that this type of formula is the one better adapted to pricing milk for manufacturing in the Northeast, and more particularly in the New York-New Jersey milkshed, than any series of prices paid dairy farmers at milk manufacturing plants located several hundred miles away in the Midwest. They testified that their receiving and manufacturing costs for Class III milk products are higher than in the Midwest because practically all milk in the supply area is eligible for fluid use, with the alleged consequence that seasonal variations in the quantities of milk available for manufacturing in Class III are much greater than in the Midwest, causing the cost of maintaining standby manufacturing facilities to be relatively high in terms of per unit output. It was contended from this that the use of a pay price series, such as the proposed "Minnesota-Wisconsin" price series, does not reflect marketing conditions in the Northeast and thus would not result in Class III prices at a level which would "clear the market".

In supporting the use of the product price minus processing allowance type of formula, proponents claimed that this formula reflects the prices that handlers under the order actually receive for the finished products, and that it is most appropriate that the processing costs of such handlers should be specifically and directly reflected in the formula. It was testified that large quantities of reserve milk in the Northeast are used in the manufacture of ice cream and that high quality, unsalted butter and nonfat dry milk can be substituted readily for pool milk in its production, to wit., the Class III price should be based directly on the market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk.

Additional testimony was presented to show how conditions affecting the manufacture of milk in the Northeast differ from those in the Midwest. It was maintained that the Northeast and the Midwest are distinct and separate production areas. It was testified in this regard that (a) a hundredweight of milk of similar butterfat content yields less cheddar-cheese in New York State than in Wisconsin, and (b) Wisconsin milk is delivered directly from the farm to the cheese plant whereas in New York State receiving (feeder) stations receive much of the milk before it is transferred to the manufacturing plant, thus increasing delivery costs from farm to manufacturing plant.

It was stressed that butter and cheese are relatively more important uses for manufacturing milk in the Midwest while ice cream and other frozen products are the important uses of manufacturing milk in the Northeast. New York plants must maintain fluid market health approval, with resulting higher field and inspection expenses. From this it was argued that if a price series such as the "Minnesota-Wisconsin" series had been used during the fall and winter months of 1960 and 1961, any increase that would have resulted from it would have aggravated a difficult surplus situation.

One handler witness presented statistical data to show that prices paid for Class III milk in the New York-New Jersey market compare favorably with prices paid for milk for manufacturing into different specified products in nearby states. Prices paid at condensaries, creameries and cheese factories decline as distances from the states of Minnesota and Wisconsin increase. Comparisons were made for Minnesota-Wisconsin and (a) states to the East toward the Atlantic seaboard, (b) states to the South toward the deficit milk production areas in the Southeast, and (c) states to the Southwest.

The principal competitive sources of supplies for Class III milk uses were stated to be surplus quantities from unregulated markets in the Northeast, cream from states outside the Northeast and butter (as a source of fat for ice cream). From this it was concluded that since ice cream and fluid cream are the largest outlets for reserve milk in the Northeast, it is essential that the method of pricing used should keep reserve milk prices in the Northeastern Federally-regulated markets closely in line with those of competitive sources of butterfat. To accomplish this, it was proposed that any formula for the price of butterfat in reserve milk adopted be based on the price of Grade A (92-Score) butter, with preference for butter prices reported for the New York market.

The principal skim milk products manufactured from producer milk in the 11 Northeastern states are nonfat dry milk, cottage cheese, curd, and unsweetened condensed skim milk. In 1959 these products accounted for nearly 98 percent of all of the skim products produced. Nonfat dry milk can be and is sometimes used in lieu of fluid skim milk in making cottage cheese. Nonfat dry milk can be used also as a substitute for plain condensed skim milk. Proponents conclude that the market prices of nonfat dry milk are the best available measure of changes in the value of nonfat solids in reserve producer milk, and therefore, in the return to be received by producers for such milk.

In addition to such general support given to the product price minus handling allowance type of formula, each proponent presented further testimony in support of individual proposals.

The proposals to adopt a "basic" manufacturing price formula containing separate butterfat and skim milk values was supported at the hearing by one of the principal cooperatives in the new York-New Jersey market. Seasonal adjustments would be applicable when reserve milk is relatively low and a butter-cheese differential would be included in all months except August through November if seasonal adjustment is applied in the latter months. It was testified that confusion in regard to butterfat and skim milk values has resulted from the formula because they are not computed separately. Proponent claimed this confusion should be removed to reduce the number of controversies that exist in the buying and selling of manufactured dairy products. The proposed change from an average value of roller (weighted 70) and spray (weighted 30) nonfat dry milk to the average value of spray nonfat dry milk only was based on the relative importance of skim milk for nonfat dry milk manufacture in the milkshed and the fact that the bulk of nonfat dry milk being produced is spray process type. In 1960, 92 percent of the nonfat dry milk manufactured in the United States was made by the spray process.

Testimony was presented to the further effect that the seasonal adjustment factors contained in the present Class III formula should be applicable to all ten markets only during those months when the Class I utilization in the markets exceeds a specified percentage. The amount of the seasonal adjustment would be changed to 5 cents during March through June, and 10 cents during the remaining months of the year. If the seasonal adjustment factors were to be applicable during the months of August through November, then no butter-cheese adjustment would be applied during those months; however, a butter-cheese adjustment of four cents per pound of butterfat would be applicable during the remaining eight months of the year.

Another of the large producer groups testified that the present New York-New Jersey Class III price, with changes made in the relative weights given to roller and spray process nonfat dry milk and an increase in the yield factor, should be applied as the Class II price formula under the other Northeastern orders. This proponent testified that the relative weight given to spray process nonfat dry milk should be increased while the weight given to roller process nonfat dry milk should be decreased. To support this change statistics were cited to indicate that of the total amount of nonfat dry milk manufactured, between 80 and 90 percent is by the spray process. This proponent also recommended an increase in the yield factor from the present factor of 7.8 to a factor of 8.2.

Several witnesses representing certain New York-New Jersey handlers testified that the plus seasonal factors contained in the present Class III price formula of Order No. 2 are no longer applicable in view of the general supply condition in the market during the summer and fall months. One such witness maintained there is no relationship between these differentials and production seasonality, and no attempt is made to synchronize them with either the total monthly production of pool milk or actual Class III utilization. This witness claimed also that seasonal pricing should not be used to yield producers additional returns, but rather should balance out (plus=minus) on a yearly basis.

Another witness, representing the principal handler association, concluded from a number of comparisons of pay prices for manufacturing milk for various states that an increase in the Class III price would be unwarranted and that, to the contrary, such price should be lowered to prevent further hardship to handlers. His proposals would eliminate the seasonal differentials in the Class III price formula whenever the utilization adjustment percentage in the Class I–A price formula falls below a certain level and would employ the average price of spray process nonfat dry milk minus one cent in the formula. He indicated the belief that spray quotations for the New York market in "The Producers Price-Current" would be more appropriate for use in the formula than quotations for manufacturing plants in the Chicago area. These proposals were supported on the basis that during those months in 1960 when no butter-cheese differential was applicable about three times as much milk was utilized in butter and cheese as during the corresponding months of 1959. In regard to the use of spray quotations only, he stated that because of the expansion of spray nonfat dry milk manufacture throughout the nation, it has become difficult to get representative quotations for roller nonfat dry milk. He contended also that roller nonfat dry milk prices have been more erratic in relation to the support level than in the case of spray nonfat dry milk prices, that open market roller prices recently have been higher than support prices, and that there has been a decline in the spread between spray prices and the weighted average nonfat dry milk price used in the present Class III price formula. In recommending use of the spray prices reported in "The Producers Price-Current", this handler representative claimed that the price quotations which most nearly reflect competitive conditions in the market where handlers sell the finished milk products should be used.

A witness for New York-New Jersey ice cream manufacturers testified that recent increases in the volume of whole milk deliveries by farmers in major butter-producing areas have increased the quantities of high quality butter available, and that New York ice cream manufacturers have been able to obtain high-grade, unsalted butter for about one-half cent to one cent over the 92-score butter price at New York. He concluded that the amount added to the "butter" price average in the formula should be reduced to no more than one cent.

A representative of a major producer association in the Philadelphia market suggested that as the proportion of milk in a market disposed of in the manufacturing class increases, the class price should be increased. The need for this, it was claimed, is to discourage the addition of additional supplies above necessary current reserves and thus tend to increase the percentage of Class I utilization. Without making a specific formula proposal, he stated that the maximum Class II price deviation for the Philadelphia and Wilmington markets above or below the Order No. 2 Class III price should not be more than 25 cents per hundredweight. This witness proposed, however, that the cream price used in the Class II price formula of Orders 4[2] and 10[3] (Philadelphia and Wilmington) should be a "weighted average" instead of a simple average of weekly "midpoint" prices of cream, in order to be more representative of actual cream values during the month.

Another recommendation of this witness, made with specific reference to Orders 4 and 10, was that milk moved to unregulated plants for manufacture into certain manufactured products, particularly butter and cheese (other than cottage or creamed), during the months of March through June should be priced at not more than 10 cents per hundredweight below the regular Class II price. It was maintained that this would produce the maximum competitive return for the milk consistent with its orderly movement into reserve uses.

Each of several proposals relating to the butter-cheese differential would have the effect of increasing the number of months each year that it could be applicable. Certain proponents testified in regard to its use in the New York-New Jersey order only, while others discussed its applicability, along with the proposed changes, to all ten markets. The basic reason given for increasing the number of months in which it could be applicable was that there are increasing quantities of milk which must go into butter and cheese during the months of August through November (the differential currently applies in the New York-New Jersey market during December through July).

Other testimony relating to milk handling and processing costs. Research studies on milk processing costs at New York State "cream-nonfat dry milk" plants and at "butter-nonfat dry milk" plants in the State of Minnesota were presented by witnesses from Cornell University and the University of Minnesota.

In the New York study, 8 plants engaged in the manufacture of cream and spray process nonfat dry milk were selected. All but one of the plants were units of multiple-plant organizations operating both fluid milk plants and manufacturing plants. Daily receipts during the month of average volume averaged 250,000 pounds for the 8 plants, with a range in average daily receipts for the 8 plants of 420,000 pounds during the month of highest volume and 151,000 pounds for the month of lowest volume.

Average plant operating costs per hundredweight of milk processed at the 8 New York manufacturing plants were as follows: Month of average volume, $0.576; high-volume month, $0.415; and low-volume month, $0.862. These costs included, however, only the costs of processing together with certain allocated overhead costs for the central office expenses of each of the multiple-plant firms. The additional costs for related handling functions not investigated in this study were estimated by the authors to approximate 50.5 cents per hundredweight of milk in a typical situation. The 50.5 cent estimate included the following: Feeder plant operation, 15 cents; transportation, 15 cents; plant losses, 8.5 cents; packing material, 3.5 cents; use and risk of capital, 7 cents; and selling services, 1.5 cents. Combining the average operating cost of the 8 plants for the month of average volume of 57.6 cents, and the costs associated with the related functions estimated at 50.5 cents, the total handling and processing cost would amount to $1.081.

In the Minnesota study, data were presented regarding the operations of five typical butter-nonfat dry milk plants in Minnesota. Although data for the five plants were not shown in terms of an average, one of the plants received an average 217,000 pounds of milk per day, an amount nearly the same as the average of quantities handled by the 8 plants in the New York study. The average cost of receiving and processing milk from producers was 39.9 cents per hundredweight at this Minnesota plant.

In another case, the costs of receiving milk at a creamery, separation of the milk, processing the butterfat into butter and shipping the skim milk to a central drying plant were shown through a budgetary cost study of four creameries of varying sizes. These data included the average cost of transporting the skim milk from creameries to central drying plants plus the cost of manufacturing nonfat dry milk by spray process. Combining the costs for an average size creamery (receiving 65,000 pounds of milk per day) and at the central drying plant, including the cost of transporting the skim milk to the central drying plant, the following total handling and processing costs were shown: Creamery processing, 23.31 cents; transportation, 8.2 cents; and central drying plant processing, 26.08 cents, making a total of 57.59 cents per hundredweight of whole milk.

Thus, the average cost of receiving and processing whole milk into cream and nonfat dry milk at 8 manufacturing plants, disclosed in the New York State study, including estimates for feeder plant handling and transportation, was about $1.08 per hundredweight, while in Minnesota the average receiving and processing cost at a plant comparable in size to the average of the 8 New York plants, but manufacturing butter and nonfat dry milk, was about 40 cents per hundredweight, or approximately 68 cents per hundredweight less than in New York. The cost of receiving and processing butter and nonfat dry milk in the two-plant (creamery and central drying plant) combination in Minnesota amounted to about 58 cents, or about 50 cents less than in the case of the New York plants. Since butter ordinarily is more costly to process than cream, these differences presumably would be greater if the New York plants were to manufacture butter rather than cream.

It was testified further by the author witness on the Cornell University study that even with only limited changes in physical facilities, such as rearrangement of plant equipment and the introduction of additional labor saving devices, important cost savings can be realized in New York manufacturing plants.

This was illustrated by other data presented in the study which related to specifications and cost estimates for a series of model plants of different capacities for the New York-New Jersey milkshed. Of the four model plants presented, receipts at Model Plant A, the first of the four general types indicated, were the closest, but somewhat lower than, the weighted average of receipts for the 8 actual manufacturing plants. Receipts at Model Plant C were the nearest to, but larger than, the receipts at the largest of the 8 plants studied. It was testified that as the quantity of milk handled at these model plants increases the per-unit processing cost decreases.

The reported unit operating costs at Model Plants A and C (bulk tank operation assumed) during the average volume month were 50.4 cents and 28.1 cents, respectively. The operating costs for the actual plants during the average volume month were 57.6 cents and 54.3 cents, respectively. Unit costs at the two model plants, therefore, were 7.2 cents and 26.2 lower, respectively, than costs for the actual manufacturing plants. It is recognized, however, that any precise comparison between total processing costs per hundredweight of milk at actual plants and at theoretical plants, unit operating costs for Model Plant A would decrease somewhat and conversely operating costs for Model Plant C would increase to some extent.

The largest of the four general types of model plants (Plant D) could receive up to 1,200,000 pounds of milk per day. The unit operating costs for this model plant were only 24.9 cents per hundredweight of milk during the average volume month.

The data presented for Minnesota plants also reflected theoretical model plant operations. From a comparison between processing costs for theoretical model plants and for actual plants, actual operations were found to be in close conformity (within 2 cents per hundredweight) with the hypothetical operations at model plants.

Presented also for the record was a six-part study entitled "Class III milk in the New York Milkshed." This study was referred to at the hearing as the "Clarke Study." It was a comprehensive analysis of the utilization and pricing of Class III milk under Order No. 2. The subject matter of the separate parts of the study was identified under the following titles:

(1) Manufacturing Operations; (2) Economic Description of the Manufactured Dairy Products Industry; (3) Costs of Manufacturing Dairy Products; (4) Processing Margins for Manufactured Dairy Products; (5) Processors' Decisions on Utilization; and (6) Economic Aspects of Class III Pricing.

This study was prepared as a marketing research project conducted under the general supervision of the Marketing Economics Research Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture. Direct responsibility for the collection and interpretation of data used in the study was assigned to a member of the faculty of the University of California, who testified in detail on the study at the hearing.

The study includes estimates of yields, processing costs and "partial net margins" relative to various combinations of Class III milk products. The study does not attempt, however, to break down processing costs or "partial net margins" for combinations of products into separate costs and margins for individual products or to make any allocation of input costs between individual products made at the same plant from the same milk.

The cost data used as an input in the determination of "partial net margins" for several different combinations of products were designed only for this purpose, and did not purport to represent complete cost data for any product or product combination. They were not designed to reflect average processing costs in New York milkshed plants. Marketing and administrative costs, which were determined to be similar for all Class III products, were excluded from consideration since this study was concerned only with those costs which differ among the several Class III products manufactured. The research was intended to provide information on the possible marketing effects of changes in Class III prices but was not designed as the basis for a determination of an appropriate Class III formula or price level.

Several witnesses presented testimony on relative yields of cheese in Wisconsin and in New York State, and on differences in processing costs between the two regions. Their testimony may be typified by the following references.

A witness from Cornell University reviewed reported cheese yields at three large cheese manufacturing firms in northern New York State during the cheese-manufacture seasons in 1959 and 1960. The weighted average cheese yield for these firms for the two seasons was stated to be 9.02 pounds (37 percent moisture) per hundredweight of 3.5 percent milk.

This yield of 9.02 pounds, based on data reported by the plants, was then compared with yields of cheese of similar moisture content from 3.5 percent milk reported for 12 Wisconsin cheese factories in a research study made at the University of Wisconsin. The Wisconsin study cited an average cheese yield of 9.84 pounds per hundredweight. Cheese yields in Wisconsin, therefore, were found to be 0.82 pounds per hundredweight greater than in New York. No specific reason was given for the stated difference in cheese yields.

Several manufacturers of Cheddar cheese and other cheeses in New York State presented additional data designed to demonstrate higher costs of manufacturing cheese in New York State than in the Midwest. One such manufacturer also operates a cheese plant in Vermont where milk priced at the Boston Class II milk price is the source of supply for cheese manufacture. Cheese yields from Vermont milk were compared with cheese yields from northern New York milk, which comparison involved higher butterfat content in Vermont and widely varying (up to 25 percent difference) moisture content of the cheese manufactured in the two states.

The company made no complaint about the cost of milk for cheese in the Vermont plant although in 1960 the level of the Boston Class II price exceeded the butter-cheese differential price under order No. 2 by an average of 24 cents per hundredweight and was computed in a manner quite comparable to the formula adopted herein.

This company also testified that it predetermines how much New York Cheddar cheese it will need during the year, and once that volume has been produced their New York State plants are closed regardless of the prevailing price of milk for this use. Further, that even if the butter-cheese differential under order No. 2 were extended to include more months (causing a price reduction), they would not manufacture more cheese in New York State during the year, but would only extend their operations to include more months.

The Director of the Bureau of Accounts and Statistics of the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission also testified at this hearing. This witness recommended that the open market fluid cream quotations, which are announced for the Philadelphia market by the Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S.D.A., be changed to include only cream that is actually used as bottling cream or in producing ice cream in the Philadelphia market. He stated that this could increase the price of Class II milk by an amount equivalent to 11.76 cents per hundredweight to Pennsylvania producers and would be a method of making manufacturing prices more realistic throughout the region. He recommended also that nonfat dry milk prices be quoted for the spray process only.

Testimony of proponents of the competitive pay price type of formula. Although discussed later in more detail, the general considerations by proponents of competitive pay prices as a proper basis for pricing Class III milk are cited in the following paragraphs.

The major reasons presented by those supporting a competitive pay price series for pricing reserve milk in Northeastern markets were that (1) it would remove the Secretary from the role of "rate-making" and eliminate the need for making several judgments concerning the particular products (price quotations), the yield factors for such products, and appropriate "make allowances" to be used in the formulas, (2) competitive pay prices provide for automatic adjustments over time concerning needed changes in processing and marketing allowances resulting from dynamic competitive conditions and improved technology in the industry, and (3) such a series goes directly to current market values of milk as received from farmers for manufacturing use, is determined from current competitive conditions in milk procurement, and makes possible avoidance of problems involved in determining the separate values of the butterfat and skim milk ingredients in milk delivered by farmers.

Testimony was presented by representatives of Midwestern milk manufacturers to the effect that reserve milk in regulated markets of the Northeast, and particularly in the New York-New Jersey market, has not been priced competitively with Midwestern milk and that the relatively low Northeastern market prices of milk used for manufacture have damaged the competitive position of Midwest milk product manufacturers. They contend that the Federal government has conflicting policies with respect to its nation-wide price support program for dairy products on the one hand, and levels established for reserve milk prices in Northeastern Federal order markets on the other.

Midwest dairy interests also maintained that increases in the production of manufactured products in the Northeast has had a depressing effect on the national market for manufactured products, especially butter, nonfat dry milk and cheddar cheese. In support of this claim it was testified that manufacturers of milk products in the Midwest region had lost sales to lower-priced products manufactured from Class III milk in the New York-New Jersey market. They contended that an objective of pricing milk under a Federal order is to protect producer returns but not to maintain particular handler plants or cooperative associations which may not be able to withstand competition from other manufacturers of milk products. Testimony was presented to demonstrate the relative efficiency of Midwest manufacturers in the manufacture of butter and nonfat dry milk. Such testimony (Minnesota research study) was discussed previously in conjunction with other research studies presented for the record.

One such witness testified that the effect of maintaining a high Class I price in a Federal order market under classified pricing, while at the same time establishing a low reserve milk price which guarantees an ample margin to pool handlers of reserve milk, is, in effect, subsidization by the consumers of fluid milk of milk production for manufacturing uses. It was stated further that whenever the manufacturing milk price assures handlers under regulation a profitable margin, it follows that the amount of milk used in manufacturing increases and dilutes the effect of the Class I price on maintaining returns to producers through the medium of the uniform price.

One of the large producer cooperative associations in the New York-New Jersey market also testified in support of using a competitive pay price series. In support of its position five principles and objectives to achieve desirable reserve milk prices under Federal milk orders were set forth. These were to (1) promote adequate supply; (2) coordinate manufacturing operations with overall functions of the market (i.e., to balance and channel supplies and to process reserves); (3) influence procurement policies of handlers so that they do not procure additional milk from producers when the market reserve is unusually large; (4) facilitate the movement of milk between markets; and (5) promote efficiency in procurement, processing and marketing. This association proposed and supported adoption of the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series as the basis for pricing Class III milk (and Class II milk) in the Northeastern markets.

Representatives of the New England cooperatives and the largest proprietary handler of milk for manufacturing uses in the New England Federally-regulated markets proposed adoption of the "U.S. Average Manufacturing Grade Milk-Price Series" for pricing reserve milk under all ten Northeastern Federal orders, pointing out that such price series is used currently as the basis of pricing in the New England Federal order markets. These witnesses testified that the markets of New England and New York-New Jersey are highly competitive in respect to the sale of cream, ice cream, ice cream mix, cottage cheese and condensed milk. (This competition is further described in a subsequent part of this decision.)

A witness representing a major New England handler who manufactures large quantities of ice cream expressed a contrasting view from that expressed previously in this decision by the witness for New York ice cream manufacturers. This witness claimed that in the experience of his company prices for unsalted butter usually are about three cents above published butter market quotations. Another witness from New England testified that New England ice cream manufacturers have paid premiums for butterfat for use in ice cream in excess of 2 cents over the New York butter price.

Such representatives further testified that the pricing of reserve milk on competitive pay prices, as represented by the above-stated price series as the price mover, over a substantial period of time has assisted the New England markets to improve efficiency in the handling and processing of reserve milk supplies under regulation.

Competitive pay prices as the appropriate basis for establishing the general level of the Class III price in the New York-New Jersey market. The Secretary, in carrying out the responsibility placed on him by the statute to establish an appropriate method of fixing reserve milk prices, must decide, on the record evidence, between a "product price minus handling allowance" type of formula (involving the merits of the several variations in such formula as previously described) and a "competitive pay price series", which involves selection of the price series most appropriate in the circumstances as a "price mover" and determination of the amount of any differential that the minimum level of reserve milk prices under the orders should vary from the competitive pay price level.

The present butter-nonfat dry milk price formula contains two yield factors, two price series, and the manufacturing or processing allowance. Each affects the resulting price. In the case of a well-operated plant, using all of its milk in the manufacture of butter and creamery by-products, management should be able to ascertain, with a high degree of accuracy, yields of butter and nonfat dry milk per hundredweight of whole milk. In such cases figures would be available also on the average price received per pound of each product sold from the plant. With cost accounting procedures, receiving and processing costs at such a plant may be determined with accuracy.

The accurate determination of such data on a market-wide basis is complicated, however, by additional factors affecting handling and operational costs which are not, on the basis of the hearing evidence, susceptible of precise appraisal or measurement for the entire market. In the New York-New Jersey market substantial proportions of the producer milk received are shipped as milk, skim milk, or cream from country-located plants to fluid milk distributing plants during the year. Volumes of milk shipped from such country receiving stations, or feeder plants, to bottling plants vary substantially from day to day and from plant to plant. The fact that all milk received at a country receiving station, or feeder plant, is not used there, but is moved elsewhere for butter, cheese, or other Class III use, necessarily means that some allocation of cost between handling for the fluid market and handling for Class III processing must be made for such plants. This problem exists with respect to operations involving a large proportion of the milk supply available for Class III uses and none of the data submitted to show receiving and processing costs involved in manufacturing operations in the New York-New Jersey milkshed provide the basis for a reasonably accurate appraisal or reliable estimate of such cost allocation. Obviously, all costs of operating such stations should not be assessed to the manufacturing operation only sometimes served.

Although the apparent difference in processing costs between Minnesota and New York plants as shown by the two studies cited previously, amounts to more than 50 cents per hundredweight of milk, handlers subject to the New York-New Jersey order have been paying prices for milk used in butter and cheese within a range of 13 to 20 cents less annually than prices in Minnesota for manufacturing grade milk of the same butterfat content. It is the latter differences in price that are the center of the controversy. If handlers subject to the New York-New Jersey order experience processing costs that are at least 2½ times greater than the difference in the prices of milk between the regions, a logical conclusion would be that from an economic standpoint they could not manufacture butter with order No. 2 milk. In 1958, however, nearly 605 million pounds of order No. 2 milk were utilized in the manufacture of butter. This amounted to 6.0 percent of the total producer milk classified under the order. In 1959 and 1960, the amounts so used were 460 million and 897 million pounds, respectively, or 4.5 and 8.4 percent of total producer receipts.

While proponents of the product-handling allowance type of formula maintained that the processor must be reimbursed for his costs, even those who suggested a reduction in the Class III price did not propose, and past acceptance of milk by handlers at the prices prevailing certainly denies, that the difference in processing costs between the regions, exceeding 50 cents per hundredweight, shown by the studies would be properly reflected in a Class III pricing formula. Further, there is wide disparity between the cost allowances contained in the specific proposals offered by proponents of the product-handling allowance type of formula and the cost data provided by the study covering New York State plants. The paradoxical circumstances present create substantial doubt that any cost allowance could be developed from the evidence that would give reasonable assurance of providing, over time, a fair value for producer milk under an administered pricing program.

The problem of securing specific data to properly determine the appropriate components of the formula, and particularly the make allowance to be reflected, is only one shortcoming of this method of pricing milk for manufacturing purposes in the New York-New Jersey milkshed under present conditions. Because a wide variety of products is included in Class III milk, a formula based only on the prices for butter and nonfat dry milk does not accurately reflect the full value of producer milk for all Class III uses. For example, the value of milk for cheese is not reflected in the present formula although much cheese is produced in the Northeast, and especially in the New York-New Jersey milkshed. It would be difficult, indeed, to conclude that New York-New Jersey Class III (butter-nonfat dry milk) formula fully compensated New York-New Jersey producers last winter when the market for milk for cheddar cheese was generally strong.

Another problem with the present type of Class III formula is the lag in its adjustment to cost and technological changes affecting the manufactured products industry. Technological changes have resulted in some significant cost reductions during recent years. Changes which reduce costs of assembling, processing, packaging or merchandising milk and milk products do not have automatic, or even necessarily prompt, reflection in such formula. Such changes are not reflected in formula prices until order amendments are made. With proper adherence to administrative rules and procedures, rapid action in this connection may not be assured for a particular market or group of markets.

When the Class III price formula is based primarily upon the market price of one of these products (e.g., butter) minus a specified processing allowance, handlers under the order are assured, regardless of current values of producer milk competitively procured for the several manufactured product uses in Class III, of a predetermined operating margin. On the other hand, unregulated processors handling manufacturing grade milk pay a price to dairy farmers to maintain milk supplies determined from competition with other processors. When sudden price changes occur in the butter market, for example, manufacturers of butter, buying in competition with manufacturers of other products are not necessarily able to effectuate an immediate offsetting adjustment in pay prices to their farmers. When prices under the order are based on butter prices handlers, however, have the benefit of an offsetting adjustment automatically reflected in the price they pay for the milk. This is an advantage not available to manufacturers purchasing unregulated milk.

Regardless of the immediate relationship of the open market prices of various manufactured products to the competitive values of raw milk at unregulated plants, regulated handlers obviously are not subjected, under the present formula, to the same pressure to adjust to cost and technological changes affecting the unregulated portions of the manufactured products industry. This situation could be self-perpetuating in regulated markets, such as in the Northeast, where in the supply areas involved there are relatively minor quantities of unregulated milk to be manufactured, and the prices of most milk so utilized are administered by public authority. Such circumstances make important, in the public interest, that the administered price be one which is reflective of and promptly responsive to competitive conditions generally prevailing in the manufactured products segment of the dairy industry. The competitive pay price method meets this requirement.

The competitive pay price method of pricing milk is based upon the premise that in the existing highly competitive dairy industry, concerns buying in competition tend to purchase milk from farmers at prices commensurate with the ability of the more efficient concerns to pay for milk. As shifts in the relationship between finished product prices are indicated, one group of processors may be able to pay higher prices than others. Other processors must meet or approximate these prices or risk loss of milk supply. If a dairy concern in the unregulated manufactured products market fails to make the necessary adjustments in procurement competition, it will, in time, be forced out of business.

Increasing labor and other costs may tend to reduce prices paid farmers for milk. The use of new assembling, processing, packaging and marketing techniques which reduce plant-operating costs, or increase product returns, will tend, on the other hand, to increase the demand for the farmers' milk and thus the prices paid for such milk. These upward and downward price adjustments resulting from procurement competition are directly and automatically reflected in reserve milk prices when based on average competitive pay prices, thus tending, at any given time, to reflect the full value of milk for the basic manufacturing uses.

Much of the evidence presented at the hearing on the use of competitive pay prices as the Class III price formula centered on the so-called "Minnesota-Wisconsin Manufacturing Grade Milk-Price Series" (hereinafter referred to as the "Minnesota-Wisconsin series"). Principal questions raised in connection with this price series were whether the Department would be in position to announce within 5 days after the end of a given month a price which would be satisfactorily representative of prices paid to dairy farmers by manufacturing plants in the two-state area, and whether such a series, even if representative of conditions in such states, would be appropriate for pricing milk under conditions prevailing in the New York-New Jersey milkshed. Opponents of the series contended that a period of time should elapse before any such price series is employed in the pricing of over 7 billion pounds of milk per year, the approximate amount of milk in manufacturing uses under regulation in the Northeast, since the series had not yet been published (at the time of the hearing) and therefore had not been subject to appraisal over time.

The States of Minnesota and Wisconsin represent the two large areas of predominately "manufacturing grade" milk in the country. Approximately 50 percent of the total manufacturing grade milk sold off farms in the U.S. is produced in these two States. In Minnesota about 80 percent of the milk sold off farms is manufacturing grade while in Wisconsin it amounts to 65 percent of the milk produced. There are approximately 900 plants in Wisconsin that buy manufacturing grade milk, and in Minnesota there are about 425 such plants. Competition among processors for supplies of manufacturing milk is generally strong in both States.

Starting in January 1959 the Agricultural Estimates Division of the Department began publication of a series of prices for manufacturing grade milk, by States, each month in the Department's regular publication, "Agricultural Prices". At the time of the hearing, preliminary estimates of prices paid in each State for a given month were being published near the end of the following month. The prices, so published, are not available in time for use in determining minimum class prices under Federal orders. It is officially noticed, however, that beginning with September 1961 the two-State "Minnesota-Wisconsin series" has been published on or before the 5th day of the month following that for which the price is computed. This series is available for use in pricing milk under Federal orders and was adopted for this purpose in the milk order for the Chicago marketing area (official notice taken) effective September 1, 1961.

Manufacturing grade milk price information for Wisconsin and Minnesota is collected through the facilities of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Office in Madison and St. Paul, respectively. This information is obtained by mail questionnaire. Representatives of the Agricultural Estimates Division, although not proponents of the series for use in pricing milk under any of the ten Federal orders, described on the record a new statistical technique which in their judgment as statisticians would result in a representative price estimate which could be announced within five days after the end of the month for which computed. Reports from 200–220 plants that purchase from 20 to 22 percent of all manufacturing milk in the State of Wisconsin are available each month, while in Minnesota reports covering about 70 percent of all producer sales are similarly available. These prices, as reported for the preceding month, serve as the "benchmark" for computing a combined Minnesota-Wisconsin average price of manufacturing milk for the "current" month (month for which the minimum class price is computed).

The price change from the "benchmark" month to the current month is then measured. This involves collecting available current month data from a "sample" of about 100 plants in the two-State area. These data include quantities of milk being purchased, pounds of butterfat and total dollars paid for milk delivered the first half of such month. For the last half, to the extent possible, individual plant estimates are furnished by plant managers. On the basis of these data, current month price and butterfat test estimates are prepared.

For plants in each state separately, prices and tests are weighted within each product group (butter-nonfat dry milk, cheese, evaporated milk, etc.) by the quantities of milk purchased from farms to obtain weighted averages by product groups. This is done both for the current month and the benchmark month.

Product group averages are then weighted by their relative importance in the state total to obtain a statewide average for all milk of manufacturing grade. The average prices and butterfat tests for the two states are then combined into a weighted average price and test for the two-State area.

Industry proponents of this particular series of competitive pay prices were satisfied that such techniques would result in a representative manufacturing milk price series for Minnesota and Wisconsin plants. They maintained further that purely local conditions are no longer an adequate basis for pricing milk in manufacturing uses and that interregional relationships of prices, which must be recognized, would be recognized properly through use of such series for reserve milk pricing in the Northeastern markets.

It is concluded, however, that although the Minnesota-Wisconsin series is satisfactorily representative of the pay prices in the two-State area and has been adopted already for Class III pricing purposes under the Chicago milk order, it should not be used to determine the price of Class III milk in the New York-New Jersey market at the present time. Although there is no apparent reason why it could not be adapted to the pricing of reserve milk in the Northeastern markets with equitable results, there is no urgency which should deny the industry its request for an opportunity to examine the series in use and to compare its results with other price series and formulas which are available for pricing under regulation.

The "U.S. Average Manufacturing Grade Milk-Price Series" (hereinafter called the "U.S. average price"), on the other hand, has been published continuously since 1946 by the Department and is a widely known and accepted series of competitive pay prices. It is published by the Agricultural Estimates Division in "Agricultural Prices" on a preliminary basis near the end of each month. In computing this average price, separate prices are first determined for each of the three principal uses covered, i.e., butter-nonfat dry milk, cheese and evaporated milk. These prices are then volume weighted according to the relative quantities of manufacturing grade milk going into such uses. The weights used in 1960 were: Butter, 43 percent; American cheese, 39 percent; and evaporated milk, 18 percent.

It is the "national average" price series which is used in establishing the parity equivalent for manufacturing milk and therefore is directly involved in the determination of support prices for dairy products. The use of this series in computing the reserve milk prices in the Northeastern markets should provide, therefore, a reasonable and equitable basis for determining appropriate monthly price changes.

The use of the U.S. average price as the basis for pricing reserve milk in some of the fluid milk markets in the Northeastern area is well established. It has been the basis for determining the value of producer milk for Class II uses under Federal regulation in the New England markets regularly (except for two months) since May 1, 1957. Between 1951 and 1957 the U.S. average price shared with the "Boston weighted average cream price" in the performance of such price function.

In the New England markets, the annual level of the Class II price, including seasonal adjustments, averages (simple) 6.4 cents per hundredweight over the U.S. average price. The U.S. average price, the Minnesota-Wisconsin series, the Boston Class II prices, the announced New York-New Jersey Class III prices and the Philadelphia Class II prices per hundredweight may be compared as follows on a 3.5 percent butterfat basis:

	Annual averages
	1960	1959	1958	1957	1956
Minnesota-Wisconsin series [1]	$3.12	$3.01	$2.99	$3.10	$3.06

The annual U.S. average price averages approximately 8 cents below the Minnesota-Wisconsin series. The New York-New Jersey annual average Class III price, on the other hand, was higher than the U.S. average price by one cent in 1956, by five cents in 1957, by three cents in 1958, and by three cents in 1959. In 1960, however, the U.S. average price averaged 10 cents higher than the New York-New Jersey Class III price for the year.

The Boston annual average Class II price was lower than the New York-New Jersey Class III price by three cents and one cent in 1956 and 1957, respectively, but in 1958 and 1959 the Boston Class II price averaged four cents and five cents, respectively, over the New York-New Jersey Class III price. In 1960, the Boston Class II price increased to a level 16 cents over the New York-New Jersey Class III price.

The annual average Class II price in the Philadelphia market was equal to the New York-New Jersey Class III price in 1956 and 1959, was higher in 1957 by eight cents, and was lower in 1958 and 1960 by four and ten cents, respectively. The Philadelphia Class II price, like New York-New Jersey Class III price, was higher than the U.S. average price during the period from 1956 through 1959, except for 1958 when it was one cent lower. In 1960, however, it declined to a level 20 cents below the U.S. average price.

During the four years 1956–59 Class III prices in the New York-New Jersey market averaged about 3 cents over the U.S. average prices. Only in 1960 did the Class III price fall substantially below U.S. average price plus the 6.4-cent differential used in the Boston formula.

Use of the U.S. average price as the price mover will tend to keep Class III prices in consistent relationship to the general level of prices being paid to farmers for manufacturing milk. Since the U.S. average price has been fairly consistently 8 cents lower than the Minnesota-Wisconsin series on an annual basis, the resulting New York-New Jersey Class III prices in the 201–210 mile zone should move in reasonable relationship to prices in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

It is appropriate, nevertheless, to continue seasonality in the pricing of reserve milk in the New York-NewJersey market. During the late winter and spring months when relatively greater quantities of reserve milk are available and must be utilized in the hard or storable products, the Class III price should be such that manufacturers of storable products share in the utilization of the available supplies. Manufacturers of butter and cheddar cheese should not receive a preferential price, however, with the effect that much of the competition in procurement from manufacturers of soft products is minimized or eliminated. The latter manufacturers, who provide a year-round outlet for reserve milk should not be disadvantaged in procurement in the months of seasonally heavy production by being required to pay a higher price than butter and cheese manufacturers during these months.

More seasonality in the pricing of reserve milk than is contained in the U.S. average price is needed in the Northeastern markets for the added reason that it will encourage handlers to dispose of the maximum amount of milk in Class I uses. Prices during the fall months should not be so high as to prohibit the necessary operating reserves of milk from going into manufacturing uses, but nevertheless should be at such a level that handlers will seek Class I sales rather than to use the milk in manufacturing. Further, during the fall months of the year, when the supply of milk available for manufacturing is used to a greater extent in the production of nonstorable (soft) products, the reserve milk price under the orders should reflect also this higher-valued use.

During the three-year period from January 1958 through December 1960, the New York-New Jersey Class III price (other than butter and cheese) deviation between the highest average monthly price and lowest average monthly price was 26 cents. The month with the lowest three-year average price was June with an average price of $2.80 per hundredweight. November was the month with the highest three-year average price of $3.06. If the seasonal variation in the price of milk for butter and cheese is reflected in the regular Class III price (an additional 14 cents per cwt.) it would increase the seasonality of the Class III price to 40 cents. A range in the Class III price of 40 cents from the month of highest price to the month of lowest price compares with the current seasonal range of 46 cents in the Boston Class II prices during the same three-year period. The monthly seasonal adjustments to the U.S. average price as contained in the current Boston Class II formula range from minus 12 cents during the month of May to plus 17 cents during the months of August, November, and December. To bring monthly reserve milk prices in the northeastern markets more nearly in line with the monthly U.S. average prices and the prices of manufacturing milk in the Midwest than has been the case in the past, a small reduction in such ranges is appropriate. It is concluded that the seasonal adjustments to be applied to the monthly U.S. average prices (which result in an annual (simple) average level 5.4 cents higher than such price) should be as follows:

Jan	$+0.8	July	$+0.08
Feb	+.07	Aug	+.15
Mar	.00	Sept	+.11
Apr	−.04	Oct	+.11
May	−.07	Nov	+.11
June	−.06	Dec	+.11

These seasonal adjustments, applied to the three-year period 1958 through 1960, would have resulted in a seasonal variation in prices averaging 37 cents. The resulting monthly prices, on the three-year average, would have varied from the average of Minnesota-Wisconsin prices by the following amounts:

Jan	$0.00	July	$+0.02
Feb	+.03	Aug	+.09
Mar	−.04	Sept	.00
Apr	−.09	Oct	−.01
May	−.15	Nov	.00
June	−.14	Dec	+.02

These monthly variations between the reserve milk prices in the Northeast and the Minnesota-Wisconsin pay prices are reasonable in view of the greater seasonality of reserve milk available in the northeastern markets and the need for channeling milk to Class I uses when needed.

The U.S. average prices adjusted by the monthly seasonal adjustments may be compared with the monthly Class III prices which have existed in the New York-New Jersey market. In the following table are shown the proposed monthly prices and the announced Class III prices for the three-year period 1958 through 1960, for 3.5 percent milk, f.o.b. plants in the 201–210 mile zone.

[1] Does not include butter-cheese differential. Butter-cheese differential prices are 14 cents less than class III prices during the months of March through June and 10 cents less during the months of July and December through February. In 1960 only, the month of August also had a 10-cent butter-cheese differential.

The monthly seasonal adjustments adopted result in Class III prices nearly identical with the present Class III prices (other than butter and cheese) during the months of May and June over the three-year period. For the months of April and July, over the same period, the new formula yields a level of prices closely related to prices under the present Class III formula.

During the late summer, fall and winter months, the new formula results in prices which, on the average during this three-year period, exceeded actual Class III prices by somewhat greater amounts. It is during these months, however, when Class III milk should be priced at a somewhat higher level since it is used mostly in higher-valued products and competitive milk and milk products also carry higher prices. The higher level is needed also to encourage handlers to utilize the milk in Class I outlets.

The new formula will have the greatest effect in the New York-New Jersey market upon the prices for milk utilized in the manufacture of butter and cheese during April through July. During April, May, and June the price of milk used in butter and cheese will be increased 14 cents per hundredweight and in July, 10 cents per hundredweight plus any increases that apply in connection with regular Class III milk. Over the three-year period 1958–1960, the average increase in the regular Class III price would have been April, $0.01; May, $0.01; June, $0.01; and July, $0.04.

The U.S. average price, as so adjusted seasonally, will reasonably reflect monthly changes in the value of milk for the particular "product mix" of reserve milk in the Northeast.

While the "product mix" reflected in the U.S. average price represents a lower-valued "product mix" than that generally prevailing in the Northeast, such competitive pay price, which reflects the value of milk used in the manufacture of "hard products", will also reasonably reflect changes in the value of milk used in, or to manufacture products competitive with, the "soft products" made from manufacturing milk in the Northeast.

The U.S. average price is based to a substantial degree on the use of milk for butter-nonfat dry milk and cheese. This, however, is a lower-valued "product mix" than the "product mix" of the Northeastern markets, which consists largely of ice cream, ice cream mix, cottage cheese and other "soft products", generally considered to represent higher-valued outlets. Manufacturers of "soft products" and handlers of cream in the major production areas of Minnesota and Wisconsin are in competition with manufacturers of the "hard products" for their milk supplies. It may not be reasonably concluded that "soft product" manufacturers in either the Northeast or Midwest can procure milk for less than competitive "hard product" manufacturers.

It is butter-nonfat dry milk and cheese that are considered the residual, or marginal, uses of milk both nationally and in the Northeast, into which milk must find a market when the demands for the higher-valued products have been satisfied. As previously indicated, the U.S. average price is the basis for computation of the support prices for butter, nonfat dry milk and cheese as the residual products of milk nationally.

In opposing competitive pay prices for formula uses, New York-New Jersey handlers maintained that it is the local supply and demand conditions in the regulated market that are the controlling statutory factors in establishing prices for Class III milk as well as the prices of other classes under the order.

In its decision in the "United States v. Rock Royal Co-operative, Inc., et al." case relating to the New York order and the classified pricing plan provided therein (official notice of which is taken), the Supreme Court of the United States recognized that the products made from reserve milk in the New York-New Jersey market not only are affected by, but also affect, the national market for such products:

"It is generally recognized that the chief cause of fluctuating prices and supplies is the existence of a normal surplus which is necessary to furnish an adequate amount for peak periods of consumption. This results in an excess of production during the troughs of demand. As milk is highly perishable, a fertile field for the growth of bacteria, and yet an essential item of diet, it is most desirable to have an adequate production under close sanitary supervision to meet the constantly varying needs. The sale of milk in metropolitan New York is ringed around with requirements of the health departments to assure the purity of the supply. Only farms with equipment approved by the health authorities of the marketing area and operated in accordance with their requirements are permitted to market their milk. More than sixty thousand dairies located in the states of New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Vermont hold certificates of inspection and approval from the Department of Health of the City of New York. More than five hundred receiving plants similarly scattered have been approved for the receiving and shipping of grades A and B milk. Since all milk produced cannot find a ready market as fluid milk in flush periods, the surplus must move into cream, butter, cheese, milk powder and other more or less nonperishable products. Since these manufacturers are in competition with all similar dairy products, the prices for the milk absorbed into manufacturing processes must necessarily meet the competition of low-cost production areas far removed from the metropolitan centers. The market for fluid milk for use as a food beverage is the most profitable to the producer. Consequently, all producers strive for the fluid milk market. It is obvious that the marketing of fluid milk in New York has contacts at least with the entire national dairy industry. The approval of dairies by the Department of Health of New York City, as a condition for the sale of their fluid milk in the metropolitan area, isolates from this general competition a well recognized segment of the entire industry. Since these producers are numerous enough to keep up a volume of fluid milk for New York distribution beyond ordinary requirements, cut-throat competition even among them would threaten the quality and in the end of the quantity of fluid milk deemed suitable for New York consumption. Students of the problem generally have apparently recognized a fair division among producers of the fluid milk market and utilization of the rest of the available supply in other dairy staples as an appropriate method of attack for its solution. Order No. 27 was an attempt to make effective such an arrangement under the authority of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act."

Concern was expressed also by New York-New Jersey handlers that any increase in the Class III price would tend to raise uniform, or blended, prices to producers, stimulating a production response and therefore an increase in the quantity of milk to be used in Class III products. It was contended that reserve milk prices might well be reduced somewhat, rather than increased, in order to encourage a reduction in deliveries of milk by producers or at least to discourage further increases in deliveries.

The percentage of Class III utilization is such that for any given change in the level of the Class III prices a corresponding change in uniform prices of approximately 40 percent of the change in the Class III price will result. The above contention of handlers is not persuasive, however, in the present situation. Certainly it may not be concluded that a price for milk for manufacturing use only slightly above the national level of prices for ungraded milk would be sufficient to encourage an adequate supply of high quality milk as needed for the New York-New Jersey fluid market. An equitable price for milk for manufacture cannot be denied simply because it might result in some increase in the blended price, and particularly so when an outlet for any increased supply is available under the price support program.

Further testimony was presented to the effect that Midwestern milk production has generally contributed far more to the national milk surplus than has Northeastern milk production since milk used in manufactured dairy products, other than ice cream, in the eleven Northeast states amounts to only 5 percent of the total for the United States. From this New York-New Jersey handler representatives argued that complete discounting of the butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk produced in the Northeast would leave in excess nationally an overwhelming percentage of each of the surplus commodities purchased by the Government for price support purposes, and therefore, that the national price level for manufactured milk products is little affected by the prevailing prices for manufacturing milk in the Northeastern markets, particularly the New York-New Jersey market.

Under the dairy products price support program, the Federal government offers to purchase butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk at specified prices. These prices are established at a level which will reflect, on the nationwide average, a specified percentage of parity to dairy farmers deemed reasonable under national policy. The need for this program arises from an excess of milk and milk products produced in the United States over the amounts that can be sold through commercial outlets and still return the appropriate percentage of parity prices to farmers. This is a nationwide program as equally applicable to dairy farmers of the Northeast as to those in any other part of the United States. Products such as butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk, purchased under the support price program, are produced in sizeable quantities in the Northeast and are sold in the national market in direct competition with similar products from other parts of the nation, particularly the Midwest.

Government support purchases during the 5-year period from 1956 through 1960 amounted to only 3.5 percent (on a milk equivalent basis) of the total milk produced in the United States during this period. (Official notice taken of the November 1961 issue of "The Dairy Situation" published by Economic Research Service, USDA, page 41.)

This was the average percentage of the national milk production in surplus which indicated the need for support prices in order that reasonable prices could be returned to farmers. Under the support program, it is immaterial where the largest quantities, or percentages, of dairy products are produced. It is of great significance to dairy farmers, however, that surpluses of dairy products do exist and that these surpluses can undermine the entire structure for the milk used in their production.

While New York-New Jersey handler representatives maintained that manufactured products made from Class III milk under Order No. 2 are a relatively insignificant proportion of the national surplus, and therefore do not depress prices to other processors or to Midwestern dairy farmers, such handlers nevertheless complained strongly concerning competition in ice cream mix from a plant regulated under the Washington, D.C., order which sells, in terms of the entire New York-New Jersey ice cream market, a very minor percentage of ice cream mix in such market, contending that sales from this plant demoralize the price structure for all ice cream mix sales in Metropolitan New York and Northern New Jersey.

Both grounds cannot be accepted as proper basis for the proposition that no substantial change should be made in the New York-New Jersey Class III price level. The national competition in manufactured dairy products is not, in our view, dissimilar to the kind of competition in Class III milk products which is found to prevail among markets in the Northeast.

The New York-New Jersey handler proponents of the continuance of the butter-nonfat dry milk formula requested that certain prior decisions of the Department on Order No. 2 amendments be taken into account as further evidence supporting their proposals and for denying the use of a competitive pay price series for pricing Class III milk. Official notice was taken at the hearing of all previous decisions and order amendments, as they affected Class III pricing, back to and including the decision leading to the amendment of April 1, 1949.

Review of these decisions has been made, particularly with respect to (a) level of Class III prices; and (b) importance and justification of employing butter and nonfat dry milk prices as the monthly movers in the Class III price formula.

In several of these previous decisions, it was found, on the particular evidence under review, that while the prices paid at unregulated plants were a reliable guide for determining the level of the Class III price, the product prices (butter and nonfat dry milk) were preferred to reflect month-to-month changes in the value of products made from Class III milk, or which could be substituted for producer milk in the manufacture of certain Class III products.

The value of competitive pay prices as an appropriate method of fixing Class III prices under the regulation was repeatedly recognized, but in the particular circumstances shown by the testimony, it was concluded in the several decisions that prices of products which could be made from Class III milk, or substituted for it, should be given preference as the basis of the formula. It is noted, however, that in the decision of June 10, 1957, the Acting Secretary concluded that, "Dairy product prices and yield factors employed in the Class III formula are designed primarily to reflect changes in the market value of products made from Class III milk, and purport to constitute only an approximation of the actual returns to handlers from the sale of products made from Class III milk" (emphasis supplied). It is clear from review of past decisions that although the product price type of formula was retained in use, the trend and level of price which it had produced, or was expected to produce, had been checked against the "reliable guide" of prices paid by unregulated plant operators.

It is noted that in most of the decisions since 1949 relating to the Class III price formula in Order No. 2 the Secretary, in determining the appropriate level of the Class III price, compared it specifically with the U.S. average price. The U.S. average milk price series, therefore, has been used in the past either directly or indirectly in determining the level of the reserve milk prices for more than 85 percent of the producer milk involved in this hearing.

In the present hearing, the evidence presented, taken in its entirety, represented a broad, almost nationwide, viewpoint concerning the implications on the national markets for dairy products when prices in the Northeastern markets for milk in manufacturing uses tend to depart from the general level and trend of prices to dairy farmers generally for milk in these uses. The milk used in manufactured products under these orders, and particularly Order No. 2, represents significant quantities. The large urban areas of the Northeast represent principal markets for manufactured dairy products such as butter and cheese produced in other parts of the nation. Thus, on the basis of the evidence presently before the Secretary, the pricing of reserve milk to producers in the Northeastern Federal order markets is no longer a matter of local economic interest only and therefore cannot be dealt with simply in local terms.

There is substantial competition among the 10 regulated markets of the Northeast, both in the procurement of milk supplies and in the marketing of milk products into which reserve supplies of the individual markets are manufactured.

Handlers regulated under several New England orders procure producer milk in Eastern New York State in competition with handlers regulated by the New York-New Jersey order. Located in Washington County, New York, for example, are plants regulated by the New York-New Jersey, Greater Boston, and Connecticut milk orders which draw milk from substantially a common supply area. In the past a Southeastern New England pool handler also has procured milk in this county. New York-New Jersey handlers procure milk in Vermont, the major supply area for the Greater Boston market.

In Pennsylvania there are five counties in which there are plants regulated by the Philadelphia and New York-New Jersey orders. Handlers regulated by the Philadelphia, Wilmington, and New York-New Jersey orders are in direct procurement competition with Upper Chesapeake Bay handlers. Three New York-New Jersey pool plants which receive milk from producers are located in Maryland and Delaware and 74 such plants are located in Pennsylvania. Six Philadelphia producer milk (regulated) plants are located in Maryland and Delaware. The eastern shore of Maryland, all of which is included in the Upper Chesapeake Bay marketing area, is part of the regular supply area for the Philadelphia and New York-New Jersey markets as well as for the Upper Chesapeake Bay market.

This results in considerable overlapping of procurement (milkshed) areas for the 10 Northeastern markets.

Handlers regulated by the various Northeastern market orders compete in the distribution of most products manufactured from the markets' reserve supplies of producer milk, although the principal competition is in the so-called "soft products" (principally cream, condensed milk, ice cream, ice cream mix and cottage cheese). The markets for these products are highly competitive, with a considerable degree of overlapping of sales territories among markets.

Products manufactured from New York-New Jersey pool milk in the plants of a New York-New Jersey handler are distributed from New York City to Florida, with added distribution therefrom throughout the major cities of the Northeast. These include cottage cheese, cream cheese, and yogurt.

A manufacturer of American-type cheese operates several plants in New York State at which New York-New Jersey pool milk is utilized. The same manufacturer also operates a plant in Vermont which utilizes Boston order pool milk. Cheese manufactured at all these plants is marketed through a central distribution facility at Philadelphia under common brand both in conjunction with, and in competition with, other cheese manufactured from reserve milk priced under Northeastern orders and cheese manufactured in Midwestern states.

A principal Boston handler distributes manufactured milk products from its Boston-regulated plant in New York State in direct competition with products manufactured from New York-New Jersey pool milk. Several New England handlers regularly purchase butterfat and milk solids from New York-New Jersey pool plants for Class II milk uses. Also, New England handlers sometimes depend on manufacturing facilities in New York State as an outlet for seasonal surpluses of milk.

A manufacturing milk plant at Laurel, Maryland, regulated by the Washington, D.C., order, distributes manufactured products in Metropolitan New York and New Jersey in direct competition with New York-New Jersey handlers. The products distributed from this plant are mainly for use in the ice cream trade.

A New York-New Jersey regulated handler operates an unregulated ice cream plant at Woburn, Massachusetts, in the Greater Boston marketing area. The principal sources of butterfat for this plant are New York-New Jersey order pool plants.

New York State plants are regular sources of fluid cream (from Class III milk) for both the Philadelphia and Boston markets. Philadelphia and New York-New Jersey handlers compete for sales in a common market for manufactured milk products in southeastern Pennsylvania and in southern New Jersey.

The record does not indicate that local or state regulations affecting the quality of the raw milk used in manufactured milk products in the markets of the Northeast, operate to reduce intermarket competition to any substantial degree. Some manufacturers compete in products which have "national" markets (customarily supplied to a major extent with products made from ungraded milk). Insofar as health requirements are concerned milk from other fluid markets or processed milk products, such as butter, condensed milk, or nonfat dry milk purchased in the open market, can be substituted in manufacturing milk operations, such as ice cream processing.

Several regulated plants manufacturing reserve supplies of producer milk in these fluid markets are located in close proximity to the large population centers of the Northeast; particularly is this true of plants regulated by the New England and the New York-New Jersey orders. Also, the manufacturing plant at Laurel, Maryland, near Washington, D.C., and regulated by the Washington order, is as near to New York City and northern New Jersey as are many manufacturing plants regulated by the New York-New Jersey order.

The marketing problems which result when reserve milk prices in these fluid markets are out of line were clearly illustrated. In late 1960 and early 1961 an unusually strong "national" market for cheddar cheese increased the U.S. average prices, and consequently Class II prices in New England in relation to reserve milk prices in other Northeastern markets which employ formulas based on the market prices for butter or cream and nonfat dry milk in pricing reserve milk.

During this period New York-New Jersey handlers were successful in obtaining outlets in New England for Class III products, particularly fluid cream and ice cream, which had previously been supplied by New England handlers. During this period also, competition from New York-New Jersey handlers resulted in substantial price reductions on such products in New England markets and placed New England regulated handlers, accounting for milk at the Class II price under their respective orders, at a serious competitive disadvantage in the marketing of manufactured dairy products in their local markets.

At other times, particularly in the months of flush production, when New England Class II prices have been seasonally low in relation to the New York-New Jersey Class III price, a reverse competitive condition exists. Also, New York manufacturers sometimes turn at such times to sources in New England for manufacturing milk. A New York manufacturer testified that in the spring months of the year, New England cooperatives are an important source of cream for his cream cheese plant in Upper New York State. Use of New England cream in New York manufacturing plants in these circumstances tends, of course, to force New York-New Jersey order producer milk into the lowest-valued butter and cheese uses, thereby reducing returns to New York-New Jersey producers.

Under these conditions the orderly marketing of reserve supplies of producer milk calls for close alignment of surplus prices in the Northeastern regulated markets. Except for representatives of the Philadelphia handler association, all interested parties who presented testimony at the hearing, supported a high degree of uniformity among reserve milk prices under the 10 Northeastern orders.

Because of the varying distances of major locations of procurement competition to the basing points in the respective marketing areas, and because of somewhat different transportation rates per mileage zone contained in the orders, an identical price for each location in each milkshed in respect of the basing point at which the price is announced may not be achieved for each of the markets. This, however, is not as significant as achieving at this time relatively close alignment of prices at the principal locations of procurement competition.

The New York-New Jersey market represents the largest market in the Northeast. Also, the New York-New Jersey market is the only market which is in direct competition for supplies with nearly all of the 9 other markets under consideration. The alignment of reserve milk prices under the five New England orders, the Philadelphia and Wilmington orders, and the Upper Chesapeake Bay and Washington orders should be fixed, therefore, in relation to Class III prices under the New York-New Jersey order.

Class III prices under the New York-New Jersey order are announced, on the basis of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content, at plants located in the 201–210 mile zone. Class II prices for the Boston order also are announced for plants located in the 201–210 mile zone, but on 3.7 percent butterfat basis. These are the markets with the largest volumes of reserve milk for manufacture. The respective Class III and Class II prices under these orders should be similar at such location when adjusted to a common butterfat test.

The Class II prices under the four other New England orders (Connecticut, Southeastern New England, Springfield, and Worcester) presently are announced f.o.b. either city plants or other basing points in the respective marketing areas. The announced Class II price under each of these orders is the Boston Class II price plus 5.8 cents. Practically all the manufacturing facilities associated with these four orders are located within their marketing areas. The current alignment of prices among these orders, and between these orders and the Boston order, have not resulted in disruptive marketing conditions and no reason was presented to alter this relationship.

The transportation differential for Class II milk under the Connecticut, Southeastern New England, Springfield, and Worcester orders (specified in the orders as "zone price differentials") reduces the Class II prices under those orders 7 cents per hundredweight for plants located in the 201–210 mile zone. This compares with an 8-cent differential for such distance in the New York-New Jersey market. A plant regulated under the Connecticut order and in the 121–130 mile zone, but also so located that if it were subject to the New York-New Jersey order it would be in the 126–130 mile zone, would have a 1.7 cents lower Class II price under the Connecticut order than it would have Class III price if the plant were regulated by the New York-New Jersey order.

The major handler association in the Philadelphia market maintained that Class II prices under the Philadelphia order should not be aligned necessarily with Class III prices under the New York-New Jersey order and contended that local marketing conditions in Philadelphia dictate a different price structure. It was argued that Philadelphia is essentially a fluid milk market, with Class I sales amounting to 74 to 76 percent of producer receipts each year from 1949 through 1959. Because of this high Class I utilization, they contended that the seasonality of available Class II milk in the market is high, increasing the cost of manufacture under order No. 4.

The price relationship between the New York-New Jersey Federal order and the Philadelphia Federal order has varied by amounts up to 10 cents per hundredweight from year to year. The five-year average price (1956–1960) of Class II milk under the Philadelphia order, however, was less than the New York-New Jersey Class III price by only 1.5 cents per hundredweight. Over time, therefore, annual price differences between these orders have tended to balance out so that the long-term differences have been small.

There are five counties in Southeastern Pennsylvania (i.e., Chester, Berks, Cumberland, Franklin, and York), in which there are both Philadelphia and New York-New Jersey pool plants. These plants are located mainly in the 70.1–140 mile zone as set forth in the Philadelphia order. The plants in this area subject to the New York-New Jersey order are located in the 151–170 mile zone from the basing point in the New York-New Jersey marketing area.

Philadelphia price announcements are issued by the market administrator f.o.b. plants in the marketing area for 3.7 percent milk. The applicable location differential to handlers on Class II milk in the 70.1–140 mile zone is a minus 6 cents. The comparable price under the New York-New Jersey order at plants in the 151–170 mile zone is the Class III price in the 201–210 mile zone, plus two cents. To continue the close price alignment between these markets the price for Class II milk under order No. 4, as announced f.o.b. plants in the marketing area, for 3.7 percent milk should be the order No. 2 Class III price as announced for plants in the 201–210 mile zone for 3.5 percent milk (adjusted to a 3.7 percent basis), plus eight cents.

The announced Class II prices for the adjacent Wilmington market are identical with the announced Class II prices under the Philadelphia order. Appropriate changes made herein would maintain that same relationship on the findings previously made in this decision as to the need for aligning all the markets of the Northeast.

There are three order No. 2 plants located in the marketing area of the Upper Chesapeake Bay order. These plants are located in the 151–170 mile zone from the basing point in the New York-New Jersey marketing area. This mileage zone has a transportation differential on Class III milk of plus two cents over the 201–210 mile zone price. It is appropriate, therefore, that the Class II price under the Upper Chesapeake Bay order be set at two cents over the Class III price for 3.5 percent milk in the 201–210 mile zone under the New York-New Jersey order.

The Class II price formula effective in the Upper Chesapeake Bay order (also effective in the Washington, D.C., order) yielded Class II prices which, on the annual average in 1960, were two cents per hundredweight more than the New York-New Jersey Class III prices in the 201–210 mile zone.

Thus, it is reasonable that the Class II price level for the Upper Chesapeake Bay market continue in about the same relationship to New York-New Jersey Class III prices as in the past. In view of the direct and close competition in procurement between the Upper Chesapeake Bay market and the Washington, D.C., market, and the absence of indication in the record that the past price relationship between such adjacent markets has caused procurement or marketing difficulties, the same price formula should be adopted also for the Washington, D.C., market.

While a close alignment of prices among the 10 markets is appropriate, it is recognized that minor price differences among the markets will continue because of the varying location adjustment, or transportation, rates contained in the respective orders (the Upper Chesapeake Bay and Washington, D.C., orders do not provide for any plant location adjustment for Class II milk). Alignment within the limits provided by the evidence represents a substantial narrowing of past price differences among the markets, however, and will tend to promote the orderly marketing of milk. It would not be reasonable to delay the action proposed on the basis that minor differences resulting from variations in location adjustments, which were not under consideration at the hearing, would disrupt orderly marketing.

In the interest of maintaining the closest possible alignment of reserve milk prices in the 10 Northeastern markets, the attached amendments have deleted all references to "cream prices" in the computation of Class II prices under the five New England orders and the Philadelphia, Wilmington, Upper Chesapeake Bay and Washington orders.

The U.S. average price is reported on the basis of the average butterfat content of the milk covered. This butterfat test varies from month to month. Since the class prices under Federal orders are announced on a specified percentage of butterfat content, the U.S. average price should be adjusted to that butterfat test on which the price is announced in the particular market.

Prices under order No. 2 are based upon milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat content. The method to be used in converting the U.S. average price to a 3.5 percent basis should be as follows: Subtract for each one-tenth of one percent of average butterfat content above 3.5 percent, or add for each one-tenth of one percent of average butterfat content below 3.5 percent, an amount per hundredweight which shall be calculated by the market administrator by multiplying by 0.125 the average of the daily prices, using the midpoint of any range as one price, for Grade A (92-score) butter at wholesale in the New York market as reported for the period between the 16th day of the preceding month and the 15th day, inclusive, of the current month by the Department of Agriculture.

A similar method should be used in converting the U.S. average price as applied to the nine other Federal orders involved. In those markets, which base their announced prices on 3.7 percent butterfat, "3.7" should be used in the above method of computation in lieu of "3.5".

The butterfat differentials used in adjusting the prices of reserve milk vary considerably among the 10 markets. For example, the Boston, Springfield and Worcester Federal orders provided for an annual average butterfat differential of 7.5 cents per point 1/10 percent of butterfat) in 1958. The New York-New Jersey butterfat differential was 7.1 cents, and the Philadelphia and Wilmington butterfat differentials averaged 7.0 cents, per point for the same year. Between such three New England orders and the Philadelphia and Wilmington orders there was a difference of 0.5 cent per point. In 1959, the difference between the high and the low annual average butterfat differentials in such markets was 0.6 cent, and in 1960 it was 0.7 cent.

The monthly variations among the orders have been greater than the yearly average differences. For February 1961, the month in which the largest variation occurred, the Connecticut butterfat differential was 8.0 cents per point while the butterfat differential under each of the Philadelphia, Upper Chesapeake Bay, Washington, D.C., and Wilmington orders amounted to 6.8 cents, a difference of 1.2 cents per point.

Establishing uniformity in butterfat differentials on milk for manufacturing uses in Federal order markets in the Northeast also will assist in minimizing differences in prices to handlers under the different orders.

It will assist also in future comparisons of class prices among the markets, reducing confusion as to the proper basis for such comparisons. Today, price comparisons may vary depending upon which butterfat differentials are used in adjusting individual market prices to a common butterfat test. Prices compared may vary by as much as one or two cents per hundredweight depending upon the particular butterfat differentials used. An example of this is that for May and June 1960, conversion of the Boston Class II prices from 3.7 percent to 3.5 percent by use of the Boston butterfat differential results in Boston Class II prices lower than the New York-New Jersey Class III prices (May—Boston $2.822, New York-New Jersey $2.83; June—Boston $2.814, New York-New Jersey $2.82). If, however, New York-New Jersey Class III prices are converted from a 3.5 percent basis to 3.7 percent, using the New York-New Jersey butterfat differential, the Boston Class II prices exceed the New York-New Jersey Class III prices for such months (May—Boston $2.97, New York-New Jersey $2.966; June—Boston $2.96, New York-New Jersey $2.954). Although the differences in the prices arrived at by the two methods are relatively small in this example, such comparisons were used in the testimony to reach divergent conclusions.

For the purpose, therefore, of obtaining the best possible alignment of reserve milk prices, it is concluded that the Class III butterfat differential under the New York-New Jersey order and the Class II butterfat differentials under the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Upper Chesapeake Bay, Wilmington, Delaware, and Washington, D.C., orders should be computed in the same manner as the producer butterfat differential contained in the Boston, Southeastern New England, Springfield, and Worcester orders. Such differential is within the range of differentials currently in effect in the 10 markets. This is also the same butterfat differential used to convert the U.S. average price to a 3.5 precent butterfat basis under the respective orders.

The time period used in computing the average of the daily prices for Grade A (92-score) butter at wholesale, under the New York-New Jersey, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Upper Chesapeake Bay, and Washington orders has been changed from a monthly basis to "the period between the 16th day of the preceding month to the 15th day, inclusive, of the current month". This conforming change is desirable to make the butterfat differentials for reserve milk under all 10 of the orders the same.

A further conforming change is necessary to insure that the butterfat differential provision of the Connecticut order will be aligned with those in the other markets. The Connecticut order, like the four other New England orders, does not contain butterfat differentials for the separate classes of milk as such but provides for a single (producer) butterfat differential which, in effect, is applicable to each of the classes. Unlike the other New England markets, however, the present Connecticut producer butterfat differential is rounded to the nearest cent rather than to the nearest tenth of a cent. In order to make all butterfat differentials affecting the value of reserve milk identical, the Connecticut butterfat differential would be rounded to the nearest one-tenth of a cent rather than to the nearest full cent. This is appropriate since the difference in such "rounding" methods could result in a possible maximum difference, up or down, of 0.5 of a cent per point of butterfat (5 cents per pound of butterfat) changing the relative butterfat and skim milk values in producer milk by as much as 2.5 cents per hundredweight of the skim milk portion of the producer milk when the butterfat content varies 5 points from the standard. Such change thus will place the Connecticut market on equal terms with the other markets in the month-to-month disposition of reserve milk. Over time there should be little difference in the average butterfat differential value resulting from the two methods of rounding.

The provisions of the Springfield and Worcester, Massachusetts, orders regarding Class II prices and butterfat differentials do not contain specific formula language, but instead, refer to the appropriate provisions of the Boston order since the formula language would be identical with that of the Boston market. It is not necessary, therefore, to amend these two orders as a result of this hearing. The new formula, however, carries to these orders on the basis of their present relationship to the Boston order.

ISSUE No. 3

It is concluded that the proposed separate pricing of "excess" surplus milk utilized in manufactured dairy products by or for the account of an "incorporated marketing agency" of producer cooperative associations, and sold to the Commodity Credit Corporation under the national price support program, should not be adopted.

Three of the major producer groups operating primarily in the New York-New Jersey market submitted a proposal for the separate pricing of milk marketed under the following conditions:

(1) The handler has refused to receive milk because he is unwilling to account for it at the minimum prices under the order;

(2) The milk has been marketed by or for the account of an incorporated marketing agency formed, controlled and operated by cooperatives, either qualified for cooperative payments under the New York-New Jersey order or qualified for marketing services under one of the other Northeastern orders (at the hearing, this was modified to include cooperatives qualified under the orders for voting purposes); and

(3) The milk is marketed for such agency under the Government price support program for dairy products.

Such milk was described by proponents as "excess" surplus milk and is so termed for the discussion herein.

The classification price for the producer milk, so marketed, would be computed at the net price received by the agency after deduction of its expenses.

The general objectives of such proposals, as stated by proponents, are: (1) to clear the market of all "excess" surplus by utilizing the product outlets of the national dairy price support program, (2) to obtain higher returns for milk in other Class III uses, and (3) to improve the bargaining position of the cooperative associations.

Although the general objectives apply to all the proposals, the method or approach differed. Proponents of proposals 3 and 5 in the notice would provide only for enabling language in the orders to establish and operate such a marketing agency. Proposal 3 would apply to all the Northeastern Federal milk orders and complementary New York and New Jersey State orders. Proposal 5 would apply to all the Northeastern Federal milk orders, companion New York and New Jersey State orders, and other Northeastern state milk orders as well. Proposal 14 would limit the agency's operation to the New York-New Jersey market and it also specifies more detailed operating conditions which such an agency would be required to meet.

In order to achieve the general objectives outlined, an additional use-category without a specific price or price formula is proposed for the disposition of producer milk under the above-described conditions. The marketing agency would market the excess surplus milk and would compute a "net" price after processing, and handling costs are deducted. Such net price would be used each month in computing the pool obligation on such milk. By being marketed in this manner it was contended that the milk would be insulated from competition with milk marketed in normal commercial channels.

The marketing agency proposals were prompted by certain other proposals which would change the basis and level of pricing surplus milk in the New York-New Jersey and other Northeastern Federal order markets. It was contended that if Class III milk prices under Order No. 2 are to be increased, there is need to provide additional mechanics for the disposal of both "tail-end" quantities of surplus milk which handlers do not accept and of such increased quantities of milk as might be induced by a higher Class III price level which might not be wanted by proprietary handlers. It was the position of proponents of proposals 3 and 5 that the expense associated with a "guaranteed" alternative market for excess surplus milk should be shared by producers of all regulated markets in the Northeast region.

Proponents generally envisage a marketing agency established and incorporated by those cooperative associations which meet any of the following conditions: are qualified for "cooperative payments" under Order No. 2, are qualified to receive deductions from monies due producer members as provided by the marketing services provisions contained in the other Federal milk orders of the Northeast where such provisions are effective, or meet the requirements of the "Capper-Volstead" Act.

As described by proponents, the organizational structure of the marketing agency would be determined entirely by the participating cooperatives. Each participating cooperative would be represented on the governing board of the agency as a matter of right. Voting representation of the participating cooperatives on the board would be left to the by-laws adopted by the agency. It was the expressed intent, particularly as to proposals 3 and 5, to keep the jurisdictional powers of the Secretary at a minimum in the formation and operations of the agency.

The cooperative marketing agency would establish an office apart from those of participating cooperatives. The agency, in disposing of excess-surplus milk, presumably would guarantee an "alternative" market for producers. However, at least one proponent testified that a cooperative marketing agency of this kind should not be required to accept all the milk referred to it.

Handlers who are unwilling to account for a quantity of Class III milk at the minimum (formula) Class III price established by the order could utilize the agency to market such milk. In practice, a handler would notify the cooperative marketing agency in advance that certain milk is not wanted. The cooperative marketing agency would negotiate with the handler to process the milk, or would arrange for its delivery to another plant for processing. In the first instance, the cooperative marketing agency and the handler would negotiate a handling allowance to the handler for services performed in receiving, weighing and testing the milk. Certain of the proponents would limit this allowance to not more than 17 cents per hundredweight of milk. To the extent that this amount would be insufficient to cover the actual cost of these services at a particular plant, such plant would make a contribution to the cost of the "rescue" operation performed by the cooperative marketing agency. Another proponent would limit the handling allowance to the actual costs involved plus 6 percent, or 17 cents per hundredweight, whichever is less. Any plant accepting milk from the cooperative marketing agency would contract to take it for a stated period of time with the guarantee that the products made from such milk would be acceptable for purchase by the government under the national price support program. Full processing and transport costs would be allowed in addition to the negotiated allowance for receiving and testing.

Certain basic operating conditions stated in connection with proposal 14 in the hearing notice were (1) the cooperative marketing agency must market all the milk offered to it if the handler certifies to the market administrator that his handling of the milk involved would be unprofitable at prevailing order prices, and (2) the market administrator could not approve such certification if the handler increased his total volume by adding producers to his payroll or by otherwise obtaining milk from producers who had delivered previously to other markets. The latter condition would require the market administrator to verify the alleged unprofitability in handling by the proprietary handler. The obligation on the cooperative marketing agency to take the milk from such handler would be dependent on such determination and verification. It is not clear from the testimony, however, whether such unprofitability has reference to the total operations of the handler, or to certain aspects of handling.

Having negotiated a handling charge, and arranged for milk to be processed at a plant, the cooperative marketing agency would notify the handler from whom the milk was taken of the "net" price at which the milk should be accounted for under the order. Unless the cooperative marketing agency, or "clearing house", operated facilities of its own as a handler, accountability to the pool would be accomplished through the handler for whom the milk is marketed. Such net price would be the amount received by the agency less handling, transportation and overhead expense. The net price necessarily would be a preliminary figure subject to subsequent adjustment depending on the overhead expense of the cooperative marketing agency, as finally determined by the agency.

The proposals recognized the desirability of disclosure of the financial operations of the cooperative marketing agency. One proposal would vest accounting responsibility in the market administrator. The specific means for auditing agency operations were not indicated in connection with the other proposals.

Proponents contend that existing milk manufacturing facilities are sufficient in the New York-New Jersey market and in other markets of the Northeast to accommodate all quantities of milk likely to be handled by the cooperative marketing agency. Proponents do not preclude, however, the acquisition by the agency of its own processing facilities for the specified purposes. At least one proponent stated the position that the operations of the cooperative marketing agency could generate the funds therefor if such facilities were deemed necessary. The main objective of such an acquisition would be to place producers in position to compete favorably with efficient Midwestern plants processing butter and nonfat dry milk.

The principal effects of the proposals would be to (1) establish a limited use-classification for "excess" surplus milk without a corresponding fixed minimum price, or specific method for fixing minimum prices, which all handlers shall pay, (2) create a cooperative marketing agency to market the milk accounted for in such use, (3) permit handlers to avoid payment of the prevailing Class III milk price on a portion of their receipts, and (4) assess to all producers in the market the costs incurred in marketing excess surplus milk.

The concept of equalizing among producers the returns from the sale of their milk is contained in all the Federal milk marketing orders in the Northeast either by marketwide pooling or through individual-handler pools, as provided by the statute. Such equalization is dependent upon the minimum value of the milk utilized by handlers. This minimum value is determined from the specific methods for fixing the minimum class prices established by the respective orders. Classified pricing is fundamental to such equalization.

Since the proposed cooperative marketing agency would arrive at prices for milk disposed of from time to time as individual quanties of "excess" surplus milk on the basis of negotiation of the receiving and processing costs associated therewith, such prices under Order No. 2, or any of the other orders in the Northeast, normally would not be uniform among all handlers because of the variations resulting from separate negotiations. An "open-end" plan of negotiating different prices with various handlers for individual lots of milk does not provide assurance of uniform applicability to all handlers.

The preliminary nature of the net price which the proposed agency would determine could prevent or unduly delay the fixing of a specified time at which payment shall be made for milk. In large measure, the success of equalization revolves around a "producers" fund which is solvent and to which all contribute in accordance with a formula equitably determined and of uniform applicability. Failure by handlers to meet their obligations promptly would threaten the whole scheme. Even temporary defaults by some handlers could work unfairness to others, encourage wider noncompliance, and engender doubt and distrust which could dislocate delicate economic arrangements. None of the proposals under consideration contemplated full payment for the milk involved within the periods for payment provided by the several Northeast orders.

Discussion of the problems of determining appropriate Class III milk prices under Order No. 2 is contained in exhibits 14–19 of the record. These exhibits have been referred to earlier as the "Clark study", a marketing research project sponsored by the Department. This study concludes, among other things, that the price-making agency might find it feasible and desirable to control the physical handling of "excess" surplus milk by operating its own processing facilities, or by designating one or more firms within the industry to act in its behalf to dispose of milk not wanted by handlers, so that the pricing agency in setting the general price level for Class III milk under Order No. 2 would not need to be concerned with the possibility of some milk remaining unsold. We believe this suggestion was predicated on the assumption that the pricing agency would have the authority and responsibility of assuring that all the milk produced finds a market.

While such authority and responsibility are not provided, the Secretary is required, on the other hand, to fix classification prices or methods of pricing which, in meeting specific criteria, must be at a level in the public interest. The problem involved in achieving this result when delegation of such responsibility is involved was described in a final decision issued August 13, 1954, by the Assistant Secretary relating to proposed amendments to Order No. 2, official notice of which is taken. At that time the proposal was a "flexible" pricing plan, with a general objective somewhat similar to that underlying the present marketing agency proposal. The proposal at that time would have authorized the market administrator to establish, within prescribed limits, handling allowances to handlers in connection with the disposition of surplus milk. A condition of the 1954 proposal was that such allowances could be revoked by the Secretary within a specified time period. In view of this proposed "veto" it was found that the prospect of obtaining different decisions than might be arrived at by the Secretary would be indeed remote in any situation where the proposed delegation of authority tended to preclude the Secretary from effectively discharging the responsibilities for the fixing of minimum prices to producers imposed upon him by the statute. Thus, the 1954 decision correctly observed that the price-making responsibility vested in the Secretary by the Act must not be rendered ineffective by delegation. In denial of the proposal, it was found that such an arrangement was not an acceptable method of increasing flexibility in the pricing of Class III milk. A difficulty similar in principle is involved in the present proposal.

It is concluded that none of the proposals to establish a cooperative marketing agency to market "excess" surplus milk under the conditions contemplated may be adopted.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions and on motions. Briefs and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of certain interested parties. These briefs, proposed findings and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by interested parties are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

Rulings of the presiding officer to which specific objections were taken in the briefs have been reviewed. Objections were raised to the Presiding Officer's ruling upon the following: (1) denial of cross-examination of a cooperative association representative as to the circumstances now present which had not been considered previously by the Secretary in prior decisions on Class III price formula proposals; and (2) the exclusion of testimony in support of revision of transportation (location) differential rates for Class II or III milk in the respective orders as not being within the scope of the notice of hearing.

In compliance with § 900.9(b) of the rules of practice, a brief was filed in which it was maintained that the Presiding Officer was in error in his ruling on the admission of testimony as described in (1) above. The findings and conclusions contained herein are based necessarily upon the evidence adduced at this hearing. Official notice was taken of the findings and conclusions in previous decisions (as cited in the hearing record) by the Secretary, however, and the content thereof taken into account in relation to the other evidence adduced at this hearing.

The motion on the second objection cited above was supported by an offer of proof under § 900.8(d)(6) of the rules of practice (7 CFR Part 900). In compliance with § 900.9(b) of the rules of practice, a brief was filed by the interested party which requested review of the ruling made by the Presiding Officer to exclude testimony on a proposal contained in the Hearing Notice which referred to coordination of transportation, or plant location, differentials in all Northeastern Federal orders.

Specifically, this proposal would establish a new method of rate determination to result in revised zone rate schedules for each order currently containing such a schedule and providing a schedule where not so provided by the present order. In ruling on the admission of testimony on such proposal, the Presiding Officer stated his view that the notice would permit consideration of the coordination of transportation rates now in effect in the respective orders in relation to any changes made in the pricing formulas under review, but that the notice did not permit consideration of new bases for the determination of rates. The Presiding Officer granted the motion of those interested parties who complained that the notice was inadequate for the receipt of evidence on such matter. As further discussed in this decision, the relationship of reserve milk prices to be established by the amendments proposed herein takes into account price adjustments based on location.

A review of the supporting statements offered and rulings of the Presiding Officer on these motions has been made. Such rulings are hereby affirmed.

General findings. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid orders and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing areas, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such respective prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Recommended marketing agreement and order amending the order. The following orders amending the orders regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Boston, Massachusetts; New York-New Jersey; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Southeastern New England; Springfield, Massachusetts; Upper Chesapeake Bay; Washington, D.C.; Worcester, Massachusetts; Wilmington, Delaware, and Connecticut marketing areas, respectively, are recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreements are not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be the same as those contained in the respective orders, as hereby proposed to be amended:

WHEREAS, together with eighty-six other societies affiliated in the League of Red Cross Societies, the American Red Cross participates in a program of international relief, and in concert with those societies provides technical assistance to other members of the world-wide Red Cross organization; and

WHEREAS the American Red Cross and its local chapters carry on programs of training in first aid and home nursing and engage in the collection and distribution of blood both of which services make an important contribution to the general welfare of the American people and, more particularly, are an essential part of the National Emergency Preparedness activities of this Nation; and

SUBCHAPTER B—LOANS, PURCHASES, AND OTHER OPERATIONS

[Livestock Feed Bulletin 1; Rev. 1, Amdt. 1]

PART 475—EMERGENCY FEED PROGRAM

Subpart—Livestock Feed Program

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The regulations issued by the Commodity Credit Corporation published in 26 F.R. 8271 which contain specific requirements for the continuing Livestock Feed Program are amended as follows:

§ 475.210 [Amendment]

The second sentence of § 475.210(c)(4) is amended to read as follows: "CCC shall refund to the owner any storage charges which had been deducted by it from the loan proceeds on the quantity of grain purchased by the owner."

§ 475.211 [Amendment]

The third sentence of § 475.211 Sales of CCC-owned grain is amended to read as follows: "An owner who wishes to have grain delivered to him by CCC ground or custom mixed may do so, provided the grain which is ground or mixed is the very same grain as is delivered to him, or, if the grinding or mixing is performed by a custom operator, provided the product delivered after grinding or mixing is processed from the same kind, quality and quantity of grain that was delivered for grinding or mixing."

Section 475.212 Grain on hand and not used is amended to read as follows:

§ 475.212 Grain not used for approved purposes.

The owner must feed to his primary livestock by a date not later than 30 days after the end of his last authorized period (a) a total quantity of feed grain, either as grain or in mixed feed, equal in feed equivalents to the feed grain acquired by him under the program for primary livestock plus (b) a quantity of feed grain equal in feed grain equivalents to the feed grain which is otherwise available to the owner for feeding his primary livestock. The feed grain referred to in paragraph (a) of this section shall be determined by allocating the feed grain available to the owner (as defined in § 475.205(d)(4)) between primary livestock and other livestock in accordance with the owner's normal feeding operations. The owner shall not dispose of feed grain acquired from CCC to any other person. In the event the owner fails to feed such quantity to primary livestock or if the owner disposes of grain acquired from CCC to any other person, he shall report the fact promptly to the county office from which the grain was purchased and shall make proper settlement with the county committee. Settlement of violations shall be based on prices in effect at the time of the owner's last purchase of the applicable feed grain under the program and shall be determined as follows: (1) In the case of feed grain which the owner was required by the first sentence of this section to feed to primary livestock but which CCC determines was diverted to secondary livestock, the amount of settlement shall be based on the difference between the applicable price of the feed grain for primary livestock and the lowest price at which the owner could obtain the feed grain from CCC for secondary livestock times the number of bushels thus diverted; (2) In the case of any other failure to comply with the requirements of this section, settlement shall be based on the difference between the applicable price of the feed grain for primary livestock and the lowest price at which the owner could obtain such feed grain from CCC for unrestricted use times the total number of bushels in this category; (3) The kind and quality of feed grains on which settlement of violations shall be based shall be the applicable kind and quality obtained from CCC which (i) was disposed of to any other person, (ii) is still on hand, or (iii) is the kind and quality last purchased from CCC to the extent that such purchases from CCC equal the feed grain equivalent of the violation, and otherwise to the extent other feed grains purchased from CCC in reverse order of date of purchase equal the feed grain equivalent of the balance of the violation.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on January 23, 1962.

E. A. JAENKE,
Acting Executive Vice President, Commodity Credit Corporation.

[Navel Orange Reg. 4]

PART 907—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

§ 907.304 Navel Orange Regulation 4.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 907, as amended (7 CFR Part 907), regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such navel oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act by tending to establish and maintain such orderly marketing conditions for such oranges as will provide, in the interests of producers and consumers, an orderly flow of the supply thereof to market throughout the normal marketing season to avoid unreasonable fluctuations in supplies and prices, and is not for the purpose of maintaining prices to farmers above the level which it is declared to be the policy of Congress to establish under the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for navel oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such navel oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on January 25, 1962.

[Orange Reg. 2]

PART 944—FRUITS; IMPORT REGULATIONS

Prohibitions of Imported Commodities

§ 944.301 Orange Regulation No. 2.

(a) Findings and determinations with respect to imports of oranges. On October 10, 1961, Orange Regulation No. 1 (§ 944.300; 26 F.R. 9668) was issued regulating the importation of oranges into the United States pursuant to section 8e of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). Such regulation included a determination that imports of oranges are in most direct competition with oranges grown in the State of Texas. The reasons and basis of such determination are set forth in the regulation and include (i) Mexico is the principle source of oranges imported into the United States and most of such imports enter the United States at points in Texas, (ii) such imports generally are shipped from the lower Rio Grande Valley in Texas by handlers of Texas oranges and often are commingled with shipments of Texas oranges, and (iii) Mexican oranges go to the same markets as oranges grown in Texas.

During the period January 9–12, 1962, freezing temperatures prevailed throughout the citrus fruit production area in Texas severely damaging the current Texas orange crop. Shipments of Texas oranges are expected to be curtailed drastically and will represent only a minor portion of the total domestic shipments of oranges during the remainder of the 1961–62 marketing season. It is therefore found and determined, on the basis of information now available, that after January 31, 1962, imports of oranges will no longer be in most direct competition with oranges grown in Texas but, during the effective time of this regulation, will be in most direct competition with oranges grown in the State of Florida. The requirements hereinafter set forth in the section are comparable to those in effect for domestic shipments of Florida oranges (Orange Regulation 1, § 905.302; 27 F.R. 164).

(b) Limitation of imports. On and after 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., February 1, 1962, the importation into the United States of any oranges is prohibited unless such oranges are inspected and grade at least U.S. No. 1 Russet, and are of a size not smaller than 2$\frac{8}{16}$ inches in diameter, except that not more than 10 percent, by count, of such oranges in any lot of containers, and not more than 15 percent, by count, of such oranges in individual containers in such lot, may be of a size smaller than 2$\frac{6}{16}$ inches in diameter.

(c) The Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, is hereby designated as the governmental inspection service for the purpose of certifying the grade, size, quality, and maturity of oranges that are imported into the United States under the provisions of section 8e of the act. Inspection by the Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service with appropriate evidence thereof in the form of an official inspection certificate, issued by the respective service, applicable to the particular shipment of oranges, is required on all imports of oranges. Such inspection and certification services will be available upon application in accordance with the rules and regulations governing inspection and certification of fresh fruits, vegetables, and other products (7 CFR Part 51) but, since inspectors are not located in the immediate vicinity of some of the small ports of entry, such as those in southern California, importers of oranges should make arrangements for inspection, through the applicable one of the following offices, at least the specified number of days prior to the time when the oranges will be imported:

Ports	Office	Advance notice

All Arizona points.	R. H. Bertelsen, 136 Grande Av., Nogales, Ariz. (Phone Atwater 7-2902).	Do.
All Florida points.	Lloyd W. Boney, 1200 N.W. 2[Terrace, Room 5, Miami Fla. (Phone: Newton 5-7967) or Hubert S. Flynt, 775 Warner Street, Orlando Fla. (Phone: Garden 2-2447).	Do.
All California points.	Carley D. Williams, 784 South Central Ave., Room 294, Los Angeles 21, Calif. (Phone: Madison 2-8756).	3 days.
All other points.	E. E. Conklin, Fruit and Vegetable Division, AMS U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C. (Phone: Dudley 8-5870).	Do.

(d) Inspection certificates shall cover only the quantity of oranges that is being imported at a particular port of entry by a particular importer.

(e) The inspection performed, and certificates issued, by the Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service shall be in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Department governing the inspection and certification of fresh fruits, vegetables, and other products (7 CFR Part 51). The cost of any inspection and certification shall be borne by the applicant therefor.

(f) Each inspection certificate issued with respect to any oranges to be imported into the United States shall set forth, among other things:

(1) The date and place of inspection;

(2) The name of the shipper, or applicant;

(3) The commodity inspected;

(4) The quantity of the commodity covered by the certificate;

(5) The principal identifying marks on the container;

(6) The railroad car initials and number, the truck and the trailer license number, the name of the vessel, or other identification of the shipment; and

(7) The following statement, if the facts warrant: Meets U.S. import requirements under section 8e of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended.

(g) Notwithstanding any other provision of this regulation, any importation of oranges which, in the aggregate, does not exceed five 1⅗ bushel boxes, or equivalent quantity, may be imported without regard to the restrictions specified herein.

(h) Nothing contained in this section shall be deemed to preclude any importer from reconditioning prior to importation any shipment of oranges for the purpose of making it eligible for importation under the act.

(i) No provisions of this section shall supersede the restrictions or prohibitions on oranges under the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912.

(j) The terms "U.S. No. 1 Russet" and "diameter" shall have the same meaning as when used in the United States Standards for Florida Oranges and Tangelos (§§ 51.1140–51.1178 of this title). "Importation" means release from custody of the United States Bureau of Customs.

(k) Orange Regulation No. 1 (§ 944.-301; 26 F.R. 9668, 9905; 27 F.R. 8, 458) is hereby terminated at 12:01 a.m., e.s.t., February 1, 1962.

It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to postpone the effective time of this regulation beyond that hereinafter specified (5 U.S.C. 1001–1011) in that (a) the requirements of this import regulation are imposed pursuant to section 8e of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674; 75 Stat. 305), which makes such regulation mandatory; (b) the grade and size requirements of this import regulation are comparable to those in effect on domestic shipments of oranges under Orange Regulation 1 (§ 905.302; 27 F.R. 164); (c) compliance with this import regulation will not require any special preparation which cannot be completed by the effective time; (d) notice hereof in excess of three days, the minimum that is prescribed by said section 8e, is given with respect to this import regulation; and (e) such notice is hereby determined, under the circumstances, to be reasonable.

Dated: January 25, 1962.

Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Sulfur Dioxide and Sodium Metabisulfite; Final Order

Neither comments nor objections were received in response to the notice of proposed rule making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER November 18, 1961 (26 F.R. 10810), with regard to revoking the exemption from the requirement of a tolerance of sodium metabisulfite on stored grains and limiting the exemption with respect to the use of sulfur dioxide on grains.

Therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (b), (e), 68 Stat. 512, 514; 21 U.S.C. 346a (b), (e)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (25 F.R. 8625), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities are amended by changing § 120.180 (21 CFR 120.180) to read as follows:

§ 120.180 Exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for residues of sulfur dioxide from use in fumigants for stored grains.

Residues from the use of sulfur dioxide in liquid grain-fumigant formulations for marker or fire-retardant purposes at levels not exceeding 5 percent by weight of such formulations are exempted from the requirement of a tolerance in or on barley, buckwheat, corn, oats, popcorn, rice, rye, grain sorghum (milo), wheat.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D.C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Tolerances for Residues of Folpet

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration by California Chemical Company, Ortho Division, Lucas Street and Ortho Way, Richmond, California, requesting the establishment of tolerances for residues of N-(trichloro methylthio) phthalimide (common name folpet) in or on apples, avocados, blackberries, blueberries, boysenberries, cantaloups, celery, cherries, citrus fruits, crabapples, cranberries, cucumbers, currants, dewberries, endive (escarole), garlic, gooseberries, grapefruit, grapes, honeydew melons, huckleberries, leeks, lemons, lettuce, limes, loganberries, muskmelons, onions, oranges, pumpkins, raspberries, shallots, strawberries, summer squash, tangelos, tangerines, tomatoes, watermelons, and winter squash at 50 parts per million. Endive (escarole) was later withdrawn from the petition.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purposes for which tolerances are being established.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that the tolerances established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (25 F.R. 8625), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended by adding thereto the following new section:

§ 120.191 Tolerances for residues of folpet.

Tolerances for residues of folpet (N-(trichloromethylthio) phthalimide) in or on raw agricultural commodities are established as follows:

50 parts per million in or on apples, avocados, blackberries, blueberries, boysenberries, celery, cherries, citrus fruits, crabapples, cranberries, cucumbers, currants, dewberries, garlic, gooseberries, grapes, huckleberries, leeks, lettuce, loganberries, melons, onions, pumpkins, raspberries, shallots, strawberries, summer squash, tomatoes, winter squash.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D.C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 141a—PENICILLIN AND PENICILLIN-CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

PART 146—GENERAL REGULATIONS FOR THE CERTIFICATION OF ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

Sodium Oxacillin

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (25 F.R. 8625), the regulations for tests and methods of assay and certification of penicillin and penicillin-containing drugs (21 CFR Parts 141a, 146, 146a, 147) are amended as follows:

1. Part 141 is amended by adding thereto the following new sections:

§ 141a.104 Sodium oxacillin.

(a) Potency. Use the sodium oxacillin working standard as the standard of comparison, and proceed as directed in § 141a.1, except:

(1) Plate assay. (i) Prepare a stock solution containing 1,000 micrograms per milliliter. Prepare the standard curve by further diluting this stock solution, using 1 percent phosphate buffer, pH 6.0, to final concentrations of 3.2, 4.0, 5.0, 6.25, and 7.8 micrograms per milliliter. The 5.0 micrograms per milliliter is the reference concentration.

(ii) Determine the inoculum of the Staphylococcus aureus suspension to be used for the seed layer by adding varying volumes of the standard suspension to 100-milliliter volumes of the seed agar. Run test plates with the different inocula and the sodium oxacillin reference concentration. Select as the optimum inoculum the one that results in the clearest and best defined zones of inhibition (usually between 0.3 milliliter and 1.0 milliliter per 100 milliliters of seed agar).

(2) Iodometric assay. If the iodometric assay is used, use a solution containing 1.0 milligram per milliliter.

(b) Toxicity. Proceed as directed in § 141a.4, except use sodium chloride injection as the diluent and inject 0.5 milliliter of a solution containing 20 milligrams activity per milliliter.

(c) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.26(e).

(d) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141a.5(b).

(e) Crystallinity. Proceed as directed in § 141a.5(c).

(f) Sodium oxacillin content. Accurately weight approximately 60 milligrams of sample, and transfer to a 100-milliliter volumetric flask. Dissolve and dilute the sample to the mark with distilled water. Pipette a 5.0-milliliter aliquot of the sample solution into a 22 x 200 millimeter test tube, and add 5 milliliters of 10 N NaOH. Mix the solutions, and place the tube in a boiling water bath for 60 minutes. Cool the tube, carefully add 10 milliliters of 6 N HCl, mix, and place the tube in the boiling water bath for 10 minutes. Position the tube in the bath so that the two liquid levels are the same. After heating, remove the tube from the bath, carefully agitate the contents of the tube, and cool to room temperature. Quantitatively transfer the contents of the tube to a 250-milliliter volumetric flask. Add approximately 200 milliliters of freshly boiled and cooled distilled water, then 4.0 milliliters of 7.5 N NH_4OH, and dilute to volume with freshly boiled and cooled distilled water. Determine the absorbance on a suitable spectrophotometer at 235 millimicrons against a reagent blank. Run concurrently with the sodium oxacillin standard, and calculate as follows:

(g) Identity. Use the sample solution prepared in paragraph (f) of this section and record the ultraviolet spectrum between 230 millimicrons and 260 millimicrons. It should be basically identical to that of the standard similarly treated.

§ 141a.105 Sodium oxacillin tablets.

(a) Potency. Place a representative number of tablets (usually 3 to 12) in a blending jar and add thereto approximately 200 milliliters of a 500-milliliter quantity of 1 percent phosphate buffer, pH 6.0. After blending for 1 minute with a high-speed blender, add the remainder of the 500 milliliters of buffer. Blend again for 1 minute and make the proper estimated dilutions to 5.0 micrograms per milliliter in 1 percent phosphate buffer, pH 6.0. Follow the plate assay procedure given in § 141a.104. The average potency of sodium oxacillin tablets is satisfactory if they contain not less than 90 percent of the number of milligrams per tablet that they are represented to contain.

(b) Moisture. Use four tablets and proceed as directed in § 141a.26(e).

§ 141a.106 Sodium oxacillin capsules.

(a) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 141a.105. The average potency of the sodium oxacillin capsules is satisfactory if they contain not less than 90 percent of the number of milligrams per capsule that they are represented to contain.

(b) Moisture. Use the contents of 4 capsules and proceed as directed in § 141a.26(e).

(b) Packaging. In all cases the immediate container shall be a tight container as defined by the U.S.P., and shall be of such composition as will not cause any change in the strength, quality, or purity of the contents beyond any limit therefor in applicable standards, except that minor changes so caused that are normal and unavoidable in good packaging, storage, and distribution practice shall be disregarded.

(c) Labeling. Each package shall bear on its outside wrapper or container and the immediate container, as hereinafter indicated, the following:

(1) The batch mark.

(2) The number of micrograms per milligram and the number of grams in the immediate container.

(4) The statement "For use in the manufacture of nonparenteral drugs only."

(5) The statement "Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription."

(d) Request for certification; samples. (1) In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, a person who requests certification of a batch shall submit with his request a statement showing the batch mark, the number of packages of each size in the batch, and the date on which the latest assay of the drug comprising such batch was completed. Such request shall be accompanied or followed by the results of tests and assays made by him of the batch for potency, toxicity, moisture, pH, sodium oxacillin content, crystallinity, and identity.

(2) Such person shall submit with his request an accurately representative sample of the batch, consisting of nine packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams plus one package containing approximately 2 grams, taken from a different part of the batch, packaged in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section.

(1) $5.00 for each immediate container in the sample submitted in accordance with paragraph (d)(2) of this section.

(2) If the Commissioner considers that investigations other than examination of such immediate containers are necessary to determine whether or not such batch complies with the requirements of § 146.3 of this chapter for the issuance of a certificate, the cost of such investigations.

The fee prescribed by this paragraph shall accompany the request for certification, unless such fee is covered by an advance deposit maintained in accordance with § 146.8(d) of this chapter.

§ 146a.13 Sodium oxacillin tablets.

(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Sodium oxacillin tablets are tablets composed of sodium oxacillin, with or without one or more suitable and harmless buffer substances, diluents, binders, lubricants, colorings, and flavorings. The potency of each tablet is not less than 250 milligrams. Its moisture content is not more than 6.0 percent. The sodium oxacillin conforms to the requirements of § 146a.12 (a). Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U.S.P. or N.F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

The immediate container may also contain a desiccant separated from the tablets by a plug of cotton or other like material. The composition of the immediate container, or of the foil or film enclosure, shall be such as will not cause any change in the strength, quality, or purity of the contents beyond any limit therefor in applicable standards, except that minor changes so caused that are normal and unavoidable in good packaging, storage, and distribution practice shall be disregarded.

(c) Labeling. In addition to the labeling requirements prescribed by § 1.106 (b) of this chapter (regulations issued under section 502(f) of the act), each package shall bear on the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container, as hereinafter indicated, the following:

Effective date. This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463 as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357)

PART 141e—BACITRACIN AND BACITRACIN-CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

Bacitracin-Neomycin Tablets; Moisture

No comments nor objections were filed to the proposal of the Commissioner of Food and Drugs published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 20, 1961 (26 F.R. 9873) regarding moisture tests in bacitracin-neomycin tablets. Therefore, effective as of the date of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463 as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357), and under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare and delegated to the Commissioner (25 F.R. 8625): It is ordered, That the regulations for tests and methods of assay for bacitracin and bacitracin-containing drugs (21 CFR 141e.410) be amended as follows:

Section 141e.410(b)(3) is amended to read as follows:

§ 141e.410 Bacitracin-neomycin tablets; zinc bacitracin-neomycin tablets; bacitracin methylene disalicylate-neomycin tablets.

• • • • •

(b) • • •

(3) Moisture. In an atmosphere of about 10 percent relative humidity, transfer about 100 milligrams of the finely powdered sample to a tared weighing bottle equipped with ground-glass top and stopper. Weigh the bottle and place it in a vacuum oven, tilting the stopper on its side so that there is no closure during the drying period. Dry at a temperature of 60° C. and a pressure of 5 millimeters of mercury or less for 3 hours. At the end of the drying period fill the vacuum oven with air dried by passing it through a drying agent such as sulfuric acid or silica gel. Replace the stopper and place the weighing bottle in a desiccator over a desiccating agent such as phosphorous pentoxide or silica gel, allow to cool to room temperature, and reweigh. Calculate the percent loss.

PART 146a—CERTIFICATION OF PENICILLIN AND PENICILLIN-CONTAINING DRUGS

Phenethicillin Potassium

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (25 F.R. 8625), the regulations for certification of penicillin and penicillin-containing drugs (21 CFR 146a.16, 146a.17; 26 F.R. 7733) are amended as follows:

1. In § 146a.16, paragraph (c)(3) is amended to read as follows:

§ 146a.16 Phenethicillin potassium (potassium α-phenoxyethyl penicillin).

• • • • • •

(c) Labeling. • • •

(3) The statement "Expiration date ----------," the blank being filled in with the date that is 24 months after the month during which the batch was certified, except that the blank may be filled in with the date that is 30 months after the month during which the batch was certified if the person who requests certification has submitted to the Commissioner results of tests and assays showing that after having been stored for such period of time such drug as prepared by him complies with the standards prescribed by paragraph (a) of this section.

2. Section 146a.17 is amended in the following respects:

a. Paragraph (a) is amended by changing the text of the third sentence. As amended, this paragraph reads as follows:

§ 146a.17 Phenethicillin potassium (potassium α-phenoxyethyl penicillin) tablets.

(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Phenethicillin potassium tablets are tablets composed of phenethicillin potassium, with or without one or more suitable and harmless buffer substances, diluents, binders, lubricants, colorings, and flavorings, and with or without one or more suitable analgesic substances, antihistaminics, and vasoconstrictors. The potency of each tablet is not less than 50,000 units, and if it is less than 100,000 units it is unscored. Its moisture content is not more than 1.5 percent unless the person who requests certification has submitted to the Commissioner information adequate to prove that his drug is stable when it has a moisture content exceeding this amount. In no case shall its moisture content exceed 2.0 percent. The phenethicillin potassium conforms to the requirements of § 146a.16(a). Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U.S.P. or N.F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

b. Paragraph (c)(1)(v) is amended by changing the words "18 months or 24 months" to read "18 months, 24 months, or 30 months".

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since the changes are not restrictive in nature and cannot be applied to any specific product unless and until the manufacturer thereof has supplied adequate data regarding that article.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357)

128. Section 1.

The text of a proposed amendment corresponding to that listed first was similarly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER for October 7, 1961 (26 F.R. 9514–5), and an oral hearing was held on November 20, 1961. Objections to the breadth of the proposal as published were considered with the result that it is narrowed to the amendment as adopted, substantially in accordance with suggestions which were made. As a result of this change, the manner of taking effect originally announced is considered unnecessary and the new provision may be applied to any decision in accordance with its terms.

1. Section 1.14 is amended by adding a new paragraph (d) as follows:

§ 1.14 Patent applications preserved in secrecy.

* * * * *

(d) Selected decisions of the Board of Appeals, or of the Commissioner, in abandoned applications not otherwise open to public inspection (paragraph (b) of this section) may be published or made available for publication at the Commissioner's discretion, unless the applicant timely presents sufficient reasons for not doing so. The applicant will be notified, through the attorney of record in the application file, when it is proposed to release such a decision and a time not less than thirty days set for presenting any such reasons. The fact that the subject matter of the application has not been made public in any manner, or that the same subject matter is being prosecuted in a pending application, will be considered sufficient reason for not releasing the decision if the applicant so requests unless the text of the decision contains no description of such subject matter. Other reasons presented will be duly considered.

2. Paragraph (a) of § 1.203 is amended by cancelling the last sentence and inserting a sentence in lieu thereof; as amended paragraph (a) reads as follows:

§ 1.203 Preparation for interference between applications; suggestion of claims for interference.

(a) Before the declaration of interference, it must be determined that there is common patentable subject matter in the cases of the respective parties, patentable to each of the respective parties, subject to the determination of the question of priority. Claims in the same language, to form the counts of the interference, must be present or be presented, in each application; except that, in cases where, owing to the nature of the disclosures in the respective applications, it is not possible for all applications to properly include a claim in identical phraseology to define the common invention, an interference may be declared, with the approval of the Commissioner, using as a count representing the interfering subject matter a claim differing from the corresponding claims of one or more of the interfering applications by an immaterial limitation or variation.

3. Paragraph (a) of § 1.232 is amended by canceling "or if the interference involves a patent, a claim of which has been copied in modified form." and inserting in lieu thereof: "or as to a claim included as a count under the last sentence of § 1.203(a) or the last sentence of § 1.205(a)." As amended, paragraph (a) reads as follows:

§ 1.232 Motions to dissolve.

(a) Motions to dissolve an interference may be brought on the ground (1) that there has been such informality in declaring the same as will preclude the proper determination of the question of priority of invention, or (2) that the claims forming the counts of the interference are not patentable, or are not patentable to a particular applicant, while being patentable to another party, or (3) that a particular party has no right to make the claims, or (4) that there is no interference in fact if the interference involves a design or plant patent or application, or as to a claim included as a count under the last sentence of § 1.203(a) or the last sentence of § 1.205(a).

4. Paragraph (d) of § 1.233 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.233 Motions to amend.

* * * * *

(d) The proposed claims (1) must be indicated to be patentable in the opinion of the moving party in each of the applications involved in the motion and (2) must, unless they stand allowed, be distinguished from the prior art of record or sufficient other reason for their patentability given. Furthermore, (3) the reason why an additional count is necessary must be stated. When more than one count is proposed, the motion (4) must point out wherein they differ materially from each other and (5) must show why each proposed count is necessary to the interference. The proposed claims (6) must also be applied to the disclosure of each application involved in the motion, except as to an application in which the claims already appear and the claims identified as originating therein.

5. Section 1.235 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.235 Motions relating to burden of proof.

Any party may bring a motion to shift the burden of proof (a) on the ground that he is entitled to the benefit of the filing date of an earlier domestic or foreign application, or (b) on the ground that an opposing party is not entitled to the benefit of an earlier application of which he has been given the benefit in the declaration (see § 1.224).

6. Paragraph (g) of § 1.341 is amended by cancelling "in which he served, on the date he left said division" and inserting in lieu thereof "during his period of service therein". As amended, paragraph (g) reads as follows:

§ 1.341 Registration of attorneys and agents.

* * * * *

(g) Former examiners. No person who has served in the examining corps of the Patent Office will be registered after termination of his services, nor, if registered before such service, be reinstated, unless he undertakes (1) not to prosecute or aid in any manner in the prosecution of any application pending in any examining division during his period of service therein; and (2) not to prepare or prosecute nor to assist in any manner in the preparation or prosecution of any application of another filed within two years after the date he left such division, and assigned to such division, without the specific authorization of the Commissioner. Associated and related classes in other divisions may be required to be included in the undertaking or designated classes may be excluded. In case application for registration or reinstatement is made after resignation from the Office, the applicant will not be registered, or reinstated, if he has prepared or prosecuted, or assisted in the preparation or prosecution of any such application as indicated in this paragraph.

7. Section 3.47 is amended by changing the part of the form following the subheading "Proof of Service". As amended § 3.47 reads as follows:

SUBSTANCE OF PROPOSALS

1. To amend § 4.45 of 27 CFR Part 4 by redesignating that section as § 4.45(a) and adding a new paragraph reading substantially as follows:

(b) Notwithstanding the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section and of subparagraph (3) of § 4.39(b), imported wine may be withdrawn from customs custody without the immediate presentation of the prescribed certificate of origin or of vintage year if a bond in a penal sum equal to the value of the merchandise plus customs duty and internal revenue tax is given by the importer to the collector of customs at the port of entry, conditioned upon the production of such certificate within 90 days from the date of entry of the wine covered thereby. All bonds furnished under the provisions of this paragraph shall contain a proviso that if the required certificate is not produced there will be no mitigation of the penalty regardless of the circumstances alleged to have caused such failure.

2. To amend § 5.20 of 27 CFR Part 5 by deleting the last sentence thereof reading: "Nothing contained in these standards of identity shall be construed as authorizing the nonindustrial use of any distilled spirits produced in an industrial alcohol plant, except that 'alcohol' or 'neutral spirits,' as defined in this part, may be so used if produced pursuant to the basic permit requirements of the Federal Alcohol Administration Act."

3. To amend the first paragraph of § 5.21(b) of 27 CFR Part 5 and subparagraph (2) thereof, by deleting from each the phrase "and withdrawn from the distillery at not more than 110° and not less than 80° proof, whether or not such proof is further reduced prior to bottling to not less than 80° proof" and inserting in lieu thereof wording substantially as follows: "entered for storage in wooden containers of the appropriate type at not more than 125° proof and bottled at not less than 80° proof".

4. To amend § 5.32(b) of 27 CFR Part 5 by adding a new subparagraph reading substantially as follows:

(4) In the case of distilled spirits imported in bottles, which were bottled in a foreign country other than the country of origin, the name and address of the bottler or the place where bottled in accordance with § 5.35.

and

To amend § 5.35(b)(1) by adding a new sentence at the end thereof reading substantially as follows: "On labels of distilled spirits imported in bottles, which were bottled in a foreign country other than the country of origin, there shall also be stated the phrase 'bottled in -------', the blank to be filled in with the name of the country where bottled, or the name of the bottler preceded by the words 'bottled by' and followed by the address of the place where bottled".

5. To amend § 5.46 of 27 CFR Part 5 by adding at the end thereof a new paragraph reading substantially as follows:

(f) Notwithstanding the requirements of paragraphs (a) through (e) of this section, distilled spirits in bottles may be withdrawn from customs custody without the immediate presentation of the prescribed certificate of origin or of age and origin if a bond in a penal sum equal to the value of the merchandise plus customs duty and internal revenue tax is given by the importer to the collector of customs at the port of entry, conditioned upon the production of such certificate within 90 days from the date of entry of the distilled spirits covered thereby. All bonds furnished under the provisions of this paragraph shall contain a proviso that if the required certificate is not produced there will be no mitigation of the penalty regardless of the circumstances alleged to have caused such failure."

[Docket No. AO-271-A5]

MILK IN CENTRAL ARIZONA MARKETING AREA

Notice of Hearing on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and Order

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at the Ramada Inn, 3825 East Van Buren Avenue, Phoenix, Ariz., beginning at 10:00 a.m., local time, on February 14, 1962, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, regulating the handling of milk in the central Arizona marketing area.

The public hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to the economic and marketing conditions which relate to the proposed amendments, hereinafter set forth, and any appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order.

The proposal relative to a redefinition of the marketing area raises the issue whether the provisions of the present order would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, if they are applied to the marketing area as proposed to be redefined and, if not, what modifications of the provisions of the order would be appropriate.

The proposed amendments, set forth below, have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Proposed by the Federated Producers Association of Phoenix, Ariz.:

Proposal No. 1. Amend § 1131.6 to enlarge the marketing area to include the counties of Yavapai, Coconino, Navajo, Apache, and Gila, all in the State of Arizona.

Proposed by the Carnation Company of Los Angeles, Calif.:

Proposal No. 2. Expand the marketing area definition to include Yavapai, Mojave, Coconino, Gila, Navajo, and Santa Cruz Counties.

Proposed by the United Dairymen of Arizona:

Proposal No. 3. Delete § 1131.11 and substitute the following:

§ 1131.11 Producer-handler.

"Producer-handler" means any person who is both a dairy farmer and the operator of a plant from which fluid milk products are disposed of on routes in the marketing area, but who receives no milk from other dairy farmers or from any source other than a pool plant and who does not receive from pool plants an amount representing more than 5 percent of his total Class I utilization for the month: Provided, That such person provides proof satisfactory to the market administrator that (a) the maintenance, care and management of all the dairy animals and other resources necessary to produce the entire amount of milk handled (other than that received from pool plants) is the personal enterprise of and at the personal risk of such person in his capacity as a producer, and (b) the operation of such plant is the personal enterprise of and at the personal risk of such person in his capacity as a handler.

Proposed by the Federated Producers Association of Phoenix, Ariz.:

Proposal No. 4. Delete § 1131.11 and substitute the following:

§ 1131.11 Producer-handler.

"Producer-handler" means any person who:

(a) Produces milk and operates a distributing plant; providing that such person provides satisfactory proof to the market administrator and, (1) the maintenance, care, and management of all the dairy animals and other resources necessary to produce the entire amount of milk handled (other than that received from pool plants) is the personal enterprise and at the personal risk of such person in his capacity as a producer; and that the operation of such distributing plant and retail or wholesale outlets are the personal enterprise and at the personal risk of such person in his capacity as a producer-handler;

(b) Receives no milk from other producers;

(c) Disposes of no other source milk as Class I;

(d) Receives from pool plants an amount of milk equal to not more than five percent of his own production; and

(e) Whose Class I sales do not exceed 1,000 gallons of fluid milk daily.

Proposed by the United Dairymen of Arizona:

Proposal No. 5. Amend § 1131.22(k) to provide for the announcement of a price f.o.b. Phoenix rather than Tucson.

Proposal No. 6. In § 1131.41 provide a new Class II as all skim milk and butterfat used in the production of cottage cheese and change the present Class II designation to Class III, with skim milk and butterfat used in the production of cottage cheese being deleted from that classification.

Proposed by Beatrice Foods Company of Chicago, Ill.:

Proposal No. 7. Amend § 1131.41(b) by adding subparagraphs (4) and (5):

(4) Skim milk represented by nonfat milk solids added to a fluid milk product which is in excess of the weight of an equivalent volume of the fluid milk product prior to such addition;

(5) Skim milk and butterfat in fluid milk products disposed of in bulk to commercial food establishments such as bakeries, candy manufacturers or other commercial food processing plants;

Renumber present subparagraph (4) as subparagraph (6).

Proposal No. 8. Amend § 1131.44 "Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class" by deleting the proviso relative to accounting for nonfat milk solids in concentrated form on a milk equivalent basis and make such other conforming changes as are necessary in other sections of the order so that such accounting shall be made on an actual weight basis.

Proposed by the Borden Company of Phoenix, Ariz.:

Proposal No. 9. Amend § 1131.44 in respect to the proviso so that the net accounting for skim milk by the handler is based on the weight of the product disposed of rather than an amount equivalent to the nonfat milk solids, plus all the water originally associated with such solids. This can be accomplished by eliminating the language contained in the proviso, or classifying in § 1131.41 the water originally associated with nonfat milk solids as Class II milk and consider such milk as receipts of other source milk.

Proposed by the United Dairymen of Arizona:

Proposal No. 10. Add as § 1131.50(c) the following:

(c) The average of the prices reported to have been paid for manufacturing milk at plants included in the listing by the Department and known as the Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing price series: Provided, That such price shall be adjusted from an average test basis to a 3.8 percent basis by the use of a direct ratio butterfat differential.

Proposal No. 11. Amend § 1131.51 as follows:

A. In § 1131.51(a) change present $2.75 to $2.65.

B. Substitute in § 1131.51(a)(2)(iii) the following standard utilization table:

Month for which price applies	Months used in computation	Standard utilization percentages
		Minimum	Maximum
January	October-November	113	120
February	November-December	115	122

October	July-August	114	121
November	August-September	113	120
December	September-October	113	120

In § 1131.51(a)(3), change one cent each time it appears to one-half cent.

Proposed by the Federated Producers Association of Phoenix, Ariz.:

Proposal No. 12. Amend § 1131.51 as follows:

A. Insert between the words "decreased" and "by" in the fourth line of paragraph (a) "during the months of October through June".

B. Delete § 1131.51(a)(1) and substitute therefor:

(1) Divide the total gross volume of Class I milk (excluding inter-handler transfers that would result in the same milk being accounted for a second time as Class I milk) for the second and third months preceding (excluding Class I sales from another Federal order market) by the total producer production for the same months (excluding the Class I sales pounds from another Federal order market), and adjust to the nearest percentage point. The resulting percentage shall be known as the "Class I utilization percentage."

FEDERAL AIRWAY

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to § 600.1508 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1508 extends in part as a common airway segment with VOR Federal airway No. 1510 from the Selinsgrove, Pa., VOR to the Monmouth, N.J., intersection (intersection of the Yardley, Pa., VOR 098° and the Coyle, N.J., VOR 032° True radials). The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the realignment of Victor 1508 from the Selinsgrove VOR as a 10-mile wide airway to the intersection of the Selinsgrove VOR 103° and the Allentown, Pa., VOR 248° True radials; thence 12-mile wide airway to the intersection of the Selinsgrove VOR 103° and the Allentown VOR 223° True radials; thence 14-mile wide airway to the intersection of the Selinsgrove VOR 103° and the Allentown VOR 188° True radials at which point it would terminate. This realignment of Victor 1508 would provide a route east of the Selinsgrove VOR which would overlie low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 30 to the Coopersburg, Pa., intersection. This route would be utilized for the transitioning of high and intermediate altitude air traffic destined to land at Newark, N.J. The airway width reductions would provide separation from intermediate altitude VOR Federal airways Nos. 1510, 1514, 1516, and 1522.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Eastern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 22, 1962.

CONTROLLED AIRSPACE

Proposed Alteration of Control Zone

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to § 601.2081 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Jacksonville, N.C., control zone is presently designated within a 3-mile radius of the New River MCAF, Jacksonville, N.C., and within 2 miles either side of a 226° True bearing extending from the New River MCAF to 12 miles southwest, excluding the portion within Restricted Area R-5306C.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the alteration of the Jacksonville control zone by designating a control zone extension to the northeast within 2 miles either side of the 046° True bearing from the New River radio beacon extending from the 3-mile radius zone to 12 miles northeast of the radio beacon. This would provide protection for aircraft executing the prescribed instrument approach procedure based on the 046° True bearing from the New River radio beacon. It is also proposed to redesignate the southwest control zone extension by basing it on the New River radio beacon in lieu of the New River MCAF to correctly identify the navigational facility used for ADF approach procedures at the New River MCAF.

If these actions are taken the Jacksonville, N.C., control zone would be redesignated within a 3-mile radius of the New River MCAF (latitude 34°42'25" N., longitude 77°26'35" W.), within 2 miles either side of the 046° and 226° True bearings from the New River radio beacon (latitude 34°43'18" N., longitude 77°25'48" W.) extending from the 3-mile radius zone to 12 miles northeast and southwest of the radio beacon, excluding the portion which would coincide with R-5306C. The portion of this control zone which would coincide with R-5307 would be used only after obtaining prior approval from appropriate authority.

After implementation of Amendment 60-21 to Civil Air Regulations, Part 60, Air Traffic Rules, further alteration of the Jacksonville control zone may be required. If this is necessary, a new proposal concerning the control zone will be initiated after completion of coordination and resolution of terminal procedures.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Southern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 52 Fairlie Street NW., Atlanta 3, Ga. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 23, 1962.

CONTROLLED AIRSPACE

Proposed Alteration of Control Area Extension

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering an amendment to § 601.1065 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

On January 11, 1962, new aircraft holding pattern procedures were implemented within the continental limits of the United States and in areas beyond such limits where adequate controlled airspace was currently established. Procedures requiring the designation of additional controlled airspace beyond the continental limits will be implemented upon completion of the processing of appropriate amendments to the regulations of the Administrator. These procedures were developed to accommodate the increasing variety of aircraft speeds and operating altitudes in the IFR environment and provide for the containment of aircraft holding manuevers within the holding pattern areas designed for such operation. However, a number of these holding pattern areas require the designation of additional controlled airspace to encompass the increased dimensions of such areas. The pilot then need only adhere to the standardized operating procedures to remain within controlled airspace.

To fulfill additional controlled airspace requirements for the implementation of these procedures in the New Orleans, La., Air Route Traffic Control Center area, the FAA is considering the following airspace action:

The Biloxi, Miss., control area extension (§ 601.1065) would be redesignated within a 25-mile radius of the Keesler AFB radio beacon, including the airspace bounded on the east by longitude 88°30'00" W., on the southeast and south by a line 15 miles south of and parallel to low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 22, on the west by longitude 89°10'00" W., and on the north by the Biloxi control area extension 25-mile radius area, excluding the portion which would coincide with the Gulfport, Miss., Warning Area (W-453). This would provide additional controlled airspace for the protection of aircraft in holding patterns at the Dog Intersection (intersection of the Gulfport VOR 173° and the New Orleans, La., VORTAC 085° True radials).

Because of the time limitations imposed by the effective date of the revised holding pattern procedures, implementation of the provisions of Amendment 60-21 to the Civil Air Regulations, Part 60, Air Traffic Rules is being deferred in this instance. Upon completion of the review of the controlled airspace requirements presently being conducted attendant to these provisions, separate airspace action will be initiated to convert this control area extension to a transition area with an appropriate controlled airspace floor assignment.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Southern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 52 Fairlie Street NW., Atlanta 3, Ga. All communications received within thirty days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

CONTROLLED AIRSPACE

Alteration of Proposed Designation of Transition Area

In a notice of proposed rule making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 22, 1961 (26 F.R. 8951), it was stated that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to designate a transition area at Meridian (NAAS Meridian), Miss.

Subsequent to the publication of the notice, the Department of the Navy requested that additional airspace west northwest of NAAS Meridian be included within the proposed transition area for the protection of aircraft executing instrument approach and departure procedures in this area.

Accordingly, the notice is hereby amended to propose that the Meridian (NAAS Meridian) transition area be designated to extend upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within the airspace west and north of the Meridian NAAS bounded by a line beginning at latitude 32°47'00" N., longitude 89°30'00" W.; to latitude 32°50'00" N., longitude 89°21'00" W.; to latitude 32°41'30" N., longitude 88°44'00" W.; to latitude 33°03'00" N., longitude 88°57'40" W.; to latitude 33°05'40" N., longitude 88°52'40" W.; thence east along a 45-mile radius arc centered at the Columbus AFB latitude 33°38'35" N., longitude 88°26'40" W., Columbus, Miss., to the north boundary of VOR Federal airway No. 18 north alternate; thence via the north boundary of VOR Federal airway No. 18 north to the point of beginning, excluding the portion which would coincide with the Meridian control area extension (§ 601.1018); and within the airspace southeast of the Meridian NAAS bounded on the north by VOR Federal airway No. 18, on the east by VOR Federal airway No. 209, and on the south by VOR Federal airway No. 154.

In order to provide interested persons time to adequately evaluate this proposal, as modified herein, and an opportunity to submit additional written data, views, or arguments, the date for filing such material will be extended to February 23, 1962.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), I hereby give notice that the time within which comments will be received for consideration on Airspace Docket No. 60-FW-72 is extended to February 23, 1962. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Southern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, 52 Fairlie Street NW., Atlanta 3, Ga..

[Airspace Docket No. 61-FW-103]

CONTROLLED AIRSPACE AND SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Proposed Alteration of Restricted Area and Control Area Extension

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to §§ 608.51 and 601.1399 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Melrose, N. Mex., Restricted Area R-5104 is designated from the surface to 23,000 feet MSL during the period from sunrise to sunset, daily. The Melrose, N. Mex., Restricted Area R-5105 is designated from the surface to 14,000 feet MSL during the period from sunrise to sunset, daily. The description of R-5105 further states that this restricted area will be used only when the ceiling is more than 3,000 feet and the visibility greater than 5 miles. The Clovis, N. Mex., control area extension is designated within a 30-mile radius of Clovis Air Force Base, excluding the portions which lie within R-185 and R-529. The Clovis AFB has since been named the Cannon AFB and R-185 and R-529 have been renumbered R-5104 and R-5105 respectively.

The Federal Aviation Agency and the Department of the Air Force have agreed to joint use of R-5104 and R-5105. Therefore, it is proposed to designate the Albuquerque, N. Mex., Air Route Traffic Control Center as the controlling agency for R-5104 and R-5105 and to delete the reference to the weather conditions contained in the description of R-5105. It is further proposed to alter the Clovis control area extension to include all of the airspace encompassed within R-5104 and R-5105. These proposed actions would reflect the joint-use status of R-5104 and R-5105, and promote more efficient utilization of the areas by providing additional controlled airspace for flexibility in routing traffic from the west to Cannon AFB and routing traffic departing Cannon AFB to points west and to join VOR Federal airway No. 1536. In addition, these actions will provide controlled airspace to facilitate jet aircraft penetrations to Cannon AFB from points southwest and west. The deletion of the reference to weather conditions in R-5105 will establish a more stable time designation during which planned operations can be more readily accomplished and will promote a more orderly release of the area for air traffic control purposes.

If these actions are taken, the Melrose Restricted Areas R-5104 and R-5105 (§ 608.51) would be amended to read:

R-5104 Melrose, N. Mex.

Boundaries. Beginning at latitude 34°28'-00" N., longitude 103°43'15" W.; to latitude 34°25'25" N., longitude 103°40'00" W.; to latitude 34°10'00" N., longitude 103°40'00" W.; to latitude 34°10'00" N., longitude 103°-55'00" W.; to latitude 34°28'00" N., longitude 103°55'00" W.; to point of beginning.

Designated altitudes. Surface to 23,000 feet MSL.

Time of designation. Sunrise to sunset.

Controlling agency. Federal Aviation Agency, Albuquerque ARTC Center.

Using agency. Commander, Cannon AFB, N. Mex.

R-5105 Melrose, N. Mex.

Boundaries. Beginning at latitude 34°39'-00" N., longitude 103°55'00" W.; to latitude 34°39'00" N., longitude 103°40'00" W.; to latitude 34°25'25" N., longitude 103°40'00" W.; to latitude 34°28'00" N., longitude 103°-43'15" W.; to latitude 34°28'00" N., longitude 103°55'00" W.; to the point of beginning.

Designated altitudes. Surface to 14,000 feet MSL.

Time of designation. Sunrise to sunset.

Controlling agency. Federal Aviation Agency, Albuquerque ARTC Center.

Using agency. Commander, Cannon AFB, N. Mex.

The Clovis control area extension (§ 601.1399) would be amended to read:

The airspace within a 30-mile radius of Cannon Air Force Base (latitude 34°23'01" N., longitude 103°18'58" W.) including the airspace west of Cannon AFB bounded on the S by latitude 34°10'00" N., on the W by longitude 103°55'00" W., on the N by latitude 34°39'00" N., and on the E by the arc of the Cannon AFB 30-mile radius circle. The portion of this control area extension within R-5104 and R-5105 shall be used only after obtaining prior approval from appropriate authority.

Implementation of the provisions of Amendment 60-21 to the Civil Air Regulations, Part 60, will be deferred in this area pending an evaluation of the controlled airspace requirements in the vicinity of Cannon AFB. Upon completion of this evaluation, separate airspace action will be initiated to redesignate the Clovis control area extension as a transition area with appropriate floor assignments.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Southwest Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, P.O. Box 1689, Fort Worth 1, Tex. All communications received within thirty days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under sec. 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 23, 1962.

CHARLES W. CARMODY,
Chief, Airspace Utilization Division.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Docket No. 14229 etc.; FCC 62-94]

[47 CFR Part 3]

FOSTERING EXPANDED USE OF UHF TELEVISION CHANNELS; AND DEINTERMIXTURE OF CERTAIN CITIES

Memorandum Opinion and Order

In the matter of fostering expanded use of UHF television channels, Docket No. 14229; in the matters of deintermixture of Madison, Wis.; Rockford, Ill.; Hartford, Conn.; Erie, Pa.; Binghamton, N.Y.; Champaign, Ill.; Columbia, S.C.; Montgomery, Ala., Docket Nos. 14239, 14240, 14241, 14242, 14243, 14244, 14245, 14246.

1. The Association of Maximum Service Telecasters (AMST) has filed a "Petition for Additional Required Information" in which it requested further information on the considerations which led to the issuance of the notices of proposed rule making in the above dockets which are concerned with fostering expanded use of the UHF television channels as well as proposals to deintermix certain specified markets. AMST contends that "it is essential that the Commission receive the most meaningful, helpful, thorough and sharply focused comments that can be prepared" and that "the preparation of such comments urgently requires that the Commission supplement in notices of proposed rule making in these proceedings by supplying interested parties with the necessary additional information specified in section II of this petition."[1]

2. The subject notices of proposed rule making were a further step in the progression which looks to developing, under the circumstances, the most advantageous solutions to pressing television allocation problems. Over the years, our inquiries, in which AMST extensively participated, have explored such diverse possibilities as expansion of the VHF space allocated for TV broadcasting, reductions in our present minimum station separations so as to squeeze in more assignments on each VHF channel, a shift of all television broadcasting to the UHF band, selective and area deintermixture, and others. Our study of these choices has compelled us to conclude that to have a truly nationwide television broadcasting system with a reasonable number of local outlets and a choice of national network programs, we must develop the potential of the 70 UHF channels.

3. To achieve this end a multi-pronged assault was suggested which includes deintermixture of certain markets in order to equalize competition between stations in those areas and a modification of some technical requirements to reduce the installation and operating costs of UHF stations. The proposals advanced by the Commission outline the approach which we believe may be used to create a favorable climate in which UHF broadcasting may develop and flourish. We have invited specific and detailed comments on the desirability and practicability of implementing the general proposals contained in the notice of proposed rule making in Docket 14229 and believe that meaningful comments can be addressed to these proposals without much of the further data requested by AMST.

4. With respect to the UHF "pool" proposal, AMST requests that we supply channel numbers for the "pool" of channels to be held in reserve to meet the potential needs of educational TV stations and the possible requirements of VHF stations. The specific channels which might ultimately be included in such a "pool" are, as discussed below, not significant at this stage of the proceeding when we are considering the broad outlines of a television allocations structure. The point to be resolved is whether "pool" requirements can be met in the 70 UHF channels and the degree to which they might saturate the UHF band. The table issued with the notice of rule making listed the number of channels that would be required in the "pool" and the places where they are needed on the basis of the current VHF and UHF station structure and the present educational reservations. We also indicated that the specific channels assigned to each city would be supplied subsequently. We have been examining many different allocation arrangements but are not prepared to announce a specific proposal at this time. There are, of course, many approaches to constructing an allocation table and in our notice we referred to a grouping system which appeared to have promise. AMST has asked for details on this plan and we are therefore attaching an Appendix as an example of one group method of assigning channels.

5. Our proposal to abandon the fixed city-by-city allocation table and permit applicants to select the lowest available UHF channel was intended to provide an incentive for the early development of UHF television broadcasting. From the standpoint of providing a television broadcasting service, we are not convinced that the upper UHF channels are significantly inferior technically to the lower UHF channels. We do recognize, however, that technology is more advanced on the low UHF channels than on the high and that in the present state of the art some advantage accrues to a licensee in having a low UHF assignment. In the development of radio technology, history demonstrates that the performance of transmitters, receivers, and antenna systems is at the outset likely to be better on low channels. This disparity will, hopefully, diminish. There is inherent danger in letting an assignment plan develop from actual applications in pursuit of the low channels because applicants may select lowest assignments without proper regard to impact on overall efficiency. Criteria will be needed to guide the selection toward the lowest, reasonably efficient assignment. A city-by-city assignment plan would accomplish this, but runs the risk of miscalculation as to exactly where future demands for channels are likely to arise. The proceedings contemplate the possible development of standards in this area and comments may be fruitfully addressed to these matters.

6. With respect to the deintermixture proposals in Dockets 14239 to 14246, much of the information requested is available in the public records of the Commission and need not be detailed here. In selecting markets for deintermixture, careful consideration was given to the impact of such a change on the general public. In all of the markets selected there are operating UHF stations. American Research Bureau audience surveys indicate substantial UHF reception potential and there is no probative evidence to the contrary. In determining service losses if existing VHF stations were required to shift to UHF channels, we were guided by the field strength charts in our present rules. These are not intended to be used to estimate the service area of an individual station, but they do provide a convenient administrative tool for comparing station coverage on a statistical probability basis. The theoretical service area of the existing VHF station was considered to extend to its Grade B contour selected from the appropriate F (50, 50) field strength chart in our present rules on the basis of the actual effective radiated power and antenna height used. The estimate of the probable UHF service area is more difficult to make. The only "official" field strength charts available are those contained in our present rules, which are the same curves as are used to estimate the Channel 2-6 coverage. There is almost unanimous agreement that these curves are too optimistic. The T.A.S.O. group developed a set of "critical distances" which purported to give the practical service range of UHF television stations derived empirically from field observations of picture quality. In 1956 the Commission issued a set of UHF field strength charts, commonly referred to as "Appendix A". There was no general agreement as to the acceptability of these curves and they were withdrawn. However, field strength measurement data obtained by T.A.S.O. closely approximated the Appendix A curves. In the absence of generally accepted curves, we used the Appendix A curves as a starting point and assumed that the UHF station would employ an effective radiated power of 500 kilowatts from an antenna about 750 feet above average terrain. Such a station was assumed to provide acceptable service for 50 percent of the locations 90 percent of the time out to a distance of approximately 40 miles, which is the highest "critical distance" from T.A.S.O., substantially below the estimate derived from the F (50, 50) curves of our present rules and slightly below the distance to the Grade B contour shown by the Appendix A curves. The power and antenna height assumptions may be conservative in the case of an existing VHF station required to shift to the UHF band.

7. Our examination of the areas between the computed Grade B contour of an assumed UHF station and the Grade B contour of the existing VHF station showed (based upon ARB audience survey viewing habits) that most of the affected areas were reached by signals from 'other stations. The statistical curves used for estimating the coverage of VHF and UHF stations are intended to show only that within the Grade B contour a signal of sufficient strength to provide an acceptable picture on an average TV receiver employing a conventional roof-top antenna is likely to be available at 50 percent of all of the locations within the contour. It is impossible to determine whether a single community or similar small area inside or outside the Grade B contour will or will not obtain service. It is not unusual to find that a favorably situated community outside the estimated Grade B contour will obtain better service than one of similar size but less favorably situated inside the estimated Grade B contour. In no case does the service suddenly terminate at the Grade B contour. The field strength curves only signify that beyond the Grade B contour it is likely that something less than 50 percent of the locations will receive an adequate signal.

8. Our proposal for deintermixture of certain specified markets, along with the other proposals to modify our rules and procedures for UHF stations are aimed at creating more television service. The markets chosen are comparable in size and economy to other markets having three or more competitive TV stations. It is reasonable to assume that these markets can support three or more equally competitive TV stations. We have proposed to examine deintermixture along with the other proposals as a means of stimulating such development.

9. We have attempted to the best of our ability, in the light of the circumstance that these are early stages of complex explorations, to satisfy the requests for more information. Because some of the requests are addressed to matters not now specifically proposed, as in Item 9, are fruitlessly contentious, such as Item 10, or seek information, as in Item 11, which is readily available in our public files, we have not here dealt with these. One of the principal reasons for not specifying in our notice the kind of data requested was for the very purpose of inviting unrestricted comment. We have herein supplied some of the requested material but we do not desire that responses to our notice be inhibited by any figures the Commission may have used in its preliminary studies.

10. To the extent that the data requested is supplied by this document or is available in the public records of the Commission the subject requests are granted, in all other respects they are denied.

Adopted: January 17, 1962.

Released: January 19, 1962.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] BEN F. WAPLE,
Acting Secretary.

APPENDIX

The maximum efficiency in the use of the 70 UHF channels can be achieved only by maintaining the average separation of all assignments on any given channel as close as possible to the prescribed minimum co-channel separation. The random distribution of cities as well as the impact of the "taboo channels" makes this difficult.

A pre-planned assignment table is one way of meeting this specific problem. However, this necessitates anticipation of the number and location of the channels. The alternate approach, which we are exploring in this proceeding, is to allow the assignment structure to develop as demand arises. This later approach can lead to devastating inefficiencies unless some guidance can be provided.

As set forth in the original notice of proposed rule making, we are studying the possibility of grouping UHF channels in a manner that will automatically lead to the selection of the most efficient channel for any given city. Under our present rules every sixth channel may be assigned to any single city if it otherwise meets the co-channel and "taboo channel" spacings. If the maximum number of 12 channels is assigned to any single city, there are only 4 other channels which may be assigned to other communities between 20 and 55 miles from this city. It is possible to reduce the total number of assignments available to a single city from 12 to 10 and rearrange these assignments into a certain pattern to increase the available number of channels between 20 and 55 miles from 4 to at least 15. One such grouping arrangement is shown below:

Group A: 16, 22, 32, 38, 44, 50, 60, 66, 72, 78.

Group B: 14, 20, 26, 28, 34, 40, 42, 48, 54, 56, 62, 68, 74, 76, 82.

The efficacy of a plan to make assignments in particular areas from specific groups of channels will probably require the establishment of a somewhat flexible grid by designating certain key cities or areas in which particular groups may be used.

In the matter of fostering expanded use of UHF television channels, Docket No. 14229; in the matters of deintermixture of Madison, Wis.; Rockford, Ill.; Hartford, Conn.; Erie, Pa.; Binghamton, N.Y.; Champaign, Ill.; Columbia, S.C.; Montgomery, Ala., Docket Nos. 14239, 14240, 14241, 14242, 14243, 14244, 14245, 14246; in the matters of assignment of an additional VHF channel to Oklahoma City, Okla.; Johnstown, Pa.; Baton Rouge, La.; Dayton, Ohio; Jacksonville, Fla.; Birmingham, Ala.; Knoxville, Tenn.; Charlotte, N.C., Docket Nos. 14231, 14232, 14233, 14234, 14235, 14236, 14237, 14238.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D.C., on the 19th day of January 1962.

In a Memorandum Opinion and Order adopted January 17, 1962, the Commission in response to a petition from the Association of Maximum Service Telecasters supplied additional information in connection with the notices of proposed rule making in the above dockets which are concerned with the fostering of expanded use of the UHF television channels, proposals to deintermix certain specified markets, and the assignment of additional VHF channels to other markets. The furnishing of additional information may, in some cases, necessitate more time for parties to prepare comments in these proceedings. A number of informal requests have already been received requesting extension of time.

For this and other circumstances which have been urged as a basis for deferring the dates, the Commission is of the opinion that a reasonable extension of time should be allowed.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That the time for filing comments and reply comments in these proceedings is extended to February 19, 1962, and March 23, 1962.

Released: January 23, 1962.

IDENTIFICATION OF CARCASSES OF CERTAIN HUMANELY SLAUGHTERED LIVESTOCK

Supplemental List of Humane Slaughterers

Pursuant to section 4 of the Act of August 27, 1958 (7 U.S.C. 1904) and the statement of policy thereunder in 9 CFR Part 181.1, the following table lists additional establishments operated under Federal inspection under the Meat Inspection Act (21 U.S.C. 71 et seq.) which have been officially reported as humanely slaughtering and handling the species of livestock respectively designated for such establishments in the table. This list supplements the lists previously published under the Act (27 F.R. 18 and 592) for December and represents those establishments and species which were reported too late to be included in the earlier lists or which have come into compliance with respect to species indicated since the completion of the reports on which the earlier lists were based. The establishment number given with the name of the establishment is branded on each carcass of livestock inspected at that establishment. The table should not be understood to indicate that all species of livestock slaughtered at a listed establishment are slaughtered and handled by humane methods unless all species are listed for that establishment in the table. Nor should the table be understood to indicate that the affiliates of any listed establishment use only humane methods:

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Commodity Credit Corporation

GRAINS AND RELATED COMMODITIES

Notice of Final Date for Redemption Under Warehouse-Storage Loans Made Under 1961 Price Support Programs

Unless earlier demand is made by CCC, warehouse-storage loans under 1961 Price Support Programs on the agricultural commodities designated in the table below mature and are due and payable on the dates indicated. Unless on or before the final date for repayment specified below such loans are repaid or the producer notifies the ASC county committee in writing that the funds have been placed in the mail, title to the unredeemed collateral shall immediately vest in CCC without a sale thereof, on the date next succeeding the final date for repayment specified below. This notice applies to all such unredeemed collateral pledged to CCC under warehouse-storage loans, including, in the case of corn or grain sorghums, that quantity which has resulted in a producer receiving price support on a quantity of corn or grain sorghums in excess of the total quantity on which price support may be received under the applicable provisions of 1961 C.C.C. Feed Grain Bulletin A or which would so result if settlement were to be made on the basis of the price support value of the pledged commodity. (Such quantity is hereinafter called "excess commodity.") CCC shall have no obligation to pay for any market value which the unredeemed collateral may have in excess of the loan indebtedness; i.e., the unpaid amount of the note plus interest and charges. Nothing herein shall preclude making payment to a producer of any amount by which the settlement value of the pledged commodity may exceed the principal amount of the loan. Except as to the excess commodity, the settlement value as used herein is the price support value of the pledged commodity determined on the basis of the weight, grade, and other quality factors shown on the warehouse receipts or accompanying documents in accordance with the applicable support rate provided in the Program Bulletin. The settlement value of the excess commodity is the market value as determined by CCC, or the price support value, whichever is the lower. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, if the producer has made a fraudulent representation in obtaining the loan, or in settlement or deliveries under the loan, the producer shall remain personally liable for the amounts specified in the Producer's Note and Loan Agreement and in the price support program regulations.

Amounts due the producer will be paid to the producer by the appropriate ASCS county office.

On January 15, 1962, the Federal Maritime Commission entered the following order:

It appearing that there have been filed with the Federal Maritime Commission various tariff schedules naming increases in freight rates from, to, and between U.S. Pacific coast ports and ports in Alaska, to become effective January 18, 1962, designated as follows:

Supplement No. 15, Alaska Steamship Company Tariff No. 793, FMC-F No. 89;

Supplement No. 7, Alaska Steamship Company Tariff No. 805, FMC-F No. 98; and Alaska Steamship Company Tariff No. 825, FMC-F No. 109; and

It further appearing that protests have been received petitioning the Commission to suspend said increases; and

It further appearing that upon consideration of the said schedules, statements in support thereof, and protests made thereto, there is reason to believe that the said schedules, if permitted to become effective, would result in rates, charges, classifications, regulations, tariffs or practices which would be unjust, unreasonable or otherwise unlawful in violation of the Shipping Act, 1916, as amended, or the Intercoastal Shipping Act, 1933, as amended; and

It further appearing that the Commission is of the opinion that the new rates, charges, classifications, regulations, tariffs, and practices should be made the subject of a public investigation and hearing to determine whether they are just, reasonable, and otherwise lawful under the Shipping Act, 1916, as amended, or the Intercoastal Shipping Act, 1933, as amended; and

It further appearing that the Commission is of the opinion that the effective date of the said schedules should be suspended, pending such investigation;

Now therefore it is ordered, That an investigation be, and it is hereby instituted into and concerning the lawfulness of the rates, fares, charges, rules, classifications, regulations, and practices contained in the said tariff schedules, with a view to making such findings and orders in the premises as the facts and circumstances shall warrant; and

It is further ordered, That said schedules be, and they are hereby, suspended and that the use of the said schedules be, and it is hereby, deferred to and including May 17, 1962, unless otherwise authorized by the Commission, and that the rates, fares, charges, classifications, rules, regulations, and practices heretofore in effect, and which were to be changed by the suspended schedules, shall remain in effect during the period of suspension; and

It is further ordered, That no change shall be made in the matter hereby suspended nor the matter which is continued in effect as a result of such suspension until the period of suspension or any extension thereof has expired, or until this investigation and suspension proceeding has been disposed of, whichever first occurs unless otherwise authorized by the Commission; and

It is further ordered, That (I) there shall be filed immediately with the Commission by the Alaska Steamship Company consecutively numbered supplements to the aforesaid suspended schedules which supplements shall bear no effective date, shall reproduce the portion of this order wherein the suspended schedules are described, and shall state that the aforesaid schedules are suspended and that the rates, charges, classifications, regulations, tariffs, and practices therein stated may not be used until the 18th day of May 1962, unless otherwise authorized by the Commission; and (II) the rates, charges, classifications, regulations, tariffs, and practices hereby deferred may not be changed during the period of suspension or any extension thereof has expired, or until this investigation and suspension proceeding has been disposed of, whichever first occurs, unless otherwise authorized by the Commission; and

It is further ordered, That copies of this order shall be filed with the said tariff schedules in the Bureau of Domestic Regulations of the Federal Maritime Commission; and

It is further ordered, That (I) the investigation herein ordered be assigned for hearing before an examiner of the Commission's Office of Hearing Examiners at a date and place to be determined and announced by the Chief Examiner; (II) Alaska Steamship Company, be, and it is hereby, made respondent in this proceeding; (III) a copy of this order shall be forthwith served upon the said respondent and protestants herein; (IV) respondents and protestants be duly notified of the time and place of the hearing herein ordered; and (V) this order and notice of the said hearing be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Notice is hereby given that the hearing in this proceeding will be held before an examiner of the Commission's Office of Hearing Examiners at a date and place hereafter to be announced. The hearing will be conducted in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and an initial decision will be issued by the examiner.

It appearing that by Second Supplemental Order in Docket No. 954 (Sub-1) dated December 21, 1961, the Commission instituted an investigation into the lawfulness of certain recently filed tariff provisions of A. is hereby deleted and the following paragraph substituted therefor:

Now therefore it is ordered, That this proceeding be, and it hereby is, expanded to include, in addition to the matters now under investigation, an investigation of and a hearing concerning, the lawfulness under the Shipping Act, 1916, as amended, or the Intercoastal Shipping Act, 1933, as amended, of Note G and the rate on "Buses, empty, boxed or unboxed", published on seventh revised page No. 81 of A. FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-18900]

EL PASO NATURAL GAS CO. AND AMERADA PETROLEUM CORP.

Order Granting Motion To Dismiss As to Certain Respondents

JANUARY 22, 1962.

El Paso Natural Gas Co., Complainant-Petitioner v. Amerada Petroleum Corp., et al., Respondents, Docket No. G-18900.

On July 6, 1959, El Paso Natural Gas Company (El Paso) filed herein its complaint and petition for issuance of declaratory order to clarify the rights and liabilities of the parties in this proceeding with respect to spiral escalation and favored-nation provisions in approximately 750 gas-purchase contracts between El Paso and vendors of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission.

On January 21, 1960, El Paso filed a motion to dismiss this proceeding with respect to certain of the respondents and to terminate the proceeding against them. El Paso stated in support of said motion, that it had renegotiated gas-purchase contracts with 305 respondents in such manner as to eliminate the contract provisions which constituted the subject matter of its complaint and petition; that in consequence, the relief sought against these respondents had become moot; and that therefore the proceeding should be dismissed and terminated with respect to the aforesaid parties identified in Exhibit "A" of El Paso's motion to dismiss.

On March 14, 1960, the Commission granted the foregoing motion in conjunction with the granting of an additional motion, filed on identical grounds. El Paso styled the latter motion, naming 23 respondents as "First Supplement" to its original motion to dismiss and said order issued herein March 14, 1960, dismissed as to a total of 328 respondents.

Subsequently El Paso filed its Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Supplements to its original motion to dismiss as to named respondents and stated that newly negotiated contracts had rendered the issues of the complaint and petition moot, with respect to the identified respondents. By orders issued herein the Commission granted the above-identified supplementary motions and dismissed as to 139 respondents.

On December 18, 1961, El Paso filed its Eighth Supplementary Motion to dismiss the proceeding against certain of the respondents and appended thereto Exhibit "A" identifying 36 respondents against whom it requests the proceeding be terminated for the same reasons set forth in its original motion filed January 21, 1960, or for reason of improper joinder.

The Commission finds: Under the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, good cause exists for granting El Paso's motion to dismiss and terminate this proceeding with respect to those respondents identified in Exhibit "A" to El Paso's "Eighth Supplement" to its motion to dismiss proceeding against certain of the respondents and to terminate the proceeding against them as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders: El Paso's motion to dismiss certain of the respondents in this proceeding and to terminate the proceeding against them is hereby granted as to those parties identified in Exhibit "A" to El Paso's "Eighth Supplement" to its above-identified motion, said parties being designated in below.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. CP62-102]

NEW YORK STATE NATURAL GAS CORP. AND TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP.

Notice of Application and Date of Hearing

JANUARY 22, 1962.

Take notice that on October 19, 1961, New York State Natural Gas Corporation (New York Natural), 2 Gateway Center, Pittsburgh 22, Pennsylvania, and Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Texas Eastern), P.O. Box 1612, Shreveport 94, Louisiana, filed in Docket No. CP62-102 a joint application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the exchange of natural gas and the construction and operation of facilities for such exchange, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The application states that New York Natural owns four gas wells in Monroe Township, Bedford County, Pennsylvania, an area in which it has no transmission pipeline of its own. In order to market the gas produced from these wells, New York Natural and Texas Eastern have entered into an exchange agreement dated August 16, 1961, in which New York Natural agrees to construct and operate approximately 7.1 miles of 6-inch pipeline from its Bedford County producing area to a point of connection with Texas Eastern's 20-inch and 24-inch transmission pipelines near Rock Hill Church, approximately three miles west of Mattie, Monroe Township, Bedford County, Pennsylvania, and to construct and operate a measuring station at the connection. New York Natural proposes to deliver the Bedford County production into Texas Eastern's lines at said point up to a maximum of 10,000 Mcf of gas in any 24-hour period unless otherwise agreed upon by the parties. The agreement further provides that Texas Eastern will simultaneously return equivalent daily quantities of gas to New York Natural at an existing interconnection of their respective pipeline systems in Greene County, Pennsylvania; or with prior consent of the parties, deliveries may be made at any other point of connection between their pipeline systems.

New York Natural estimates the total cost of the pipeline and measuring station to be $155,694, which will be financed from funds on hand.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on February 21, 1962, at 9:30 a.m., e.s.t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D.C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30(c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D.C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before February 12, 1962. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

JOSEPH H. GUTRIDE,
Secretary.

[Docket No. CP62-81 etc.]

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP. ET AL.

Notice of Applications and Date of Hearing

JANUARY 22, 1962.

Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., Docket No. CP62-81; Shell Oil Co., Docket No. CI62-255; Sinclair Oil & Gas Co., Docket Nos. CI61-296 and CI62-297.

Take notice that on September 27, 1961, Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Texas Eastern), Memorial Professional Building, Houston 1, Texas, filed in Docket No. CP62-81 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 23 miles of 14-inch pipeline, and facilities appurtenant thereto, extending from the Sligo Field, Bossier Parish, Louisiana, to a point of connection with Texas Eastern's existing 24-inch Provident City-Castor pipeline, Red River Parish, Louisiana, to enable Texas Eastern to purchase and receive natural gas produced by Shell Oil Company (Shell) and Sinclair Oil & Gas Company (Sinclair) from the Sligo Field.

Take further notice that on September 5, 1961, in Docket No. CI62-255, and September 14, 1961, in Docket Nos. CI62-296 and CI62-297, Shell, 50 West 50th Street, New York 50, New York, and Sinclair, 10th and Boston Streets, Tulsa, Oklahoma, respectively, filed applications pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for certificates of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale of natural gas from the Sligo Field to Texas Eastern.

The proposals of Texas Eastern, Shell and Sinclair are more fully set forth in their respective applications on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Shell and Sinclair will make the proposed sales pursuant to separate gas purchase contracts with Texas Eastern, each dated July 1, 1961. Shell and Sinclair also propose to sell excess gas from the Sligo Field to Texas Eastern pursuant to separate letter agreements, each dated July 1, 1961; the excess sales are for terms of three years from the date of initial delivery. Shell has applied for authorization for both sales in Docket No. CI62-255; Sinclair has applied in Docket No. CI62-296 for authorization to make the sales under the basic contract, and in Docket No. CI62-297 for authorization to make the excess sales.

Texas Eastern will pay 14.75 cents per Mcf at 15.025 psia for excess gas, and 16.4161 cents per Mcf at 15.025 psia for gas purchased under the basic contracts.

The cost of Texas Eastern's proposed project is estimated to be $1,291,000, which cost will be financed from cash on hand or revolving credit with banks.

These related matters should be heard on a consolidated record and disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on February 27, 1962, at 9:30 a.m., e.s.t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D.C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such applications: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30(c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D.C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before February 16, 1962. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

Secretary.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[Investigation and Suspension Docket No. M-15032; No. 33862]

ZINC OR ZINC ALLOY PIGS OR SLABS; ST. LOUIS, MO., TO HOLLAND, MICH.

Petition for Suspension and Investigation of Tariff Schedules

JANUARY 24, 1962.

On August 28, 1961, upon consideration of a petition for suspension and investigation of tariff schedules filed by certain motor carriers to reduce to 35,000 pounds the present truckload minimum weight of 36,000 pounds on zinc or zinc alloy pigs or slabs from St. Louis, Mo., to Holland, Mich., and origins and destinations grouped therewith, without changing the truckload rate applicable in connection therewith, the Commission by order in Investigation and Suspension Docket No. M-15032 suspended the operation of the proposed schedules until March 30, 1962, and entered into an investigation regarding the lawfulness thereof, and by order in No. 33862 also entered into an investigation concerning the lawfulness of the present rate and minimum weight on the described traffic.

Evidence in the form of verified statements was presented in I.&S. No. M-15032, but no evidence was presented in No. 33862. The proceedings were referred to a hearing examiner for recommendation of an appropriate order accompanied by the reasons therefor. The recommended report and order of the hearing examiner, recommending that the proposed reduction be found not shown to be just and reasonable; that the present schedules be found not shown to be unlawful, and that the proceedings be discontinued, was served on January 24, 1962. Exceptions to that report may be filed by interested parties within 30 days from that date.

Copies of the recommended report and order may be obtained by any interested person upon request to the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington 25, D.C.

Interested persons were given an opportunity to present their comments or suggestions pertaining thereto to the Investment Division, Small Business Administration, Washington 25, D.C., within a period of twenty-one days of the date of publication of the notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. After consideration of all such relevant matter as was presented by the interested persons regarding the proposed amendment, the amendment of regulation as so proposed is hereby adopted as set forth below.

Because of the necessity for promptly applying the proposed amendment to the program authorized under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as amended, the subject amendment of regulation shall become effective upon publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The regulations Governing Small Business Investment Companies (26 F.R. 8232–8242) is hereby amended by:

Such $500,000 limitation shall apply only with respect to loans made to and Equity Securities acquired from a small business concern by a Licensee on or after October 3, 1961, but shall not apply with respect to any loans made, or Equity Securities acquired, pursuant to a commitment issued before such date. Furthermore, the $500,000 limitation shall not apply so long as fifty percent (amount invested, disbursed, or committed) of the Equity Securities acquired and loans made by a Licensee after October 3, 1961, meet such $500,000 limitation.

(b) Without the prior written approval of SBA, no more than five Licensees may, by participation or otherwise, provide Equity Capital or long-term loans to any single small business concern unless the total financing involved is $300,000 or less.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter II—Civil Aeronautics Board

SUBCHAPTER B—PROCEDURAL REGULATIONS

[Reg. No. PR-58; Amdt. 3]

PART 301—RULES OF PRACTICE IN AIR SAFETY PROCEEDINGS

Delegation of Function to Hearing Examiners

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 23d day of January 1962.

On September 12, 1961, the Board issued a notice of proposed rule making, PDR-8, Docket 13032 (26 F.R. 8642) proposing various amendments to the Board's rules of practice in Air Safety and Economic Proceedings which would expressly delegate to hearing examiners, under Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1961, the Board's function of making the agency decision and prescribe appropriate procedures for discretionary review by the Board of Examiners' decisions made pursuant to such delegation.

In response to certain comments concerning the Part 302 phase of this notice, the Board has considerably broadened the permissible grounds upon which petitions for discretionary review may be filed in economic cases in the final regulation (PR-59) simultaneously adopted herewith. Since it appears desirable to apply the same provisions to petitions seeking discretionary review of initial decisions of examiners in safety enforcement cases, § 301.45(c) of the final regulation set forth below has been identically revised.

The notice provided that petitions for reconsideration of Board orders declining review of an initial decision will not be entertained. In response to suggestions that such petitions be permitted, the Board is permitting them but only in instances where the order exercises the Board's right of review in part and limited to the single question of whether any issue designated for review and any issue not so designated are so inseparately interrelated that the former cannot be reviewed independently or that the latter cannot be made effective before the final decision of the Board in the review proceeding § 301.45(e) has been revised accordingly.

Upon the Board's own initiative, § 301.46(a) has been revised to make it clear that review by the Board of the initial decision is committed to its discretion. Thus, the grounds specified in that section merely prescribe the contents of petitions for discretionary review and the Board remains free to decline to exercise its right of review if it believes that review is not required in the public interest. This coresponds to the intent of the Reorganization Plan and is similar to the traditional practice of the United States Supreme Court concerning petitions for writ of certiorari. However, the Board will review any initial decision when two or more members believe such action to be appropriate, irrespective of whether any petition for discretionary review has been filed or whether such petition alleges the prescribed grounds.

The notice of rule making proposed to delegate the Board's function of rendering a decision on the merits of a proceeding. We have revised the final regulation to make it clear that the delegation also encompasses all ancillary procedural issues which have not been decided at the time the record is closed and which have not been appealed to der § 301.45(a)) or petition for dis-

There are no restrictions on the republication of material appearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or the CODE OF FEDERAL REGULATIONS.

the Board in accordance with the requirements of § 301.11(d).

Upon further consideration of the matter, the Board has decided to liberalize the provisions of the notice of rule making which required petitions for discretionary review to be filed within 15 days after service of the initial decision and answers in opposition to be filed within 10 days after service of such petition. Accordingly, the final regulation set forth below extends the time for filing such petitions to 20 days and the time for filing such answers to 15 days. This extension restores the time limits presently in effect for the filing of a perfecting brief on appeal and a brief responsive thereto.

The notice also provided that the initial decision of an examiner made under delegated authority would become the final decision of the Board 30 days after service thereof if no petition for review was filed or if the Board failed to review on its own initiative. The provisions of the notice relating to this matter have been revised to provide for the filing of a notice of intent to petition for discretionary review within 10 days after service of the initial decision and to make the initial decision effective upon the expiration of that period unless, prior thereto, a notice of intent is filed or the Board orders the proceeding reviewed upon its own initiative. This new provision conforms to the presently effective practice whereby initial decisions become effective 10 days after service thereof if no notice of appeal has been filed and has been adopted in order to continue expeditious enforcement of the Civil Air Regulations.

Subparagraph (9) of present § 301.11(b), which authorized the examiners to certify questions to the Board in their discretion, has been deleted in order to reflect the enactment of new § 301.35 which permits the Board to direct the examiners to certify any questions or the entire record in the proceeding to it for decision. The exercise of such discretion by hearing examiners appears inconsistent with the intent of Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1961 which contemplates that the Board, alone, will determine whether it will review any issues in a proceeding. After careful consideration of various comments which generally seek minor changes in the proposed rule, the Board has decided to reject them because they are either unnecessary or would not be consistent with the public interest and the effective and prompt dispatch of the Board's business. Certain editorial changes in the text of the proposed rule have also been made.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the formulation of this new regulation, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

Since this amendment is not a substantive rule but one of agency procedure, the amendment may be made effective less than 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Board has decided that this regulation shall be made effective with respect to any formal hearing proceeding governed by Part 301 in which hearings have not actually commenced on or before the effective date of these amendments.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 301 of the Procedural Regulations (14 CFR Part 301) effective February 1, 1962, as follows:

§ 301.1 [Amendment]

1. Amend § 301.1 by inserting two additional definitions to read respectively:

"Initial decision" means the examiner's decision on the substantive and procedural issues remaining for disposition at the close of the hearing in a proceeding, pursuant to delegation of authority under § 301.11(b) of this part, except that this delegation does not apply in cases where the record is certified to the Board, with or without a recommended decision by the examiner. This definition does not include the review of rulings by the examiner on interlocutory matters which have been appealed to the Board in accordance with the requirements of § 301.11(d) and does not apply to the term "initial decision" as used in § 301.50.

"Petition for discretionary review" means a petition to the Board for review of an initial decision made by an examiner pursuant to authority delegated in § 301.11(b).

§ 301.2 [Amendment]

2. Amend § 301.2 by inserting after the first sentence thereof the following sentence: "This part also contains the Board's delegation to hearing examiners pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1961, of the Board's function to render the agency decision, subject to discretionary review by the Board."

3. Amend Part 301 by adding a new § 301.4 thereto to read as follows:

§ 301.4 Effective date of amendments.

Amendments to §§ 301.1, 301.2, 301.11, 301.15, 301.40, 301.45, 301.46, 301.47, 301.48, 301.50, and the addition of a new § 301.35 (27 F.R. 851) shall be effective February 1, 1962, and the procedural changes made by such amendments and addition shall not apply to any proceeding in which the hearing has actually commenced on or before February 1, 1962.

§ 301.11 [Amendment]

4. Amend § 301.11 by deleting subparagraph (9) of paragraph (b) and renumbering subparagraph (10) as subparagraph (9).

5. Amend § 301.11 by redesignating paragraphs (b) through (d) as (c) through (e), respectively; amending the caption of redesignated paragraph (d) to read "Appeals from examiners' interlocutory rulings"; and inserting a new paragraph (b) to read:

(b) Delegation of authority to make the agency decision subject to discretionary review. Pursuant to the authority conferred on the Board and the Chairman of the Board by Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1961, 26 F.R. 5989, there is hereby delegated to each hearing examiner assigned to a particular case subject to this part the Board's function of making the agency decision on the substantive and procedural issues remaining for disposition at the close of the hearing in such case, except that this delegation does not apply in cases arising under section 609 of the Act where the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency has advised the Board that an emergency exists and that safety in air commerce or air transportation requires the immediate effectiveness of his order appealed from. This delegation does not apply to the review of rulings by the examiners on interlocutory matters which have been appealed to the Board in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (d) of this section.

§ 301.15 [Amendment]

6. Amend § 301.15(b) in part to read:

(b) Other pleadings, motions or documents. All other pleadings, motions or documents, including petitions for discretionary review of an examiner's decision under authority delegated in § 301.11(b) of this part, shall be served before filing with the Board, by personal service or certified or registered mail. Service by certified or registered mail shall be complete * * * [remainder unchanged].

7. Add a new § 301.35 to read:

§ 301.35 Certification to the Board.

At any time prior to the close of the hearing, the Board may direct the examiner to certify any question or the entire record in the proceeding to the Board for decision. In cases where the record is certified to the Board, the examiner shall not render an initial decision but shall only recommend to the Board a decision as required by section 8(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act.

§ 301.40 [Amendment]

8. Amend § 301.40(a) to read:

(a) The examiner shall render his initial decision in writing after the close of the hearing. The decision shall recite that it is made under delegated authority, and contain notice of the provisions of § 301.45(a).

9. Amend § 301.40(c) to read as follows:

(c) The initial decision shall be served upon the parties. At any time before the date for filing a petition for discretionary review has passed, the examiner or the Board may, for good cause shown, extend the time within which to file a petition for such review and the examiner may also reopen the case for good cause upon notice to the parties.

10. Delete paragraph (d) of § 301.40.

11. Amend the descriptive caption preceding § 301.45 to read as follows: "Discretionary Review of Decisions."

12. Amend § 301.45 to read as follows:

§ 301.45 Procedure on petitions for discretionary review.

(a) Notice of intent to petition for discretionary review. Within 10 days after service upon him of an initial decision, a party may petition for review thereof by filing with the Board and serving upon the other parties (pursuant to § 301.15(b)) a notice of intent to petition for discretionary review. Such notice of intent need not specify the portions of the initial decision to which objections are taken nor adduce any supporting reasons therefor. Upon good cause shown, the Board may extend the time for filing a notice of appeal.

(b) Effect of examiner's initial decision. Unless a notice of intent to file a petition for discretionary review is filed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, or the Board issues an order to review upon its own initiative, the initial decision made by an examiner pursuant to § 301.11(b) shall become effective as the decision of the Board 10 days after service thereof. If such notice and such petition are timely filed or action to review is taken by the Board upon its own initiative, the effectiveness of the examiner's decision is stayed until the further order of the Board.

(c) Petitions for discretionary review. (1) Review by the Board pursuant to this section is not a matter of right but of the sound discretion of the Board. Any party to a proceeding subject to this subpart may file and serve a petition for discretionary review by the Board of a decision rendered pursuant to § 301.11(b) within 20 days after service thereof.

(2) Petitions for discretionary review shall be accompanied by proof of service on all parties, shall concisely and plainly state the issues presented for review and shall be filed only upon one or more of the following grounds:

(i) A finding of a material fact is erroneous;

(ii) A necessary legal conclusion is without governing precedent or is a departure from or contrary to law, Board rules, or precedent;

(iii) A substantial and important question of law, policy or discretion is involved; or

(iv) A prejudicial procedural error has occurred.

Petitions for discretionary review shall not exceed 10 pages in length.

(d) Answer. Within 15 days after service upon the opposing party of a petition for discretionary review, such party may file in opposition thereto an answer of not more than 10 pages, which shall be served on all parties and accompanied by proof of service.

(e) Orders declining review. Board orders declining to exercise the Board's right of review will specify the date upon which the examiner's decision shall become effective as the final decision of the Board. A petition for reconsideration of a Board order declining review will be entertained only when the order exercises, in part, the Board's right of review and such petition shall be limited to the single question of whether any issue designated for review and any issue not so designated are so inseparately interrelated that the former cannot be reviewed independently or that the latter cannot be made effective before the final decision of the Board in the review proceeding.

13. Amend § 301.46 to read as follows:

§ 301.46 Proceedings on review.

(a) Orders exercising right of review. The Board will exercise its right of review if it finds that the public interest so requires, or when two or more Board Members vote in favor of such review. An order of the Board providing for review will:

(1) Specify the issues to which review will be limited. Such issues shall constitute one or more of the objections urged in a petition for discretionary review and/or matters which the Board desires to review on its own initiative. Only those issues specified in such order will be considered by the Board.

(2) Specify those portions of the examiner's decision which are to be stayed as well as the effective date of the remaining portions thereof.

(3) Designate the parties to the review proceeding.

(b) Briefs. Petitioner's brief on the issues specified in the Board's orders on review shall be filed within 20 days after service of such order. When a party who has filed a petition for discretionary review fails to file a timely brief complying with the requirements of this section, the Board may rescind in whole or in part its order exercising its right of review.

(c) Contents of briefs. Each petitioner's brief shall set forth in detail the alleged errors in the initial decision and state the reasons for such objections and the relief requested. Where any objection is based upon evidence of record, such objection need not be considered by the Board if specific record citations to the pertinent evidence are not contained in the brief.

(d) Answering briefs. Within 15 days after service of a brief supporting the petition for discretionary review, any other party may file and serve an answering brief. No further briefs may be filed except upon specific leave of the Board granted upon a showing of good cause. Where the answering brief relies upon evidence of record, specific citations thereto shall be made in the brief.

(e) Number of copies. Eight copies of briefs shall be filed with the Board. The filing shall be accompanied by proof of service.

(f) Oral argument. Oral argument before the Board will normally not be held in proceedings conducted under this part. However, the Board may permit oral argument when it is specifically requested and a need therefor is shown.

14. Delete § 301.47 and insert in lieu thereof a new § 301.47 to read:

§ 301.47 Board decision on review of initial decisions.

The Board will dispose of the issues on review by appropriate order which includes a statement of the reasons for its findings and conclusions. If the Board determines that the examiner erred in any respect or that his order specifying the appropriate sanction or denial thereof should be changed, the Board may make any necessary findings or order in lieu thereof or remand the case for further hearing.

§ 301.48 [Amendment]

15. Amend the second sentence of § 301.48 to read as follows: "Initial decisions which have become final, in the absence of a timely notice of intent (under § 301.45(a)) or petition for discretionary review or because the Board has declined to order review thereof, shall not be deemed orders for this purpose."

§ 301.50 [Amendment]

16. Amend § 301.50 by inserting in paragraph (c), after the words "initial decision" in the second sentence thereof, the clause "(not made under authority delegated by § 301.11(b))."

17. Amend § 301.50(d) to read:

(d) Parties to the proceeding may appeal from an initial decision (not made under authority delegated by § 301.11(b)) as of right by filing with the Board and serving upon the other parties a notice of appeal within two days thereafter. Such notice of appeal need not comply with the requirements prescribed for petitions for discretionary review. Within five days of the notice of appeal, each party shall file one brief with the Board. Such briefs shall comply with the requirements of § 301.46 (c) and (e). The Board will give three days' notice of oral argument, where granted. The Board will not entertain petitions for reconsideration, rehearing, reargument or modification of its order except on the ground that new evidence has been discovered which could not have been discovered before by the exercise of due diligence. The Board, upon its own motion, may raise any issue the resolution of which it deems important to a proper disposition of the proceeding; in such a case a reasonable opportunity shall be afforded to the parties to submit argument thereon.

Effective date of Amendment No. 3. Amendment No. 3 to this part shall be effective February 1, 1962.

PART 302—RULES OF PRACTICE IN ECONOMIC PROCEEDINGS

Delegation of Function to Hearing Examiners

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 23d day of January 1962.

On September 12, 1961, the Board issued a notice of proposed rule making, PDR-8, Docket 13032 (26 F.R. 8642), proposing various amendments to the Board's rules of practice in Economic Proceedings which would delegate to hearing examiners, under Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1961, the Board's function of making the agency decision and prescribe appropriate procedures for discretionary review by the Board of examiners' decisions made pursuant to such delegation.

Some of the comments received urged the Board to initially limit the scope of the proposed delegation of function to hearing examiners to routine and simple economic cases and to review its examiners' judgments in any case having a significant impact upon the parties thereto without regard to whether the questions involved are significant to the administration of the Federal Aviation Act. The Board is unable to accept this view concerning the best method of implementing the objectives underlying the enactment of Reorganization Plan No. 3. The major purpose sought to be achieved by the Board's proposed rule is the substitution of certiorari type review procedures which will afford the Board plenary administrative discretion to determine when review is appropriate for the present practice in which the Board gives de novo consideration to each and every issue which any party may elect to raise by exception to an examiner's decision without regard to the substantiality or importance of such issues. The final regulation which the Board has decided to adopt will enable the Board to achieve this major procedural objective by giving it full freedom to review all, or appropriate selected issues, in a proceeding whenever the Board or any two of its Members deem such review to be desirable. Thus, it is apparent that the Board will retain the ultimate decision-making power and can adequately protect the rights of parties to its proceedings against unsound decisions of an examiner acting under delegated authority without limiting the scope of the delegation.

However, in response to the comments urging the Board to review cases which involve economic judgments, particularly those of importance to the carriers, the final regulation broadens the permissible grounds upon which petitions for discretionary review may be filed. The notice of rule making limited the filing of petitions for discretionary review to cases where a finding of material fact was clearly erroneous; a legal conclusion was contrary to precedent; a substantial and important question of policy was involved; or a procedural error was committed. These standards have been liberalized by the deletion of the requirement that an examiner's finding of material facts be "clearly erroneous" so that parties may seek review of any error concerning such facts. The standards concerning review of legal questions have been enlarged to cover unprecedented situations as well as those where the examiner's decision departs from settled precedent. Finally, the standards have been broadened by the express inclusion of substantial and important questions of "law or discretion," in addition to questions of "policy," as grounds for the filing of petitions for discretionary review. Interested persons may now ask the Board to exercise its discretion by reviewing issues which have an important economic impact upon the petitioner although they are not necessarily signicant in the formation of Board policy.

Section 302.28(a)(2) has been revised to make it clear that review by the Board of the initial decision is committed to its discretion. Thus, the grounds specified in that section merely prescribe the contents of petitions for discretionary review and the Board remains free to decline to exercise its right of review if it believes that review is not required in the public interest. This corresponds to the intent of the Reorganization Plan and is similar to the traditional practice of the United States Supreme Court concerning petitions for writ of certiorari. However, the Board will review any initial decision when two or more members believe such action to be appropriate, irrespective of whether any petition for discretionary review has been filed or whether such petition alleges the prescribed grounds.

The notice of rule making proposed to delegate the Board's function of rendering a decision on the merits of a proceeding. We have revised the final regulation to make it clear that the delegation also encompasses all ancillary procedural issues which have not been decided at the time the record is closed and which have not been appealed to the Board in accordance with the requirements of § 302.18.

Several of the commenting parties requested that more time be given to file petitions for discretionary review and answers in opposition thereto. The notice proposed that such petitions and answers be filed within 15 and 10 days respectively after service of the initial decision and the opposing party's petition for review. In response to these comments, the attached final regulation extends the time for filing such petitions to 25 days and the time for filing answers thereto to 15 days. In response to many comments, the provisions of the proposed rule prescribing a maximum length of 10 pages for such petitions and answers have been liberalized by increasing the allowable length of such documents to 15 pages. A provision has also been added whereby a party desiring to answer two or more petitions for review may file a single document of not more than 20 pages in length. In the event that any of these prescribed filing dates or page limitations prove to be inequitable in a particular situation, parties may request the Chief Examiner to exercise his delegated authority by changing such procedural requirements.

The notice provided that petitions for reconsideration of Board orders declining review of an initial decision will not be entertained. In response to suggestions that such petitions be permitted, the Board is permitting them but only in instances where the order exercises the Board's right of review in part and limited to the single question of whether any issue designated for review and any issue not so designated are so inseparably interrelated that the former cannot be reviewed independently or that the latter cannot be made effective before the final decision of the Board in the review proceeding. Section 302.28(c) has been revised accordingly.

Other comments seeking relatively minor changes in the proposed rule have been rejected because the proposals are either unnecessary or would not be consistent with the public interest and the effective and prompt dispatch of the Board's business. Certain editorial changes in the text of the proposed rule have also been made.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the formulation of this rule, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

Since this amendment is not a substantive rule but one of agency procedure, it may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Board has decided that this regulation shall be made effective with respect to any formal hearing proceeding governed by Part 302 in which hearings have not actually commenced on or before the effective date of these amendments.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 302 of the Procedural Regulations (14 CFR Part 302) effective February 1, 1962, as follows:

§ 302.1 [Amendment]

1. Amend § 302.1(a) by inserting after the first sentence thereof the following text: "This part also contains the Board's delegation to hearing examiners pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1961 of the Board's function to render the agency decision, subject to discretionary review by the Board."

§ 302.22 [Amendment]

2. Amend § 302.22 by deleting subparagraph (9) of paragraph (c) and renumbering subparagraphs (10) and (11) as, respectively, subparagraphs (9) and (10).

3. Amend the last sentence of § 302.22 by changing the words "exceptions to" to read "petitions for discretionary review of."

4. Amend § 302.22 by adding a new paragraph (d) thereto to read as follows:

(d) Certification to Board for decision. At any time prior to the close of the hearing, the Board may direct the examiner to certify any question or the entire record in the proceeding to the Board for decision. In cases where the record is thus certified, the examiner shall not render an initial decision but shall recommend a decision to the Board as required by section 8(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act unless, in rule making or determining applications for initial licenses, the Board advises him that it intends to issue a tentative decision.

5. Delete present § 302.27 and insert in lieu thereof a new § 302.27 to read:

§ 302.27 Delegation to examiners and action by examiners after hearing.

(a) Delegation of authority to make the agency decision subject to discretionary review. Pursuant to the authority conferred on the Board and the Chairman of the Board by Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1961, 26 F.R. 5989, there is hereby delegated to each hearing examiner assigned to a particular case subject to this Part the Board's function of making the agency decision on the substantive and procedural issues remaining for disposition at the close of the hearing in such case, except that this delegation does not apply in cases where the record is certified to the Board, with or without a recommended decision by the examiner, or in cases requiring Presidential approval under section 801 of the Act. This delegation does not apply to the review of rulings by the examiner on interlocutory matters which have been appealed to the Board in accordance with the requirements of § 302.18. The term "initial decision," as used in this part, shall encompass the examiner's decision pursuant, respectively, to this delegation of authority on the merits of the proceeding and upon all ancillary procedural issues remaining for disposition at the close of the hearing.

(b) Action by examiner after hearing.

(1) Every initial or recommended decision issued shall state the names of the persons who are to be served with copies of it, the time within which exceptions to, or petitions for review of, such decision may be filed, and the time within which briefs in support of the exceptions may be filed. In addition, every initial decision shall recite that it is made under delegated authority, and contain notice of the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section. In the event the examiner certifies the record to the Board without an initial or recommended decision, he shall notify the parties of the time within which to file proposed findings and conclusions with the Board and supporting briefs.

(2) Except where the Board directs otherwise, after the taking of evidence and the receipt of proposed findings and conclusions, if any, the examiner shall take the following action:

(i) Cases subject to section 802 of the Act. In cases where the action of the Board is subject to the approval of the President pursuant to section 801 of the Act, the examiner shall render a recommended decision orally on the record or in writing.

(ii) Other matters. If the proceeding relates to any matter not provided for in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, the examiner shall render an initial decision in writing.

(c) Effect of initial decision. Unless a petition for discretionary review is filed pursuant to § 302.28 or the Board issues an order to review upon its own initiative, the initial decision shall become effective as the final order of the Board 30 days after service thereof. If a petition for discretionary review is timely filed or action to review is taken by the Board upon its own initiative, the effectiveness of the initial decision is stayed until the further order of the Board.

6. Delete present § 302.28 and insert in lieu thereof a new § 302.28 to read:

§ 302.28 Petitions for review of initial decisions and review proceedings.

(a) Petitions for review. (1) Review by the Board pursuant to this section is not a matter of right but of the sound discretion of the Board. Any party may file and serve a petition for discretionary review by the Board of an initial decision within 25 days after service thereof.

(2) Petitions for review shall be accompanied by proof of service and shall concisely and plainly state the issues presented for review and shall be filed only upon one or more of the following grounds:

(i) A finding of a material fact is erroneous;

(ii) A necessary legal conclusion is without governing precedent or is a departure from or contrary to law, Board rules, or precedent;

(iii) A substantial and important question of law, policy or discretion is involved; or

(iv) A prejudicial procedural error has occurred. Where objections are based on the record, the portions of the record relied upon shall be identified by detailed citation. Petitions for review shall not exceed 20 pages in length, and shall otherwise comply with the formal specifications set forth in § 302.31(b).

(b) Answer. Within 15 days after service upon the opposing party of a petition for review, such party may file in opposition thereto an answer of not more than 15 pages, which shall otherwise comply with the formal specifications set forth in § 302.31(b). Provided, however, That if any such opposing party desires to answer two or more petitions for review, such party shall file a single answer of not more than 20 pages.

(c) Orders declining review. Board orders declining to exercise the Board's right of review will specify the date upon which the examiner's decision shall be come effective as the final decision of the Board. A petition for reconsideration of a Board order declining review will be entertained only when the order exercises, in part, the Board's right of review and such petition shall be limited to the single question of whether any issue designated for review and any issue not so designated are so inseparably interrelated that the former cannot be reviewed independently or that the latter cannot be made effective before the final decision of the Board in the review proceeding.

(d) Review proceeding. The Board will exercise its right of review if it finds that the public interest so requires, or when two or more Board Members vote in favor of such review. An order of the Board providing for review will:

(1) Specify the issues to which review will be limited. Such issues shall constitute one or more of the objections urged in a petition for review and/or matters which the Board desires to review on its own initiative. Only those issues specified in such order will be considered by the Board.

(2) Specify those portions of the examiner's decision which are to be stayed as well as the effective date of the remaining portions thereof.

(3) Designate the parties to the review proceeding.

§ 302.30 [Amendment]

7. Amend § 302.30 in the following respects:

a. Delete the words "initial or" from the caption and first sentence thereof.

b. Delete the word "initial," from the second sentence thereof.

§ 302.31 [Amendment]

8. Amend paragraph (a) of § 302.31 as follows:

a. Delete the words "initial or" from the first sentence.

b. Insert immediately after the first sentence the following text: "Briefs on the issues specified in the Board's orders on review of initial decisions shall be filed within 30 days after the date of service of such orders."

9. Amend the first sentence of paragraph (b)(2) of § 302.31 to read as follows: "Briefs to the Board may not incorporate by reference any portion of briefs previously submitted to the examiner assigned to the proceeding."

10. Amend § 302.33 to read as follows:

§ 302.33 Waiver of procedural steps after hearing.

The parties to any proceeding may agree to waive any one or more of the following procedural steps provided in §§ 302.25 to 302.32: Oral argument before the examiner, the filing of proposed findings and conclusions for the examiner, or for the Board, a recommended decision of the examiner, a tentative decision of the Board, exceptions to a recommended decision of the examiner or a tentative decision of the Board, a petition for discretionary review of an initial decision, the filing of briefs with the Board, or oral argument before the Board.

11. Delete § 302.34.

12. Amend § 302.36 to read as follows:

§ 302.36 Final decision of the Board.

When a case stands submitted to the Board for final decision on the merits, the Board will dispose of the issues presented by entering an appropriate order which will include a statement of the reasons for its findings and conclusions. Such orders shall be deemed "final orders" within the purview of § 302.37(a).

§ 302.37 [Amendment]

13. Amend the first sentence of § 302.37(a) to read as follows: "A petition for reconsideration, rehearing or reargument may be filed by any party to a proceeding within twenty (20) days after the date of service of a final order by the Board in such proceeding unless the time is shortened or enlarged by the Board. Provided, That no such petition shall be filed with respect to an initial decision or any portion thereof which has become final."

14. Amend Part 302 by adding a new § 302.41 thereto to read as follows:

§ 302.41 Effective date of amendments.

Amendments to §§ 302.1, 302.22, 302.27, 302.28, 302.30, 302.31, 302.33, 302.36, 302.37, and the deletion of § 302.34 (27 F.R. 853) shall be effective February 1, 1962, and the procedural changes made by such amendments and deletion shall not apply to any proceeding in which the hearing has actually commenced on or before February 1, 1962.

Effective date of Amendment No. 5. Amendment No. 5 to this part shall be effective February 1, 1962.

SUBCHAPTER C—AIRCRAFT REGULATIONS

[Reg. Docket No. 1045; Amdt. 395]

PART 507—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Hiller UH-12A and UH-12B Helicopters

Airworthiness Directive 55-8-3 (21 F.R. 9535), requires the installation of new cam follower rollers in the tail rotor drive slip joints of Hiller UH-12A and UH-12B helicopters. Service experience has shown that the replacement rollers also are subject to failure. To preclude further failures, a new directive superseding AD 55-8-3 is necessary. This directive requires the installation of improved rollers of a type which has given trouble free service in later UH-12 Series models, in both fore and aft slip joints.

As a situation exists which demands immediate action in the interest of safety, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 6489), § 507.10(a) of Part 507 (14 CFR Part 507), is hereby amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

HILLER. Applies to all UH-12A and UH-12B helicopters.

Compliance required within the next 150 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD.

To preclude additional failures of the tail rotor drive slip joints which can result in loss of power to the tail rotor, replace CR-10 or CR-10T type rollers of both fore and aft slip joints UH-12A Assembly Nos. 24560-9 and -10 and UH-12B Assembly Nos. 24565 and 24544, with the improved Torrington CR-10U type rollers.

(Hiller Service Bulletin No. 44, Revision A covers this same subject.)

This supersedes AD 55-8-3, 21 F.R. 9535.

This amendment shall become effective January 30, 1962.

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

PART 601—DESIGNATION OF CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, REPORTING POINTS, POSITIVE CONTROL ROUTE SEGMENTS, AND POSITIVE CONTROL AREAS

Designation of Federal Airways and Associated Control Areas

On August 23, 1961, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 7838), stating that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to designate low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 439 and intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1763 from Dickinson, N. Dak., to Williston, N. Dak. It was also stated that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to designate the control areas associated with Victor 439 to extend from 700 feet above the surface to the base of the continental control area, and that separate actions would be initiated to implement on an area basis Amendment 60-21 to Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations.

The Air Transport Association of America concurred with the proposed amendment. The Department of the Air Force offered no objection. No other comments were received.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the rules herein adopted, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

The substance of the proposed amendments having been published, therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) and for the reasons stated in the Notice, the following actions are taken:

1. In Part 600 (14 CFR Part 600) the following sections are added:

§ 600.6439 VOR Federal airway No. 439 (Dickinson, N. Dak., to Williston, N. Dak.).

From the Dickinson, N. Dak., VORTAC to the Williston, N. Dak., VOR.

§ 600.1763 VOR Federal airway No. 1763 (Dickinson, N. Dak., to Williston, N. Dak.).

2. In Part 601 (14 CFR Part 601) the following section is added:

Chapter VII—Department of the Air Force

SUBCHAPTER A—AID OF CIVIL AUTHORITIES AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

PART 800—DEPARTMENT OF THE AIR FORCE SEAL

Part 800 is revised to read as follows:

Sec.
800.1 Purpose.
800.2 Description of the seal.
800.3 Use of the seal.
800.4 Coat of arms.
800.5 Official drawings.
800.6 Headquarters USAF responsibilities.

AUTHORITY: §§ 800.1 to 800.6 issued under sec. 8012, 70A Stat. 488; 10 U.S.C. 8012.
SOURCE: AFR 11-10, June 17, 1960.

§ 800.1 Purpose.

Sections 800.1 to 800.6 describe the Department of the Air Force Seal, prescribe its use, and tell when the Seal may be reproduced in whole or in part.

§ 800.2 Description of the seal.

The Air Force Seal, established by Executive Order 9902, November 1, 1947, is the impression used on official documents and records of the Department of the Air Force.

(a) The Coat of Arms, in the center portion of the Seal, consists of two components:

(1) The Crest includes the eagle, cloud formation, and heraldic wreath. The American bald eagle symbolizes the United States and its airpower; the wreath beneath the eagle, composed of six alternate folds of metal and color, repeats the principal metal and color used in the Shield, white (representing silver) and light blue. The cloud formation behind the eagle depicts the creation of a new firmament—the Department of the Air Force.

(2) The Shield, immediately below the eagle, is divided horizontally into two parts by a nebuly line representing clouds. The top portion of the shield bears the heraldic thunderbolt, which portrays striking power through the medium of aerospace.

(b) The 13 encircling stars represent the original 13 colonies.

(c) Roman numerals beneath the shield indicate 1947, the year the Department of the Air Force was established.

(d) The band encircling the whole design bears the inscription "Department of the Air Force" and "United States of America."

§ 800.3 Use of the seal.

(a) Official policy. Use of the Seal or any part thereof is permitted only as authorized herein, or as approved by the Department of the Air Force in specific instances. Falsely making, forging, counterfeiting, mutilating, or altering the Seal, or knowingly using or possessing with fraudulent intent any such altered Seal, is punishable by law (62 Stat. 714; 18 U.S.C. 506).

(b) Authorized uses. The Seal or any part thereof, in black and white, color, monochrome reproduction, pictorial, or sculptured relief, may be used as follows:

(1) Motion pictures and television: In Air Force-approved training films, public relations films, and official USAF motion picture and television programs.

(2) Memorials and monuments: Those erected by the Department of the Air Force or for which both the purpose and design are specifically approved by Headquarters USAF.

(3) Display: With any official Air Force exhibit.

(4) Wall plaques: By museums, military societies, and governmental institutions, when specifically approved by Headquarters USAF.

NOTE: When use of the entire Seal or any part thereof is desired and the specific case is not covered in §§ 800.1 to 800.6, request for approval will be forwarded through channels to Hq USAF (AFPMP-12-C), Washington 25, D.C.

(c) Unauthorized uses. The Seal will not be used:

(1) On souvenir or novelty items of an expendable nature.

(2) On printed matter reproduced or procured by an Air Force activity, except as provided in paragraph (b)(1) of this section.

(3) On toys or commercial gifts and premiums.

(4) As a letterhead design on stationery.

(5) On menus, matchbook covers, sugar envelopes, calendars, and similar items.

(6) To adorn civilian clothing.

(7) On membership cards of military or quasi-military clubs, societies, etc.

(8) On athletic clothing and equipment.

(9) On any article which may discredit the Seal or reflect unfavorably upon the Department of the Air Force.

(10) In any manner which implies Air Force indorsement of commercial products or services.

(11) On commercial or private printed matter.

§ 800.4 Coat of arms.

Authorized uses of the Coat of Arms are given below:

(a) Coat of Arms, with or without encircling stars, in black and white, color, monochrome reproduction, pictorial or sculptured relief, may be used for ornamentation, for nonofficial use, on articles of jewelry, such as watches, rings, tie clasps, cuff links, bracelets, cigarette lighters, and similar articles where use of the Coat of Arms is in good taste and appropriate to the occasion.

NOTE: Use of the Coat of Arms in instances mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section must be specifically approved by Hq USAF (AFPMP-12-C), Washington 25, D.C. When Headquarters USAF approves use of the Coat of Arms for nonofficial purposes, it will do so only with the understanding that such usage in no way reflects Air Force endorsement of the product involved.

(b) Coat of Arms without encircling stars, in black and white, color, monochrome reproduction, pictorial, or sculptured relief, may be used for ornamentation by USAF military personnel, including members of the Reserve components and USAF retired personnel, as follows:

(1) For display on personal stationery or framing for display in the home as a painting or a wall plaque.

(2) For wear on civilian jackets or blazers of conservative color.

NOTE: Although Headquarters USAF approval is not required for use of the Coat of Arms without encircling stars in the cases mentioned in paragraph (b) of this section, Air Force personnel are reminded that it is the obligation of each member to protect the dignity of the Air Force Coat of Arms by insuring that its display is in good taste and is appropriate to the occasion.

§ 800.5 Official drawings.

Official drawings of the Seal or any part thereof required for reproduction purposes may be obtained through channels from Hq USAF (AFCAS-50), Washington 25, D.C. The request will be accompanied by a complete justification.

§ 800.6 Headquarters USAF responsibilities.

(a) The Administrative Assistant, Office of the Secretary of the Air Force, is the custodian of the Air Force Seal, and is solely responsible for approving use of its impression on official departmental documents and records.

(b) The Deputy Chief of Staff, Personnel, is responsible for approving use of facsimiles of the Seal, or portions thereof, on insignia, flags, medals, and similar items. He is also responsible for authorizing such other uses of elements of the Seal as Air Force organizations, civilian groups, and industry may request.

By order of the Secretary of the Air Force.

CARROLL W. KELLEY,
Lt. Colonel, U.S. Air Force, Chief, Special Activities Group, Office of The Judge Advocate General.

PART 3—NATIONAL CAPITAL PARKS REGULATIONS

Areas in Which Parades and Public Gatherings Are Prohibited

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by section 3 of the Act of August 25, 1916 (39 Stat. 535; 16 U.S.C. 3), § 3.22 of Title 36, Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as set forth below. The purpose of the amendment is to close East Executive Avenue to parades and public gatherings so that this means of access to the White House and Treasury Building will be open at all times.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule-making process. However, because East Executive Avenue is a comparatively narrow and busy thoroughfare and is used as an access way for entry to the White House for all public tours, it is determined that the use of the street for other or additional public gatherings should be restricted as being contrary to the best interest of the general public. Accordingly, this amendment shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Paragraph (j) of § 3.22 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.22 Areas in which parades and public gatherings are prohibited.

§ 295.21 Alternate methods or procedures.

A manufacturer, on specific approval by the Director as provided in this section, may use an alternate method or procedure in lieu of a method or procedure specifically prescribed in this part. The Director may approve an alternate method or procedure, subject to stated conditions, when he finds that:

(a) Good cause has been shown for the use of the alternate method or procedure,

(b) The alternate method or procedure is within the purpose of, and consistent with the effect intended by, the specifically prescribed method or procedure, and affords equivalent security to the revenue, and

(c) The alternate method or procedure will not be contrary to any provision of law, and will not result in an increase in cost to the Government or hinder the effective administration of this part.

No alternate method or procedure relating to the giving of any bond or to the assessment, payment, or collection of tax, shall be authorized under this section. Where a manufacturer desires to employ an alternate method or procedure, he shall submit a written application to do so, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner for transmittal to the Director. The application shall specifically describe the proposed alternate method or procedure, and shall set forth the reasons therefor. Alternate methods or procedures shall not be employed until the application has been approved by the Director. The manufacturer shall, during the period of authorization of an alternate method or procedure, comply with the terms of the approved application. Authorization for any alternate method or procedure may be withdrawn whenever in the judgment of the Director the revenue is jeopardized or the effective administration of this part is hindered. § 295.22 Emergency variations from requirements.

The Director may approve methods of operation other than as specified in this part, where he finds that an emergency exists and the proposed variations from the specified requirements are necessary, and the proposed variations:

(a) Will afford the security and protection to the revenue intended by the prescribed specifications,

(b) Will not hinder the effective administration of this part, and

(c) Will not be contrary to any provision of law.

Variations from requirements granted under this section are conditioned on compliance with the procedures, conditions, and limitations set forth in the approval of the application. Failure to comply in good faith with such procedures, conditions, and limitations shall automatically terminate the authority for such variations and the manufacturer thereupon shall fully comply with the prescribed requirements of regulations from which the variations were authorized. Authority for any variations may be withdrawn whenever in the judgment of the Director the revenue is jeopardized or the effective administration of this part is hindered by the continuation of such variation. Where a manufacturer desires to employ such variation, he shall submit a written application to do so, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner for transmittal to the Director. The application shall describe the proposed variations and set forth the reasons therefor. Variations shall not be employed until the application has been approved. The manufacturer shall retain, as part of his records, any authorization of the Director under this section for three years following the close of the calendar year in which the operation under such authorization is concluded.

SWEET CORN FOR PROCESSING[1]

Proposed U.S. Standards for Grades

Notice is hereby given that the United States Department of Agriculture is considering the revision of United States Standards for Sweet Corn for Canning pursuant to the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (secs. 202–208, 60 Stat. 1087, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 1621–1627).

Statement of considerations leading to the proposed revision. The existing U.S. Standards for Sweet Corn for Canning, last revised in 1945, have become badly outmoded and inadequate for present needs. During the intervening years, industry preferences and practices with regard to processed corn have changed a great deal. Freezing as a method of processing has become increasingly important, and the whole kernel style has become the overwhelming favorite. The demand for whole kernel packs has placed the emphasis on harvesting and packing corn at a young stage of maturity in order to meet the high standards for tenderness required in the U.S. Standards for Processed Corn. The existing standards for raw sweet corn for canning do not differentiate adequately between the gradations of quality and maturity.

The proposed revision will change the grade structure while preserving the basic principles of quality and maturity determination which have been contained in the standard from the beginning. The No. 1 and No. 2 grades will be continued, but will contain more explicit requirements. There will be more distinct differences between the two grades than there is at present, based upon size of the ear and degree of freedom from defects.

In the proposed standards, maturity of the corn does not enter into the determination of the grade of the ear, excepting that excessively young or excessively old ears are classed as "Culls". Each ear which falls within the range of "milk" to "dough" maturity is graded on its merits, aside from maturity.

The new maturity classifications for entire loads are considered to be potentially the most important and useful provision of the proposed standards. The present standards provide only for the classification of individual ears as A, B, or C maturity, with no provision for a general maturity rating for the load.

The proposed standards provide not only comparable maturity ratings for individual ears with more complete definitions of each, but they also provide seven different maturity classifications for the load as a whole based upon the range of maturity of the ears in the load. These classes will be highly significant as indicators of the probable grade ratings which will be given to the processed corn packed from the loads in question. It is presumed that growers and processors will use the maturity classifications as targets in timing their harvesting operations to obtain the best stage of maturity for the grade of pack which the processor intends to make.

The size of ears required in U.S. No. 1 grade, in terms of the amount of usable corn on the ear, would be increased from the present 3 inches to 4 inches, unless otherwise specified. This is in keeping with the greatly increased size of ears produced from present day hybrid varieties in contrast to the old open-pollinated varieties of yellow sweet corn. The No. 2 grade would retain the 3-inch requirement presently in effect.

A number of added definitions are proposed to more clearly state what are the limits permitted in the No. 1 grade and the No. 2 grade for various defects. These definitions include damage by worms, birds, freezing, and denting of the kernels. Definitions for damage by cross pollination and smut would be changed. All of these changes are intended to reflect the higher standards of products being packed which are made possible by improved growing and processing methods.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed standards should file the same with the Chief, Fresh Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, South Building, Washington 25, D.C., not later than 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed standards, as revised, are as follows:

GRADES

§ 51.3365 U.S. No. 1.

(a) "U.S. No. 1" consists of ears of sweet corn of similar color characteristics which are fresh and free from damage by freezing, cross pollination, denting, worms, birds, fermentation, smut or other disease, mechanical or other means. Kernels on each ear shall be developed beyond the "blister stage", but shall not have reached the "hard stage" of maturity.

§ 51.3366 U.S. No. 2.

(a) "U.S. No. 2" consists of ears of sweet corn of similar color characteristics which are fresh, free from damage by freezing, fermentation, smut or other disease, and free from serious damage by cross pollination, denting, worms, birds, mechanical or other means. Kernels on each ear shall be developed beyond the "blister stage", but shall not have reached the "hard stage" of maturity.

(b) Unless otherwise specified, each ear shall have not less than an average of 3 inches of the cob covered with undamaged kernels.

CULLS

§ 51.3367 Culls.

"Culls" consists of ears of sweet corn which fail to meet the requirements of U.S. No. 2 grade.

MATURITY CLASSIFICATIONS

§ 51.3368 Maturity classifications.

In addition to the grade classification, a lot of sweet corn may be classified for general overall maturity in terms of one of the following maturity classifications:

(a) A–1. Includes ears in the "milk stage" or younger, more than half of which are in the very tender early "milk stage", and none of the remainder of which are bordering on the "cream stages".

[1] Packing of the product in conformity with the requirements of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act or with applicable State laws and regulations.

(b) A–2. Includes ears in the "milk stage" or younger with not more than 5 percent bordering on the "cream stage".

(c) A–3. Includes ears in the "milk stage" with more than 5 percent bordering on the "cream stage".

(d) A–B. Includes ears generally in the "milk stage" with 1 to 10 percent in the "cream stage".

(e) B. Includes ears mostly in the "milk stage" with more than 10 percent in the "cream stage".

(f) B–C. Includes ears generally in either the "milk" or the "cream stage" with 1 to 10 percent in the "dough stage".

(g) C. Includes ears more than 10 percent of which are in the "dough stage".

DEFINITIONS

§ 51.3369 Similar color characteristics.

"Similar color characteristics" means that the kernels on the ears of corn in any lot are of the same general color.

§ 51.3370 Fresh.

"Fresh" means that the ear does not show evidence of dryness from excessive elapsed time after picking or from other causes.

§ 51.3371 Damage.

"Damage" means any specific defect described in this section; or an equally objectionable variation of any one of these defects, any other defect, or any combination of defects, which materially lowers the processing quality of the ear. The following specific defects shall be considered as damage:

(a) Freezing when color, texture or flavor of the kernels has been materially affected;

(b) Denting when 5 percent or more of the kernels on the ear show conspicuous depressions in the exposed surface;

(c) Cross pollinations when 3 percent or more of the kernels on the ear are of a color or maturity which contrasts distinctly with most of the kernels on the ear;

(d) Worms when badly discolored remnants of worm-eaten kernels affect an area of the ear as great as that of a circle one inch in diameter, or when a corn borer has tunneled into the cob.

(e) Birds when badly discolored or dried remnants of birdpecked kernels affect an area of the ear as great as that of a circle one inch in diameter;

(f) Fermentation when any portion of the husked ear has a distinctly sour odor; and

(g) Smut when any kernel on the ear is more than slightly swollen due to smut infection.

§ 51.3372 Blister stage.

"Blister stage" means the stage of development in which the kernels are not sufficiently mature for processing. They are small, underdeveloped, have very tender pericarps and contain watery or cloudy liquid which runs freely when released.

§ 51.3373 Milk stage.

"Milk stage" means the stage of development in which the kernels are moderately to well filled out, have tender pericarps which break with light pressure from the thumb nail, and contain a milky or thin creamy liquid which spreads or runs moderately when released.

§ 51.3374 Cream stage.

"Cream stage" means the stage in which the kernels have attained full size, have fairly tender pericarps which break with moderate pressure from the thumb nail, and contain a thick creamy substance which spreads or runs very little when released.

§ 51.3375 Dough stage.

"Dough stage" means the stage in which the kernels have attained full size, have tough pericarps which require heavy pressure from the thumb nail to break, and contain a soft doughy substance which does not spread or run when released.

§ 51.3376 Hard stage.

"Hard stage" means the stage in which the kernels have very tough pericarps and contain a heavy, sticky, doughy substance. Ears in this stage are overmature for any processing purpose.

§ 51.3377 Serious damage.

"Serious damage" means any specific defect described in this section; or an equally objectionable variation of any one of these defects, any other defect, or any combination of defects, which seriously lowers the processing quality of the ear. The following specific defects shall be considered as serious damage:

(a) Cross pollination when 5 percent or more of the kernels on the ear are of a color or maturity which contrasts distinctly with most of the kernels on the ear;

(b) Denting when 10 percent or more of the kernels on the ear show conspicuous depressions in the exposed surfaces;

(c) Worms when areas having conspicuous worm-eaten kernels extend to or near to the central portion of the ear, necessitating side ("slab") trimming by hand, or when a corn borer has tunneled into the cob;

(d) Birds when areas having conspicuous bird-pecked kernels extend to or near to the central portion of the ear, necessitating side ("slab") trimming.

APPLICATION OF STANDARDS

§ 51.3378 Purpose of standards.

These standards are intended for use in describing the quality and maturity of loads of sweet corn being delivered by growers to processors. The grade and maturity classification of a load is useful in two ways. First, it provides an equitable basis for pricing the load in relation to its quality. Second, it enables the processor to use the corn more advantageously.

§ 51.3379 Husked ear basis.

The standards shall be applied on the basis of husked ears. All ears in the grade sample shall be completely husked during the grading process. A husked ear is one which has all of the husks removed, the shank or stem trimmed to one inch or less in length, and the cob trimmed, if necessary, so that the portion remaining without usable kernels is not more than one-fourth the length of the trimmed ear.

§ 51.3380 Grade and maturity determination.

(a) A representative sample from the load shall be used for grade and maturity determination. A weighed quantity of ears is husked and sorted into groups of U.S. No. 1, U.S. No. 2 and Cull ears. The weight of each of these groups of husked ears is used to calculate the percentage of each.

(b) The maturity of the individual ears is determined during the process of grading, and a maturity classification is assigned to the load on the basis of the percentages of ears in the various stages of maturity.

(c) All percentages shall be determined on the basis of weight.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[Docket No. 50-157]

CORNELL UNIVERSITY

Notice of Issuance of Facility License Amendment

Please take notice that Amendment No. 1 to License No. R-80, set forth below, has been issued, effective as of the date of issuance. License No. R-80, as amended, authorizes operation of the Cornell University TRIGA Mark II nuclear reactor located on the university's campus at Ithaca, N.Y.

The amendment authorizes operation of the reactor in accordance with a revision in the application for license concerning personnel, qualifications of new personnel, plans for selection and training of additional operators, and a change in the requirement that two TRIGA licensed operators be present during reactor operations.

The Commission has found that operation of the reactor in accordance with the terms and conditions of the license, as amended, will not present undue hazard to the health and safety of the public and will not be inimical to the common defense and security.

The Commission has further found that prior public notice of proposed issuance of this amendment is not necessary in the public interest since operation of the reactor under the license, as amended, would not present any substantial change in the hazards to the health and safety of the public from those considered and evaluated in connection with the previously approved operation of the reactor.

For further details see (1) the application amendment dated December 28, 1961, submitted by Cornell University, and (2) a hazards analysis prepared by the Test and Power Reactor Safety Branch of the Division of Licensing and Regulation, both to file at the AEC's Public Document Room. A copy of item (2) above may be obtained at the AEC's Public Document Room or upon request addressed to the Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C., Attention: Director, Division of Licensing and Regulation.

In accordance with the Commission's rules of practice (10 CFR Part 2) the Commission will direct the holding of a formal hearing on the matter of issuance of the license amendment upon receipt of a request therefor from the licensee or an intervener within 30 days after the issuance of the license amendment. Petitions for leave to intervene and requests for a formal hearing shall be filed by mailing a copy to the Office of the Secretary, Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C., or by delivery of a copy in person to the Office of the Secretary, Germantown, Md., or the AEC's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 22d day of January 1962.

[Docket No. 13085; Order E-17955]

ANDREWS AIR SERVICES CORP. ET AL.

Order of Tentative Approval

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 24th day of January 1962.

In the matter of the application of Andrews Air Service Corp., et al., Docket 13085; for approval of control and interlocking relationships under sections 408 and 409 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958.

By Order E-16544, dated March 22, 1961, D. C. Andrews & Co., Inc. (Andrews), then an applicant for international air freight forwarder operating authority, was granted an exemption by the Board from the provisions of section 408 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 to permit it to control four wholly-owned subsidiaries. The interlocking relationships of the officers and directors of Andrews, who held the same positions in the four subsidiaries, were also approved under the provisions of section 409 of the Act. Thereafter, on June 9, 1961, Andrews was issued Operating Authorization No. 158 as an international air freight forwarder.

Subsequently, Andrews decided it would be more beneficial to conduct the air freight forwarder activities through a new wholly-owned subsidiary, Andrews Air Service Corporation (Service). Accordingly, applications have been filed for the issuance to Service of an operating authorization as an international air freight forwarder[1] and for necessary approvals under sections 408 and 409 of the Act permitting Andrews to control Service and the four other subsidiaries and authorizing interlocking relationships between the companies.[2] Applicants state in effect that the establishment of Service as an air freight forwarder, rather than Andrews, will be of assistance from the standpoint of customer identification and in other respects will simplify accounting and reporting procedures.

No objection to the application has been filed.

The Board, upon consideration of the application, concludes that the control by Andrews of Service and the other companies named above is subject to section 408(a) of the Act. The Board also concludes that such relationships do not affect the control of an air carrier directly engaged in the operation of aircraft in air transportation, do not result in creating a monopoly, and do not tend to restrain competition. Furthermore, the Board notes that no person disclosing a substantial interest is currently requesting a hearing. Also, the establishment of Service for the purpose of becoming the air freight forwarder, in lieu of Andrews, does not alter significantly the relationships previously approved by the Board. It appears, therefore, that approval of the relationships would not be inconsistent with the public interest.

[1] The authorization of Andrews as an international air freight forwarder is to be terminated upon approval of the instant application and the subsequent grant of a forwarder authorization to Service. For the purpose of this proceeding Service is considered to be an air carrier.

[2] The subsidiaries, other than Service, are D. C. Andrews & Co. of Illinois, Inc., D. C. Andrews & Co. of Louisiana, Inc., D. C. Andrews & Co. of Massachusetts, and D. C. Andrews & Co. of Maryland, Inc. The companies operate as surface freight forwarders by water or land and/or as cargo sales agents for members of the International Air Transport Association. The individuals involved in the interlocking relationships and their positions, which are the same for all companies including Andrews and Service, are as follows:

Name and position
Charles C. Hartzell, president, director.
Frank R. Harlocker, executive vice president, director.
Erna B. (Mrs. Charles) Hartzell, director.
Hakon Olsson, treasurer.
Myron L. Shapiro, secretary, director.
Eugene R. Birchler, vice president.

The Board has also determined that interlocking relationships within the scope of section 409(a) of the Act will exist between Service and the other companies named above, from the holding by the individual applicants of the positions described herein. However, the Board finds that the parties have made a due showing that the interlocking relationships will not adversely affect the public interest.

In view of the foregoing, the Board tentatively finds that the control relationships involved herein should be approved and intends to approve them without a hearing, pursuant to the provisions of section 408(b). In accordance therewith, this order constituting notice of such intention will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and interested persons will be afforded an opportunity to comment on the Board's tentative decision.[3]

Therefore, it is ordered:

1. That this order be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER;

2. That the Attorney General be furnished a copy of this order within one day of its publication; and

3. That interested persons are afforded a period of fifteen days within which to file comments with respect to the Board's proposed action herein.[4]

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] HAROLD R. SANDERSON,
Secretary.

[F.R. Doc. 62-973; Filed, Jan. 29, 1962; 8:47 a.m.]

[3] Further action on the interlocking relationships under section 409 will be deferred pending final resolution of the control relationships which are subject to section 408.

[4] Such comments shall in all respects conform to the requirements of the Board's rules of practice for the filing of documents.

AUTHORITY: §§ 10.1 to 10.122 issued under sec. 6, 47 Stat. 14, as amended; 12 U.S.C. 665.

NOTE: That part of each section number which follows the first decimal is the same as the section number of the corresponding provision in the Federal Land Bank Manual, except for §§ 10.120a, 10.120b, 10.120c, and 10.120d which do not appear in the manual. Where the word "bank" appears alone, it refers to a Federal land bank; the word "association" refers to a Federal land bank association; the word "Administration" refers to the Farm Credit Administration.

Subpart—Eligibility

§ 10.1 Eligibility of applicants.

An eligible person as used in section 12 Sixth of the Federal Farm Loan Act (12 U.S.C. 771 Sixth) is one who is engaged, or shortly to become engaged, in farming operations or who derives the principal part of his income from farming operations.

§ 10.2 Same; farming operations.

A person will be deemed to be engaged in farming operations if, in the capacity of owner, lessee, or tenant of a farm, he actively participates personally or through an agent to a substantial degree in the management and conduct of the farming operations on any farm land.

§ 10.3 Same; farming corporations.

The term "person" includes a corporation engaged in farming operations. Loans may be made to such a corporation provided that (a) more than one-half of its income is derived from farming operations, (b) one or more individuals owning a substantial portion of the outstanding stock of the corporation are engaged in farming operations in connection with the farm to be mortgaged as security for the loan, and (c) one or more individuals owning a substantial portion of the outstanding stock of the corporation assume personal liability for the loan. Requirements (b) and (c) may be met by either the same or different individuals.

§ 10.5 Same; joint owners.

An application offering jointly held property as security may be accepted if it is signed by one or more of the joint owners, on behalf of all of the joint owners, provided it is understood that all of the owners will join in a mortgage if a loan is approved.

§ 10.6 Same; fiduciaries.

Loans may be made to an executor, administrator, trustee, or guardian if (a) the fiduciary, as such, or the beneficiary or ward is engaged, or shortly to become engaged, in farming operations, or derives the principal part of his income from farming operations; (b) a valid lien can or will be given on the property on which the loan is sought; and (c) an individual sufficiently interested to do so, can and will incur personal liability for the loan.

§ 10.7 Eligibility of purposes.

The statutory provision as to the purposes for which loans may be made is as follows (12 U.S.C. 771 Fourth):

Such loans may be made for general agricultural purposes and other requirements of the owner of the land mortgaged, under rules and regulations of the Farm Credit Administration.

While many of them might be placed in either category, the recognized purposes are as hereafter listed under the headings § 10.8 Same; general agricultural purposes and § 10.9 Same; other requirements of the owner.

§ 10.8 Same; general agricultural purposes.

(a) Purchase and improvement of farm real estate;

(b) Purchase of livestock, equipment, and supplies;

(c) Payment of farm operating expenses, including taxes and insurance;

(d) Provide a home for use in connection with farm operation;

(e) Removal of a lien from farm land;

(f) Refinance indebtedness incurred for any of the foregoing purposes or reimburse applicant for amounts spent out of his own funds for such purposes.

§ 10.9 Same; other requirements of the owner.

(a) Provide a home for the owner or his family;

(b) Pay family living expenses, including premiums on life insurance, educational, medical, and funeral expenses;

(c) Provide facilities for processing, storage, and marketing of farm products, and the handling of farm equipment and supplies, even though not located on the mortgaged farm;

(d) Discharge any bona fide liability of the owner, including income and other taxes, judgments, liens, liability as endorser or surety for the debt of another, etc.;

(e) If the owner is personally actually engaged in farming operations or receives the principal part of his income from farming operations, assist him or other family members in establishing and maintaining themselves, together or separately, on or off the farm.

Subpart—Security

§ 10.11 Security standards.

To be acceptable security for a loan, a property must meet each of the following minimum standards:

(a) It must be sufficiently desirable to be readily salable or rentable under normal agricultural conditions.

(b) It must be sufficiently durable to maintain satisfactory production during the loan term specified.

(c) It must have sufficient stability of value to assure that, on a loan that would be proper to a typical owner of the property, the bank could recover its investment if unforeseen difficulties should result in acquirement of the property.

(d) It must be capable of producing, under typical operation, sufficient normal agricultural earnings to pay farm operating expenses, including taxes and other fixed charges, maintain the property, and meet family living expenses and installments on a loan that would be proper to a typical operator: Provided, That where income from dependable sources other than farm earnings is available to a typical operator, such income may be relied upon to meet loan installments and family living expenses including that part of the taxes, insurance, and maintenance costs chargeable to the dwelling.

§ 10.12 Normal agricultural value.

The normal agricultural value of a farm is the amount a typical purchaser would, under usual conditions, be willing to pay and be justified in paying for the property for customary agricultural uses, including farm home advantages, with the expectation of receiving normal net earnings from the farm and from other dependable sources.

§ 10.13 Basis of loan and appraisal.

The normal agricultural value of a farm shall be the basis for a loan. In making the appraisal the net earnings of the farm shall be determined by using normal commodity prices and the related level of farm operating costs. Normal prices and related costs shall be determined on the basis of the long-term economic outlook and be approved by the Administration. Likewise, the net earnings from other dependable sources shall be on a normal level that reflects the same long-term economic outlook.

Subpart—Limitations and Requirements

§ 10.33 Bona fide ownership.

A loan should not be made in any case if the ownership of the security by the applicant(s) is not bona fide, or if it was acquired with the intention to reconvey after the loan is closed in order to avoid limitations as to eligibility of person or amount of loan.

§ 10.34 Computing amount loanable to applicant.

(a) Limitation. The amount of any loan made by a bank may not exceed 10 percent of the legal reserve, surplus reserve, and earned surplus, as of the end of the preceding semiannual period (June 30 or December 31), of the bank making the loan; and the amount of loans to any one borrower, computed as hereinafter provided, may not exceed such 10 percent limitation.

(b) Individuals. In determining the amount loanable to an individual, within such 10 percent limitation, there shall be charged against his borrowing capacity the total unpaid principal of all indebtedness to any bank of the system which is secured by property presently owned or being acquired by him, either individually or jointly with others, or for which he is personally liable. The amount of any loan to a corporation engaged in farming operations shall be charged against the individual borrowing capacity of each stockholder who assumes personal liability for the loan to the corporation.

(c) Farming corporations. In determining the amount loanable to a corporation engaged in farming operations, within such 10 percent limitation, there shall be charged against its borrowing capacity the total unpaid principal of all indebtedness to any bank of the system which is secured by property presently owned or being acquired by it, or for which it is liable. The amount loaned to a corporation shall be limited to such amount as will not cause the amount chargeable against the borrowing capacity of any stockholder to exceed such 10 percent limitation.

§ 10.40 Insurance.

(a) General requirements. (1) Insurance on buildings shall be required against such risks and in such amounts as the bank may determine to be necessary for adequate protection of the interests of the bank and the endorsing association, and shall afford the same protection provided under the New York standard mortgage clause.

(2) Insurance requirements on existing loans may be reduced or discontinued upon the request of the borrower or on the initiative of the bank or association when such action is not prejudicial to the interest of the bank and the association.

(3) A bank may delegate to associations full or limited authority with respect to the determination of insurance requirements.

(b) Application of loss proceeds. (1) The bank may, in its discretion, permit individual losses not in excess of an amount fixed by the bank with due regard to adequate protection of the mortgagee to be paid directly to the mortgagor for use in the prompt reconstruction of the buildings destroyed.

(2) At the option of a mortgagor and subject to the provisions of these regulations any sum received in settlement of a loss covered by insurance required by these regulations may be used to pay for the reconstruction of the buildings involved. Upon giving notice of the exercise of such option or within 30 days thereafter, unless such time for good cause be extended, the mortgagor shall furnish information in such form as shall be satisfactory covering the plans of the mortgagor for the reconstruction of the building involved in sound and serviceable form and condition, at least equal to that which existed immediately prior to the loss. Within said 30 days the mortgagor shall also furnish satisfactory assurance that such reconstruction will be completed within a reasonable time, and that there will be no unsatisfied liens for labor, materials, and/or other expenses that will have priority over the mortgage when such reconstruction shall have been completed or when the said sum received shall have been paid to or for the account of the mortgagor. If the mortgagor desires to use the insurance money in whole or in part in order to replace the building involved with an insurable building of a less expensive type, or to substitute any other insurable building, the funds may be used for such purpose provided the bank or association is satisfied that the proposed building will be suitable and adequate to the agricultural needs of the farm.

(3) If the mortgagor fails or refuses to exercise his option in accordance with these regulations, or to comply with all of the conditions of these regulations with respect thereto, or if the mortgage be in process of foreclosure, or if the mortgagor be in default in such manner that the mortgage is subject to foreclosure, the sum received may be retained for application upon the indebtedness secured by such mortgage or as collateral security therefor. Any portion of the sum received which is not used for reconstruction may also be retained for application upon the indebtedness or as collateral security therefor.

Subpart—Interest Rates

§ 10.42 Special interest rates.

Subject to the maximum interest rate of 6 percent per annum prescribed by law, approval is given to an interest rate one-half of 1 percent per annum in excess of the interest rate otherwise authorized for bank loans through associations secured by first mortgages on the following farm property in the continental United States:

(a) Land that is employed primarily in the production of naval stores as defined by section 2 of the Naval Stores Act (sec. 2, 42 Stat. 1435; 7 U.S.C. 92);

(b) Land used for the raising of livestock, in estimating the earning power and in establishing the value of which leases or permits for the use of other lands were taken into consideration and were a factor in determining the amount of the loan; and

(c) Land, a substantial part of the earnings from which is derived from orchard crops.

Subpart—Repayment Plans

§ 10.42–50 Deferments.

(a) Statutory authority. The statutory provision as to deferments is as follows (12 U.S.C. 781 Nineteenth):

> To permit any borrower to defer payment of the principal portions of installments on his loan in order that he may pay, in whole or in part, any indebtedness which is secured by a lien junior to the lien of the bank upon the farm land mortgaged to secure his loan. Such a deferment may be permitted for other purposes for a period not exceeding 5 years under regulations prescribed by the Farm Credit Administration.

(b) New loans. Deferments may be granted as a part of making a loan and the original amortization plan may be drawn accordingly. However, no deferment shall be granted or promised when a loan is made which would have the effect of extending the period of repayment for more than 40 years or for more than the maximum term for which the appraiser states the security is suitable.

(c) Outstanding loans. The total period of deferment for purposes other than to pay off a junior lien shall not exceed 5 years during the life of the loan, although the deferment may be for a longer period if the purpose is to pay off a junior lien. Only in exceptional cases should deferments be granted which would extend the repayment of the loan for more than 40 years from its making or beyond the term for which the appraiser stated the security is suitable. Deferments exceeding the limitations indicated herein may be granted in certain circumstances when necessary to work out a delinquency situation.

§ 10.42–51 Unamortized or partially amortized loans.

(a) General. Loans ordinarily should be made on an amortization plan requiring a fixed number of one or more principal payments each year sufficient to liquidate the loan during the specified term of years (referred to herein as being "fully amortized"). If indicated by the special circumstances of a borrower, principal payments may be deferred as provided in § 10.42–50 of this chapter, or a loan may be made on an unamortized or partially amortized basis as hereinafter provided.

(b) Security requirements. Unamortized or partially amortized loans may be made only on security which is deemed acceptable for a fully amortized maximum loan for the term which usually would be allowed under the policy followed by the bank for the type of farm involved. If the characteristics of a particular security make it subject to more than the usual hazards for that type of property, it should be considered ineligible for an unamortized or partially amortized loan.

(c) Limitation on amount of loan and repayment schedule. If a fully amortized maximum loan for a term of 30 years or more would be allowed on the security offered, an unamortized loan or a partially amortized loan may be made up to that amount. In all other circumstances, the outstanding balance of an unamortized or partially amortized loan should not at any time substantially exceed the amount which would be outstanding under a fully amortized maximum loan for the term which usually would be allowed under the policy followed by the bank for the type of farm involved. In applying this limitation, however, allowance may be made for an initial deferment of principal for 5 years as is permitted for a fully amortized maximum new loan.

(d) Term limitations. An unamortized loan may not be made for a term of more than 10 years. On partially amortized loans, the term may not exceed that for which a fully amortized loan would be made on the type of farm involved and the period during which no principal payments are scheduled may not exceed 10 years.

(e) Existing loans. The payment of existing loans may be rescheduled on an unamortized or partially amortized basis subject to the same limitations as those applicable to new loans. In applying such limitations, unless an existing appraiser's report on the identical security can be utilized as permitted in connection with a new loan, a current appraisal report should be obtained.

Subpart—Payments

§ 10.47 Future payment funds.

Future payment funds shall be held for subsequent credit upon indebtedness to the bank except in cases of unusual circumstances where the release of the funds is justified.

§ 10.48 Same; terms and conditions.

Future payment funds accepted prior to January 1, 1954, for subsequent credit upon indebtedness to the bank shall continue to be held under such terms and conditions as were agreed upon at the time of their acceptance. As to future payment funds accepted on or after January 1, 1954, the agreement with the borrower shall specify the rate of interest to be allowed on such funds at a rate determined by the board of directors of the bank, and such agreement shall include and be consistent with the terms and conditions prescribed by statute for such funds (12 U.S.C. 781 Eighteenth). The form of such agreement, its conformity with the terms and conditions prescribed by statute, and the procedure for making it effective with the borrower shall have the approval of the district general counsel.

§ 10.52 Release of personal liability.

In case of the sale of land mortgaged to the bank and the assumption of the mortgage by the purchaser, a former owner or other person liable for the mortgage debt may be released from personal liability therefor: Provided:

(a) In the opinion of the bank, there is reasonable assurance that the assumptor of the mortgage will pay the loan in accordance with its terms; and

(b) The applicant for the release has transferred to the assumptor all his interests, if any, in the stock issued in connection with a bank loan from which he desires to be released of liability; and

(c) The endorsing association, if active, consents to the release; and

(d) Such title or other requirements are met as the bank or the bank's counsel may consider necessary or advisable for the protection of the mortgagee's interests.

Subpart—Retirement of Stock

§ 10.53 General policy.

It is the general policy of the Administration that the bank stock issued in connection with a loan made through an association shall not be retired in whole or in part until the loan has been paid in full except in individual cases where unusual circumstances are involved. Within the limitations and restrictions of section 7 (12 U.S.C. 722) and section 14 (12 U.S.C. 791 Fourth) of the Federal Farm Loan Act and applicable regulations of the Administration, and subject to authorization being given by the bank's board of directors by appropriate resolution, the Administration approves, under section 7 of the Federal Farm Loan Act (12 U.S.C. 721), the retirement of bank stock held as collateral for the payment of a loan, in the following cases or circumstances:

(a) Where the amount of bank stock held as security for a loan is substantially in excess of 5 percent of the unpaid balance of the loan and the bank determines that retirement of the excess stock is advisable;

(b) If the terms and conditions under which a bank holds future payment funds so permit, then, when the amount of stock and the future payment funds held in connection with a loan are sufficient to pay off the loan in full, they may be so applied and the stock may be retired for that purpose;

(c) When the amount of bank stock held as security for a loan is sufficient to complete payment of the loan, the bank may retire its stock and, with the consent of the association, credit an amount equal to the par value thereof as a last payment on the retiring borrower's loan;

(d) When a loan is called for foreclosure, or when a loan has been declared due and payable for the purpose of accepting deed, the bank may retire the related stock and apply the proceeds to the indebtedness concurrently with the transfer of the loan to the loans called for foreclosure account or at any time thereafter, not later than the date of recording the acquisition of the underlying security on the books of the bank;

(e) Where the mortgaged security for a land bank loan is transferred and the present owner thereof assumes the mortgage indebtedness, but either fails to acquire ownership of the stock interest on such loan or does not qualify for membership in the association endorsing the loan;

(f) Where the mortgaged security for a land bank loan is transferred and the present owner thereof assumes the mortgage indebtedness, is or becomes a member of the association endorsing the loan, and owns or acquires stock therein to the extent of 5 percent of the unpaid balance of the loan to be held as collateral for such loan;

(g) The bank stock may be retired so that the proceeds thereof may be applied to the related bank loan in any case where the bank finds that there is not sufficient equity in the security or probability of recovery from the borrower to justify further expenditure in connection therewith.

Subpart—Mineral Rights

§ 10.64 Holding mineral rights for more than 5 years.

In cases where, in connection with a sale of bank-owned real estate, the bank has retained royalty or other rights in or to minerals, and desires to hold such rights for a period in excess of 5 years, it is not considered that the bank has both "title and possession" of real estate within the meaning of section 13 Fourth (b) of the Federal Farm Loan Act (12 U.S.C. 781 Fourth(b)). However, retention of such minerals and mineral rights for periods in excess of 5 years, when in the bank's opinion it is in the bank's interest to do so, has the approval of the Administration.

Subpart—Bonds

§ 10.119 Method of calling consolidated Federal farm loan bonds.

When any Federal land bank shall desire to call for redemption any consolidated Federal farm loan bonds outstanding on its behalf, it shall, pursuant to appropriate authorization of the 12 Federal land banks, file with the Administration, at least 20 days prior to the date on which the call is to become effective, a certified copy of a resolution of its board of directors authorizing such call. The Administration shall, at least 15 days prior to the date on which the call is to become effective, approve or disapprove the call and, if the call is approved, shall cause formal notice thereof to be published, at least 15 days prior to the effective date of the call, in the FEDERAL REGISTER and through any other facilities that the Administration may elect. Such notice shall describe the bonds so called for redemption and shall designate the place or places where and the date on and after which they will be payable. Approval of the call and publication of notice as herein required shall be deemed a complete call. From the date of redemption designated in any such notice, interest on the bonds called for redemption shall cease.

§ 10.120 Same; less than entire issue.

In any case in which it is desired to call for redemption less than all of the outstanding bonds of any issue or issues, the bonds to be so called shall be selected in such manner as the Administration shall prescribe.

§ 10.120a Exchanges and assignments of consolidated bonds.

(a) Consolidated bonds issued by the 12 Federal land banks dated before 1959 may be exchanged for bonds of the same issue, and assignments of registered consolidated bonds of all such issues may be effected, under and in accordance with the regulations of the United States Treasury Department governing exchanges and transfers of United States bonds.

(b) Consolidated bonds issued by the 12 Federal land banks dated after 1958 may be exchanged for bonds of the same issue, and assignments of registered consolidated bonds of all such issues may be effected, under and in accordance with the regulations of the United States Treasury Department governing exchanges and transfers of United States bonds, with the following exceptions: Denominational exchanges of coupon bonds may be effected at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York only. Exchanges as between coupon bonds and registered bonds and changes of registration may be effected at the Division of Loans and Currency, Treasury Department, Washington, D.C., or through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

§ 10.120b Basis of relief on account of lost, stolen, destroyed, mutilated, or defaced consolidated bonds or coupons.

The statutes of the United States, now or hereafter in force, and the regulations of the Treasury Department, now or hereafter in force, governing relief on account of the loss, theft, destruction, mutilation, or defacement of United States securities, and the regulations of the Treasury Department, now or hereafter in force, governing the payment of mutilated or defaced coupons of United States securities, so far as such statutes and regulations may be applicable, and as modified to relate to consolidated Federal farm loan bonds, and coupons of such bonds, shall govern the granting of relief on account of lost, stolen, destroyed, mutilated, or defaced consolidated Federal farm loan bonds, and mutilated or defaced coupons of such bonds.

§ 10.120c Claims and proof for lost, stolen, destroyed, mutilated, or defaced consolidated bonds or coupons.

Claims shall be presented, and proof shall be made, by applicants for relief on account of the loss, theft, destruction, mutilation, or defacement of consolidated Federal farm loan bonds, and the mutilation or defacement of coupons of such bonds, in accordance with the statutes of the United States, now or hereafter in force, and the regulations of the Treasury Department, now or hereafter in force, with respect to securities of the United States, and coupons of such securities.

§ 10.120d Restrictive endorsements of bearer securities.

When consolidated coupon bonds issued by the 12 Federal land banks are being presented to Federal Reserve Banks or Branches, or to the Treasurer of the United States, by or through banks (including Federal land banks) for payment, redemption, or exchange pursuant to an optional exchange offering, such bonds may be restrictively endorsed. The restrictive endorsement shall be placed thereon in substantially the same manner and with the same effects as prescribed in United States Treasury Department regulations, now or hereafter in force, governing like transactions in United States bonds; and consolidated coupon bonds so endorsed shall be prepared for shipment and shipped in the manner prescribed in such regulations for United States bonds.

§ 10.121 Lost or stolen bonds and coupons issued by a bank individually.

Whenever it appears by clear and satisfactory evidence that any interest-bearing bond or any coupon thereof issued by any Federal land bank has, without bad faith on the part of the owner, been lost, stolen, or destroyed, and is not lawfully held by any person as his own property, or has been so mutilated or defaced as to impair its value to the owner, and is identified by number and description, the bank of issue may make payment (upon approval of the proofs of loss, etc., bonds of indemnity and related papers filed with the banks of issue in such cases, detailed information as to which has been furnished the banks) without requiring the issuance of any new bonds for record purposes.

§ 10.122 Same; bond of indemnity.

The owner of any such lost, stolen, or destroyed bond or coupon shall file with the bank of issue a bond of indemnity in a penal sum equal to the face amount of the bond or coupon, plus an amount sufficient to protect the bank from any loss on account of interest which may be payable on such lost, stolen, or destroyed bond. A corporate surety to be approved by the bank of issue shall be required for the bond of indemnity when the penal sum exceeds $50.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Navel Orange Reg. 3, Amdt. No. 1]

PART 907—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 907, as amended (7 CFR Part 907), regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such navel oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act by tending to establish and maintain such orderly marketing conditions for such oranges as will provide, in the interest of producers and consumers, an orderly flow of the supply thereof to market throughout the normal marketing season to avoid unreasonable fluctuations in supplies and prices, and is not for the purpose of maintaining prices to farmers above the level which it is declared to be the policy of Congress to establish under the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1001-1011) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California.

Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b)(1) (i) and (ii) of § 907.303 (Navel Orange Regulation 3, 27 F.R. 613) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(i) District 1: 325,000 cartons;
(ii) District 2: 375,000 cartons.

PART 993—DRIED PRUNES PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

Establishment of Independent Producer Districts

Notice was published in the January 13, 1962, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (27 F.R. 411) that there was under consideration a proposed amendment of the Subpart—Administrative Rules and Regulations, dividing the area into seven independent producer election districts and including the description of such districts in paragraph (a) of § 993.128, pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 110, as amended, and Order No. 993, as amended (7 CFR Part 993; 26 F.R. 475), regulating the handling of dried prunes produced in California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674). Said notice afforded interested persons the opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments on the proposal. None were filed.

After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the recommendations of the Prune Administrative Committee and other available information, it is concluded that amendment of this subpart, as hereinafter set forth, would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Therefore, it is hereby ordered, That § 993.128 be amended as follows:

§ 993.128 Nominations for membership.

(a) Districts. In accordance with the provisions of § 993.28, the districts referred to therein are described as follows:

District No. 1. The counties of Modoc, Lassen, Plumas, Sierra, Butte, Sutter, Yuba, Nevada, and Placer.

District No. 2. The counties of Marin, Napa, Lake, Mendocino, Humboldt, Del Norte, and that portion of Sonoma County south and east of a line described as follows: Beginning at the intersection of Bay Highway and Bodega Bay in Bodega Bay; thence easterly on Bay Highway to its junction with Bodega Highway in Bodega; thence easterly on Bodega Highway to its junction with Burbank Memorial Highway in Sebastopol; thence easterly on Burbank Memorial Highway to its junction with Sebastopol Avenue at Occidental Road; then east on Sebastopol Avenue to U.S. Highway 101 Freeway in Santa Rosa; thence north on U.S. Highway 101 Freeway to its junction with Redwood Highway North (U.S. Highway 101) at Mendocino Avenue; thence northwest on Redwood Highway North (U.S. Highway 101) to Pleasant Road near East Windsor; thence east on Pleasant Road to Chalk Hill Road; thence northerly on Chalk Hill Road to its junction with State Highway 128; thence easterly on State Highway 128 to the Napa County line.

District No. 3. All of that portion of Sonome County not included in District No. 2.

District No. 4. The counties of Alameda, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Cruz, and all that portion of Santa Clara County north and west of a line described as follows: Beginning at the point where the eastern Santa Clara County line and the southern boundary of San Jose Township of said county meet; thence west on said township boundary to San Felipe Road No. 2; thence southerly on San Felipe Road No. 2 to San Felipe Road; thence westerly and northwesterly on San Felipe Road to White Road in Evergreen; thence northwest on White Road to Santa Clara Street in San Jose; thence west on Santa Clara Street to First Street in San Jose; thence south on First Street to San Carlos Street in San Jose; thence west on San Carlos Street to Meridian Road in San Jose; thence south on Meridian Road to Dry Creek Road; thence westerly on Dry Creek Road to the San Jose-Los Gatos Road; thence southwesterly on the San Jose-Los Gatos Road to Union Avenue; thence south on Union Avenue along a straight line continuing to the Santa Cruz County line.

District No. 5. That part of Santa Clara County east and south of District No. 4, extending in a southerly direction to a straight line extending from along the main portion of the Cochran Road, northeasterly to the Stanislaus County line and southwesterly to the Santa Cruz County line.

District No. 6. The counties of San Benito, Monterey, and San Luis Obispo, and all of that portion of Santa Clara County not included in Districts No. 4 and No. 5.

District No. 7. All of the counties in the State of California not included in Districts No. 1 to No. 6, inclusive.

It is hereby determined that good cause exists for not postponing the time hereof until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 1003(c)) in that: (1) The districts must be established promptly in order that independent producers will know in which districts their orchards are located and which nomination meetings to attend to nominate their candidates for representation on the Prune Administrative Committee; (2) the districts must be established promptly so that the committee management can schedule nomination meetings and notify independent producers of the time and place of such meetings; and (3) this regulation places no restriction on handlers.

(Secs. 1-19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601-674)

Dated January 26, 1962, to become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Title 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter I—Agricultural Research Service, Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER G—ANIMAL BREEDS

PART 151—RECOGNITION OF BREEDS AND BOOKS OF RECORD OF PURE-BRED ANIMALS

Recognized Breeds and Books of Record in Canada

On December 12, 1961, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 11870), a notice with respect to a proposal to amend § 151.9(b)(1) of Part 151, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, by adding the Standardbred to the list of breeds of horses in Canada which will not be certified under the regulations as purebred unless a pedigree certificate showing three complete generations of known and recorded purebred ancestry of the particular breed involved is submitted for the animal.

After the notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the Department of Agriculture was advised, by the Canadian National Live Stock Records, that the Canadian Standard Bred Stud Book is now kept by the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society, instead of the Canadian National Live Stock Records as specified in § 151.9 (b)(1). After due consideration of all relevant material and pursuant to paragraph 1606 of section 201 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1201, par. 1606), § 151.9(b) of said Part 151 is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. A new subparagraph (4) is added to § 151.9(b), to read as follows:

§ 151.9 Recognized breeds and books of record.

* * * * * *

(b) Breeds and books of record in Canada. * * *

(4) Standardbred horses in Canada (Code 2231). The Canadian Standard Bred Stud Book kept by the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society, 122 Brown's Line, Toronto 14, Ontario, Canada, is recognized for all Standardbred horses registered therein: Provided, That no Standardbred so registered shall be certified under the act as purebred unless a pedigree certificate showing three complete generations of known and recorded purebred Standardbred ancestry, issued by the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society, is submitted for each such horse.

2. The breed "Standardbred" is deleted from the table in § 151.9(b)(1).

(Par. 1606, sec. 201, 46 Stat. 673, as amended; 19 U.S.C. 1201, par. 1606)

Under the amendment, a Canadian Standardbred horse will not be certified as purebred by the Department of Agriculture, unless a pedigree certificate showing three complete generations of known and recorded purebred Standardbred ancestry is submitted for the animal.

The change in § 151.9(b) recognizing the transfer of the Canadian Standard Bred Stud Book from the Canadian National Live Stock Records to the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society does not materially affect the rights or obligations of persons subject to the regulations.

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 25th day of January 1962.

M. R. CLARKSON,
Acting Administrator,
Agricultural Research Service.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter III—Federal Aviation Agency

SUBCHAPTER E—AIR NAVIGATION REGULATIONS

[Airspace Docket No. 61-WA-60]

PART 602—DESIGNATION OF JET ROUTES, JET ADVISORY AREAS AND HIGH ALTITUDE NAVIGATIONAL AIDS

Alteration of Jet Routes and Associated Jet Advisory Area

On October 24, 1961, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 9949), stating that the Federal Aviation Agency proposed to extend Jet Route No. 97 and its associated jet advisory area from Boston, Mass., to Nantucket, Mass.

Since these actions involve the designation of navigable airspace outside of the United States, the Administrator has consulted with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order No. 10854.

The Department of the Navy stated that this proposal was acceptable provided it would not conflict with the instrument procedures authorized at NAS South Weymouth, Mass. Any conflict between traffic cleared on J-97 and traffic at NAS South Weymouth will be resolved procedurally by the Boston Air Route Traffic Control Center. The Department of the Air Force interposed no objections and the Air Transport Association of America endorsed the proposal.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the rules herein adopted, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

The substance of the proposed amendments having been published, therefore, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582) and for the reasons stated in the notice, the following actions are taken:

1. In § 602.100 Jet routes (26 F.R. 7082, 7576) Jet Route No. 97 is amended to read:

Jet Route No. 97 (Nantucket, Mass., to Plattsburgh, N.Y.). From Nantucket, Mass., via Boston, Mass., to Plattsburgh, N.Y.

2. In § 602.200 Enroute jet advisory areas (26 F.R. 7083) Jet Route No. 97 jet advisory area is amended to read:

Jet Route No. 97 jet advisory area. Radar—Nantucket, Mass., to Plattsburgh, N.Y.

These amendments shall become effective 0001 e.s.t., April 5, 1962.

(Secs. 307(a) and 1110, 72 Stat. 749 and 800; 49 U.S.C. 1348 and 1510, and Executive Order 10854, 24 F.R. 9565)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 25, 1962.

D. D. THOMAS,
Director, Air Traffic Service.

Title 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Tolerances for Residues of Diphenylamine

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration by American Cyanamid Company, P.O. Box 400, Princeton, New Jersey, on behalf of themselves, the International Apple Association, Inc., 1302 Sixteenth Street NW., Washington 6, D.C., the National Apple Institute, Washington Building, Washington 5, D.C., and the Northwest Horticultural Council, 1002 Larson Building, Yakima, Washington, requesting the establishment of a tolerance for residues of diphenylamine at 10 parts per million in or on apples, and zero in meat and milk. The tolerance on apples was requested to cover residues from use of the chemical as a preharvest spray, postharvest spray, postharvest dip, or in impregnated wraps for scald control during storage. The petitioner withdrew postharvest sprays and postharvest dips from the uses proposed in the petition when it was found that available data were inadequate to show that residues from these uses would be within the proposed tolerance. The zero tolerance in milk and meat was requested in conjunction with a proposed label caution that pomace from treated apples should not be fed to livestock.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purpose for which tolerances are being established.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that the tolerances established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (25 F.R. 8625), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended by adding thereto the following new section:

§ 120.190 Tolerances for residues of diphenylamine.

Tolerances for residues of diphenylamine are established as follows:

10 parts per million in or on apples to cover residues from preharvest spray or use of impregnated wraps.

Zero in milk and meat.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D.C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 878.42 Reason for awards.

Service awards are normally awarded to recognize honorable, active Federal military service during periods of war or national emergency. For the purpose of §§ 878.41 to 878.82, the term "active Federal military service" is defined as all periods of military service in a Regular component of the Armed Forces of the United States or any of the Reserve components listed in § 878.70(b) while on extended active duty, and service as a cadet or midshipman at the United States Air Force, Army, or Naval Academies.

§ 878.43 Types of awards.

Service awards include medals, service ribbons, lapel buttons, and other types of devices such as clasps, stars, arrowheads, etc.

§ 878.44 Authorized service medals and ribbons.

The service medals and ribbons described in §§ 878.41 to 878.82 are listed below.

(s) United Nations Medal.

§ 878.45 Eligibility.

(a) Who is eligible. A person is generally eligible for a service award if he:

(1) Was assigned or attached to and present for duty with a unit serving within the prescribed geographical area established for the award during the designated time period;

(2) Was assigned or attached to and present for duty with a unit designated in appropriate administrative orders as having received the award during the prescribed time period; or

(3) Otherwise meets the requirements for the award stated in §§ 878.57 to 878.82.

(b) Who is ineligible. No service award will be awarded to a person whose entire service for the period covered by the award was not honorable, nor to a person whose service for the period covered by the award was terminated under other than honorable conditions. However, if a person was awarded and presented an award for service prior to his dishonorable behavior, the award will not be revoked unless specifically directed by Headquarters USAF.

§ 878.46 Number of awards a person may receive.

Only one award of a specific United States service medal or Philippine service ribbon will be made to the same person. Devices will be awarded to denote additional awards in those instances specified in §§ 878.41 to 878.82.

§ 878.47 Posthumous awards.

The service awards and devices listed in §§ 878.41 to 878.82 may be awarded posthumously. In addition, the next of kin is entitled to receive a complete set of the service awards earned by the deceased member of the Air Force whether or not they were previously presented to him. If desired by the next of kin, the commander of the base furnishing casualty assistance will be responsible for furnishing a complete set of the awards. The next of kin, in order of precedence, are: widow, widower, eldest son, eldest daughter, father, mother, eldest brother, eldest sister, eldest grandchild. Awards to eligible next of kin, other than in the order given, must be approved by Headquarters USAF. Duplicate awards may be furnished free to the parents of the deceased when awards are given to the widow or widower.

§ 878.48 Awards by other United States agencies.

Service awards are also awarded by the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard. Such awards are made in conformance with the regulations of the awarding authority. Service awards made by United States Government agencies other than the military services noted, or by States and other jurisdictions subordinate to the Federal Government, will not be worn on the Air Force uniform.

§ 878.49 Awards by foreign countries.

(a) When acceptance and wearing of foreign service awards is unauthorized. With the exception of the United Nations Service Medal and United Nations Medal (§§ 878.74 and 878.75), service awards tendered by foreign governments to an officer or airman for services rendered while a member of the United States Air Force or its Reserve components may not be accepted or worn on the Air Force uniform. See §§ 878.1 to 878.16 for acceptance and wear of foreign decorations.

(b) Wearing of foreign service awards by persons who earned them as members of a friendly foreign force. Foreign service awards earned while a bona fide member of the armed forces of a friendly country may be retained by the person, provided that they were presented to him prior to his entry on duty with the Armed Forces of the United States. However, to wear such awards on the Air Force uniform, the consent of the Congress is required, unless such Congressional authority was delegated under Public Law.

(1) Requesting congressional authorization: Congressional authorization is requested through Headquarters USAF. The member will send all elements of the award, including the medal, ribbon, and original certificate, and other documents pertaining to the award, to AFPMP-12C, Headquarters USAF. These will be sent by letter of transmittal including full name and service number of the member, name of the award and the country making it, citizenship status at time of the award, and inclusive dates of service recognized by the award. Headquarters USAF will forward the award to the Department of State, where it will be held pending authorization by Congress for the member to wear it.

(2) Notification to member when Congress authorizes wear on uniform: When Congress authorizes official wear, Headquarters USAF will withdraw the award from the Department of State and forward it to the member. This section does not apply to the Philippine service awards described in §§ 878.41 to 878.82.

NOTE: Pursuant to a White House instruction, the Department of State prepares an omnibus authorizing bill on all foreign awards held for retired persons, for transmittal to Congress one full month before the beginning of the Second Session of each alternate Congress, or every fourth year, i.e., 1962, 1966, etc. At the present time, such legislation may not be introduced for other than retired personnel. Since the seeking of authority to wear a foreign service award is at the option of the individual concerned, commanders should thoroughly explain the procedures stated in this section so that the individual will be fully aware of the legislative requirements before he elects to seek Congressional authorization to wear the award.

§ 878.50 Replacement of service medals.

10 U.S.C. 8751 provides that any medal that is lost, destroyed, or becomes unfit for use without fault or neglect of the owner may be replaced at cost. However, if the owner is a member of the Air Force, the medal may be replaced without charge.

§ 878.51 Furnishing authorized awards.

Persons not on active duty and not members of a Reserve component may obtain authorized awards from the General Services Administration, Air Force Branch, Military Personnel Records Center, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis 32, Mo.

§ 878.52 Items not available.

Miniature service medals and service ribbons are neither issued nor sold by the Department of the Air Force, but may be purchased from commercial sources.

§ 878.53 Engraving.

Service medals will not be engraved at Government expense. Recipient may have the medal engraved with his name at his own expense.

§ 878.54 Use of awards in exhibitions.

(a) By public institutions and patriotic societies. Upon approval by the Secretary of the Air Force, sample service awards for exhibit purposes may be furnished at cost price, including charges for packing, transportation, and engraving each medal with the words "Exhibition Only." Samples will be furnished only to museums; libraries; and historical, numismatic, and military societies and institutions of such public nature as to assure an opportunity for the public to view them under circumstances beneficial to the Air Force.

(b) By U.S. agencies outside the Department of Defense. Upon approval by the Secretary of the Air Force, sample service awards may be furnished without charge for public display to United States Government agencies not under military jurisdiction.

(c) Where to send requests. All requests for service awards for exhibit or display will be submitted to AFPMP-12C, Headquarters USAF, for approval by the Secretary of the Air Force.

§ 878.55 Manufacture, sale, and possession of awards.

By law (18 U.S.C. 701 and 704), the manufacture, sale, or possession of any Air Force service award, or the pictorial representation in regulation size of such award, is prohibited unless authorized by the Department of the Air Force.

§ 878.56 Sources of information on other types of awards.

Sections 878.1 to 878.16 govern the award of decorations.

SERVICE MEDALS AND LONGEVITY SERVICE AWARD RIBBON

§ 878.57 Good Conduct Medal.

Established by Executive Order 8809, June 28, 1941, as amended by Executive Order 9323, March 31, 1943, and Executive Order 10444, April 10, 1953.

(b) Requirements for award—(1) Quality of Service—(i) General: The Good Conduct Medal is awarded for exemplary behavior, efficiency, and fidelity in an enlisted status while in the active Federal military service of the United States. During the period considered for the award, there must be no convictions by a civil court (other than for a minor traffic violation) or by courts martial, or a record of punishment under Article 15. Where such conviction or record of punishment exists, creditable service toward the Good Conduct Medal will begin the day following any time lost under 10 U.S.C. 8638, and/or the day following the completion of any punishment imposed by a courts martial, including punishment under Article 15.

(ii) Previous basis for award: All awards of the Good Conduct Medal properly made under the previous methods of determining eligibility are valid. Any awards for previous service will be made under the criteria in effect during the period of service under consideration. Note: Previous methods of determining eligibility are as follows. For service from August 28, 1937, to September 30, 1957, all "character" and "efficiency" ratings must have been recorded as "excellent" or higher, except that the following ratings are not disqualifying: ratings of "unknown"; service school efficiency ratings below "excellent" awarded prior to March 3, 1946. For service from October 1, 1957, to April 14, 1960, the specific recommendation of the unit commander must have been recorded in section X of AF Form 75, "Airman Performance Report."

They shall be construed for the purpose of securing just and inexpensive determination of appeals without unnecessary delay. All pleadings provided for hereunder shall be so construed as to do substantial justice.

§ 7–60.2 Definitions.

As used in this part, the terms:

(a) "Contracting officer" includes any officer or other authority whose decision may be reviewed by the Board pursuant to the order creating the Board.

(b) "Board" means the full Board, panel, panel chairman, member, or Executive Secretary, as may be appropriate.

§ 7–60.3 Notice of appeal.

(a) An appeal shall be made by submitting a notice in writing addressed to the Administrator of the Agency for International Development, Washington 25, D.C. The original notice, together with the two copies thereof, shall be mailed to or otherwise filed with the contracting officer from whose decision the appeal is taken. The notice shall be mailed or otherwise filed with the contracting officer within 30 days from the date of receipt of the written decision from the contracting officer, unless otherwise provided in the contract. The notice shall indicate that an appeal is thereby intended, and shall identify the contract (by number), the contracting officer, and the decision from which the appeal is taken. The notice shall be signed by the contractor or his attorney and shall state the address to which communications from the Board and Government counsel should be sent and where service is to be made. The complaint referred to in § 7–60.6 may be filed with the notice.

§ 7–60.4 Action by contracting officer.

(a) When the contracting officer receives a notice of appeal in any form, he shall endorse on the original and all copies the date of mailing or the date of receipt if otherwise filed and shall forward the original and one copy of the notice, together with the complaint if filed therewith, immediately to the Board for docketing. (6) Such additional information as the contracting officer may consider material.

(b) Clearly legible duplicate originals, photostat copies, or certified true copies of the documents should be furnished. The contracting officer should retain the original contract file and an original or duplicate original of each contract in his contract file unless otherwise specifically requested.

(c) The contracting officer and all other officers and employees of AID shall cooperate with the Board and Government counsel in the processing of the appeal so as to assure a speedy and just settlement.

§ 7–60.5 Docketing and notice to contractor.

When the Board receives the notice of appeal for docketing, the Executive Secretary shall assign it a docket number, shall promptly so advise the contractor and contracting officer, shall forward a copy of these rules to the contractor, and shall forward a copy of the notice of appeal to the Assistant General Counsel (Contract Staff).

§ 7–60.6 Complaint.

Within 30 days after receipt of notice of docketing of the appeal, or within such longer time as may be allowed by the Board, the contractor shall file with the Board, if not previously filed with the notice of appeal, a complaint setting forth simple, concise, and direct statements of each of his claims showing that he is entitled to relief including the dollar amount claimed. If the amount claimed involves $5,000 or less, he may, in his complaint, request that the appeal be handled under the optional accelerated procedure (§ 7–60.26). Each claim shall be stated with as much particularity as is practical. No technical form is required, but each claim should be separately identified. Documentary evidence in support of claims may be filed as exhibits to the complaint. All documents filed as exhibits to the complaint shall be plainly listed and identified in the complaint. An original and three copies of the complaint shall be filed. Upon receipt thereof, the Executive Secretary of the Board shall serve a copy of the complaint on the Assistant General Counsel (Contract Staff).

Each defense shall be stated with as much particularity as is practical. Defenses which go to the jurisdiction of the Board may be included in the answer, or may be raised by motion pursuant to the provisions of § 7–60.12. If the contractor requests recourse to the optional accelerated procedure (§ 7–60.26), the answer shall contain a statement as to whether such request is concurred in by the Government. Counsel for the Government shall at the same time file with the Board the following documents which shall be plainly listed and identified:

(a) The findings of fact, if any, and the decision from which the appeal is taken, and the letter or letters or documents of claim in response to which the decision was issued by the contracting officer;

(b) The contract and pertinent plans, specifications, amendments, and change orders.

Documentary evidence in support of the Government's defenses may be filed as exhibits to the answer. All documents filed as exhibits to the answer shall be plainly listed and identified in the answer. An original and three copies of the answer shall be filed with the Board. Upon receipt thereof, the Executive Secretary shall serve a copy of the answer on the contractor or his attorney.

§ 7–60.8 Reply.

The contractor may file a reply within fifteen days after receipt of the Government's answer.

§ 7–60.9 Appeal file.

The notice of appeal, the complaint and exhibits attached thereto, the answer and exhibits attached thereto, and the documents required to be filed therewith pursuant to § 7–60.7, all papers filed by the parties with the Board pursuant to this part, and all correspondence exchanged between the Board and the parties or their attorneys shall constitute the appeal file, which shall be available for inspection by the parties at the offices of the Board. Prior arrangements for inspection of the file shall be made with the Executive Secretary of the Board.

§ 7–60.10 Amendments to pleadings.

At any time before oral hearing or before submission of a case by the parties without an oral hearing, the Board in its discretion may permit a party, within the proper scope of the appeal, to amend its pleadings, upon conditions just to both parties. The Board upon its own initiative or upon application by a party may in its discretion order a party to make a more definite statement of its complaint or answer, or to reply to an answer. When issues within the proper scope of the appeal but not raised by the complaint and answer are tried by express or implied consent of the parties, they shall be treated in all respects as if they had been raised therein. If evidence is objected to at the hearing on the ground that it is not within the issues made by the complaint and answer, the Board may allow the pleadings to be amended within the proper scope of the appeal and shall do so freely when the presentation of the merits of the action will be served thereby and the objecting party fails to satisfy the Board that admission of such evidence would prejudice him in maintaining his case or defense upon the merits. The Board may, however, grant a continuance to enable the objecting party to meet such evidence.

§ 7–60.11 Trial briefs.

The Board in its discretion may order the submission of trial briefs prior to oral hearing.

§ 7–60.12 Motions to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction.

(a) Defenses which go to the jurisdiction of the Board, or other challenges to the jurisdiction of the Board with respect to an appeal, may be raised by motion. Such motions may, upon application of either party, in the discretion of the Board, be determined before oral hearing on the merits. The lack of Board authority to proceed in a particular case may be recognized and the appeal dismissed at any time.

(b) Motions to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction by the parties shall be filed in writing with the Board, unless otherwise permitted by the Board. The moving party shall submit its supporting argument or brief in written form within five days or such other period as the Board may allow after the motion is made. The other party shall be allowed five days or such other period as the Board may allow after receipt of the motion to file a reply.

(c) The Board may, on its own motion, submit questions concerning its jurisdiction to the General Counsel. Before so doing, it shall notify the parties of its intent and permit them to submit argument or briefs in written form on such questions within such reasonable times as it may allow.

(d) Motions made pursuant to this section, with supporting written arguments or briefs, shall be referred by the Board to the General Counsel, who shall advise the Board of his decision. The Assistant General Counsel (Contract Staff), attorneys directly responsible to him, and other attorneys participating in preparation of the Government case or representation of the Government shall not participate in the deliberations leading to or the preparation of any decision by the General Counsel on such a motion except as otherwise provided in this section.

(e) Failure of the contractor to state a case on which any relief could be granted shall be treated as a jurisdictional question and, after the complaint is filed, shall be a proper ground for a motion to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction. The contractor shall be afforded the opportunity to move to amend the complaint within the proper scope of the appeal after the motion to dismiss has been made but no such motion shall be entertained unless it is received by the Board within 30 days after service of an order dismissing the appeal for lack of jurisdiction on the ground of failure to state a case.

(f) Defenses and challenges to the jurisdiction of the Board made in pleadings shall be deemed motions to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction under this section.

§ 7–60.13 Depositions and discovery.

(a) Depositions which a party desires to take for the purpose of offering in evidence shall be taken in accordance with the procedures set forth in § 7–60.27.

(b) Under appropriate circumstances, but not as a matter of course, the Board will entertain motions for permission to serve written interrogatories on the opposing party, motions for an order to produce and permit the inspection of designated documents, and motions for permission to serve upon the opposing party a request for the admission of specified facts. Such motions shall be granted only to the extent and upon such terms as the Board in its discretion considers to be consistent with the objective of securing just and inexpensive determination of appeals without unnecessary delay.

§ 7–60.14 Stipulations.

The parties may stipulate in writing any facts that are relevant and material to the issues involved and to those documents or facts which may be received in evidence without formal proof. Such stipulations shall be subject to approval by the Board.

§ 7–60.15 Prehearing conference.

(a) The Board, upon its own initiative or upon application of either or both of the parties, may direct the parties or their attorneys to appear before the Board at a specified time and place for a conference to consider:

(1) Simplification of the issues;

(2) The possibility of obtaining stipulations as to admissions of fact and introduction of documents which will avoid unnecessary proof;

(3) The limitation of the number of expert witnesses, if a hearing is to be held; and

(4) Such other matters as may aid in the disposition of an appeal.

(b) The results of the conference shall be reduced to writing by the Board and made part of the record.

§ 7–60.16 Failure to prosecute.

The Board may order the contractor to show cause why the appeal should not be dismissed for failure to prosecute. The Board shall serve or attempt to serve such order on the contractor at the most recent address it has, or if no appearance has been filed or address for service has been otherwise furnished to the Board, it shall use such address as the contracting officer may have. If the contractor fails to show cause to the Board's satisfaction, it may affirm the decision of the contracting officer, dismiss the appeal, or make such other order as it deems appropriate.

§ 7–60.17 Filing and service of papers.

(a) The parties shall file with the Board an original and three copies of all papers, subsequent to the complaint and answer. Upon receipt thereof, the Board shall serve or otherwise furnish the opposing party with a copy.

(b) Service shall be made personally, or by mailing the document to be served in a sealed envelope, registered or certified, return receipt requested, with postage prepaid, addressed to the party upon whom service shall be made, and the date of the receipt shall be the date of service. Waivers of service of any papers may be noted thereon or on a copy thereof, or on a separate paper, signed by the parties or their attorneys and filed with the Board. When any party has appeared by attorney, service upon the attorney will be deemed proper service upon the party.

§ 7–60.18 Hearing.

(a) The contractor may submit the case on the record or request an oral hearing. The Board shall, at the request of either party filed within 15 days after the answer is served on the contractor, grant an oral hearing. The parties shall be given at least 15 days' notice of the time and place of hearing.

(b) Hearings shall be held in Washington, D.C., unless otherwise ordered by the Board.

(c) If either party does not wish to appear or to be represented at a hearing, he shall so advise the Board. A party who so advises the Board may file a brief within 20 days after the date assigned for the hearing, or within such other period as may be allowed by the Board.

(d) The unexcused absence of a party or his authorized representative at the time and place set for the hearing shall not be the occasion for delay. In such event, the hearing shall proceed and the case shall be regarded as submitted by the absent party.

(e) Hearings shall be as informal as may reasonably be allowable and appropriate under all circumstances. Both parties may offer oral and written evidence, subject to exclusion by the Board of any irrelevant, immaterial, or repetitious evidence. The general procedures as to the introduction of evidence and the calling of witnesses shall be in the discretion of the Board.

(f) Attention of the witnesses will be invited to 18 U.S.C. 1001. Testimony may be received under oath or affirmation.

(g) The Board shall make provision for a verbatim transcript of all oral hearings, except that under the optional accelerated procedure (§ 7–60.26) the stenographic record will not be transcribed unless requested by either of the parties. Copies of the transcript shall be furnished to the contractor at his expense.

(h) After a decision has become final the Board may, upon request and after notice to the other party, permit the withdrawal of original exhibits, or any part thereof, by the party entitled thereto. Substitution of true copies of the exhibits or any part thereof may be required by the Board in its discretion as a condition of granting permission for such withdrawal.

§ 7–60.19 Representation of the parties.

(a) An individual contractor may appear before the Board in person, a corporation by an officer thereof, a partnership or joint venture by a member thereof, or by an attorney-at-law duly licensed in any State, Commonwealth, Territory, or in the District of Columbia. In special cases, the Board may authorize contractors to be represented by persons other than those mentioned.

(b) If the person representing the contractor is not identified in the notice of appeal (§ 7–60.3), he should file a notice of appearance with the Board stating his name, address, and if an attorney-at-law, the jurisdiction in which he is licensed. The Government shall be represented by the Assistant General Counsel (Contract Staff), Agency for International Development, Washington 25, D.C. Appearances of other attorneys who will represent the Government with him may be filed with the Board. If the Assistant General Counsel (Contract Staff) is not to represent the Government, he shall so notify the Board, indicating who has been designated to do so.

§ 7–60.20 Post-hearing briefs.

The Board may fix a reasonable time after the close of an oral hearing within which additional briefs may be filed.

§ 7–60.21 Decisions.

Decisions of the Board shall be made in writing. Copies of decisions shall be served on the parties. All final orders and decisions (except those required for good cause to be held confidential) shall be available for public inspection.

§ 7–60.22 Reconsideration.

Motions for reconsideration must be received by the Board within 30 days after service on the party moving for reconsideration of the decision or order dismissing the case. Reconsideration of the decision, which may include a hearing or rehearing, may be granted if, in the judgment of the Board, sufficient reason therefor appears.

§ 7–60.23 Extensions of time.

The Board may grant extensions of time except with respect to the filing of the notice of appeal.

§ 7–60.24 Board actions.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this part, each appeal shall be assigned to a panel of three Board members designated by the General Counsel, who will designate one member as Chairman. The Chairman shall be a duly licensed attorney-at-law. Alternates may be designated by the General Counsel for any panel member who dies, is absent, is disqualified, or is otherwise unable to participate.

(b) Oral hearings may be held before one or more members of the panel or before the full panel, as designated by the Chairman, provided that the presiding member is a duly licensed attorney-at-law.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in this part, decisions on preliminary motions, procedural matters, and the conduct of hearings shall be by the Chairman or presiding officer. Decisions on the merits of the specific disputes under appeal shall be by a majority of the panel.

(d) The Chairman should be designated not later than 15 days after the answer is filed pursuant to § 7–60.6. The other members of the panel should be designated not later than 10 days before the date set for the hearing, if there is to be an oral hearing, or not later than the date the record is closed and the case is ready for decision.

(e) Before a Chairman is designated, rulings on extensions of time pursuant to § 7–60.23 may be made by the Executive Secretary. Rulings and orders on extensions of time and other matters before such designation may be made by a member of the Board designated by the General Counsel to rule on preliminary motions.

These integrated services may be provided in a facility to care for many types of disabilities or a single type of disability.

(a) A disabled person is an individual who has a physical or mental condition which, to a material degree, limits, contributes to limiting, or if not corrected, will probably result in limiting, the individual's performance or activities to the extent of constituting a substantial physical, mental, or vocational handicap.

(b) The acount of existing rehabilitation facilities shall exclude those which the State agency has determined to be unsuitable in accordance with the objective criteria contained in the State plan. MACHINE TOOLS INDUSTRY

Tentative Decision in the Determination of Prevailing Minimum Wages

A complete record of proceedings held under sections 1 and 10 of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (41 U.S.C. 35 and 43a) to determine the prevailing minimum wages for persons employed in the machine tools industry has been certified by the hearing examiner. A tentative decision, including a statement of findings and conclusions, as well as the reasons and basis therefor, on all material issues of fact, law, and discretion presented on the record, and any proposed wage determination, is now appropriate under the applicable Rules of Practice (41 CFR Part 50–203.21(b)) and the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 1007(b)).

Definition. The notice of hearing (26 F.R. 7550) tentatively defined the machine tools industry to include the manufacture of power driven machines, not supported in the hands of an operator when in use, that shape metals (1) by cutting away chips, such as boring, broaching, drilling, grinding, milling, honing, and polishing machines, and lathes and shapers; or (2) by pressing, forging, hammering, extruding, shearing, bending or die casting. The rebuilding of machine tools and the manufacture of parts specifically designed for such tools are also included.

Excluded from the definition of machine tools are cutting tools, precision measuring tools, and attachments and accessories for machine tools; dies and tools; die sets and components, and subpresses; jigs and fixtures; gas and electric welding and cutting equipment; portable power driven handtools; automotive maintenance equipment; and rolling-mill machinery and equipment.

Only one issue was raised concerning this definition. Evidence was presented at the hearing to the effect that in recent years various radically new types of machine tools have been put into production. These were referred to as "exotic" machine tools that shape metals by dissolving, eroding, vaporizing, or metallizing. A witness for the National Machine Tool Builders Association (N.M.T.B.A.) requested that the definition of the Machine Tools Industry be amended to include the so-called "exotic" machine tools. I feel, however, that the record does not contain sufficient information concerning the wages paid to employees engaged in the manufacture of these machine tools to warrant the amendment. Accordingly, I have decided to adopt without change the definition suggested in the notice of hearing.

It appears appropriate to mention at this point that this decision eliminates the basis of the contention made by the National Machine Tool Builders Association that the failure to study the wages paid by this segment of the industry detracts from the reliability of the evidence of record concerning the remainder of the industry. Rather, it provides assurance that any wage determination which is made for this industry will not be imposed upon a segment of the industry which was not studied.

Locality. The next subject presented by the record is whether the geographic area of competition for contracts subject to the Walsh-Healey Act within this industry extends to all of the area in which the industry has its establishments so as to require an industry-wide wage determination or whether it is limited to smaller geographic areas so as to permit separate wage determinations for each such locality.

There is substantial uncontradicted evidence on the record establishing that the locality in which the products of the machine tools industry are to be manufactured or furnished for any Government contract subject to the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act cannot be defined more narrowly than the entire area in which the industry operates. The evidence on this subject emanates from two sources. First, the Government presented extensive statistical data clearly showing that the competition for Government contracts in this industry has no regional bounds. Though the Government exhibit was criticized because its earlier drafts were found to need correction before it was introduced in evidence, the final draft provides a sound basis for an appraisal of the area of competition for Government business. Second, the witnesses called by the N.M.T.B.A., who represented the management of various manufacturing establishments in the industry, testified that they shipped machine tools all over the nation. In view of this, and the absence of any contrary evidence, I am satisfied that the above finding is warranted.

Under these circumstances, an industry-wide determination is essential in this tentative decision in order to achieve the purposes of the statute (Cf. the tentative decision in the Textile Industry, 17 F.R. 11197; Mitchell v. Covington Mills, Inc., 229 F. 2d 506, certiorari denied, 350 U.S. 1002, rehearing denied, 351 U.S. 934).

Prevailing minimum wages. The Bureau of Labor Statistics (B.L.S.) prepared for use in these proceedings a comprehensive survey of the minimum wages paid and established on April 15, 1960, by establishments with 10 or more employees in which the manufacture of machine tools constituted 50 percent or more of the total value of sales in 1959. The tables based upon this survey showed widely scattered minimum wage rates ranging from $1.00 an hour to $2.75 an hour (and over) which were paid on April 15, 1960, by 287 establishments employing 42,013 persons who were engaged in work of a type covered by the Act when performing on a contract subject to it.

The N.M.T.B.A., persuaded that the BLS survey did not accurately reflect minimum wages in the industry and interested in obtaining wage data more recent than April 1960, collected and introduced into the record minimum wage information for April 1961 as well as for April 1960. However, the Association contends that neither the BLS, nor its own, survey constitutes a solid foundation for a determination and that a new survey should be conducted by the BLS based upon a more appropriate definition of "covered worker". If this is not done, however, the Association requests that the determination be based on its, rather than the BLS, survey.

One of the more important criticisms directed by the Association at the BLS survey involves the definition in the survey questionnaire of the types of workers subject to the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act. It is contended that the definition of "covered workers" in the questionnaire was misleading and resulted in misinterpretations by the persons who answered them. The questionnaire defined "covered workers" to include "all working foremen and nonsupervisory workers engaged in processing, fabricating, assembling, packaging, inspecting, handling, or shipping; and janitors working around machines while in operation". The thrust of the N.M.T.B.A. criticism is that certain "production-connected" jobs covered by the Act were considered outside the scope of the survey by persons answering these questionnaires. In support of this contention, the Association produced witnesses representing 7 establishments, who testified that their companies mistakenly excluded certain low-paid covered workers when they answered the BLS questionnaire.

The Association also argues that the BLS survey should have extended beyond plants whose sales of machine tools constituted 50 percent or more of their total sales. It asserts that in response to declining demand for machine tools and efforts to diversify their activities, a number of larger machine tool establishments failed to meet the 50 percent test. The testimony of the BLS witness regarding the survey conducted by that agency as well as the Association's own survey are cited in support of the statement. The exclusion of these large plants from the survey is held to have produced an inflationary bias since larger plants tend to pay lower minimum wages.

The Association further contends that rebuilders and parts manufacturers were not appropriately represented in the wage survey because the BLS did not consult two trade directories (membership directories of the Machinery Dealers National Association and the American Machine Tool Distributors Association) which purportedly listed these manufacturers. The Association admits to its own failure to utilize these directories in the conduct of its own survey, noting that its limited facilities and anticipated "noncooperation" on the part of rebuilders and parts manufacturers in filling out questionnaires made this course inadvisable.

The N.M.T.B.A. asserts that its wage survey was superior to that of the BLS in that it contained an expanded and allegedly more accurate definition of "covered worker", which incorporated specific reference to blueprint machine operators and draftsmen. It is contended that the BLS questionnaire would not ordinarily have elicited responses for these particular covered workers, who are frequently found at the lowest plant wage levels. While the Association survey covers only 56.8 percent of the establishments covered by the BLS survey, it is pointed out that the large proportion of employment covered (89.5 percent of the covered employment survey by the BLS) permits the survey's use for wage determination purposes.

The Association's contentions regarding the percentage of sales test and the failure of BLS to utilize two additional directories do not constitute grounds for disqualifying the BLS survey.

The 50 percent of sales test has been consistently utilized in wage surveys conducted for determination purposes and provides assurance that the determination for an industry does not reflect wages paid by establishments whose production is principally directed in other industry channels. In addition, there is no persuasive evidence of record supporting the Association's contention that the proportion of larger machine tool establishments excluded from the BLS survey by virtue of the 50 percent test was higher than for smaller plants. The record also contains no information regarding the minimum wage practices of such establishments, although the Association had collected such data. In view of the lack of factual support in the record for the Association's allegations, I am not willing to disqualify a wage survey conducted under the same 50 percent standard which has consistently and satisfactorily been employed in the past.

Nor am I satisfied that the compilation of a mailing list without the assistance of the two directories of dealers and distributors, which the Association asserts ought to have been used, has resulted in an unrepresentative wage survey by virtue of inadequate coverage of rebuilders and parts manufacturers. Since establishments of this type are classified in the same Standard Industrial Classification groups as manufacturers of machine tools proper, their names were included in the lists of manufacturers of industry products furnished to the BLS by State Unemployment Compensation agencies. Since the mailing lists were also compiled from notices of Government awards furnished to the BLS by the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, as well as a list of producers furnished by the N.M.T.B.A., there is added assurance that the wage survey coverage of these producers was representative and adequate. As noted earlier, the Association, despite its concern over the failure of BLS to utilize the two additional directories, found it was unable to use those directories beneficially in the conduct of its own survey.

Another alleged failure of the survey was that the questionnaire definition of exempted "apprentice" was not as restrictive as the one used in the regulations of the Department, which are used for enforcement purposes (29 CFR Part 521). A comparison of the regulations with the questionnaire definition reveals, however, that the criticism is unjustified. The definition in the questionnaire is a concise summary of the basic requirements contained in the regulations of the Department. It is clear that any bona fide apprenticeship program which met the definition provided in the questionnaire could with no difficulty meet the other technical requirements in the Department's regulations.

While the first three criticisms of the BLS survey offered by the Association are not persuasive, the evidence and argument which it offers regarding the definition of "covered workers" appear to contain some merit insofar as blueprint machine operators and draftsmen are concerned and I have been persuaded to exclude workers engaged in these two occupations from the scope of any determination based upon the BLS wage survey. The testimony of Association witnesses indicates that covered workers of the seven plants discussed whose wages fell below the minimums reported to the BLS were blueprint machine operators and draftsmen. Accordingly, I have concluded that the BLS survey forms an accurate and reliable basis for determining the prevailing minimum wage in the rest of this industry.

The N.M.T.B.A. survey contains several serious inadequacies which disqualify it from use in preference to the BLS survey. The Association's survey is far less comprehensive. It covered only 163 establishments as compared to the 287 surveyed by the BLS. While its inclusion of covered employment was almost as great as that of the BLS, it omitted large numbers of small establishments which tend to pay higher minimum wages. Moreover, it is clear that the Association survey included workers who are not covered by the Public Contracts Act, such as time clerks and other employees coming within the phrase "and other similar production-related workers". In addition, the questionnaire did not contain the detailed instructions necessary to inform the respondents how to calculate production bonuses. The Association's questionnaire did not confine its application to firms engaged in manufacturing, as opposed to merchandising, machine tools. As a result of these factors, the Association's survey contained a downward bias.

The deficiencies, which disqualify the Association survey from consideration as representative of prevailing minimum wages in the industry as a whole, are not as applicable to blueprint machine operators and draftsmen. Accordingly, it is not necessary that these workers be deprived of the protection afforded by the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act since the Association survey, which was carefully directed toward obtaining minimum wage information for these occupations, is available to determine their prevailing minimum wages.

Before making my findings as to the levels of prevailing minimum wages in the industry, for blueprint machine operators and draftsmen as well as for other covered workers, it is necessary to consider the appropriateness of a tolerance for beginners.

Based upon the very limited use of beginners or probationary workers in this industry, both the representatives of labor and management agreed that no special provision should be made for the employment of beginners or probationary workers at wages lower than the prevailing minimum wage for other workers. Therefore, the exemptive authority provided for by section 6 of the Act, under which a tolerance for beginners or probationary workers may be granted, will not be exercised.

In ascertaining the prevailing minimum wage, the N.M.T.B.A. has urged me to place reliance on the "interquartile" technique and on lowest established rates, as contrasted with lowest rates actually paid. Both standards are defended on their own merits but are asserted to be especially appropriate to the present proceeding by virtue of the alleged depressed state of the industry and consequent abnormally high wage structures. Application of the interquartile technique to data collected by the Association on lowest rates actually paid in April 1961 indicates to the Association a prevailing minimum wage for the industry of between $1.39 and $1.49. If the interquartile technique is rejected in favor of the median standard, the Association urges that the actually paid median minimum wage of $1.60 reported in its survey for plants weighted by employment should be found to be prevailing, rather than the $1.70 median minimum for establishments accorded equal weight. The former is urged in preference to the latter because the Association's survey covered a much higher proportion of the industry's employment than it did of its establishments, as well as because of an alleged upward distortion caused by the use of actually paid minimums in the case of a depressed industry. If its wage survey should be rejected as a basis for a determination in favor of the BLS survey, the Association urges reliance upon both the interquartile technique and lowest established rates so as to yield a determination of $1.50. Both of these standards have been fully discussed and rejected in recent minimum wage determinations (e.g., the tentative decision in the metal business furniture and storage equipment industry, 25 F.R. 12363, and the tentative decision in the manifold business forms industry, 26 F.R. 5898). I do not believe that the Association has set forth compelling reasons requiring the adoption of either or both of these standards. While the machine tools industry may be said to be in a depressed state compared to the production peaks reached during World War II, the Korean hostilities, and the following few years, the record indicates that while there may be substantial unutilized manufacting capacity, the April 1960 payroll period reflected one of the highest levels of employment in the last four years. This latter period appears to be of sufficient length to warrant designation as "normal", at least in the sense of permitting the establishment of a reasonable accord between minimum wages actually paid at that time and those likely to paid in the near future. This conclusion is borne out by the BLS wage survey, which indicates a discrepancy of no unusual magnitude between actually paid and established minimum wages.

The AFL–CIO, on the other hand, interprets the BLS survey as indicating that the prevailing minimum wage was $1.80 an hour on the survey date. It argues that the rate paid the one lowest paid worker in an establishment should not be the sole measure of minimum wages paid by that establishment. It urges that the prevaling minimum wage attributed to a large establishment which employs hundreds of workers should not be based on a minimum wage paid to only one person whose wages may not be representative of the lower end of the plant's wage structure. It contends that the prevailing minimum wage determination should be made at least in part on the basis of the first significant concentration of workers in each establishment. Since the BLS survey provides data which establishes that 49.1 percent of the establishments employing 57 percent of the covered workers have no nonbeginners or fewer than one percent of their nonbeginners who are paid less than $1.80 an hour, it concludes that this wage is more representative of the minimum wages paid in this industry on the survey date. I reject this method of determining prevailing minimum wages because I cannot arbitrarily exclude the wages paid to any covered worker from consideration in viewing the minimum wages paid by an establishment when I am seeking to determine a prevailing minimum wage which will be enforced with respect to all employees in an establishment performing on a contract subject to the Act.

Based upon the conclusions I have reached thus far, I am satisfied that the BLS survey table, which shows the distribution of establishments and workers in the manufacture of machine tools by the lowest rate actually paid to covered workers (including beginners), presents the only appropriate foundation for a determination of the prevailing minimum wage in this indusrty for all persons covered by the Act, except blueprint machine operators and draftsmen, and that it lends itself to the same method of statistical interpretation that has been used by the Secretary of Labor for the past several years. A rate of $1.73 an hour appears, on the basis of this table, to be the most representative of the minimum wages paid in the industry (in April 1960) as a whole, since 53.3 percent of the establishments employing 52.2 percent of the covered workers in this industry paid no covered worker less than $1.73 an hour on that date.

In view of the fact that blueprinters and draftsmen will not be covered by this rate, for the reasons previously discussed, there remains the question of what is the prevailing minimum wage for these workers. As previously mentioned, the most direct evidence with respect to this point is the N.M.T.B.A. survey. My analysis of the survey with respect to minimum wages actually paid in April 1961 indicates a prevailing minimum wage of $1.65 for blueprint machine operators and draftsmen. The representative character of this rate is indicated by the fact that 56.4 percent of the establishments in the survey employing 45.5 percent of the covered workers paid no such worker less than this amount.

Both the representatives of labor and management have pointed out that the prevailing minimum wage has risen since April 1960. The record contains evidence that straight-time average hourly earnings have risen over 13 cents. On the basis of this evidence, the AFL–CIO has concluded that the prevailing minimum wage was 13 cents higher at the time of the hearing than it was in April 1960. On the other hand, the N.M.T.B.A. argues that the prevailing minimum wage has risen only 5 cents since April 1960, basing this conclusion on the increases in median minimum wages shown in their own survey as well as on the increases granted between April 15 and July 15, 1960, by certain establishments included in the BLS wage survey.

The evidence of record does not support the conclusion of labor representatives. The 13-cent increase in straight-time average hourly earnings which occurred between April 1960 and April 1961 is so far in excess of the data on minimum wage increases contained in both the BLS and the Association surveys as to raise serious doubts of its usefulness as an index of increases in the minimum wage. While I have no doubt of its accuracy in reflecting average hourly earnings, it appears reasonable to attribute its high level to the sharp contraction in the industry's employment in this period accompanied, as it no doubt was, by disproportionate layoffs of employees of lesser seniority and skills and, consequently, of lower straight-time average hourly earnings.

While I have concluded in a number of proceedings that the prevailing minimum wage may reasonably be assumed to have increased by at least the amount indicated by application of the percentage increase in average hourly earnings, I am satisfied, for the reason above stated that the figure of 9 cents, which this method yields in the present proceeding, also overstates the actual increase in the prevailing minimum wage. On the other hand, the five cents suggested by the N.M.T.B.A. appears to reflect minimum wage increases granted to blueprint machine operators and beginning draftsmen, which classifications of employees will not be covered by the determination based on the BLS survey. Insofar as the N.M.T.B.A. survey relating to workers covered by the VLS survey are concerned, however, it must be borne in mind that it contains the deficiencies previously discussed. Thus, it understates the increases in prevailing minimum wages of the workers to be covered by the determination based on the BLS survey.

Taking into consideration all the evidence, I conclude that the prevailing minimum wage has increased by 7 cents for workers other than blueprint machine operators and draftsmen up to the date of the hearing. Since my finding as to the prevailing minimum wage for blueprint machine operators and draftsmen is based upon an April 1961 survey, and in the absence of information on subsequent increases, I propose no post-survey adjustment for these workers.

The AFL–CIO has recommended that in making a prevailing minimum wage determination I should take into consideration the prevailing minimum costs to employers of paid leave and various private welfare plans. In an effort to implement this suggestion, statistics regarding the costs and prevalence of such benefits were offered in evidence, from which the AFL–CIO concluded that a 22-cent an hour additional increase in the wage determination was warranted.

Although these benefits appear to be an important part of the compensation which accrues to employees in this industry, I find that such benefits cannot be viewed as a part of a "prevailing minimum wage" rate under the Walsh-Healey Act. In view of the fact that Congress has directly stated in the overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (29 U.S.C. 207) its opposition to the inclusion of these benefits as a part of an employee's "regular rate", and since the general overtime regulations established under the Walsh-Healey Act (41 CFR 50–201.103) require a similar interpretation of an employee's "basic hourly rate", I deem it inappropriate to include these benefits as a part of the employee's "prevailing minimum wage" under the Walsh-Healey Act.

Counsel for N.M.T.B.A. expressed objection at the hearing to the proposal to reduce the delay in effective date of the final decision from 30 to 7 days. This objection was on the ground that no previous determination for this industry had been made. Since that time, a minimum wage provision has been made applicable to this industry (September 26, 1961 (26 F.R. 9042)). No evidence was introduced in support of the objection, and it was not repeated in the brief filed after the hearing. For the reasons fully stated in the final decisions for the paper and pulp and manifold business forms industries (26 F.R. 7698, 7699), this tentative decision finds good cause to provide a 7-day delay in the effective date of the final decision.

Proposed determination. Accordingly, upon the findings and conclusions stated herein, pursuant to authority under the Walsh-Healy Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036; 41 U.S.C. 35 et seq.), and in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U.S.C. 1001 et seq.), notice is hereby given that I propose to amend Title 41 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Part 50–202, by the addition of § 50–202.28 to read as follows:

§ 50–202.28 Machine Tools Industry.

(a) Definition. (1) The machine tools industry is defined to include the manufacture of power driven machines, not supported in the hands of an operator when in use, that shape metals (i) by cutting away chips, such as boring, broaching, drilling, grinding, milling, honing, and polishing machines, and lathes and shapers; or (ii) by pressing, forging, hammering, extruding, shearing, bending or die casting. The rebuilding of machine tools and the manufacture of parts specifically designed for such tools are also included.

(2) Excluded from the definition of machine tools are cutting tools, precision measuring tools, and attachments and accessories for machine tools; dies and tools; die sets and components, and sub-presses; jigs and fixtures; gas and electric welding and cutting equipment; portable power-driven handtools; automotive maintenance equipment; and rolling-mill machinery and equipment.

(b) Minimum wages. The minimum wage for persons employed in the manufacture or furnishing of the products of the machine tools industry under contracts subject to the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act shall be $1.65 an hour for those employees engaged exclusively in the occupations of blueprint machine operator or draftsman, and $1.80 an hour for those employees engaged in other occupations.

Within twenty-one days from the date of publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER, interested parties may submit written exceptions, together with supporting reasons, to the decision set out herein. Exceptions should be directed to the Secretary of Labor and filed with the Chief Hearing Examiner, Room

JET ADVISORY AREAS

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to § 602.200 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of en route radar jet advisory areas from flight level 240 to flight level 390 inclusive, and 16 statute miles either side of the following jet route segments:

1. Jet route No. 2 from the Tallahassee, Fla., VORTAC to the Jacksonville, Fla., VORTAC.

2. Jet route No. 45 from the Jacksonville VORTAC to the Alma, Ga., VORTAC.

3. Jet route No. 55 from the Savannah, Ga., VORTAC to the Charleston, S.C., VORTAC.

The designation of these proposed en route radar jet advisory areas would provide a defined area wherein jet advisory service would be provided to civil turbojet aircraft while operating on these routes.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 25, 1962.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Agency for International Development

AID BOARD OF CONTRACT APPEALS

Establishment and Designation

1. A Board of Contract Appeals (hereinafter called the Board) is hereby created and designated the duly authorized representative of the Administrator of the Agency for International Development (hereinafter called the Administrator) for the determination of appeals by contractors from decisions on disputes concerning questions of fact by contracting officers or their authorized representatives or other authorities pursuant to the provisions of contracts entered or financed by the Agency for International Development requiring the decision of such appeals by the Administrator or his duly authorized representative. Subject to the approval of the General Counsel, the Board may also be designated as the duly authorized representative of other officials of the Agency for International Development for the determination of such appeals pursuant to the provisions of contracts entered or financed by the Agency for International Development requiring the decision of final administrative appeals by such officials or their duly authorized representative.

2. The Board will be composed of members appointed by the Administrator. It will act in each appeal through a panel, or through an individual member, designated for such appeal by the General Counsel, who will designate as chairman of each panel a duly licensed attorney-at-law. No member of the Board will consider an appeal if he has participated in the awarding or administration of the contract in dispute. It will be the duty and obligation of the members of the Board to decide appeals to the best of their knowledge and ability in accordance with applicable contract provisions and in accordance with the law pertinent thereto. The Board will carry out its work and all personnel directly or indirectly involved will cooperate so as to assure that this appellate procedure achieves speedy and just settlements of disputes.

3. The decisions of the panel or individual member designated for an appeal will be considered as the decisions of the Board and will have the finality provided in the pertinent contract provision and permitted by law.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[Docket No. Byproducts 30-13]

INTERSTATE INSPECTION, INC.

Notice of Hearing

Interstate Inspection, Inc., 4001 North Westmoreland, Dallas, Tex., hereinafter referred to as the applicant, filed with the Commission an application and an amendment thereto, received by the Commission on June 16, 1961 and October 10, 1961, respectively, for an AEC byproduct material license to conduct radiographic inspection operations utilizing Cobalt 60 and Iridium 192.

On December 12, 1961 the Director, Division of Licensing and Regulation issued a Notice of Denial of Application for Byproduct Material License, hereinafter referred to as the Notice of Denial, informing the applicant that its application for a byproduct material license was denied. The Notice of Denial was based upon investigations conducted during the period of November 20, 1961 through November 28, 1961, and alleged that the applicant had willfully and knowingly violated the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and § 30.3 of the Commission's regulations (10 CFR Part 30) in that the applicant, on thirty-two occasions during October and November 1961, received, possessed and used a byproduct material sealed source originally containing approximately 1,925 curies of Iridium 192 for which it was not licensed by the Commission. The Notice of Denial provided that pursuant to the Commission's "Rules of Practice", 10 CFR Part 2, the applicant might file a request for a formal hearing in the matter within thirty days following its receipt thereof. The Notice of Denial was received by the applicant on December 14, 1961. On January 13, 1962, the applicant, through its attorney, filed a timely request for a hearing in the matter.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and the Commission's regulations contained in Parts 2 and 30, Title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held on March 14, 1962, in a courtroom to be assigned in the Federal Courthouse, Dallas, Texas, at 10:00 a.m., before a Presiding Officer to be assigned by a subsequent order of the Chief Hearing Examiner to consider the following issues:

1. Whether Interstate Inspection, Inc., its officers, directors, stockholders, or employees violated the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and § 30.3 of the Commission's regulations (10 CFR Part 30) as set forth in the Notice of Denial of Application for Byproduct Material License issued hereby, by the Director, Division of Licensing and Regulation, on December 12, 1961; and

2. Whether, in view of the evidence adduced pursuant to issue No. 1 above, the issuance of a byproduct material license as requested in the application filed by Interstate Inspection, Inc., would be inimical to the health and safety of the public.

Answer to this notice shall be served and filed by the applicant pursuant to § 2.736 of the Commission's "Rules of Practice", 10 CFR Part 2, on or before February 21, 1962.

Any person desiring to intervene in this matter shall not later than March 1, 1962, file a petition for leave to intervene pursuant to § 2.705 of the Commission's "Rules of Practice", 10 CFR Part 2, describing how his interest may be affected by the AEC's action in this matter and the position he is taking therein. Service of copies of the petition shall be made upon each party to the proceeding. The staff or applicant upon notice and motion filed within ten days of receipt of such petition, and other parties by leave, may contest the right of any petitioner to intervene. Petitions for leave to intervene shall be filed by mailing or telegraphing a copy to the Public Filings and Proceedings Branch, Office of the Secretary, Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D.C., or by delivery of a copy in person to the Office of the Secretary, Germantown, Md., or the AEC Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

Pursuant to § 2.731 of the "Rules of Practices", 10 CFR Part 2, with the consent of the presiding officer, limited appearances may be entered without request for or grant of permission to intervene by persons who are not parties to the hearing. With the consent of the presiding officer and on due notice to the parties, such persons may make oral or written statements of their positions on the issues involved in the proceeding but may not otherwise participate in the hearing.

Dated at Germantown, Md., this 22d day of January 1962.

TRAFFIC CONFERENCE 1, INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT ASSOCIATION

Specific Commodity Rates

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 23d day of January 1962.

There has been filed with the Board, pursuant to section 412(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (the Act) and Part 261 of the Board's Economic Regulations, an agreement between various air carriers, foreign air carriers, and other carriers, embodied in the resolutions of Traffic Conference 1 of the International Air Transport Association (IATA), and adopted pursuant to the provisions of Resolution 590—Commodity Rates Board.

The agreement, adopted pursuant to unprotected notices to the carriers and promulgated in IATA Memoranda TC1/Rates 1318 and TC1/Rates 1321, revises the listing of commodities under Item 100 so as to provide, in general, coverage of a wider range of articles. It also names an additional rate under Item 0006, as follows: 20 cents per kilogram, minimum weight 500 kilograms, from San Juan to Port of Spain.

The Board, acting pursuant to sections 102, 204(a), and 412 of the Act, does not find the subject agreement to be adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act, provided that approval thereof is conditioned as hereinafter ordered:

Accordingly, it is ordered:

1. That Agreement C.A.B. 14827, R-71 and R-72, which incorporates IATA Memoranda TC1/Rates 1318 and TC1/Rates 1321, is approved, provided that such approval shall not constitute approval of any specific commodity description contained therein for purposes of tariff publication.

2. That any air carrier party to the agreement, or any interested person, may, within 15 days from the date of service, submit statements in writing, containing reasons deemed appropriate together with supporting data, in support of or in opposition to the Board's action herein. An original and nineteen copies of the statements should be filed with the Board's Docket Section. The Board may, upon consideration of any such statements filed, modify or rescind its action herein by subsequent order.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

JANUARY 23, 1962.

Take notice that on October 10, 1961, Cities Service Gas Company (Applicant), First National Bank Building, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, filed an application to amend the Commission's order of September 25, 1953, in Docket No. G-2214, issuing a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing Applicant to construct and operate certain facilities in Cherokee County, Kansas, and in Jasper County, Missouri, in order to sell and deliver natural gas, on an interruptible basis, to the Missouri Farmers' Association, Inc., now Farmers Chemical Company (Farmers), to be utilized by Farmers at its fertilizer plant near Empire City, Kansas. The subject order limited deliveries of natural gas to 182,077 Mcf [1] annually.

Applicant states that no additional facilities will be required to make the increased deliveries.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D.C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before February 12, 1962.

[Project No. 1971]

IDAHO

Partial Vacation of Withdrawal Under Section 24 of the Federal Power Act

JANUARY 24, 1962.

On September 19, 1960, the Commission gave notice of the reservation of approximately 2,030 acres of United States land to be occupied by Idaho Power Company's Boise-Brady No. 2 transmission line as part of Project No. 1971, based upon project maps Exhibits J and K filed by the licensee on July 8, 1960.

On October 30, 1961, the licensee filed revised maps, Exhibit J sheets 1 and 2, and Exhibit K sheet 4 (FPC No. 1971-192, -193, and -194, respectively), showing the "as built" transmission line location, which revised maps supersede the corresponding map sheets filed July 8, 1960.

A comparison of the revised maps with those previously submitted shows that Lot 2, Section 30, T. 5 S., R. 13 E., B.M. Idaho, previously reserved, is no longer affected by the line.

The Commission finds: The existing power withdrawal under section 24 of the Federal Power Act, insofar as it pertains to the afore-mentioned Lot 2 in connection with Project No. 1971, serves no useful purpose and vacation of the withdrawal, insofar as it pertains to Lot 2, is in the public interest.

The Commission orders: The existing power withdrawal under section 24 of the Federal Power Act pertaining to Lot 2, Section 30, T. 5 S., R. 13 E., B. M. Idaho, in connection with Project No. 1971 is vacated.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

PROGRAM OPERATION

§ 472.1101 Administration.

The program will be carried out by ASCS under the general supervision and direction of the Executive Vice President of CCC. In the field, the program will be administered through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (referred to in this subpart as ASCS) State and county offices. ASCS State and county offices do not have authority to modify any of the provisions of this subpart or any amendments or supplements thereto. Neither are they authorized to waive any such provisions unless the power to waive is expressly included in the pertinent provision.

SHORN WOOL

§ 472.1102 Incentive level and payments.

(a) General. Pursuant to the National Wool Act of 1954, as amended, the Department of Agriculture is to announce a price-support level which has been determined to meet the requirements of the act for each of the four marketing years, 1962, 1963, 1964, and 1965. Each marketing year (as defined in § 472.1171) begins April 1 of one calendar year and ends March 31 of the next calendar year, both dates inclusive. The announcement is to be made in accordance with section 703 of the act which states that the Secretary shall, to the extent practicable, announce the support price level for wool sufficiently in advance of each marketing year as will permit producers to plan their production for such marketing year. For each marketing year, price support on shorn wool will be furnished by means of payments to the producer in accordance with the provisions of this subpart on the shorn wool he markets in that marketing year. Payments will not be made on marketings of the pelts of sheep or lambs.

(b) 1962 marketing year. For the 1962 marketing year, the price-support level was announced on October 6, 1961, as 62 cents per pound of shorn wool, grease basis.

§ 472.1103 Eligibility for incentive payments.

Before payments under this program can be approved pursuant to any application for payment covering any lot or lots of wool, the following requirements must be satisfied:

(a) Except as provided in §§ 472.1151 to 472.1155, the applicant must be the producer, and in the case of a joint application each applicant must be a producer (as defined in § 472.1171), of the shorn wool.

(b) The wool must have been shorn in the United States on or after January 1, 1955, and must have been marketed within a specified marketing year as defined in § 472.1171(1). For the purpose or this program, shorn wool is deemed to include murrain and other wool removed from dead sheep and other off wools such as black wool, tags, and crutchings. If wool is shorn from imported sheep or lambs while they are held in quarantine in connection with the importation, such wool is not considered to have been shorn in the United States.

(c) The wool as well as the sheep or lambs from which it was shorn, must have been owned by the producer at the time of shearing, and the sheep or lambs must have been owned by him in the United States for not less than 30 days at any time prior to his filing the application for payment (§ 472.1142), with the following exception: The ownership specified in the preceding sentence is not required of an applicant for payment who has an agreement with the owner of the animals pursuant to which the applicant, in return for furnishing labor in connection with caretaking, lamb production, or feeding, is entitled either to a share in the ownership of the wool shorn from such animals or a share of the sales proceeds of the wool: Provided, That the owner of the animals who joins in the application meets the ownership requirements. Ownership of wool or animals as used in this paragraph does not include the ownership which in some States is held by a person having a security interest, such as a mortgage or other lien. If sheep or lambs are imported into the United States the period of 30 days for which the applicant for a payment is required to have owned them shall begin after their importation and if they were quarantined in connection with such importation, the period shall begin after their release from quarantine.

(d) Beneficial interest in the wool must always have been in the producer from the time the wool was shorn up to the time of its sale. A producer has beneficial interest in wool (1) when he owns it without any other person being entitled to the wool or its proceeds and without his having authorized any other person to sell or otherwise dispose of the wool; (2) when the producer has authorized another person to sell or otherwise dispose of the wool, even transferring legal title to such other person, but the producer continues to be entitled to the proceeds from such sale or other disposal of the wool; or (3) when the producer is entitled to a share of the wool or of the proceeds thereof pursuant to an agreement described in the exception in paragraph (c) of this section though he does not own the animals from which the wool was shorn. If the producer has such beneficial interest, the fact that the wool may be mortgaged or subject to another lien does not change his position as having a beneficial interest.

(e) The producer shall report his purchases of unshorn lambs on or after April 1, 1956, pursuant to § 472.1110, or state that he has made no such purchases when such statement is in accordance with the provisions of that section.

(f) Payments will not be made on the marketing of wool shorn from imported sheep or lambs if the permit for the importation of sheep or lambs or a communication connected with such permit, issued by the Agricultural Research Service of this Department, states that the importation is for slaughter.

§ 472.1104 Marketing within a specified marketing year.

(a) The National Wool Act of 1954, as amended, provides that price support under that act shall be limited to wool and mohair marketed during the period beginning April 1, 1955, and ending March 31, 1966. Successive payments under this program will be limited to wool marketed during specified marketing years as defined in § 472.1171(l).

(b) Marketing shall be deemed to have taken place in a marketing year if, pursuant to a sale or contract to sell, the last of the following three events in the process of marketing was completed in that marketing year: (1) Title passed to the buyer; (2) the wool was delivered to the buyer (physically or through documents which transfer control to the buyer); and (3) the last of the factors (price per pound, weight, etc.) needed to determine the total purchase price payable by the buyer became available. The factors are considered available when they are known to the applicant's marketing agency if he markets through a marketing agency, or they are known to the applicant if he markets directly. Any one of the three events previously mentioned may be the last event completed.

(c) Delivery of wool on consignment to a marketing agency (defined in § 472.1171) to be sold for the producer's account does not constitute a marketing. This is so even though the consignee may guarantee the producer a minimum sales price or may give him an advance against the prospective sales price or may do both. Wool delivered on consignment shall not be deemed marketed by the producer until it has been marketed by the marketing agency, except that if the marketing agency has guaranteed a minimum sales price, is unable to sell the wool for more, and with the producer's consent takes it over at the minimum sales price, the wool is deemed marketed when it is so taken over by the marketing agency. When a producer transfers to a marketing agency title to his wool and provides that such agency shall market the wool and that the producer shall be entitled to the proceeds of such marketing, the producer shall be deemed to have consigned the wool.

(d) The exchange of wool for merchandise or services (for instance, shearing) will be considered a sale, provided a definite price is established for the wool.

§ 472.1105 Rate of incentive payment.

Upon expiration of a specified marketing year and after the Department of Agriculture has determined the national average price for wool received by producers in that marketing year, the Department will announce the rate of the incentive payment under this program. The rate of payment will be the percentage of the national average price received by producers in a specified marketing year which is required to bring such national average price up to the incentive price announced for that year. For example, if the reported national average price received by producers for wool sold during a marketing year should be 50 cents and the incentive price for that year was 62 cents, the difference between 50 cents and the incentive price of 62 cents previously announced would be 12 cents, and this figure would constitute 24 percent of the national average price of 50 cents. In such a case, the rate of incentive payment would be 24 percent of the net sales proceeds received by each producer.

§ 472.1106 Computation of payment.

(a) In order to determine the amount of the incentive payment due to a producer on the wool he marketed during a marketing year, the percentage computed pursuant to § 472.1105 will be applied to the net sales proceeds for the wool determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section. The amount so computed may be reduced on account of purchases of unshorn lambs (defined in § 472.1171), in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section. If the producer files more than one application in the same county office or different county offices, all such applications may be considered together for the purpose of determining the amount of the payment based on the sales of shorn wool and the amount of the reduction on account of purchases of unshorn lambs.

(b) The net sales proceeds shall be determined by deducting from the gross sales proceeds of the wool all marketing expenses, such as for transportation from the local shipping point; handling (including commissions); grading, scouring; or carbonizing. Items, however, listed in § 472.1108(a)(7) as "other deductions" shall not be deducted. The figure so arrived at will express the net proceeds received by the producer at his farm, ranch, or local shipping point (defined in § 472.1171). For example, if the producer marketed his clip of 500 pounds at 50 cents per pound, he received $250 as gross proceeds and, if the marketing deductions totaled $25, his net proceeds of sale (after marketing deductions) amounted to $225. For the purpose of this program, the producer is expected to deliver his wool packed in bags to his local shipping point and to bear the storage expenses until the wool is sold. Consequently, charges made for furnishing wool bags, storing wool, or transporting wool to the producer's local shipping point shall not be considered deductible marketing charges. Neither are other charges, not directly related to the marketing of the wool, such as interest on advances or dues owing an association, to be considered marketing charges. As to net sales proceeds in case of a guaranteed minimum sales price, see § 472.1108(a)(6).

(c) If pursuant to § 472.1110, the producer reports, in his application for payment, the purchase on or after April 1, 1956, of any unshorn lambs, his incentive payment computed in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section shall be reduced by an amount resulting from multiplying the reported liveweight of the animals purchased on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs, by the announced rate per hundredweight to be paid on sales of unshorn lambs during the marketing year for which the producer makes his application. If the amount of the reduction exceeds the payment computed on the shorn wool marketed, the liveweight of lambs which corresponds to the excess amount shall be carried forward and used to reduce payments on shorn wool or unshorn lambs marketed in the current or future years.

§ 472.1107 Supporting documents.

(a) General. The application for payment on account of shorn wool (§ 472.1109) shall be supported by the original sales document (defined in § 472.1171) for the wool sold.

(b) Original sales document retained. If the applicant does not wish the original sales document to remain with the ASCS county office, he may submit a photostat or similarly reproduced or carbon or typewritten copy of the original document. However, he must show the original document to the ASCS county office where the statements on the copy will be confirmed by comparison with the original. The original sales document will be appropriately stamped or marked to indicate that it had been used in support of an application for payment under this program and will be returned to the applicant. He will be required to retain it in accordance with § 472.1158.

(c) Practice of issuing carbon or photostat copies. If it is the practice of the person or firm that prepared the sales document to furnish a carbon or photostat copy to the seller in place of the original, the producer may submit that copy in support of his application, provided the copy bears a signature, in accordance with § 472.1108(a)(10), of the person or of the representative of the firm that prepared the original sales document. Such copy shall be treated like an original for the purposes mentioned in this section.

(d) Lost or destroyed sales document. If the original sales document has been lost or destroyed, the applicant may submit a copy, certified by the buyer or the applicant's marketing agency, and such certified copy shall be treated like an original for the purposes mentioned in this section.

§ 472.1108 Contents of sales document.

The sales documents attached to each application for an incentive payment must contain a final accounting, meeting the requirements of paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, for the wool covered by the sales document. Contracts to sell as well as tentative or pro forma settlements will not be acceptable as sales documents meeting such requirements. Except as provided in §§ 472.1151 to 472.1155, sales documents must cover wool sold by the applicant.

(a) Sales other than at farm, ranch, or local shipping point. Each sales document, except a document covering an outright sale at the producer's farm, ranch, or local shipping point and described in paragraph (b) of this section, must be prepared by the purchaser or the applicant's marketing agency and must contain at least the following information:

(1) Name and address of seller.

(2) Date of sale: In case the producer's shipment to a marketing agency is sold in parts within a marketing year, the date when final settlement is made within that marketing year for the wool that was sold within that marketing year may be shown on the sales document as the date of sale instead of the various dates on which the sales actually took place.

(3) Net weight of wool sold: If the wool was sold as scoured or carbonized wool, the original grease weight must be shown as well as the scoured or carbonised weight.

(4) The gross sales proceeds or sufficient information from which the gross sales proceeds can be determined, except when the practice is otherwise as provided in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph.

(5) Marketing deductions, if any (see § 472.1106(b)), except as otherwise provided in this subparagraph: The marketing deductions may be itemized or they may be shown on the sales document as a composite figure for all marketing charges with an explanation of what services are included in that figure. If it is the practice of a marketing agency to show, on the sales document, only the net proceeds after marketing deductions, the gross sales proceeds and the amount of the marketing deductions need not be shown, provided the sales document contains a statement reading substantially as follows: "The net sales proceeds after marketing deductions shown herein were computed by deducting from the gross sales proceeds charges for the following marketing services: ----------. Details of these charges will be furnished on request." All the services for which deductions are made shall be enumerated in the blank space indicated. If a sales document shows charges without specifying their nature, they will be considered marketing charges and will thus diminish the net proceeds on which the incentive payment is computed.

(6) Net proceeds after marketing deductions. If a sales document contains a figure for net proceeds after marketing deductions computed for a location other than the producer's farm, ranch, or local shipping point, the person preparing the sales document shall show thereon the name of the location for which the net proceeds have been computed. If a marketing agency has guaranteed a minimum sales price for the wool, is unable to sell the wool for a higher price, and therefore settles with the producer on the basis of such guaranteed minimum price, the sales document should be on the basis of that guaranteed minimum price regardless of a lower price at which the agency may sell the wool. In such a case, the marketing agency may indicate on the sales document that the price is the guaranteed minimum sales price.

(7) Other deductions, such as those for bags, storage, interest, association dues, and charges not directly related to the marketing of the wool.

(8) Amount paid to the seller.

(9) Name and address of the purchaser or marketing agency issuing the sales document.

(10) Signature: The sales document must bear a handwritten signature by or on behalf of the person or firm issuing the sales document. Acceptable signatures will consist of at least one initial or name by which the person is generally known, followed by his last name in full. A carbon impression or facsimile of a handwritten signature is not acceptable.

(11) A sales document issued by a marketing agency and covering sales made on various dates within a marketing year shall contain a statement that the wool was marketed during that marketing year as required by the regulations issued pursuant to the National Wool Act of 1954, as amended.

(b) Sales at farm, ranch, or local shipping point. Each sales document, covering an outright sale at the producer's farm, ranch, or local shipping point and attached to an application for incentive payment, shall be prepared by the purchaser and must contain at least the following information: Name and address of seller; date of sale; net weight of wool sold; the net amount received by the producer for the wool at his farm, ranch, or local shipping point; any applicable nonmarketing deductions, such as association dues or interest on advances; the name and address of the purchaser; and the signature of the purchaser or his agent.

§ 472.1109 Preparation of application.

(a) The application for payment on account of shorn wool shall be prepared on Form CCC 1155, "Application for Incentive Payment—Shorn Wool." The producer may use the applicable section of the form in authorizing a marketing agency to file an application on his behalf with respect to wool he delivers to the marketing agency to be sold for his account. If he paid any marketing charges (§ 472.1108(a)(5)) not shown on the sales document, such as for scouring or carbonizing, grading, or freight from the applicant's local shipping point, such charges shall be considered with the marketing charges shown on the sales document in arriving at the net proceeds.

(b) The applicant may, at his discretion, complete and file the application himself, in which case he should indicate in the appropriate section of the form that he has not designated a marketing agency to file on his behalf. He may, however, give the required information about his production and ownership, sign the applicable certification, forward the application to his marketing agency, and request it to fill out the section showing sales of wool, to sign the certification applicable to its situation, and to file the application with the required attachments on behalf of the applicant in the appropriate ASCS county office in accordance with § 472.1142(a). If the applicant chooses this method of submitting his application, he will be responsible for the correctness of the information furnished by the marketing agency as well as for compliance by it with the requirements as to the time and manner of filing the application.

§ 472.1110 Report of purchases of unshorn lambs.

In making application for payment on the sale of shorn wool, the producer shall report, as prescribed in this section, with reference to animals purchased by him as unshorn lambs, the date of each purchase as well as the number and liveweight of the animals purchased. If purchased lambs which the applicant for a payment is required to report were imported, the liveweight required to be reported shall be the liveweight of the lambs at the time they were imported and if they were quarantined in connection with the importation, at the time they were released from quarantine. For the purpose of such reporting, imported lambs whether or not purchased by the applicant shall be treated as if they had been purchased by him.

(a) Report on actual basis. (1) If wool removed in the first shearing of animals purchased by the applicant as unshorn lambs on or after April 1, 1956, is included in the application, and the applicant's operations are conducted in such a manner that he is able to identify the lambs from which such wool was shorn, he shall report the date of purchase as well as the number and liveweight of the animals that he purchased as unshorn lambs on or after April 1, 1956, from which such wool was subsequently shorn and included in the application. Among the lambs purchased he shall include those which died after purchase and from which the wool was removed and included in the application.

(2) If the applicant knows that his application does not include any wool which was removed in the first shearing of the animals purchased by him on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs, he will report no purchases of unshorn lambs.

(b) Report on "first in, first out" basis: (1) In the event the applicant does not know whether or not wool removed in the first shearing from animals purchased by him on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs is included in the application, or knows that some such wool is included but is unable to report the exact date of purchase of such lambs, he shall report on a "first in, first out" basis, as hereinafter explained, the date of purchase as well as the number and liveweight of a quantity of unshorn lambs equal to the number of sheep and lambs from which wool was shorn and included in the application. The reporting of purchased lambs shall be continued in subsequent applications for incentive payment on shorn wool and applications for payment on unshorn lambs until the applicant has accounted for all animals purchased by him on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs and not reported in an application for payment for shorn wool or unshorn lambs for the 1956 or a subsequent marketing year. However, he need not report animals purchased on or after April 1, 1956, if for any reason he has not applied for a payment for the 1956 or a subsequent marketing year on the sale of those animals or on the sale of the wool shorn therefrom. If the producer does not have sufficient marketings of wool and unshorn lambs during a specified marketing year to cover all animals purchased by him as unshorn lambs on or after April 1, 1956, that had not been reported in a previous application and consequently does not report all of his purchases of unshorn lambs in applications for the specified marketing year, the balance shall be carried forward and reported in succeeding marketing years for which similar payments may be made pursuant to the National Wool Act of 1954, as amended.

(2) For example, if the producer's first application for a specified marketing year covers the sale of wool shorn from 200 sheep or lambs, he shall report in that application the date of purchase, the number, and the liveweight of the first 200 animals he purchased on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs that were not reported in a previous application for payment filed for shorn wool or unshorn lambs marketed in the 1956 or a subsequent marketing year. If for example, his second application covers the sale of 300 unshorn lambs, he shall report in that application the same information for the next 300 animals that he purchased on or after April 1, 1956, and that were not reported in a previous application for payment; and as additional applications are filed either on shorn wool or unshorn lambs, he shall report his purchases in chronological order until all purchases up to the date of his application are accounted for, in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) If the producer makes application for a payment on the sale of either shorn wool or unshorn lambs after he has reported his total purchases of unshorn lambs on or after April 1, 1956, he will report no purchases of unshorn lambs in such an application.

UNSHORN LAMBS (PULLED WOOL)

§ 472.1121 Rate of payment.

The National Wood Act of 1954, as amended, provides in section 703 that the support price for pulled wool shall be established at such a level, in relationship to the support price for shorn wool, as the Secretary determines will maintain normal marketing practices for pulled wool. Payments will be made in accordance with this subpart for wool on live lambs that have never been shorn and are sold or moved to slaughter in a specified marketing year, and will be at a flat rate per hundredweight of live animals. Payments will not be made on the sale of the pelts of sheep or lambs. The payments will be based on the average weight of wool per hundredweight of animals (5 pounds) multiplied by 80 percent of the difference between the national average price received by producers for shorn wool during a specified marketing year and the announced incentive price per pound of shorn wool for that year. The exact rate of payment will be determined after the end of that marketing year. For example, if the reported national average price received by producers for wool sold during a marketing year should be 50 cents and the incentive price for that year should be 62 cents, the rate of payment per hundredweight of live lambs would be 48 cents.

§ 472.1122 Eligibility for payments on lambs.

Before payments under this program can be approved pursuant to an application covering any lot or lots of lambs, the following requirements must be satisfied:

(a) Thirty days' ownership. If a producer is to qualify for a payment, he must have owned the lambs for 30 days or more in the United States, and if a slaughterer (as defined in § 472.1171) is to qualify for a payment, he must have owned the lambs for 30 days or more in the United States prior to their moving to slaughter, with the following exception: Ownership interest in the lambs for the 30-day period is not required of an applicant for payment who has an agreement with the owner of the lambs pursuant to which the applicant, in return for furnishing labor in connection with caretaking or feeding of the lambs, is entitled either to a portion of the lamb production or to a share in the proceeds from the sale of the lambs: Provided, That the owner of the lambs who joins in the application meets the 30-day ownership requirement. Ownership of lambs, as used in this paragraph, does not include the ownership which in some States is held by a person having a security interest, such as a mortgage or other lien. If lambs are imported into the United States the period of 30 days for which the applicant for a payment is required to have owned them shall begin after their importation and if they were quarantined in connection with such importation, the period shall begin after their release from quarantine.

(b) Never shorn. The lambs must never have been shorn at the time of sale or, in the case of an application by a slaughterer, at the time of moving to slaughter.

(c) Sold or moved to slaughter in a specified marketing year. The lambs must have been sold, that is, title to the lambs must have passed to the buyer, within a specified marketing year or, in the case of lambs that are owned by a slaughterer for 30 or more days before moving to slaughter. The lambs must have moved to slaughter within the specified marketing year.

(d) Report of purchased lambs. The applicant must either report his purchases of unshorn lambs, pursuant to § 472.1126, or state that he has made no such purchases when such statement is in accordance with the provisions of that section.

(e) Importation for slaughter. Payments will not be made on the marketing of imported lambs if the permit for the importation of sheep or lambs or a communication connected with such permit, issued by the Agricultural Research Service of this Department, states that the importation is for slaughter.

§ 472.1123 Computation of payment.

(a) In order to determine the amount of the payment due to an applicant, the rate of payment, computed pursuant to § 472.1121, shall be applied to the liveweight (defined in § 472.1171) of the lambs sold or moved to slaughter (§ 472.1122(c)), during the specified marketing year. Such liveweight, however, shall be reduced by the liveweight of any lambs reported in the application for payment, pursuant to § 472.1126, as having been purchased or imported by the applicant as unshorn lambs.

(b) For example, if the applicant sells, during a specified marketing year, 100 unshorn lambs weighing 8,000 pounds which he produced on his farm or ranch, he will be entitled to a payment on a liveweight of 8,000 pounds. On the other hand, if the applicant sells, during a specified marketing year, 100 unshorn lambs weighing 8,000 pounds, having purchased these lambs at a weight of 6,000 pounds, he will be entitled to a payment on a liveweight of 2,000 pounds (i.e., 8,000 pounds minus 6,000 pounds).

(c) If the liveweight reported pursuant to § 472.1126 exceeds the liveweight of the unshorn lambs sold or moved to slaughter during the marketing year for which the application is filed, such excess liveweight shall be carried forward and used to reduce payments on unshorn lambs or shorn wool marketed in the current or future years.

(d) If the producer files more than one application in the same county office or in different county offices, all such applications may be considered together for the purpose of determining the amount of the payment based on the sales of unshorn lambs and the amount of the reduction on account of purchases of unshorn lambs.

§ 472.1124 Application for payment and supporting documents.

(a) General. The application for a payment on account of unshorn lambs shall be made on Form CCC 1156, "Application for Payment—Unshorn Lambs (Pulled Wool)". The application shall be supported by an original sales document, as set forth in paragraph (a) of § 472.1125 or, in case of application by a slaughterer, by the substitute document as set forth in paragraph (b) of that section, and such other evidence as may show compliance with the program.

(b) Applicant retains original sales document. If the applicant does not wish the original sales document to remain with the ASCS county office, he may submit a photostat or similarly reproduced or carbon or typewritten copy of the original document. However, he must show the original document to the ASCS county office where the statements on the copy will be confirmed by comparison with the orgihal. The original sales document will be appropriately stamped or marked to indicate that it had been used in support of an application for payment under this program and will be returned to the applicant. He will be required to retain it in accordance with § 472.1158.

(c) Practice of issuing carbon or photostat copies. If it is the practice of the person or firm that prepared the sales document to furnish a carbon or photostat copy to the seller in place of the original, the producer may submit that copy in support of his application, provided the copy bears a signature in accordance with § 472.1125(a)(6), of the person or the representative of the firm that prepared the original sales document. Such copy shall be treated like an original for the purposes mentioned in this section.

(d) Lost or destroyed sales document. If the original sales document has been lost or destroyed, the applicant may submit a copy, certified by the person who issued the original, and such certified copy shall be treated like an original for the purposes mentioned in this section.

§ 472.1125 Contents of sales documents.

(a) Sale by producers. Each sales document supporting the application must cover lambs sold by the applicant, except as provided in §§ 472.1151 to 472.1155; must be issued by the purchaser or the producer's marketing agency; and must show the following:

(1) Name and address of seller.

(2) Date of sale.

(3) Number of unshorn lambs sold: If the sales document does not clearly identify the animals as lambs that had never been shorn at the time of sale, the person issuing the sales document shall add a statement to that effect. If the sales document refers to the animals as "unshorn lambs", this will indicate that the lambs were never shorn, in accordance with the definition in § 472.1171. Likewise, if the document is issued in connection with the sale of unshorn lambs but also covers the sale of other animals, the person preparing the sales document shall clearly indicate therein in some manner the number and the liveweight of unshorn lambs included in the sale.

(4) Liveweight of unshorn lambs sold: If the weight is not determined by scales, this weight may be an estimated weight agreed to by the buyer and the seller.

(5) Name and address of the purchaser or marketing agency issuing the sales document.

(6) Signature: The sales document must bear a handwritten signature by or on behalf of the person or firm issuing the sales document. Acceptable signatures will consist of at least one initial or name by which the person is generally known, followed by his last name in full. A carbon impression or facsimile of a handwritten signature is not acceptable.

(b) Substitute for sales document in case of slaughter. If the application is made by a slaughterer who owned the animals in the United States for 30 days or more prior to his moving them to slaughter (§ 472.1122(c)), it shall be supported by a scale ticket instead of a sales document. The scale ticket shall indicate that it covers unshorn lambs which moved to slaughter and must show the information normally appearing on scale tickets issued by stockyards (that is, date number of head and classification, weight, scale ticket number, if any, place of weighing, and name of weigher).

§ 472.1126 Report of purchases of unshorn lambs.

In making application for payment on the sale of lambs, the producer shall report, as prescribed in this section, with reference to animals purchased by him as unshorn lambs, the date of each purchase as well as the number and liveweight of the animals purchased. If purchased lambs which the applicant for a payment is required to report were imported, the liveweight required to be reported shall be the liveweight of the lambs at the time they were imported and if they were quarantined in connection with the importation, at the time they were released from quarantine. For the purpose of such reporting, imported lambs whether or not purchased by the applicant shall be treated as if they had been purchased by him.

(a) Report on actual basis. (1) If the application is based on the sale of lambs purchased by the applicant and the applicant's operations are conducted in such a manner that he is able to identify such lambs, he shall report the date of purchase, the number, and the liveweight of such sold lambs.

(2) If the applicant knows that his application is not based on the sale of any animals which were purchased by him, he will report no purchases of unshorn lambs.

(b) Report on "first in, first out" basis. (1) In the event the applicant does not know whether or not the application is based on the sale of lambs that he purchased, or he knows that some such lambs are included but is unable to report the exact date of purchase of such lambs, he shall report on a "first in, first out" basis, as hereinafter explained, the date of purchase as well as the number and liveweight of a quantity of animals purchased by him on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs, equal to the number of lambs on the sale of which his application is based. This reporting of purchased lambs shall be continued in subsequent applications for payment on unshorn lambs and applications for incentive payment on shorn wool until the applicant has accounted for all animals purchased by him on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs and not reported in a previous application for payment for shorn wool or unshorn lambs for the 1956 or a subsequent marketing year. However, he need not report animals purchased on or after April 1, 1956, if for any reason he has not applied for a payment for the 1956 or a subsequent marketing year on the sale of these animals or on the sale of the wool shorn therefrom. If the producer does not have sufficient marketings of unshorn lambs and wool during a specified marketing year to cover all animals purchased by him as unshorn lambs on or after April 1, 1956, that had not been reported in a previous application and consequently does not report all of his purchases of unshorn lambs in applications for the specified marketing year, the balance shall be carried forward and reported in succeeding marketing years for which similar payments may be made pursuant to the National Wool Act of 1954, as amended.

(2) For example, if the producer's first application for a specified marketing year covers the sale of 300 lambs, he shall report in that application the date of purchase as well as the number and liveweight of the first 300 animals he purchased on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs that were not reported in a previous application for payment filed for unshorn lambs or shorn wool marketed in the 1956 or a subsequent marketing year; if, for example, his second application covers the sale of wool shorn from 200 sheep or lambs, he shall report in that application the same information for the next 200 animals that he purchased on or after April 1, 1956, as unshorn lambs and that were not reported in a previous application for payment; and as additional applications are filed either for unshorn lambs or shorn wool, he shall report his purchases on or after April 1, 1956, in chronological order until all purchases up to the date of each application are accounted for, in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) If the producer makes application for a payment on the sale of either unshorn lambs or shorn wool after he has accounted for his total purchases of unshorn lambs on and after April 1, 1956, he will report no purchases of unshorn lambs in such an application.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 472.1141 Sales in good faith.

Payments provided for under this program shall be made on the basis of sales of shorn wool or unshorn lambs executed in good faith, and no payment shall be made on that part of any sale which has been cancelled or on the basis of sales at prices or weights increased in bad faith for the purpose of obtaining higher payments under this program. Examples of sales of wool in bad faith are those wherein the purchaser obtains a rebate or any benefit in form of money, property, or otherwise. Application for payment on the basis of a sale in bad faith may also subject the parties involved to civil and criminal liability.

§ 472.1142 Filing application for payment.

(a) Place of filing. The application for payment on either shorn wool or unshorn lambs shall be filed by the producer entitled thereto with the ASCS county office serving the county where the headquarters of the applicant's farm, ranch, or feed lot—as the case may be—is located. If the producer has more than one farm, ranch, or feed lot, with headquarters in more than one county, separate applications for payment shall be filed with the ASCS county office serving each such headquarters, except that: (1) If the producer sells his entire clip of wool in a single sale or if his entire clip is sold for his account by one marketing agency, he may file his application(s) for payment on shorn wool in any one of those ASCS county offices, or (2) if the producer includes in one sale unshorn lambs that were ranged, pastured, or fed in more than one county, he may file his application(s) for payment on such animals in any one of those ASCS county offices. In the event the producer conducts all his business transactions from his residence or office, and his farm or ranch has no other headquarters, his office or residence may be considered the farm or ranch headquarters. Applications by producers located in Alaska shall be filed with the Alaska ASCS State Office, and applications by producers located in Hawaii shall be filed with the Hawaii ASCS State Office.

(b) Time of filing. An application for payment should be filed as soon as possible after the producer's sales of shorn wool or unshorn lambs for the specified marketing year as defined in § 472.1171 (l) have been completed or, if the applicant is a slaughterer, as soon as possible after the last of his lambs moved in the specified marketing year to slaughter, and all applications must be filed within 30 days after the end of that marketing year. If the application is not approved by the ASCS county office on the ground that it was filed after the 30 days, the applicant may request the ASC State committee to waive the delay in filing, stating in writing his reasons for the delay and for the request for waiver. The ASC State committee may waive the delay on applications filed within one year after the end of the marketing year in which the shorn wool or the unshorn lambs were sold or in which the lambs moved to slaughter, as the case may be, if in its judgment the delay in filing was due to a good cause or waiver of the delay is necessary to prevent undue hardship. The ASC State committee shall notify the applicant in writing of its action on his request for a waiver.

§ 472.1143 Signature of applicant.

No payment will be made unless an application for payment on shorn wool or unshorn lambs is signed. The ASCS county office will determine with respect to each person who signs an application for payment in a representative or fiduciary capacity as agent, attorney-in-fact, officer, executor, etc., whether he was properly authorized to sign in such capacity.

§ 472.1144 Joint applicants.

(a) Joint owners. When the applicants for a shorn wool payment are joint owners of the wool and were also joint owners of the sheep from which the wool was shorn, all of them must sign any application based on the sale of their wool. When the applicants for a payment on unshorn lambs are joint owners of the lambs, all of them must sign any application based on the sale of their lambs. If one such owner refuses to join in an application and wishes to release CCC from any obligation to make him a payment, he shall sign a form of release prescribed by CCC for that purpose. Such release shall be attached to, and shall be referred to in, the application signed by those joint owners who apply for a payment.

(b) Producers who did not own the animals from which the wool was shorn or did not own the lambs for 30 days. Each application for a payment on shorn wool prepared by producers some of whom did and some did not own the animals from which the wool was shorn, as described in the exception in § 472.1103 (c), shall be a joint application, irrespective of whether the wool was divided among such producers prior to sale or whether it was sold without division. Similarly, each application for a payment on unshorn lambs prepared by producers some of whom did and some did not own the lambs for 30 days, as described in the exception in § 472.1122(a), shall be prepared as a joint application, irrespective of whether the lambs were divided among such producers prior to sale or whether they were sold without division. All producers who are entitled to a share of the shorn wool or of the unshorn lambs or are entitled to a share of the sales proceeds of the wool or the lambs, as the case may be, shall sign each joint application, except that where a producer releases his right to a payment by signing a form prescribed by CCC for that purpose, he will not join in the application and will not be entitled to a payment. Each joint application filed by such producers shall be supported by a properly executed Form CCC 1158, "Attachment to Application for Payment for Producers Who Did Not Own the Animals for 30 Days."

(c) Other provisions. If a producer entitled to join in an application fails to do so, does not release his right to a payment, and—because the application does not indicate his interest—payment is made by CCC to those who apply, he shall have no claim against CCC for a payment. Neither will CCC be responsible for a division among the applicants of a payment made by CCC to all of them jointly.

§ 472.1145 Application by successors and representatives.

(a) If a person earned a payment in whole or in part under this subpart and is otherwise eligible to receive it but before filing an application therefor dies, disappears, or is declared incompetent, those who may receive such payment in the order of precedence described in §§ 472.1151 to 472.1154 may apply on Form CCC 1155 in the case of a shorn wool payment and on Form CCC 1156 in the case of an unshorn lamb payment. The applicant shall indicate the capacity in which he applies. Such applicant shall also file Form CCC 1159, "Application for Payment of Amounts Due Producers Who Have Died, Disappeared, or Have Been Declared Incompetent". Where necessary in accordance with § 472.1144(b), there shall be attached to the application a properly executed Form CCC 1158, "Attachment to Application for Payment for Producers Who Did Not Own the Animals for 30 Days."

(b) If a person who earned a payment under this subpart and filed an application therefor, dies, disappears, or is declared incompetent, either before CCC issued a draft in payment or after CCC has issued a draft in payment but before the draft is negotiated, those who may receive that payment in the order of precedence described in §§ 472.1151 to 472.1154 may apply therefore, using Form CCC 1159.

(c) The application pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall be filed with the ASCS county office serving the county which includes the headquarters of the farm, ranch, or feed lot of the person who died, disappeared, or was declared incompetent.

(d) If a marketing agency, pursuant to authorization by a successor or representative of a producer who died, disappeared, or was declared incompetent, certifies in Form CCC 1155 as to its sale of the wool, or if a marketing agency issued such a certification in some cases on the basis of an authorization given by the producer before he died, disappeared, or was declared incompetent, (1) the statement in the agency's certification that it received wool from the applicant(s) shall be deemed to mean that it received wool from the producer, from his successor or representative, or from both; (2) the statement in the agency's certification that it has not furnished sales documents to any person other than the applicant(s) shall mean that it has not furnished sales documents to any person other than the producer or his successor or representative; and (3) its statement in the certification that, in the capacity as agent for the applicant(s), the marketing agency has complied with the requirements of the program shall mean in the capacity as agent for the producer, for his successor or representative, or for both.

§ 472.1146 Application on behalf of incompetent Indians.

Applications for payment on shorn wool or unshorn lambs may be filed on behalf of Indians who are incompetent by the Superintendent of the Indian Field Service of the reservation on which the Indian resides or by the authorized representative of such Superintendent. Such application for payment will be filed in the ASCS county office where the headquarters of the Indian's farm or ranch is located.

§ 472.1147 Payment.

After the ASCS county office has reviewed the application with the documents attached thereto and approved it for payment in whole or in part, and after the appropriate rate of payment for the specified marketing year has been announced by the Department of Agriculture, payment will be made. If one or more of the producers jointly entitled to a payment, release the right thereto, payment will be made jointly to the other producers who apply, and the payment will be for the amounts due them. Payment of less than $3.00 to an applicant, or to joint applicants, will not be made in connection with sales either of shorn wool or unshorn lambs. Likewise, payment of less than $3.00 will not be made to an assignee in connection with any assignment. If, after making a payment, CCC upon investigation determines that available evidence does not sustain the applicant's right to the payment or any part thereof, the amount of the payment not so sustained shall immediately become due and repayable to CCC, and CCC may, without limitation upon any of the Government's rights in the matter, deduct such amount from any other payment due the applicant. If the applicant's right to such amount becomes involved in a lawsuit between the Government and him or his assignee, he, or his assignee, shall have the burden of proving in the lawsuit that he was entitled to the amount. If the ASCS county office determines that for any reason an application for payment on shorn wool or unshorn lambs should be rejected in whole or in part, including the reason that it was not filed within the time provided for in accordance with § 472.1142(b), or that, after a payment has been made, the available evidence does not sustain the applicant's right to the payment or any part thereof, the ASCS county office shall mail a notice to the applicant, and to each applicant who signed a joint application, that his application has been rejected for a specified reason or that the available evidence does not sustain the applicant's right to the payment or any part thereof, as the case may be, and shall retain a copy of such notice.

§ 472.1148 Deductions for promotion.

If the Department of Agriculture has approved deductions for an advertising and sales promotion program in accordance with section 708 of the National Wool Act of 1954, as amended, the rate of such deductions will be announced and deductions will be made from the payment.

§ 472.1149 Set-off.

(a) If the county debt record shows that the applicant for payment is indebted to CCC, to any other agency within the United States Department of Agriculture, or to any other agency of the United States, such indebtedness will be set off against the payment due to the applicant. Such set-off shall not deprive the applicant of the right to contest the justness of the indebtedness involved, either by administrative appeal or by legal action.

(b) If the payment due to the applicant has been assigned by him, the ASCS county office will accept the assignment subject to setting off such debts as exist at the time of acceptance by the ASCS county office with interest, where applicable, to the date of set-off.

§ 472.1150 Liens on sheep or wool not applicable to payments.

If a producer grants a lien on his sheep, lambs, or wool, such lien shall not be deemed to extend to payments made to the producer pursuant to this subpart.

§ 472.1151 Death of person who earned payment.

Where a person has earned a payment in whole or in part under this subpart and is otherwise eligible to receive it but dies before receiving it, payment may be made, upon proper application pursuant to § 472.1145, without regard to claims of creditors other than the United States, in accordance with the following order of precedence:

(a) To the administrator or executor of the deceased person's estate.

(b) To the surviving spouse, if there is no administrator or executor and none is expected to be appointed, or if an administrator or an executor was appointed but the administration of the estate is closed (1) prior to application by such administrator or executor for payment or (2) prior to the time when a draft for the payment issued to such administrator or executor is negotiated.

(c) If there is no surviving spouse, to the sons and daughters in equal shares. Children of a deceased son or daughter of a deceased person shall be entitled to their parent's share of the payment, share and share alike. If there are no surviving direct descendants of a deceased son or daughter of such deceased person, the share of the payment which otherwise would have been made to such son or daughter shall be divided equally among the sons and daughters of such deceased person who are alive or, if they are not alive, the share of each such son or daughter shall be divided equally among his or her surviving direct descendants.

(d) If there is no surviving spouse and no direct descendant, payment shall be made to the father and mother of the deceased person in equal shares, or the whole thereof to the surviving father or mother.

(e) If there is no surviving spouse, no direct descendant, and no surviving parent, payment shall be made to the brothers and sisters of the deceased person in equal shares. Children of a deceased brother or sister shall be entitled to their parent's share of the payment, share and share alike. If there are no surviving direct descendants of the deceased brother or sister of such deceased person, the share of the payment which otherwise would have been made to such brother or sister shall be divided equally among the brothers and sisters of such deceased person who are alive and, if they are not alive, the share of each such brother or sister shall be divided equally among his or her surviving direct descendants.

(f) If there is no surviving spouse, direct descendant, parent, or brothers or sisters or their descendants, the payment shall be made to the heirs-at-law.

Legally adopted children shall be entitled to share in any payment in the same manner and to the same extent as other children. "Brother" and "sister", as used in this section as well as in §§ 472.1152 and 472.1153, includes brothers and sisters of the half blood, who shall be given the same consideration as those of the whole blood. If any person who is entitled to payment under the above order of precedence is a minor, payment of his share shall be made to his legal guardian, but if no legal guardian has been appointed, payment shall be made to his natural guardian or custodian for his benefit, unless the minor's share of the payment exceeds $1,000, in which event payment shall be made only to his legal guardian. Any payment which the deceased person could have received, may be made jointly to the persons found to be entitled to such payment or shares thereof under this section, or, pursuant to instructions issued by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, a separate draft may be issued to each person entitled to share in such payment.

§ 472.1152 Disappearance of person who earned payment.

(a) In case a person who has earned a payment in whole or in part under this subpart and is otherwise eligible to receive it, disappears before receiving it, payment may be made upon a proper application pursuant to § 472.1145, without regard to claims of creditors other than the United States, to one of the following in the order mentioned:

(1) The conservator or liquidator of his estate, if one be duly appointed.

(2) The spouse.

(3) An adult son or daughter or grandchild for the benefit of his estate.

(4) The mother or father for the benefit of his estate.

(5) An adult brother or sister for the benefit of his estate.

(b) A person shall be deemed to have disappeared if (1) he has been missing for a period of more than three months, (2) a diligent search has failed to reveal his whereabouts, and (3) such person has not communicated during such period with other persons who would be expected to have heard from him. Proof of such disappearance must be presented to the county committee in the form of an affidavit executed by the person making the application for payment, setting forth the above facts, and must be substantiated by an affidavit from a disinterested person who was well acquainted with the person who has disappeared.

§ 472.1153 Incompetency of a person who earned payment.

(a) Where a person has earned a payment in whole or in part under this subpart and is otherwise eligible to receive it but is adjudged incompetent by a court of competent jurisdiction before payment is received, payment may be made, upon proper application therefor pursuant to § 472.1145, without regard to claims of creditors other than the United States, to the guardian or committee legally appointed for such incompetent person.

(b) In case no guardian or committee has been appointed, payment, if not more than $1,000, may be made without regard to claims of creditors other than the United States, to one of the following in the order mentioned, for the benefit of the incompetent person:

(1) The spouse.
(2) An adult son, daughter, or grandchild.
(3) The mother or father.
(4) An adult brother or sister.
(5) Such person as may be authorized under State law to receive payment for him.

In case payment is more than $1,000, payment may be made only to such persons as may be authorized under State law to receive payment for the incompetent.

§ 472.1154 Death, disappearance, or incompetency of person authorized to apply in the order of precedence.

In case a person entitled to apply for a payment in the order of precedence pursuant to the provisions of §§ 472.1151, 472.1152, 472.1153, or of this section, dies, disappears, or is declared incompetent, as the case may be, after he has applied for such payment but before receiving it, payment may be made upon proper application therefor, without regard to claims of creditors other than the United States, to the person next entitled thereto in accordance with the order of precedence set forth in §§ 472.1151, 472.1152, and 472.1153, as the case may be.

§ 472.1155 Other disability.

In cases of bankruptcy, dissolution, or other disability payments will be made to a representative only in accordance with specific directions issued by CCC.

§ 472.1156 Appeals.

(a) To ASC county committee. Within 15 days from the date of mailing of the notice that an application for payment on either shorn wool or unshorn lambs has been rejected in whole or in part (§ 472.1147) or that any other action has been taken by the ASCS county office which unfavorably affects a payment to the applicant, the latter may appeal in writing to the ASC county committee, stating the serial number of the application, the number of pounds of wool marketed, and the net proceeds, or the number and liveweight of unshorn lambs, involved in the application and such pertinent facts as he may deem proper, and indicating in what respect the action of the ASCS county office is considered erroneous. The ASC county committee shall notify the applicant in writing of its decision promptly after deciding the appeal, and in case of a joint application, each applicant shall be so notified. A copy of the notice shall be retained in the ASCS county office.

(b) To the ASC state committee. If the applicant is dissatisfied with the decision of the ASC county committee, he may appeal in writing to the ASC state committee within 15 days after the date of mailing of the notice by the ASC county committee. Likewise, if the ASC state committee denies a request for waiver of the final date for filing (§ 472.1142(b)), the applicant may within 15 days after the date of mailing of the notice of denial by the ASC state committee, ask the ASC state committee in writing to reconsider its denial. In this event, the applicant shall, in addition to supplying all the information required in an appeal to the ASC county committee pursuant to § 472.1156(a), state in his request for reconsideration the reason for his delay in filing the application and fully explain the circumstances which he feels constitute a good cause for the delayed filing or will result in undue hardship if the waiver is not granted. When acting on an appeal or request for reconsideration, the ASC state committee shall notify the applicant in writing of its decision as soon as practicable after completing its action, and in case of a joint application, each applicant shall be so notified. A copy of the notice shall be retained in the ASC state office.

(c) To Washington office. If the applicant is dissatisfied with the decision of the ASC State committee, the applicant may appeal in writing to the Deputy Administrator, State and County Operations, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C., within 15 days after the date of mailing of the notice by the ASC State committee. A determination by the Deputy Administrator, on such an appeal, as to a question of fact shall be deemed final and conclusive unless it is found by a court of competent jurisdiction to have been fraudulent, arbitrary, capricious, or so grossly erroneous as necessarily to imply bad faith, or it is not supported by substantial evidence.

(d) Hearing. In the case of each appeal or request for reconsideration, the applicant shall be given an opportunity to appear personally or through a representative at a hearing and offer such evidence as he deems advisable. If the applicant does not ask for a hearing, the appeal or request will be decided on the basis of the facts set forth in the record and any other pertinent information available to the committee or official considering the matter.

(e) Joint applications. If a joint application is rejected, an appeal may be taken by all applicants jointly or by one or more of them acting in behalf of all. An appeal by one or more joint applicants shall be considered an appeal in behalf of all.

§ 472.1157 Assignments.

(a) Form. The producer may assign payments which may be determined to be due him under this program in connection with sales of shorn wool or unshorn lambs during a specified marketing year by filing with the ASCS county office the original and two copies of Form CCC 1157, "Assignment of Payment Under National Wool Act of 1954", duly executed by both parties. Such assignment shall be null and void unless it is freely made and (1) is executed by the producer in the presence of an attesting witness who shall not be an employee or agent of, or by consanguinity or marriage related to, the assignee; or (2) is acknowledged by the producer before a notary public, a member of the ASCS county committee, the ASCS county office manager, or a designated employee of such committee. In the case of a joint application for payment, an assignment shall be executed by all those who signed the application.

(b) Provisions. An assignment of a shorn wool payment may only be given as security for cash advanced or to be advanced on sheep, lambs, or wool by a financing agency (as defined in § 472.1171) or a marketing agency. An assignment of a payment on unshorn lambs may only be given as security for cash advanced or to be advanced by a financing agency on sheep, lambs, or wool. An assignment made to a financing agency shall cover all payments earned by the producer on the sale of shorn wool or unshorn lambs, as the case may be, during the marketing year for which the assignment is given. An assignment made to a marketing agency shall cover all incentive payments earned by the producer in connection with all wool marketed by the agency for the producer's account during the marketing year for which the assignment is given but shall not cover payments earned by the producer in connection with his marketing his wool directly or through other agencies during that marketing year. The assignee shall not reassign to another person any payment which has been assigned to him pursuant to this section. CCC will make payment pursuant to an accepted assignment unless the ASCS county office is furnished evidence of a mutual cancellation of the assignment by both parties thereto or unless the assignee releases the assignment, that is, asks the ASCS county office in writing that payment be made to the assignor and not to the assignee.

§ 472.1158 Records and inspection thereof.

(a) The applicant for a payment under this subpart as well as his marketing agency and any other person who furnishes evidence to such an applicant for the purpose of enabling him to receive a payment under this program, shall maintain books, records, and accounts showing the marketing of wool or lambs, as the case may be, on which an application for payment may be based, and shall maintain those books, records, and accounts for three years following the end of the specified marketing year during which the marketing took place. The applicant shall also maintain books, records, and accounts showing his purchases of lambs on or after April 1, 1956. He shall maintain them for three years following the end of the specified marketing year during which any part of the wool shorn from such lambs has been marketed or during which any such lambs have been marketed, as the case may be. If the applicant is required to report on a "first in, first out" basis pursuant to § 472.1110(b) or § 472.1126(b), he shall maintain such books, records, and accounts of purchased lambs for three years following the end of the specified marketing year for which the purchased lambs are to be reported in accordance with those sections.

(b) If an application is based on the sale of wool shorn from imported sheep or lambs, or on the sale of imported lambs, or if lambs required to be reported as purchased lambs pursuant to § 472.1110 or § 472.1126 were imported, the applicant is required to maintain books, records, and accounts showing the details of such importation, including the date of arrival of the animals in the United States and the liveweight on such date, and if the animals were quarantined, the date when they were released from quarantine and their liveweight on such date. He shall maintain such books, records, and accounts for the same length of time that he is required to maintain his other books, records, and accounts pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) CCC shall at all times during regular business hours have access to the premises of the applicant for a payment, of his marketing agency, and of the person who furnished evidence to an applicant for the purpose of enabling him to receive a payment under this program, in order to inspect, examine, and make copies of the books, records, and accounts, and other written data as specified under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

§ 472.1159 Violation of program.

Whoever issues a false sales document or otherwise acts in violation of the provisions of this program, shall become liable to CCC for any payment which CCC may have made in reliance on such sales document or as a result of such other action in violation of the program, apart from any other civil or criminal liability he may incur by such action.

§ 472.1160 Forms.

(a) Form CCC 1155, "Application for Incentive Payment—Shorn Wool"; Form CCC 1156, "Application for Payment—Unshorn Lambs (Pulled Wool)"; Form CCC 1157, "Assignment of Payment Under the National Wool Act of 1954"; Form CCC 1158, "Attachment to Application for Payment for Producers Who Did Not Own the Animals for 30 Days"; Form CCC 1159, "Application for Payment of Amounts Due Producers Who Have Died, Disappeared, or Have Been Declared Incompetent," and other forms issued by the United States Department of Agriculture for use in connection with this program may be obtained from ASCS county offices. These forms may be reproduced, provided that any forms reproduced after the issuance of this subpart shall retain the language, format, and size of the official forms issued after January 1, 1962, except that the printer's identification on the official forms must not be reproduced.

(b) Any of the following forms issued or printed before January 1, 1962, may be used as a substitute for those specified in this subpart. Form CCC Wool 55, "Application for Incentive Payment—Shorn Wool"; Form CCC Wool 56, "Application for Payment—Unshorn Lambs (Pulled Wool)"; Form CCC Wool 57, "Assignment of Payment Under the National Wool Act of 1954"; Form CCC Wool 58, "Attachment to Application for Payment for Producers Who Did Not Own the Animals for 30 Days"; Form CCC Wool 59, "Application for Payment of Amounts Due Producers Who Have Died, Disappeared, or Have Been Declared Incompetent."

(a) Each reference to purchases of unshorn lambs in Section B of Form CCC 1155, "Application for Incentive Payment—Shorn Wool," or in Section B of Form CCC 1156, "Application for Payment—Unshorn Lambs (Pulled Wool)," shall be deemed to refer to purchases as well as to imports of unshorn lambs by the applicant regardless of whether he purchased or produced the imported lambs outside the United States. With respect to imported lambs required to be reported in Section B of Form CCC 1155 or Form CCC 1156, the heading of column 1, "Date of purchase", shall be deemed to read, "Date of importation", and the heading of column 3, "Liveweight at time of purchase (lbs.)", shall be deemed to read, "Liveweight at time of importation and if the animals were quarantined, liveweight at time of their release from quarantine (lbs.)".

§ 472.1162 Instructions and interpretations.

CCC shall have the right to clarify any provision of this subpart by the issuance of instructions or interpretations.

§ 472.1163 Waiver by Executive Vice President or other official.

The Executive Vice President of CCC or his designee and the Deputy Administrator, State and County Operations, of ASCS are authorized to approve waivers covering the submission of evidence by sales documents or by other procedural methods. Each of these officials may also waive the 30-day filing limitation, § 472.1142(b), on applications filed later than one year after the end of a marketing year in which the shorn wool or the unshorn lambs were sold or the unshorn lambs were moved to slaughter, if in his judgment the delay in filing was due to a good cause or the waiver is necessary to avoid undue hardship.

§ 472.1164 Expiration of time limitations.

Whenever the final date, prescribed in this subpart for filing an application pursuant to § 472.1142 or for taking any action in connection with an appeal pursuant to § 472.1156, or any other action, falls on a Saturday, Sunday, national holiday, or State holiday, and on that day the proper ASCS State or county office is closed, or the final date falls on any other day on which such office is not open for the transaction of business during normal working hours, the time for filing the application or taking the required action shall be extended to the close of business on the next working day. In case the act to be done may be performed by mailing, the act shall be considered done within the prescribed period if the mailing is postmarked by midnight of such next working day. Where the act is to be done within a prescribed number of days after the mailing of notice, the day of mailing shall be excluded in computing such period of time.

§ 472.1171 Definitions.

As used in this subpart, the terms enumerated in this section have the following meaning:

(e) "Local shipping point" means the point at which the producer delivers his wool to a common carrier for further transportation or, if his wool is not delivered to a common carrier, the point at which he delivers it to his marketing agency or a purchaser. The term "common carrier" includes any carrier that serves the public in transporting goods for hire whether or not he is required to be licensed by some Government authority to do so.

(f) "Marketing agency" with reference to shorn wool means a person or firm that sells a producer's wool for his account and with reference to lambs, it means a commission firm, auction market, pool manager, or any other person or firm that sells a producer's lambs for his account.

(k) "Slaughterer" means a commercial slaughterer, that is, a person who slaughters for sale as distinguished from a person who slaughters for home consumption.

(l) "Specified marketing year" is the marketing year as to which the Department of Agriculture has announced that marketings of shorn wool and unshorn lambs by a producer during that year will entitle him to a payment under this program.

(m) "Unshorn lambs" means lambs which have never been shorn.

SUBCHAPTER B—FARM MARKETING QUOTAS AND ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

[Amdt. 4]

PART 728—WHEAT

Subpart—Wheat Marketing Quota Regulations for 1961 and Subsequent Crop Years

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

On page 10506 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 10, 1961, there was published a notice of proposed rule making to issue amendments to the regulations pertaining to Wheat Marketing Quota Regulations for 1961 and Subsequent Crops of Wheat. This notice provided for revisions in determination of underplanted acres for removing stored excess, determination of excess wheat subject to penalty, revision of exemption provisions and considering as wheat acreage the acreage placed in the Wheat Stabilization Program as wheat for the purpose of removing stored excess. Interested persons were given 30 days in which to submit written data, views or recommendations with respect to the proposed amendments.

No data, views or recommendations have been received.

The proposed amendments are hereby adopted without change as set forth below.

EMERY E. JACOBS,
Acting Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

JANUARY 26, 1962.

1. Section 728.1149 is amended by adding at the end thereof a new sentence to read as follows: "Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the farm marketing excess of wheat of the 1962 crop shall be twice the normal production of the wheat acreage in excess of the 1962 farm acreage allotment, but if the producer establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary the actual production of wheat of the 1962 crop on the farm, the farm marketing excess shall be such actual production less the actual production of the 1962 farm wheat acreage allotment, but not in excess of the difference between such actual production on the farm and the normal production of the 1962 farm wheat acreage allotment."

2. Section 728.1162 is amended by adding at the end thereof a new sentence to read as follows: "Notwithstanding the first sentence of this section, the rate of penalty for the 1962 crop of wheat shall be 65 percent of the parity price of wheat as of May 1, 1962."

3. Section 728.1180(a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Conditions of exemption. A farm marketing quota for wheat for any crop shall not be applicable to any farm on which the wheat acreage for such crop is not in excess of 15 acres, or with respect to the 1961 and prior crops of wheat the normal production of the wheat acreage is less than 200 bushels. Notwithstanding the first sentence of this subsection, a farm marketing quota on the 1962 crop of wheat shall be applicable to any farm on which the acreage of wheat for 1962 exceeds the smaller of (1) 13.5 acres, or (2) the highest number of acres actually planted to wheat on the farm for harvest in any of the calendar years 1959, 1960 or 1961.

4. Section 728.1169(m) is amended by changing the sixth sentence thereof to read as follows: "For the purpose of this paragraph the acreage, if any, diverted from the production of wheat under an unexpired conservation reserve contract or an unexpired great plains conservation program contract or under the 1959 wheat stabilization program pursuant to subsection (a) or (c) of section 124 of the Agricultural Act of 1961 will not be considered underplanted wheat acreage."

5. Section 728.1169(i) is amended by changing the last sentence thereof to read as follows: "For the purpose of this paragraph, any acreage considered to be diverted from the production of wheat under a conservation reserve contract or a great plains contract under paragraph (h) of this section or to have been diverted from the production of wheat under the 1962 wheat stabilization program pursuant to subsection (a) or (c) of section 124 of the Agricultural Act of 1961 will be deemed to have produced the normal production of wheat when determining the actual production for the farm."

SUBCHAPTER E—AIR NAVIGATION REGULATIONS

[Airspace Docket No. 60-NY-148]

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Alteration

On November 9, 1961, there were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (26 F.R. 10547), amendments to the regulations of the Administrator stating in part that, effective January 11, 1962, the Federal Aviation Agency proposed altering a segment of low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 31. In describing this alteration, the Rochester N.Y., VOR 126° radial was used. Subsequent to publication of the rule, it was determined that the Rochester VOR 125° radial was the correct radial required to describe this segment of Victor 31. Accordingly, action is taken herein to amend § 600.6031 by substituting the Rochester VOR 125° radial for the 126° radial in the description of Victor 31.

Since this change is editorial in nature and imposes no additional burden on any person, compliance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary and the rule may be made effective immediately.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12562) § 600.6031 is amended as follows:

In the text of § 600.6031 (14 CFR 600.6031, 26 F.R. 2457) "Rochester, N.Y., VOR 126° radials;" is deleted and "Rochester, N.Y., VOR 125° radials;" is substituted therefore.

(Sec. 307(a), 72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Washington, D.C. on January 25, 1962.

Director, Air Traffic Service.

PART 601—DESIGNATION OF CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, REPORTING POINTS, POSITIVE CONTROL ROUTE SEGMENTS AND POSITIVE CONTROL AREAS

Alteration of Federal Airways and Associated Control Areas; Amendment

On January 11, 1962, Federal Register Document 62-289 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (27 F.R. 303) and amended §§ 600.6514 and 601.6514 of the regulations of the Administrator by altering VOR Federal airway No. 514 from Winslow, Ariz., to Taos, N. Mex.

In describing the captions of the amended sections, the VOR Federal airway number was not included. Action is taken herein to correct this omission.

Since these alterations are editorial in nature and impose no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and they may be made effective immediately.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 12582), effective immediately, Federal Register Document 62-289 (27 F.R. 303) is altered by amending the captions of §§ 600.6514 and 601.6514 to read as follows:

§ 600.6514 VOR Federal airway No. 514 (Winslow, Ariz., to Taos, N. Mex., and Tobe, Colo., to Russell, Kans.).

§ 601.6514 VOR Federal airway No. 514 control areas (Winslow, Ariz., to Taos, N. Mex., and Tobe, Colo., to Russell, Kans.).

Title 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PART 46—NUT PRODUCTS; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

Peanut Butter; Stay of Order Establishing Identity Standard

In the matter of establishing a definition and standard of identity for peanut butter:

In accordance with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055, as amended 76 Stat. 919; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371), the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, under authority delegated to him by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (25 F.R. 8625), promulgated an order on November 28, 1961 (26 F.R. 11209), fixing and establishing a definition and standard of identity for peanut butter (21 CFR 46.1). The act permits a period of 30 days for the filing of objections to an order. Within that period a number of associations, manufacturers of peanut butter, and suppliers of ingredients filed statements showing that they would be adversely affected by such an order, stated their objections, and requested a public hearing.

Their objections were directed at one or more of the following: The order in its entirety; the maximum limitation of 10 percent for optional ingredients; the list of optional ingredients, because some wanted additional optional ingredients to be specified and others wanted the standard to permit the use of any safe and suitable optional ingredients, without specification; and the labeling requirements for optional ingredients. Since there were objections to substantially all provisions of the order, the entire order will be stayed pending a hearing on the objections at which time objectors will be given an opportunity to support their objections.

Now, therefore, it is ordered, That the order establishing a definition and standard of identity for peanut butter (26 F.R. 11209) be stayed in its entirety.

In accordance with the provisions of section 701 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, the Commissioner will, as soon as practicable, announce a public hearing for the purpose of receiving evidence relevant and material to the issues raised by the objections filed.

(Secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371)

Dated: January 25, 1962.

GEO. P. LARRICK,
Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

SUBCHAPTER C—DRUGS

PART 141a—PENICILLIN AND PENICILLIN-CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

PART 146a—CERTIFICATION OF PENICILLIN AND PENICILLIN-CONTAINING DRUGS

Buffered Methicillin Sodium

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (25 F.R. 8625), the regulations for tests and methods of assay and certification of penicillin and penicillin-containing drugs (21 CFR Parts 141a, 146a) are amended by adding thereto the following new sections:

§ 141a.107 Buffered methicillin sodium (buffered sodium-2,6-dimethoxyphenyl penicillin).

(a) Potency—(1) Preparation of sample. (i) Dissolve an accurately weighed portion of the drug in 1 percent phosphate buffer, pH 6.0, to obtain an appropriate stock solution for assay.

(ii) Reconstitute the drug as directed in the labeling of the finished product. Using a syringe and needle, transfer a representative aliquot of the drug equivalent to one dose to a 100-milliliter volumetric flask; make to volume with 1 percent phosphate buffer, pH 6.0

(2) Assay. Using the solutions described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, proceed as directed in § 141a.-103(a).

The micrograms per milligram potency of the weighed sample of the drug is corrected for the sodium citrate content.

(b) Sterility, pyrogens, toxicity, moisture, pH, crystallinity, methicillin content, and identity. Proceed as directed in § 141a.103 (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), and (i).

§ 146a.11 Buffered methicillin sodium (buffered sodium-2,6-dimethoxyphenyl penicillin).

(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Buffered methicillin sodium conforms to all the requirements and is subject to all procedures prescribed by § 146a.15(a) for methicillin sodium, except that:

(1) It contains the buffer sodium citrate in a quantity not less than 4.0 percent and not more than 5.0 percent by weight of its total solids; such sodium citrate conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by the U.S.P.

(2) It may contain one or more suitable preservatives.

(3) The methicillin content is corrected for the sodium citrate content.

(b) Packaging. In all cases the immediate container shall be a tight container as defined by the U.S.P., and shall be of such composition as will not cause any change in the strength, quality, or purity of the contents beyond any limit therefor in applicable standards, except that minor changes so caused that are normal and unavoidable in good packaging, storage, and distribution practice shall be disregarded. In case it is packaged for dispensing, it shall be in immediate containers of colorless, transparent glass. Each such container shall contain 1 gram, 2 grams, 3 grams, 4 grams, 5 grams, or 6 grams.

(c) Labeling—(1) If it is packaged for dispensing and it is intended for use by man. In addition to the labeling requirements prescribed by § 1.106(b) of this chapter (regulations issued under section 502(f) of the act), each package shall bear on its label or labeling, as hereinafter indicated, the following:

(i) On the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container, the statement "Expiration date _____," the blank being filled in with the date that is 24 months after the month during which the batch was certified: Provided, however, That such expiration date may be omitted from the immediate container if it contains a single dose and it is packaged in an individual wrapper or container.

(ii) On the circular or other labeling within or attached to the package, the statement, "Reconstituted solutions may be stored for not more than 24 hours at room temperature and not more than 4 days under refrigeration."

(2) If it is packaged solely for manufacturing use and/or repacking. Each package shall bear on its outside wrapper or container and the immediate container the following:

(i) The number of micrograms of the free acid of methicillin per milligram and the number of grams or kilograms in the immediate container.

(ii) The statement "Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription."

(iii) The statement "For manufacturing use," "For repacking," or "For manufacturing use or repacking."

(iv) The statement "Expiration date _____," the blank being filled in with the date that is 24 months after the month during which the batch was certified.

(d) Request for certification, check tests, and assays; samples. Proceed as directed in § 146a.15(d), except that a person who requests certification of a batch shall also submit with his request a statement showing the quantity of sodium citrate used in making the batch and that such sodium citrate conforms to the requirements prescribed therefor by this section. In case of an initial request for certification, he shall submit an accurately representative sample of such sodium citrate consisting of approximately 5 grams.

(e) Fee. In addition to the fees prescribed in § 146a.15(e) the fee for the services rendered with respect to the sample of sodium citrate submitted as prescribed in paragraph (d) of this section shall be $4.00.

In the promulgation of this order, I find that compliance with the provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act, requiring notice of proposed rule-making and a delayed effective date, would not be in the best interests of the public health. I further find that the conditions for the certification of buffered methicillin sodium, concerning its safety and efficacy of use, have been complied with.

Effective date. This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463 as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357)

Order Changing Name of Dimethoxyphenyl Penicillin Sodium to Methicillin Sodium

No objections were filed to a notice of proposed rule-making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 6, 1961 (26 F.R. 11684), with regard to changing the name of dimethoxyphenyl penicillin sodium to methicillin sodium. Therefore, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, pursuant to the provisions of section 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463 as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357), and the authority delegated to him by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (26 F.R. 8625), orders the following amendments:

SUBCHAPTER D—HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES

PART 191—HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES; DEFINITIONS AND PROCEDURAL AND INTERPRETATIVE REGULATIONS

Paste-Wax Preparations; Exemptions From Labeling Requirements

There have been submitted to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs a number of petitions requesting that semisolid wax preparations, such as floor and furniture wax, auto paste wax, and shoe paste wax, be exempted from certain labeling requirements of the Federal Hazardous Substances Labeling Act. These special labeling requirements are invoked for products containing 10 percent or more of turpentine and/or petroleum distillates, such as kerosene, mineral seal oil, naphtha, gasoline, benzine, mineral spirits, paint thinner, and Stoddard solvents. The reason for this requirement is the special hazard of aspiration of the turpentine or petroleum distillates into the lungs, causing chemical pneumonitis, pneumonia, and pulmonary edema. The petitioners allege that semisolids containing 10 percent or more of turpentine and petroleum distillates, because of their physical form, do not present an aspiration hazard, and the special labeling requirements are therefore not necessary.

The Commissioner concludes from the information supplied by the petitioners, and gathered on his own initiative, concerning human experience with these products, that the physical form of paste-wax preparations containing 10 percent or more of turpentine and/or petroleum distillates is such that the aspiration hazards are no longer present. He therefore finds that for such products the special labeling requirements imposed by § 191.7(b)(3) of the regulations are not necessary for the protection of the public health. Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Hazardous Substances Labeling Act (sec. 3(c), 74 Stat. 374; 15 U.S.C. 1262) and under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare and delegated to the Commissioner (25 F.R. 8625), § 191.-63 is amended by adding thereto a new paragraph (h), reading as follows:

§ 191.63 Exemptions for small packages, minor hazards, and special circumstances.

• • • • • •

(h) Containers of paste shoe waxes, paste auto waxes, and paste furniture and floor waxes containing petroleum distillates and/or turpentine in the concentrations described in § 191.7(a) (4) and (6) are exempt from the labeling requirements of § 191.7(b)(3) if the viscosity of such products is sufficiently high that they will not flow from their opened containers when inverted for 5 minutes at a temperature of 80° Fahrenheit.

The Commissioner finds that because of the minor hazard involved, it is not necessary for the adequate protection of the public health and safety to require the special label statements listed in § 191.7(b)(3) for the paste wax product described in § 191.63(h). Therefore, notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order.

Effective date. This order shall become effective February 1, 1962.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of February 18, 1929, as amended (45 Stat. 1222; 16 U.S.C. 715), it is proposed to amend 50 CFR 33.4 by the addition of the Modoc National Wildlife Refuge, California, to the list of wildlife refuge areas open to public sport fishing as legislatively permitted.

FEDERAL AIRWAYS AND CONTROLLED AIRSPACE

Proposed Alteration

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 409.13), notice is hereby given that the Federal Aviation Agency is considering amendments to §§ 600.6051 and 601.6051 of the regulations of the Administrator, the substance of which is stated below.

Low altitude VOR Federal airway No. 51 extends in part from Crossville, Tenn., to Louisville, Ky., via New Hope, Ky. The Federal Aviation Agency has under consideration the designation of an east alternate to Victor 51 from the Bakerton Intersection (intersection of the London, Ky., VORTAC 260° and the New Hope VOR 163° True radials) to the Louisville VORTAC via the intersection of the Lexington, Ky., VORTAC 213° and the Louisville VORTAC 148° True radials. The airspace between this proposed east alternate airway and Victor 51 would not be designated as controlled airspace.

Victor 51 east alternate, as proposed, would provide an additional southbound departure route from the Louisville terminal area and provide a low altitude airway for transition to intermediate altitude VOR Federal airway No. 1515.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Assistant Administrator, Eastern Region, Attn: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Federal Building, New York International Airport, Jamaica 30, N.Y. All communications received within forty-five days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Agency officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief, or the Chief, Airspace Utilization Division, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington 25, D.C. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section, Federal Aviation Agency, Room C-226, 1711 New York Avenue NW., Washington 25, D.C. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 25, 1962.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Part 3]

[Docket No. 14419, RM-268; FCC 62-98]

PRE-SUNRISE OPERATION BY STANDARD BROADCAST STATIONS

Order Granting Petition and Extending Time for Filing of Comments

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D.C., this 25th day of January 1962.

1. Comments in the above-entitled rule making proceeding are presently due to be filed on or before February 8, 1962, and reply comments on or before February 19, 1962. In petitions filed January 12 and January 16, 1962, respectively, Daytime Broadcasters Association (D.B.A.) and the law firm of Cohn and Marks have requested an extension of time for filing comments (D.B.A. requests an extension until May 15, 1962; Cohn and Marks request extension until March 8, 1962). A statement in support of the D.B.A. request was filed on January 17, 1962 by D. F. Prince and Ray R. Paul, attorneys, on behalf of the licensees of some 19 daytime-only Class III stations.

2. D.B.A. advances in support of its request the need or getting and correlating the views and comments of its numerous member and other daytime stations, many of whom would be affected if the proposal advanced herein is adopted, and asserts that this can best be done at the association's meeting to be held in connection with the N.A.B. convention (this year, early in April). It is also asserted that § 3.87 has practical effect only in months when sunrise is relatively late and thus the requested extension would not delay effectuation of the new rule as a practical matter if it is decided to be in the public interest. The statement in support of the D.B.A. petition, and the Cohn and Marks petition, urge substantially similar considerations.

3. It is also to be noted that the caption of this proceeding is perhaps not clear, in that it refers to amendment of § 3.87 with respect to regional channels, whereas the proposal contained in the notice of proposed rule making would also affect Class II stations, to which § 3.87, as revised, would no longer apply so that "pre-sunrise" operation by stations of this class would not generally be permitted. We take this opportunity to clarify this matter by calling attention to the fact that a few Class II stations would be so affected under the proposal; and it is appropriate to extend the time for filing comments in view of the possible ambiguity previously existing.

4. Under the circumstances, it appears that sufficient good cause exists for grant of the D.B.A. petition, and that the time for filing comments should be extended to May 15, 1962, with corresponding extension of time for filing reply comments.

5. Because of the extension of time granted herein, resolution of this proceeding will take longer than had been anticipated. This raises the possibilities that in the interim authorization of a substantial number of new or changed daytime facilities, with § 3.87 privileges, might further complicate the "pre-sunrise" situation while that situation is under review. Therefore, it is inappropriate to permit facilities initially authorized while this proceeding is pending to engage in "pre-sunrise" operation. Accordingly, pending resolution of this proceeding, all grants of construction permits for daytime facilities—either new facilities or major changes in facilities—for Class II and Class III stations (both daytime-only stations and stations operating differently day and night) will be expressly subject to the condition that no pre-sunrise operation will be permitted under § 3.87.

6. Accordingly, it is ordered, This 25th day of January 1962, that the petitions of Daytime Broadcasters Association and Cohn and Marks are granted; that the time for filing comments herein is extended to and including May 15, 1962; and that the time for filing reply comments herein is extended to and including June 4, 1962.

7. This action is taken pursuant to authority found in sections 4(i), 5(d)(1) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

Released: January 29, 1962.
